A BARN at Upper Woodstock belonging to Jas. and Matthias Watson caught fire on Saturday morning about 8.30 o'clock and burned to the ground. It contained 50 tons of hay, a double waggon, a covered carriage and a mowing machine. The loss is partly covered by an insurance of $200.00

The concert in aid of the Cricket Club in Graham's Opera House, on Friday evening last, was not as well attended as the occasion deserved. His Worship Mayor Murphy, presided. The programme was rather on the short side, but all numbers had to respond to encores. The proceeds did not much more than pay expenses.

IF YOU WANT anything in the way of photographs and want them in the latest up-to-date style and finish, be sure and call and examine G. A. Keith's work before making sittings elsewhere. In addition to his studio work he makes a specialty of outside work such as groups, buildings, animals, etc. He also has views for sale.

EDWARD GRAY & SON, Waterville, have a herd of 12 thoroughbred Ayrshire cattle of which 4 are at present giving milk. They are putting into their dairy a separator. They attempted to get a co-operative cheese factory and creamery at Waterville but as that scheme could not be worked, the are going into the creamery business on their own hook. They have a steady market for their butter at a good price. At present they are shipping their whole output to Geo. D. Grimmer, St. Andrews, and it is consumed at the Algonquin Hotel.

A MAN coming from Ashland Wednesday brought word that he had discovered the body of a man lying dead beside the road, in beyond Haystack mountain. Coroner S. W. Boone and Deputy Sheriff M. S. Huson were notified and immediately started for that place. The unfortunate man proved to be Joseph Murray, aged about 30 of Woodstock. He had been working last winter in the woods for John Foster and had remained since then with Mr. Bean until ten days ago when he went to Ashland to go on the drive. On Tuesday, Mr. Murray, in company with Leslie Frost started on foot for Mapleton. When about three miles the other side of the halfway house, Murray refused to accompany his companion any further and sat down beside the road. He had been drinking heavily and an empty bottle was found beside him. Frost proceeded on alone. It is probable that Murray fell asleep and perished in the cold of Tuesday night. It was impossible to discover any marks of violence on the body and Coroner Boone concluded an inquest was unnecessary, as the man plainly came to his death by too much whiskey and exposure to the cold weather.—Presque Isle Star Herald. The body was brought home for burial. The funeral took place from his home, Upper Woodstock, on Sunday.

A MUSICAL will be given by the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union of Hartland on Tuesday evening May 16th, at 8 o'clock, in the Baptist church. The affair promises to be the best that has ever been held in Hartland, and a large attendance is expected. Among those who will so kindly assist is Mrs. S. P. Waite of Andover whose splendid soprano voice is well known in this County and appreciated by everyone.

ABOUT three miles of the C. P. R. track, between Caribou and Presque Isle, were badly disarranged by the ice last Sunday. In some places the road bed was entirely destroyed and the rails, bent and twisted, were forced several feet away. More than 40 men are now at work repairing the road. Charles Clark of Woodstock, N. B., the well-known bridge inspector of the C. P. R., visited his cousin, B. C. Morrell, at the Caribou Cancer Institute Tuesday. On Sunday, four C. P. R. workmen narrowly escaped with their lives. They were on the C. P. R. track when ice cakes from the river were forced among them. Parallel with the river, and on the opposite side of the track was a large pond of water, which prevented the men from getting to dry land. How the men escaped they hardly know for part of the time they were on ice cakes and part of the time in the water. Fortunately the water soon subsided leaving the men on ice cakes, and with feelings of thankfulness that they had escaped drowning or being crushed. It was a very narrow escape from death for each one of these men, surrounded, as they were, by ice and water.—Aroostook Republican.

A SERIES of special services in the Reformed Baptist Church was opened on Sunday evening. Rev. W. B. Wiggins, B.A., the pastor of the church, is being assisted by George B. MacDonald. The services have been well attended so far. The meetings are held every evening at 7.30 and will be continued until Saturday evening.

Go to Miss L. E. Fitzgerald's, Centreville, where you seldom see such an assortment of first class millinery and no trouble to get an idea of what you want when you can see such a large variety of trimmed hats and bonnets. We think by the amount of goods sold last week the people fully appreciate more than ever our good work and very low prices. We expect a great variety of childrens' Leghorns this week, different from anything we have ever had, from 25 cents up.

THE excellent performances given by the Spear's Comedy company at the Opera House are attracting large and appreciative audiences who are thoroughly well pleased with the entertainment offered. Last night "A Hero in Rags" delighted a good audience and will be the matinee bill this afternoon. The company have some very clever specialty people and in this part are particularly strong. Mr. Frank Clayton has caught the popular fancy and is a whole show in himself.—St. John Globe.

THE St. John Globe says:—A large number attended the funeral of Mr. Thos. N. Hipwell, son of Sergt. John Hipwell, which was held on Monday afternoon from the Union depot immediately after the arrival of the Boston train. The body was taken to St. Mary's church, where the burial service was said by Rev. W. O. Raymond, who also officiated at the grave. Interment took place in the Church of England burying ground. David Hipwell of this town a brother of deceased attended the funeral.

THE "Bosom Friend of Bowser" presented by the Spear Company at Columbia Theatre last evening amused a good sized audience and for over two hours there was a continuous whirl of laughter. The members of the company all entered into the spirit of the comedy and it was clean fun from the opening. Ralph Hayden, Norman H. Gilbert and J. H. Shephard were very good. Miss Martin as Mrs. Bowser appeared in several pretty costumes and Annie Clark Hanson as Rose Waters made a young and charming daughter. Adele Carlton caused much merriment as Mrs. Meekman. Tonight the company will present the great play "Passion Slave." New specialties are presented every evening and at the matinees.
