UPPER WOODSTOCK.

The "Hiji Entertainment" which was to have been on the evening of the 18th was, on account of the election, postponed till the 24th. It passed off very quietly about 100 being present. At 8 o'clock F. W. Cockwell called the meeting to order by a short speech. The first paper "How we relieved the Armenians," was read by L. E. Breyer, he was slightly nervous at first but seeing how much the Hiji depended on him, settled to business and harangued the listeners with fiery eloquence. Thus the reading and singing passed off, one of which "By Town Coons" was greeted by storms of shouts by the Opposition members present, and by the groans of the Liberals. The last on the programme was "A Political Paper," the speaker, Solomon Perry, upheld the Gov't with remarkable zeal, he spoke chiefly on the "Bridge Scandal" and the Provincial debt, and showed the persons present the improbability of the charges against the "Emmerson Gov't." He left the platform at 12.30 p. m., amid tremendous applause. This will be in all probability the last entertainment of the Hiji for some months, but when there is one to take place their correspondent will let the public know. Persons registered at the Hiji this week are:—Delbert Browning, J. J. Enfield, Bill Goodine, Harry E. Murdoch and L. A. W. Sherman. Every body look for sample copies of "Hiji Whirligig" this week.

Kipling Lecture and Concert.

The Kipling Lecture and Concert in the Opera House last Thursday evening under the auspices of the Presbyterian Literary Society, was a decided success. There were over two hundred people present. The programme was as follows:

Piano Solo,..... Miss Margaret Ross
Misses M. M. Henderson and Louise Stephenson.
Solo, Tatters,..... Charles Appleby
Reading from Kipling,..... Harry Dunbar
Solo,..... Miss Bessie Sanderson
Piano Solo,..... Mrs. W. D. Rankin
Solo,..... The Religion of Rudyard Kipling, Rev. D. S. Fraser, B. D., M. A.
Lecture,..... Recessional,..... Presbyterian Choir
Hymn Before Action,..... Presbyterian Choir
God Save the Queen,.....

Rev. D. J. Fraser in his lecture made a number of new Kipling fiends in Woodstock. He said that until Mr. Kipling had charmed the English speaking world with the "Recessional" he had been looked upon as our most versatile and popular but our least reflective poet. The appearance of this poem was proof conclusive that the splendid succession of English poets had not fallen desolate. He quoted some things from his earlier works to show that always, from the first, Mr. Kipling's genius, like that of all poets, was of the religious sort. He took up first Kipling's national poems, showing the poet's attitude toward the Empire, then he approached the religion of the characters that Kipling had created. Kipling's men, he said, accepted without any questioning, with the faith of little children, the three great postulates of religion, God, Duty and Immortality. In proving this statement he made his audience acquainted with a large number of the poet's characters. In closing he said:—"Kipling, as we have seen, lays the supreme emphasis on 'The Days Work,' and heaven to him is not a place of rest, nor a place of progress through conflict, but a society of ideal workers, under the superintendence of the master of every trade. I know not what his call to us may be out of the sunset of his life—but if he gives us none, these lines on heaven by the young artist in what we hope is the outset of a long and useful career, will I think share the immortality of Brownings 'One who never turned his back' and Tennyson's 'Crossing the Bar.'"

L'ENVOI.

When earth's last picture is painted, and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colours have faded, and the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest—and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an aeon or two,
Till the Master of all good workmen shall set us to work anew!

And those that were good shall be happy; they shall sit in a golden chair,
They shall splash at a ten-league canvas with brushes of comet's hair,
They shall find real saints to draw from, Magdalen, Peter and Paul,
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us and only the Master shall blame;
And no one shall work for money and no one shall work for gain,
But each for the joy of working and each in his separate star
Shall draw the thing as he sees it for the God of things as they are!

Carleton County Must Be Developed!

It must produce more and manufacture more if it is to prosper. Firmly believing this, the Woodstock Carriage Co. has decided to double, treble, and in time quadruple its output of Carriages and Sleighs. The company believes that it should and could do the Carriage and Sleigh trade of the province. They have already commenced this enlargement by preparing to put out 200 wheeled vehicles this season. They now have 50 well started toward completion, and will rush on the rest of their output at an early date. Their record for good work is well known, and should recommend their Carriages to the Province.

ACETYLENE

The Coming Light!

We are lighting our store with a "Safety" Acetylene Machine and it is "All Right."

We have the agency for Carleton and Victoria counties for this celebrated machine, and we will be pleased to figure with parties desiring a good machine. Give us a plan of the building or rooms you want lighted and we will estimate the cost of machine and plumbing.

The light has to be seen to be appreciated, it is easy on the eyes, no dust, no smoke, no lamps to clean and no chimneys to break. The machine is no experiment, there are 22 of them in successful operation in the Maritime Provinces alone.

The machine is very easy to clean and recharge; in fact everything about the machine is simple and complete, and they are warranted. Try one.

The Encore Nuisance

When a show comes to Woodstock, the leading characters are encored time and time again. It may be meant as an honour, but in many instances it is far from a kindness. It is getting more than one's money's worth out of the player. Says an exchange:—"A recent occurrence in a Boston theatre has called attention once more to that perpetual theatrical nuisance, the encore fiend. In a musical comedy one of the performers, a young woman, did a dance that while it pleased the audience greatly, subjected her to a very great physical strain. It was always encored, but after one representation the performer usually was able to decline further recalls. But one evening the audience was exceptionally infested with encore fiends. The result was that she was mercilessly compelled to repeat the dance five times, and only after she had succumbed to the strain and collapsed could the noisy nuisances be induced to allow the performance to proceed. The girl was out of the cast, under the care of a physician, for a week after this ordeal." Here is a hint for a Woodstock audience.

A sceptic must question and argue; it is his necessity. A mystic has only to learn and listen; it is his felicity. A mystic gathers truth as a plant absorbs the light, in silence and without effort. His service to his brethren is to ask secrets of the Lord.
