Care of the Teeth.

The following toilet hints are given by Dr. Gordon Sables in the 'Young Woman':—A tooth, remember, is a far most delicate instrument than many may be aware of. Its strongest portions are a kind of bone covered with enamel; it has a cavity containing pulp, and up through the centre of each root runs a nerve and an artery, the latter to feed the tooth and keep it healthy; the used-up or deteriorated blood is returned by a vein. As far as beauty is concerned, the enamel is of most interest. It is most beautiful in the young, but with care can be retained white for a long time. It is destroyed by powders that scour it, such as that composed of cuttlefish, etc. I commend a mixture of charcoal and prepared chalk, or chalk itself or charcoal. This latter is the best of all tooth powders for whitening and disinfecting. A little borax mixed with prepared chalk is very good. It should be rubbed up in a small mortar, with a tiny dust of carmine, enough to give it a pink shade, and a little powdered orris root. It is elegant and safe and beautiful. But here is one worth its weight in gold. An ounce of tincture of myrrh, three to five grains of burnt alum, and half an ounce of eau de Cologne. Let it settle, after shaking it well, and pour off the top. Used on the tooth-brush. A hollow tooth cannot be too soon stopped. Only a dentist can do this. Gold is the best filling.

For Scurf in the Hair.—I am in the habit of recommending this: Vaseline and lanoline, of each a dram, and a half of purest sulphur, two drams of glycerine of borax, and benzoated lard three drams; add a little essence of bergamot, and mix well. Apply a little to the roots of the hair every night.

Camphorated spirits may be used to damp the hair with for dandruff, and this will also promote its growth. The hair can be washed with lukewarm water and a little borax to soften it, say a teaspoonful to a basinful. Rub the yolk of a new-laid egg, mixed with a little warm water first, into the roots of the hair.

If your hair is falling out use this: Rum, five ounces; spirits of wine (not the strong) one ounce; rosewater, four ounces; tincture of cantharides, one dram, and carbonate of ammonia, one dram. Rub well in, and after, say, twenty minutes, use the egg wash, finishing with filtered rain water.

Filtered rain water should be always used for the face when procurable. Keep a jar of it well corked and some eau de Cologne added.

LIP SALVE.

Here is a delightful lip salve; One ounce of white wax, two ounces of almond oil, and a dram of alkanet; melt together, keeping it in a warm place and stirring occasionally till well colored, and stir in about five drops of otto of roses. You need not make so much as this at a time.

FOR THE COMPLEXION.

I should remind you that you cannot have a good complexion if either stomach or liver is out of order. Get these right first. Do not depend upon powder or paint for complexion. The Greek girls are as pretty as any I have seen; but I have seen a woman look a perfect hag at thirty—high cheekbones, yellow, wrinkled skin, eyes like a barn owl's and straggling, thin hair. They begin to paint when very young—make cheeks and lips like roses, touch the temple veins with blue, and darken the edges of the eyelids and eyelashes. They powder plentifully also. Hence the hag-like appearance that begins to come on soon after they are out of their teens.

I may mention that what a young woman drinks has an effect for good or bad on the complexion. If she is her own friend, she will not take no wine or rich and heating sauces.

Here is a safe face-wash: Orange flower or rose water, five ounces; a dram and a half of Friar's balsam. Put on at night with a bit of sponge.

Rogue is simply levigated French chalk tinged with carmine. Face-white is this same chalk without the carmine, but finely powdered.

A DOCTOR'S HOMAGE.

Prescribed for his Patient South American Rheumatic Cure, and the Man's Own Words for it: "It Saved my Life."

Wm. Erskine, Manager for Dr. R. R. Hopkins, Grand Valley, writes: "I have a patient who has been cured by South American Rheumatic Cure. He had been trying everything on earth without the slightest relief, and had taken to his bed. Three dozens relieved him, and when he had taken two bottles he was able to drive out. He immediately came to me and said this great remedy had saved his life. This remedy relieves in a few hours and is curing the world. For Sale by Garden Bros.

WEAK AND... PUNY CHILDREN

Become Strong and Healthy
by using Dr. A. W.
Chase's Nerve Food.

Children are frequently left weak and sickly as an after result of measles, scarlet fever, etc., and in this state are easy prey to nervous disorders, rickets, spinal disease, or consumption, diseases which do not affect robust, healthy children.

The blood is weak and watery and the nerves improperly nourished. Feed the blood and nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, and the pale, pinched faces will soon become rosy and plump, and tiredness and weakness will give way to strength and animation. Mr. E. W. Day, 62 Close Avenue, Toronto, writes: "My eldest daughter, aged eight, became very much run down. Her fretful, nervous, sleepless condition greatly alarmed her parents. She was taken from school, and in spite of the best nursing, the thin, weakened, bloodless face grew painfully worse. Fortunately we used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. An improvement became apparent in a few days, it continued, and in a few weeks she returned to school built up anew, and greatly to our joy fully restored to health."

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

How are you going to keep people quiet in church on the occasion of a big wedding. Shut the doors, say some, to all but guests. Have more ushers, says another. Have a squad of policemen and military with loaded guns, says another. Perhaps if children and young people were taught the reverence for a church, which they should be taught, it would be the most effectual means of preserving order. But, surely I forget, it is superstitious to be reverent, and anything but superstition! Far better smash seats, spit tobacco juice and generally act like a lot of Eoodlums in church, than be suspected of such an awful crime as superstition, with a big S.

I wish to just give those chaps who have been 'agin' the exhibition a good dab. There was no excuse for not joining in to make the affair a success. If there were differences of opinion, even, if there were grievances, probably more imaginary than real, why not confer together and have them settled. Differences will occur. There cannot always be peace in the family, but why in mercy's name keep up the row, forever. Refer it to arbitration, do anything, do something, but come to an understanding. It is poor policy to cut off one's nose to spite one's face. If this exhibition is a success, which it will be if the weather is good, we will have one every year, if not, good-by exhibition and some other county will have it. The fact is some discredited politician or cranky business man wants to get even with some one else, so he starts the ball of jealousy a-rolling, and finds it quite easy to get up a row. Mischief makers are always more successful than peace makers. But the dead, downright, pig headed idiocy of this squabbling over the exhibition beats me.

There will be quite a time over the municipal elections this fall, or else my prophetic genius hath forsaken me. In the first place there's politics in it. The Tories want to control the council, and the grits are equally anxious to be the preponderating element. Then, the gaol question will figure. By the way has any one seen anything of an "Injunction." It seems to have been lost. Its nearest relatives know nothing of its whereabouts. Wonderful are the works of a wheel barrow, and wonderful, sometimes is the Process of the Law. To build or not to build, that is the question, whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the stench and stink of an old fashioned gaol, or to take arms against short sighted taxpayers, and show them the everlasting fallacy of the penny wise pound foolish policy. The reactionaries are always in the way of reform. Why! Fredericton is just wrestling with the sewerage system proposal, and there are found lots of advocates of the cess-pools, even within the sacred precincts of the Celestial City. Prejudice is a very strong factor in human affairs.

THE IMP.

CARPET RAGS.

How to Dye Them So That They Will Never Fade.

To color cotton or wool carpet rags so they will not fade, one should be sure to get the Fast Diamond Dyes. There are some twelve fast and special colors for cotton, while for wool there are about thirty.

It is impossible to get satisfactory colors on both wool and cotton with the same dye, although the makers of some cheap dyes, that are able to make but a few colors, claim their dyes will color both cotton and wool. A trial soon shows by ruined goods the falsity of such claims. Use nothing but the Diamond Dyes that have been used in millions of homes for the last twenty years.

Permanent Cure of Cancer.

Some twelve years ago Mrs. Elizabeth Gilhula, wife of the postmaster of Buxton, Ont., was taken ill with an obscure stomach trouble which her physicians pronounced cancer of the stomach and informed her that her lease of life would be short.

On the advice of friends she commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters. The results that followed were little short of marvellous. Her strength and vigor returned and in a short time she was completely cured. Mrs. Gilhula is to-day in the full enjoyment of good health, and in all these years there has not been the slightest return of the trouble.

Here is the letter Mrs. Gilhula wrote at the time of her cure:
"About four years ago I was taken sick with stomach trouble and consulted several of the leading physicians here, all of whom pronounced the disease to be cancer of the stomach of an incurable nature, and told me that it was hardly to be expected that I could live long. Afterward the two doctors who were attending me gave me up to die. By the advice of some of my friends, who knew of the virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters, I was induced to try it, and I am now happy to say that after using part of the first bottle I felt so much better I was able to get up. I am thankful to state that I am completely cured of the disease by the use of B. B. B., although it had baffled the doctors a long time. I am fully convinced that Burdock Blood Bitters saved my life."

Here is the letter received from her a short time ago:
"I am still in good health. I thank Burdock Blood Bitters for saving my life twelve years ago, and highly recommend it to other sufferers from stomach troubles of any kind." ELIZABETH GILHULA.
