

To the Electors of Carleton County:

GENTLEMEN,—Being repeatedly asked if I would be a candidate at the election to be held on the 18th Feb. inst., I invariably replied if nominated by a convention would consider and give an answer to the request. At the convention recently held in Woodstock, I was neither consulted by the nominating committee nor as delegates were any of us permitted to vote, but only asked to ratify the decision of the nominating committee. This I maintain was not the whole object for which the convention was called. After consultation with many of the electors I have concluded to offer my services to the public as an Independent candidate. In consequence of the action taken by the convention, this is the only course I can consistently take, as I cannot repudiate my Liberal-Conservative principles in local politics neither can I subscribe to all the legislature enacted, or the financial management of our revenue by the Emmerson government as sanctioned by our representatives. If elected I will not only support all measures for the benefit of the people, no matter by what party introduced, but as well will assist in introducing legislation and not be a tame follower of any party or government. So far as economy is practised in the government agriculture policy for the benefit of the farmer I approve but it is a problem yet to be solved why an inexperienced man was appointed for minister of agriculture and also why our late representatives voted against a practical farmer for that position. They will no doubt give the reason on the day of nomination. If elected I promise not to support any party through all their legislation and mal-administration for years and then on the eve of an election repudiate all their doings as well as my own and present myself as a martyr to the people, and ask re-election because the government had dispensed with my services. If elected I shall advocate, progress, reform, and economy, in all the departments, which if adopted by the government will save thousands of dollars, and which would materially assist in opening up new roads, building bridges, and otherwise providing for the public services of the county, which would have a tendency to keep our population at home. I would advocate the amalgamation of public offices, and give the heads of departments something to do to earn their salaries rather than running about the country and attending to their private business. The short time allowed before polling will make it impossible for me to visit as I would desire, but having acted in the capacity of a representative, and looked after the public interest of the county, I can confidently ask all the electors for a vote as it is not my intention again ever to make a similar appeal and if elected would consider it the crowning act of a public life. I am not contending against any party, and because men should vote as they feel it their duty, will not if elected show any disposition to injure them, as I have been by those from whom better things were expected.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. WHITE.

Wouldn't Take Any Chances.

"Up!" The fast flying elevator in a huge downtown office building hovered for an instant at the third floor, like an impatient and monstrous bird, then, with a clang of the iron gates, flew upward out of sight. The citizen from Sassafras Cross Roads turned fiercely to his wife. "What made you hold me back, mother?" "Why, Eben Dillely, who are you taikin' to? Don't you stand there an' jaw me!" "Well, you make me feel so foolish." "Foolish, eh? Foolish! That's all the thanks a woman gits for bein' careful. You came down here to git your life insured, didn't ye?" "Course, I did." "Ye ain't done it yet, hev ye?" "Goin' to do it just as soon as I kin get to that 'leventh floor." "Yes! Well, when ye've done it ye can ride on all the elevators in creation if ye want to, but not till then." And the prudent wife began the long and weary ascent of the marble stairs, followed by her humbled and horrified spouse.—New York Herald.

Practical Demonstration.

"What are you doing there?" said the passer by as he leaned over the fence to speak with the farmer who was clearing a piece of new ground. "Lifting the mortgage." Then came one of those strange coincidences that we encounter along the pathway of existence. A dynamite cartridge exploded, fragments of a stump filled the air, and it required no exaggerated stretched of imagination to think that the mortgage was being most effectually lifted.—Exchange.

Important if True.

It is a remarkable fact that persons employed in match factories are proof against grip and other epidemic diseases. During the yellow fever in Memphis, Tenn., the agents and nurses of the Howard Benevolent Association escaped that fatal disease by using powdered sulphur in their shoes; and a distinguished German medical writer says that wearing sulphur in the shoes has proved a complete protection against cholera and other epidemic diseases. The workers in the sulphur mines in Italy escape the malaria which prevails all about them. The London, Eng., Lancet, declares that the sulphurous vapor produced by the combustion of coal in that city kills the disease germs in the atmosphere. Officers in the United States army say that with sulphur in their shoes the men had no fevers, and it was also a protection against fleas. Out on the ranches in California, where walnuts are prepared for the market, the shells are bleached by the use of brimstone fumes. The men having charge of that work are never touched by grip, influenza or other epidemics which attack laborers otherwise employed. It is also said to be a remedy in various cases of rheumatism. Half a teaspoonful of powdered sulphur in each shoe or stocking is considered to be sufficient. The remedy is certainly simple enough and is worthy a trial.

COOK'S ANODYNE LINIMENT.

Dairy Meeting at Arthurette.

On the evening of the 2nd inst. Messrs. W. S. Tompkins and W. A. Jack, representing the Local Government, and R. Robertson, representing the Dominion Government, held a meeting in the school house at this place. E. F. Witherly was called to the chair. Mr. W. S. Tompkins was the first speaker. He spoke of the policy of the government in trying to educate the farming community to a higher standard of agricultural practice and knowledge. Farmers should be manufacturers of finished products and have an advantage over other manufacturers in having the raw material at hand, i. e. the farm products. Beef, butter, poultry, wool, mutton, attractively put up are the quick selling finished products of the farm. Special attention should be given to the soil that it may retain its vigor. Dairying on the co-operative plan was strongly recommended for winter.

Mr. Robertson followed. He explained to the meeting the work done on the Experimental Farm. They did not presume to advise but simply made the experiments and published the results. The results were published by the government and any person desiring the reports could have them by writing to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The speaker then told results of winter dairying at Nappan. The profit over cost of production netted from $28 to nothing, but there was no loss. Four fresh fall cows resulted $10.75 better than an equal number of spring cows. Agricultural papers were now a necessity to first class farming.

Mr. Jack gave practical hints on "Poultry for Profit." First essentials were good warm houses for poultry and right kind of food. Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes recommended as best all round bird for eggs and table. Mr. Jack read interviews with St. John poultry buyers, giving useful information about killing and dressing for the market.

Mr. Porter was present and responded briefly to the call of the meeting, claiming that the Emmerson government deserved the confidence of the farmers on account of their agricultural policy. He announced himself as a candidate at the coming election and solicited the support of the electorate.

J. B. Stevenson with a few remarks moved that the thanks of the meeting be tendered to the speakers for the earnest efforts for the advancement of agriculture, after which the meeting adjourned.

DANGER IN CALCIUM CARBIDE.

Rules Governing Its Sale in New York—Liquified Acetylene Gas Prohibited. Superintendent Murray of the Bureau of Combustibles, has made regulations governing the transportation, storage and sale of calcium carbide which the firemen declare to be a source of danger in a burning building, because when water reaches it acetylene gas is given off. A number of stores keep it for use in bicycle lamps. Hereafter, in transit or on storage, it must be enclosed in hermetically sealed iron receptacles marked "Dangerous if not kept dry." No package may contain more than 100 pounds. It must be stored in isolated buildings that are fireproof and waterproof. No artificial light or heat will be permitted in the building where it is stored. Not more than twenty pounds, in bulk or in cartridges may be kept in any store or factory, and this must be in a fireproof safe or vault above the street grade and it must be kept six inches above the floor. The manufacture, transportation, storage, sale or use of liquified acetylene is absolutely prohibited within the limits of this city.—N. Y. Sun.

How to Have a Beautiful Neck.

A beautiful neck beautifully dressed makes a woman look fairer and younger than any other toilet dressing, and the majority of women know it, and their worry is greater on this score than any other in the beautifying line.

There is a way—in fact, there is always a way when a woman wills—and a little patience and perseverance will make the ugliest neck not beautiful always, but presentable. "Gymnastic movements for developing the muscles of the neck," says a well-known beauty expert, are: 1—Slowly but firmly bend the neck forward until the chin nearly touches the neck; then gradually raise the head. 2—Slowly but firmly bend the head backward as far as you comfortably can. Repeat this movement 20 times. 3—Bend the head sideways to right 20 times and to the left the same number of times. 5—Roll the head slowly to the right, then to the left 20 times.

After these exercises the neck should be bathed in warm water and olive oil soap and rubbed with a soft towel. Follow this by anointing the neck on retiring with cream, and if persisted in, the fair patient will soon be rewarded by being the proud possessor of a beautiful white neck.

Memorial and Letter of Condolence.

To THE REV. J. D. SLACKFORD:

Beloved Brother,—The members of Prince of Wales, L. O. L., No. 37, desire to place on record their sincere regret and deep sympathy for you in the great loss you have sustained in the death of your estimable wife. A good wife is man's best earthly blessing, her loss his greatest sorrow. Such we know has been your experience, and your brethren wish you to have the assurance that they feel for you and with you, as far as it is possible for one to enter into the feelings and experience of another. Of Sister Slackford it can be truly said, her life was a beautiful one. Consistent as a Christian, a devoted loving wife and mother, helpful in trouble, as a neighbour, pleasant and agreeable, useful and peaceful in health, patient in suffering, and resigned to her heavenly Father's will. Your loss, dear brother, which we all feel, is her eternal gain. God's way and providences are to us inscrutable, but "what we know not now we shall know hereafter."

The above is but a feeble expression of sympathy, compared to your great grief, but as yours is sorrow of heart, so are these few lines the sincere expressions of our hearts' sympathies.

AMERICANS AND FILIPINOS.

Long Expected Rupture has Come at Last
MANILA, Feb. 5, 8.15 p. m.—The long expected rupture between the American and the Filipinos has come at last. The former are now engaged in solving the Philippine problem with the utmost expedition possible.

The clash came at 8.45 yesterday evening, when three daring Filipinos darted past the Nebraska regiment's pickets at Santa Mesa, but returned when challenged. They repeated the experiment without drawing the sentries' fire. But the third time Corporal Greeley challenged the Filipinos, and then fired, killing one of them and wounding another.

The Nebraska, Montana and North Dakota outposts replied vigorously, and held their ground until reinforcements arrived. The Filipinos in the meantime concentrated at three points, Calvotan, Gagalangin and Santa Mesa.

At about 10 o'clock the Filipinos opened a hot fire from all three places simultaneously. This was supplemented by the fire of two siege guns at Balik-Balik and by advancing their skirmishers at Paco and Pandacan.

The Americans responded with a terrific fire, but owing to the darkness they were unable to determine its effect. The Utah Light Artillery finally succeeded in silencing the native battery. The third artillery also did good work on the extreme left. The engagement lasted over an hour.

The United States cruiser Charleston and the gunboat Concord, stationed off Malabon, opened fire from their secondary batteries on the Filipinos' position at Calvotan and kept it up vigorously.

At 2.45 there was another fusillade along the entire line, and the United States seagoing double monitor Monadnock opened fire on the enemy from off Malate.

With daylight the Americans advanced. The Californian and Washington regiments made a splendid charge and drove the Filipinos from the village of Paco and Santa

Mesa. The Nebraska regiment also distinguished itself, capturing several prisoners and one howitzer, and a very strong position at the reservoir, which is connected with the water works.

The Kansas and Dakota regiments compelled the enemy's right flank to retire to Calvotan. There was intermittent firing at various points all day long.

The losses of the Filipinos cannot be estimated at present, but they are known to be considerable. The American losses are estimated at twenty killed and one hundred and twenty-five wounded.

The Ygorates, armed with bows and arrows, made a very determined stand in the face of a hot artillery fire, and left many dead on the field.

Several attempts were made in this city yesterday evening to assassinate American officers.

Heroic Treatment For Asthma.

"Did the climate out there benefit your asthma?" asked a man on the boulevard of his next door neighbor, who has just returned from a new resort in the Northwest.

"Say it makes me short of breath to think about it. I was sitting out in a sort of an arbor the first afternoon after I reached there. I was in the shadow of a trailing vine through which the sunbeams sifted in mellow light. The air was balmy and freighted with the odor of roses."

"Must have been delightful."

"Simply charming. Suddenly there was a sort of gigantic zip athwart the heavens, darkness enveloped the earth like a pall, and before I could cover three rods to the hotel on the dead run there were six inches of snow on the ground. I never put in a wheezier night than the one that followed."

"Mighty sudden, wasn't it?"

"Yes, but that's the way things go out there. One morning I started to the nearest town carrying a twig of cherry blossoms and wearing a white tennis suit. Out on the trail it turned cold quicker than you could wink your eye, and I would have frozen if a native hadn't wrapped me up in a horse blanket, a big wire nail serving as a shawl pin."

"Got through all right, did you?"

"Yes, providentially. A cyclone struck me, turned the blanket inside out, and blew me for a mile. I don't know what did it, but I'm free from asthma."—Detroit Free Press.
