CHINESE ETIQUETTE.

The Russians Make Further Study of Oriental Peculiarities.

The Russians have been making some study of Chinese manners and etiquette, and their periodicals are reporting what has been learned. The latest number of Ruskii Viestnik says it is not surprising that the Celestials consider Europeans barbarians when they see continually what they consider bad manners and breaches of etiquette on the part of white men. The proper thing, according to the Chinese notion, is diametrically opposed to the European idea. For instance, when a Chinese welcomes a visitor to his house, he does not remove his hat, if he happens to have it on. He puts his hat on if he is caught without it. The seat of honor at the table is at the left of the host. It would be considered an offence if the guest inquired about the health of the hostess, or, still worse, expressed a desire to be presented to her. A Chinese takes offence if told that he looks younger than he is. The older the man the more he is respected, independently of his qualities, and, therefore, a Chinese wishes to appear older than he really is. He willingly forgives many offences, but should any one happen to tread on his foot he will refuse to accept the most humble apologies. When a son dies in a Chinese family the bereaved father considers it proper to show strangers a smiling countenance, no matter what his sufferings may be.

The Russian newspaper asserts that there is a minister of etiquette in China known as Lispu. Ancient books on manners are accepted by him as authority. The books include 200 volumes. Some of the rulers are Draconian in their severity. A Chinese cannot even build a house according to his taste. No matter how rich he is it is not proper for him to build a finer or a higher house than that of his neighbor if the latter happens to be of superior rank socially. In Chinese etiquette there are eight varieties of the bow. Ignorance of Chinese ideas of propriety with regard to the bow has often caused embarrassment.

A Chinese, displeased with his situation, will not tell his employer the real reason for resigning, but will give poor health or the death of a relative as a pretext for leaving. Such things have led many persons to regard the Chinese as insincere. But this does them injustice. They are also unjustly considered to be cold, unemotional and indifferent to the sufferings of others. As a matter of fact this appearance of stolidity is only a specimen of the wonderful self-control and the iron force of character with which this race is endowed.

MRS. HATTIE MORRIS

Got New Life From Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She was Totally Run Down in Health—A Continual Sufferer Whom no Medicine Helped Till She Took Dodd's Kidney Pills and was Cured.

BURT'S CORNERS, N. B., April 17.—The women of Canada are the strongest believers in Dodd's Kidney Pills because they are in closer contact with sickness than men are, and know better what remedies produce the best results in the sickness of their friends.

Women are more subject to disease than men, though they complain less. Therefore, they know more than men do, about the virtues of the many remedies on the market.

It is perfectly safe to take the opinion and advice of a lady on this matter. Take Mrs. Hattie M. Morris, of this place, for instance. She is an earnest advocate of the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills in all cases of "worn-out constitution," thin, weak, watery blood, and similar complaints. And her reason for this is that a year ago last spring, she was "completely run down," to use her own expression. The usual indications of defective Kidney action were noticeable.

Mrs. Morris became dull and low-spirited, lost all interest in her work, and, in short, became a striking example of what deadly injury any defect in the Kidneys will cause.

She was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills for her trouble, and, although she says she had little or no faith in them, she began to take them. Three boxes cured her, made her a girl again, gave clearness to her complexion, brightness to her eyes, and springiness to her step.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sure cure for all kinds of Female Troubles.

They are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Wanted to Set Himself Right.

"Pray do not misjudge me," he said, as he entered the office. "I am a poor man, and I cannot afford to be put in a false light before the public. I desire courteous treatment at your hands and ask that you be not deceived by appearances. My hair is long, but it is because of a financial disagreement with my barber. I am no poet."

Then he succeeded in selling the Sunday editor a book that he didn't want.—Chicago Post.

Nerves...

Wasted and Shattered by Worry or Overwork are Revitalized by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

"Nerves"—what a world of meaning this word has to scores of thousands of women who, through the strains of social life and the worry of home cares, are fast approaching the grave.

Nervous headaches, dyspepsia, irritability by day, restlessness and sleeplessness by night. Pains and aches in the body, derangements of the organs peculiarly feminine, loss of energy and ambition, despondency and despair.

These are some of the symptoms known to the woman of exhausted nerves. These are symptoms which entirely disappear when Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

By creating new, rich blood and nerve tissue this great food cure of Dr. A. W. Chase restores and revitalizes the wasted nerve cells, puts new vigor and vitality into the system and frees woman of many ills which are due to exhausted nerves.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food cures by the building-up process, which makes the body round and plump, and restores the glow of health to the pale, sallow cheek.

Cars Without Wheels.

Street cars without wheels are the latest novelty in vehicles. The cars run on ball bearings, and, being near the line instead of raised above it, are not subject to the same amount of resistance in the form of centrifugal force. Much greater speed is thus obtained, and the wear of the balls in carrying the car is much less than the wear of the wheel rims. The movement of the tramcar is easy and agreeable.

The Original.

There is only one remedy known that has a combined action on the kidneys and liver and cures the most complicated ailments of these delicate filtering organs, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the original kidney pill. This world famous kidney and liver cure has an enormous sale in all parts of Canada and the United States.

Aristocratic Mice.

To a mouse a $100 bill is simply a piece of paper, and a bunch of twenty of them is simply a good opportunity for nest building.

Up in Newberg the other day, when the appraisers of an old miser's estate were going over his old, tumbled-down house, they came upon a family of mice living happily in a $2000 nest.

The old miser, Edward Purgell by name, had long years ago tucked away a roll of twenty $100 bills in the corner of a cupboard. The mice had pulled it apart, burrowed into it and made for themselves a very comfortable home.

The old house of the miser was valued by the appraiser at $10. But the greenback house of the mice is still worth $2000, and can be redeemed at Washington.—Ex.

Mrs. Joe Doty, Port Gilbert, N. S., says: "My little girl would grind her teeth so I concluded she had worms. I gave her three doses of Dr. Low's Worm Syrup which acted with good effect." Price 25c.

Horseshoes of Rubber.

Horses whose owners are rich enough may wear rubber-tired shoes. The entire shoe is about three times as thick as the ordinary iron shoe, but it is not at all heavy, as a large portion of it is hollowed out to make a groove in which to set the rubber tyre. The tyre is made of very hard rubber, and is about half an inch in diameter. The inner circumference of the shoe is fitted with nine prongs, turned into the rubber and serve to hold it in place. When the prongs are turned into place the rubber stands about one-eighth of an inch above the shoe, and as it wears away a new rubber can be substituted, or the old tyre allowed to remain. In either case it has been found by usage that the shoe will wear as long as the old shoe.

TOBACCO HEART.

Mr. W. J. Judson, Curtis St., St. Thomas, Ont., says: "I had trouble with my heart for two years, caused by excessive use of Tobacco. I used one box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and have not suffered from palpitation since."

Spring stuffs are generally of the crepon kind and so soft they could be pulled through a ring without a wrinkle. Crepe poplin is perhaps the smartest material to be selected.

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

It is not wise, I think to make light of the coming Peace conference, an outcome of the proposition made by the Czar of Russia. True, we may look for no sudden disarmament, no rapid effects of the conference. But it is bound to leave an impression not alone upon those who attend, but upon all those who will read the accounts of the proceedings. Nothing can ever make out of war, anything but a grievous evil, necessary, often, I daresay, but I venture to think more frequently, in the past, undertaken, when there was no real necessity for such an extreme resort. The result of the Spanish-American war will make statesmen pause ere they call their countries to arms. Spain is vanquished and comes out of the battle stripped of almost all her choice possessions—America conquering and triumphant is troubled with an embarrassment of riches. Who can think that that nation who for more than a century past was great in her very isolation, really gains anything by the acquisition of the Philippines? No wise citizen of the United States can think so, surely. With such a possession as the Philippines, thousands of miles away, where is the United States' security in a war with a foreign nation, unless she increases her navy to an enormous extent. As the century draws near its end, and we start upon a new century, we may certainly hope that as medical science is adding to the happiness of human life, as a sense of our common brotherhood is making men recognise their kin even among those whom they do not know, so those who have the holding and the losing of the dogs of war, will add new strength to the chains, that keep these hideous and awful monsters from whetting their destroying appetites.

In dealing with this question of war, we must be careful to see that our youths in their dread of it do not become effeminate. So long as human nature is as it is, all must be ready to protect their homes. The highest type of man is he who will sacrifice himself for others, he who will undergo pain, that it may be averted from others. This individual fear of suffering and pain, it is hard to overcome, and yet heroism of this kind is more often found in the quiet homes of the quiet people than on the battlefield. There will always be ample scope for this true bravery, this true heroism. They who wish to be heroes, need not wait for war to break out. Citizens of all countries and all nations, therefore, who have the interests of humanity at heart will look for something tangible towards the peace of the world from the Peace conference soon to assemble.

A motion has been introduced into the House of Commons, having for its object the cutting down of the speeches, the shortening of debates. It certainly is a consummation devoutly to be wished for. But, like prohibition, it may prove impracticable. The only real way, I am assured, to lessen the number of aimless, useless, wearisome speeches that take place at Ottawa, is by the electors impressing upon the members that the time taken up in these tedious speeches is all lost. If a member has anything new to say, he can say it in ten minutes, at the outside. Why waste an hour in repeating what every man of the same political hue has already put on the pages of Hansard? Still Parliament is a very supreme court, and I doubt if any motion such as here referred to will pass. The members who talk at all want to talk a long time, and the idea of a closure is highly unpopular. The members must receive their instructions from the electors before we will have a Parliament, in which most of the speeches are worth hearing.

Could Only Whisper.

Often Colds settle on the Throat and Bronchial Tubes, and make the voice hoarse and husky, and an effort to speak, distressing. It may be reduced to a whisper or lost entirely for a while. In cases of this kind nothing will so soon give relief and restore the voice as

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

This is what Thos. J. Smith, Caledonia, Ont., writes:—"A year ago I had a very severe cold which settled on my lungs and throat. I got so bad I could scarcely speak louder than a whisper. I tried several Cough medicines but got very little relief until I used two and one-half bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which completely cured me." Price 25c.
