NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

UPPER KENT.

I saw some items in your valuable paper from this place two weeks ago. I thought you would give space to another correspondent for a few items. As it is so very stormy there is nothing to do. It makes a man lonely and sometimes quite blue. John Bohan of Bath, shipped two carloads of potatoes from here last week. They were loaded by Rev. S. J. Perry and Wm. Wright. We have been looking of late for our M. P.'s Who are coming to locate Our Post Office where they please. We hope they'll locate it Where it was of yore For if they don't There'll be a civil war. Rev. Young has been holding special meetings in the F. B. Church at River de Chute, and a number of the young people of this place have been attending them. Mr. Hoyt of Andover, passed through this place on Tuesday selling wire fencing. You have heard of the young men Who in their plight All got left one Sunday night But who got left at River de Chute? And felt very much like using his boot. Mrs. W. H. Squires has returned home after spending a week with her sister at Andover. We have a horse in our town Who baffles all the jockeys round. But it has fell in the hands of a little preacher Who says he will make it a tame little creature. Of late he has been training it for war He can make it walk on three legs although it has four Now we didn't believe this young man a jockey But then we know his horse is bulky. Miss Lydia Barker of Bath, paid Upper Kent a flying visit last week.

THREE BROOKS.

John Tapley, of Riley Brook, passed through this place this week. Rev. Mr. Miller has gone to Riley Brook to labour for a few days. Henry Baird and family passed through here recently enroute for their home in Batavia. A. Beveridge of Andover was in this place this week looking after his lumber interests on Three Brooks. George Trafton of Sisson Ridge is reported ill. Howard McDonald of Fredericton, went down river to-day by stage on his way home.

MEDUCTIC.

Old Equinox has not forgotten his patrons, he is now making his regular semi-annual visit and is blustering and blowing around here. E. Moore, who has been away for the past week, has returned home. H.F. Grosvenor has been ill during the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Marsten and Miss Beatrice Marsten are attending the Reform Baptist Quarterly Meetings at Lower Southampton. The new building for the skimming station is boarded in and the machinery will be placed in a few weeks. Our mails from both Woodstock and Fredericton are behind time. The Fredericton mail went down on Thursday and has not returned. The Woodstock mail is bringing the mail a day old, and all on account of our March weather. The people of Meductic are hospitable but it was only after many fruitless endeavors that a tramp who visited our village last week, secured a night's lodging. This weather is severe on many a Weary Willie Watkins. Rev. Mr. Coy is in Meductic on his way home from Southampton. Court Meductic has changed its regular night of meeting from the fourth Saturday to the fourth Tuesday of each month. The Court meets on the twenty-fourth instant. T. Edwards is gradually getting his bark down to the vanishing point, notwithstanding bad roads.

BRISTOL.

The new Baptist church was dedicated on Sunday last, Rev. G. O. Gates of St. John preaching the dedicatory sermon. Rev. J. A. Cahill preached in the afternoon. The other ministers present were Rev. J. W. S. Young, A. H. Hayward, E. Calder and Elijah Grey (Free Baptist). The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and many could not gain admittance. In the evening Mr. Gates gave an interesting and instructive discourse on "Jerusalem, as it was, and as it is." The church of which Rev. Mr. Hayward is pastor, was commenced a year ago last spring, and has just been completed at a cost of about $1,200. There was a debt of $270 on the building, but that was practically wiped out on Sunday, as over $900 was subscribed and collected during the services. The church is handsomely finished and has a seating capacity for about 200 persons.

[From another Correspondent]

The teams have been coming out of the woods every day now for the past week. Mr. Treacraft of Ft. Fairfield who has closed his harness shop there spent last week here the guest of Chas Phillips. FLORENCEVILLE.

Harry Burnham is not the only Florenceville man who owns a horse. His brother, Billie, owns a flyer that wears the name of Rogues Roost Wonder. When fat, this royal animal tips the scale at 1500 but now being in training it would only weigh about 416 lbs. This horse is the pride of the village and great consternation reigned among the inhabitants when it was learned, one day last week, that he had broken through the ice and was in a fair way to meet a watery death. Hosts of the trotter's ardent admirers hastened to the scene of the sad accident armed with ropes and tackle of every description and after some time the work succeeded in rescuing the darling of the Florenceville horse fanciers from his perilous predicament. It is to be hoped that this will be a warning to Billie not to trust a thousand dollar flyer on shell ice again.

EVERETT.

We had another big Snow storm Thursday. The mail did not get in until Friday afternoon, owing to the very bad condition of the roads. We were much in sympathy with the stage-driver, seeing he had to break the road all through. Harry Watters is spending a few days in this place, the guest of Mrs. Fred Watters. Howard McDonald started Saturday morning for Montana, after a visit of four months in the lumber woods here. The men in camp were sorry to see him leave, as he proved himself a first class cook.

Harnessing The Nile.

Engineering skill is to rearrange nature's surface on the Egyptian frontier, and pond back into Nubia a body of water a hundred and forty miles long, crossing the tropic of Cancer, and extending southward near to Korosko—a goodly step on the journey to Abu-Simbel and Wady-Halfa—by means of a great dam across the Nile at Assuan. The Pyramids and the Sphinx have borne testimony through the centuries to the grandeur and power of execution which dwelt within the Nile valley; and what is the more fitting now than that the same valley be the heater of a gigantic engineering exploit, audacious perhaps, but certain of success, and ministering to man's necessities, rather than to his vanity.

As a building achievement the scheme is on a scale worthy of a Rameses or a Pharaoh. To create in the heart of the African desert a lake having from two to three times the superficial area of Lake Geneva in Switzerland, and control it with scientific precision, so that the impounded flood may be turned into distant channels at will, is a stupendous undertaking. But the engineers claim that their plans can be carried out to the letter; they have estimated the exact cost of the dam, computed almost to the gallon the volume of water that will be imprisoned, and figured the necessary resistance to be provided at every point of the masonry. In Cairo, the experts of the ministries of public works and finance, likewise have calculated to a nicety the sum from taxation that will come into the public treasury through the country's augmented productiveness.

Subordinate to the great dam, a smaller one, not unlike the barrage at the apex of the delta, ten miles to the north of Cairo, is to be made at Assuit. Its function will be to give a sufficient head to the river to force the water into the system of irrigation canals that vein hundreds of thousands of acres between Assuit and Cairo. The completion of the Cairo barrage (it was begun by Mehemet Ali Pasha, from the plans of a French engineer, but not made effective until England took the country in hand) so developed cotton culture as to add to the public revenue of the country at least $10,000,000 annually. It may safely be concluded that the Assuan reservoir is but one of a series which will in time be constructed southward to the Victoria Nyanza. The re-establishment of kerdual authority at Khartum will determine this. [Century.

ALABASTINE.

Anyone can brush it on—No one rub it off

QUESTIONS OFTEN ASKED:

What is Alabastine? Alabastine is a durable coating for walls and ceilings. Is it the same as kalsomines? It is entirely different from all other preparations on the market. Wherein does it differ from these kalsomines on the market? It is made from a cement that goes through a process of setting on the wall, and grows harder with age, and is ready for use by mixing in cold water. What are kalsomines made from? From whittings, chalk, clay, or other inert powders for a base, and are entirely dependent upon glue to hold them on the wall. Why do kalsomines rub and scale? Because the glue being animal matter, decays in a short time by exposure to air and moisture, and in binding qualities of the material are then gone. Does the Alabastine contain any injurious substance? Alabastine has been most carefully tested, and is recommended by leading sanitarians throughout the country, on account of its sanitary nature. What has the same investigation shown regarding wall paper?

Sanitarians condemn, in strong terms the use of wall paper for living rooms, on account of the poison used in its manufacture.

Can anything but plain work be done with Alabastine?

Any kind of work, from plain tinting to the most elaborate decorating, can be done.

How can I learn to do this work and decorate my house?

By writing the Alabastine Company, Paris, Ont., for book of instructions and suggestions, and illustration of stencils. Sent free.

THE REASON WHY

We call it Alabastine, as it is manufactured from alabaster rock. The people use it because it is durable and beautiful. The sanitarians endorse it because it is of a sanitary nature, and contains no poisonous material. We advertise it, as we want all to have an opportunity to be benefited by its advantages. Wall paper manufacturers fight it, as it displaces their poisonous products. Kalsomines must go, as they are only temporary and spoil the walls. Alabastine has stood the test of time, and now stands higher in public favor than ever before.
