

HEALTHY, HAPPY WOMEN.

Pain and Weakness Banished through the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.
It's sad to think that so many women suffer from pain, Weak Spells, Heart Palpitation, Sinking Sensations, Nervousness, Sleeplessness—who could be restored to the full enjoyment of perfect health by a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

There can be no question about the efficacy of this remedy. Thousands of women, have found it do all that is claimed for it. Here is the testimony of Mrs. Gillen, Wesley Street, Moncton, N.B.

"Before taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I used to suffer untold agony from violent headaches, irregular action of the heart, together with pains or spasms in various parts of my body.

"Sometimes I felt so weak that I was unable to look after my domestic duties. However, I had to endure this worry and trouble, because all the remedies I tried failed to give me relief, until happily I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I had only been taking them a short time when I felt greatly benefited. This encouraged me to continue their use until a complete cure was effected.

"I have not been troubled with a headache since taking these pills. They increased my appetite, invigorated my entire system, and gave me back my old time strength and vigor."

Take a Laxative Pill before retiring. It will work while you sleep without a grip or gripe, and make you feel better in the morning. Price 25c. Sold by all druggists.

Brown Has a Black Eye.

Brown is going around with a variegated eye. This is the story that he is telling his friends:

"It was such a pretty thing that the more I thought of it the madder I got.

"The milkman leaves my milk before the sun is up; it is somewhat later when I feel called upon to leave my bed and during the time that the milk remains on the back porch someone has been making it a practice to steal it. It is more than provoking to find when the breakfast is ready, that you have no milk for your coffee.

"I set all manner of traps to catch the thief without success. Then I hired one of the neighbor's boys to sit up and keep watch. But the next morning I found the milk gone and the boy asleep.

"The other morning I chanced to be awake just before sunrise and I heard someone fumbling with the milk can on the back porch. Hastily throwing on my dressing gown I stepped softly to the door and threw it open suddenly.

"In the dim light I could see a man bending over the can, and without stopping to see if he was a bigger man than I, I sprang at him with blood in my eye. The shock threw him off the porch, and we rolled down the steps together, fighting like a couple of wild cats.

"We must have made an awful racket, for I heard the windows going up all around me and someone was blowing a police whistle, while my wife was wringing her hands upon the porch.

"I got my man down at last and sat upon him. We were both a sight, being covered with milk from head to foot.

"I had grown a little lighter by this time, and my wife, taking in the situation gasped 'John, that's the milkman that you're sitting on.'

"It was for a fact, and explanations were in order.

"I understand that the milkman is going around exhibiting his wounds, and saying that I made a brutal and cowardly attack upon a defenceless man, and increasing the amount of damages he is going to sue me for at every telling.

"Meanwhile, someone is stealing my milk. —Detroit Free Press.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will eventually become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of Eczema and disease of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of Eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and puts the little sufferer to rest.

An Awful Dilemma.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

"It is a horrible situation to be in," complained the young man, "and the worst of it is that I cannot see any light ahead.

"I thought when the girl promised to be mine that all my troubles would be over. But it seems they have only commenced.

"I don't dare to think of the money I have spent on flowers and candy. I was always held up by the hope that it would end some day, and I would enter upon the reward of my perseverance.

"Maybe I am to blame for carrying the idea that I had money to burn; but I had to keep up appearance somehow, or her father would never have allowed me inside the house.

"I have tasted pleasure unalloyed in my time, but it wasn't when she was thanking me for flowers that took my last cent and left me wondering where my next meal was coming from. But I was always cheered by the thought that my suit was progressing and that it was only a question of a short time when I would be able to ask the all important question.

"Well, when at last I thought it would be safe to ask the girl, and she said she would be mine, I was the happiest man alive, until I noticed her gazing meditatively at her third finger.

"That infernal engagement ring! I had forgotten all about it.

"Well the situation had to be met, and by selling my wheel and wearing my last winter's overcoat, I managed to raise enough to buy a ring that was worthy of the girl.

"I started out to buy the real thing; but when I saw how closely they were imitated by inferior goods I had an idea. I picked out two genuine rings as well as two that were merely imitations, and sent them up to the girl's house for her to pick out the one that she liked best, trusting to luck that she would pick out one of the cheaper kind.

"I have just received a note from the girl saying that they are all perfectly lovely; that she is unable to pick out the one that she liked the best, so she has concluded to keep them all, wearing them alternately and thus setting a new style in regard to engagement rings.

"Hang the style! Hang the girl! Hang everybody! I'd hang myself if I had the price of a rope!"

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

If it's Hay Fever that is the bug-bear of your life, you won't know the pleasure of freedom from it till you've tried Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Stretching the Mental Legs.

"It's a good thing for a man to get out and stretch his legs once in a while," said Mr.

Guzzleton. "Merely to step off brickly, with a longer stride, brings into play a new set of muscles or gives exercise to old muscles and does him good, and he finds a pleasure in it too.

"It's just the same exactly with a man's mental legs; if he'll get out and stretch them once in a while it will do him a world of good. A man that keeps in a rut all life has not the vaguest notion of what he can really do. He may have a dozen sets of good muscles in his head and use only one, and miss all the fun and profit he might get out of the other eleven.

"A man may be so everlastingly tired when he gets home that he wants to just put on his slippers and sit down and keep quiet till he goes to bed, and think he won't do anything else. But he'll find a lot more fun, and a great deal more rest if, after a good dinner, he'd get out to the primary lot of his political party, and not only look on, but get in and do his share of the work; he'd get interested in it, for sure, and find relief and comfort in it.

"If he belongs to a church organization let him do his share of the work there. Not just hire a pew and pay for it, and put a certain amount in the box and all that, but do something. Don't shy at being elected to office in the church, if he's wanted for it, but let him take it and get in and do the work, and he's mighty sure to find it interesting; to make new and most enjoyable associations; to find for the time being full and pleasant occupation for the mind, and the pleasure that every man finds in making things go. The same if he belongs to a club. Let him take his share of the work and responsibilities.

"And why shouldn't he undertake some social obligations? He should, for sure, and he'll find all these things most beneficial to him. They'll make him forget his cares—he can't attend to these other things and remember them, too. He'll find himself, for a time at least, taken up with enjoyments and giving his care side a little rest and a chance to rebound.

"And so I should say to my young, middle-aged or old friend, let him not sit at home with his feet on the fender all the time. But let him get out once in a while and stretch his mental legs as well as the legs he walks on."

Saved a Life.

Erysipelas and Impure Blood Were Doing Their Deadly Work.

Paine's Celery Compound Gives Mrs. Gallagher a New Lease of Life.

Exposure to cold, indigestion and dyspepsia debility, impure blood, run down system, living in badly ventilated rooms and poor surrounding hygienic conditions, are all causes of erysipelas. It will afford comfort to thousands to know that, with ordinary care and the use of Paine's Celery Compound the many dangers of erysipelas can be entirely avoided. When any of the symptoms above are noted, promptness in the use of Paine's Celery Compound will quickly banish all dangers.

If, unfortunately, you are subject to the disease and have not used Dr. Phelps' great prescription, we say, with a desire for your welfare, give Paine's Celery Compound an instant trial, so that you may be able to fully judge of its worth.

Mrs. John Gallagher, Marleton, P. Q., one of the many saved from death by Paine's Celery Compound, writes as follows:

"In the winter of 1897 I had a severe attack of erysipelas. At the same time my blood was out of order, I was completely run down and so weak that I could not stand alone. I commenced at once to use your Paine's Celery Compound, and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited, and seemed to have a new lease of life. I know from experience that Paine's Celery Compound is possessed of all the merits claimed for it, and I will recommend it to all suffering from erysipelas, headache or stomach troubles. I also consider Paine's Celery Compound the greatest of all blood purifiers. I keep some of the Compound at all times in my house, and use it as a family medicine."

A Curious Custom.

There is a queer country between Canton and Mandalay. The tribes there are little known, and have some curious customs. Among them are the Bhamos, known to "Soldiers Three" and the "Infant." Some of the tribes have moonlight dances in the spring around the tree they call the devil stick. There betrothals are made. If a girl wishes to break an engagement she must give her lover a horse and an ox. Some woo by music. On the first day of winter they have a great feast, there greatest, and at it all the marriageable girls that is, those between fifteen and sixteen, gather together and listen to the music of the bachelors. Every eligible man who wishes a bride sits

There's Style

In Glasses as well as in Dress.

The deep-rooted objection to the use of Glasses on the ground of unsightliness is entirely removed by the artistic effect produced by modern methods. Improperly-fitted frames are at once a disfigurement and a menace to health; the effect of a perfect glass being annulled or distorted by this means.

I carry a large and well-selected stock of Spectacle and Eye-Glass Frames, in Gold, Gold-Filled, Non-Tarnishable Alloy and Nickel Steel and guarantee a Perfect Fit in both Frames and Lenses. Prices reasonable. Rimless and Special Frames made to order. Eyes tested free.

near the tree and plays his favorite instrument. The maidens, one by one, select a bridegroom. The girl steps up to the musicians and lays a flower on some one's instrument. He jumps up, throws down his instrument and takes his bride by the hand. As often as not a girl's choice is prearranged. The Ta-ia Ked-lao bride and groom must be of equal ages. The bride breaks or knocks out her two centre upper teeth that she "may be harmless in her husband's home." If a Tsi-kiang Miao husband dies he is not buried until his widow re-marries.
