"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out in print."—HAZLITT.

Papers supporting the socialism idea, are always down on "empire" building. They propose, for instance, that England should give up her colonies, that the Empire should be dismembered and that the money spent in keeping up a war footing should be diverted towards alleviating the distress in London and other big cities. Alas! if you were to relieve the distress in all the large cities, it could only come again, as soon as you withdrew your aid. Put all the people in the world in a position of equality, divide wealth so that all share equally, and let all have the same start over. How long will it be before inequality, and wealth and poverty will again exist? We are living in an imperfect world and many of our aims are wrong and misdirected, but we must struggle along. Surely Egypt is a better country to live in, now, than before it came under the control of England.

Are we getting better or worse? Is the world going on to perfection, or in the other direction? When we look at the crimes reported in the daily press we are certainly led to believe in the truth of the former proposition, and to think the latter days are more full of evil than the former. But, then, there were no newspapers, centuries ago. Had there been daily papers when the Indians controlled this continent, we would have learned by the files that many atrocities were carried on which would certainly not be tolerated in these days of civilization. We must be just to our age. Few crimes, few cruelties occur now, that do not come before the light, and on which public opinion has not an opportunity of exercising judgment. The press is the flashlight of modern society, and it is pitiless in its exposure of the defects in the fabric. We behold all the hideousness and selfishness of the world; in justice, let us add, the beauties are not so prominently shown up.

There would be nothing especially abhorrent in elections, if it were not for the "devoted party man." He is a regular out and out nuisance. He will read nothing but the ultra-party journals, and while he may entertain doubts as to whether or not Moses wrote the Pentateuch, he has not a shadow of doubt that his political editor is infallible, if not impeccable. He hardly understands that in many cases his infallible editor is just writing for the money there is in it. Not always, of course, but quite often. I have a remedy for extreme partyism, which perhaps it may be found difficult to enforce, but which any reasonable man will consider fair. It is that every grit be obliged to read only tory editorials and every tory only grit editorials. I don't think their will be any noticeable conversions, in fact the elect on both sides are likely to be fortified in their opinions. You don't convert your true party man in a hurry. He is not open to conviction. But allowing my scheme to work there would be this advantage. The politicians who always want to weary us with their talk, would be kept busy in imaginary discussions with the editor of the journal, who was writing against their party, and quiet law abiding politics—sickened individuals, who only ask to be allowed to pursue their everyday business in peace, would have a chance to satisfy their moderate aim in life. And, now, they talk of an election, and all the political madmen will be loosed on us!! Surely, fate is hard, at times.

Foresight.

Among the myriad anecdotes of doggish intelligence, but few illustrate the precious gift of prudence so effectively as the following story, cited in the Diary of Sir M. E. Grant Duff. 'Companion' prints it as it finds it. The clergyman had a small dog, which would delight your soul. It is accustomed to sleep with his children, but never knows in whose bed, as they fight for it every night. One evening all the household had gone out, leaving their supper, consisting of meats pies and

Always relieved promptly by
Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

When you are seized with an attack of Cramps or doubled up with Colic, you want a remedy you are sure will give you relief and give it quickly, too.

You don't want an untried something that MAY help you. You want Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which every one knows will positively cure Cramps and Colic quickly. Just a dose or two and you have ease.

But now a word of proof to back up these assertions, and we have it from Mr. John Hawke, Coldwater, Ont., who writes: "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a wonderful cure for Diarrhoea, Cramps and pains in the stomach. I was a great sufferer until I gave it a trial, but now I have perfect comfort."

cakes, on the kitchen table. When they returned the estates had entirely disappeared. When the children went to bed, however, each found, under his counterpane, a meat pie and a little cake. In its uncertainty as to its resting place the dog had determined to be prepared for all emergencies.—'Youth's Companion.'

Living Bellamy Fashion.

The little town of Morehead, in the very north-west corner of Labette County, Kansas is probably the only town in the United States that is run on a co-operative plan to any extent. This little town has a population of about five or six hundred people, and has adopted co-operative methods almost exclusively. It is situated on the Santa Fe Railroad between here and Kansas City, and is about thirty miles north of here. It is the heart of a great agricultural section, and the co-operative idea has been extended into the country, where several farms are run on the co-operative basis. The farmers raise their crops and divide up, so that if one farmer has poor crops he need not suffer a total loss, as he would do otherwise.

The co operate methods that have been adopted so far have proven a success and more enterprises are constantly being put under this method of doing business. At present the town has a co-operative hotel, a co-operative laundry, a co-operative hall, a co-operative creamery, a co-operative canning factory. A co-operative dining hall has besides just been put in operation, where several families, perhaps two dozen, take their meals.

Anybody who is a member of the company can get meals at a reduced rate there, and many farmers have become members, so that they can get a good square meal at a low price when they come to town on Saturday. A co-operative housekeeping movement is to be started soon, which, together with the dining-hall already in operation, will do away with the hired girl problem. An experienced manager oversees each common enterprise, and renders his account at the end of each month, and the expenses are divided up amongst the members of the co operative society.

The town is prospering, and new houses are going up. Other enterprises will be put on a co-operative basis at once, and it is intended soon to have all the cooking and other work done in common, and such a town as Edward Bellamy pictures in "Looking Backward" will in all probability be realized here, as that is the intention of the people of Morehead.—Kansas Cor. Washington Star.

Woman's Troubles

Are usually the result of an exhausted nervous system which can be fully restored by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. Women made nervous and irritable by the wasting diseases which drain their system find new life, new vigor, new energy, in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, the world's greatest blood and nerve builder.

Beds.

In England the old four-poster bedstead is still the pride of the nation, says the Sanitarian, but the iron or brass bedstead is beating it out of the field. The English beds are the largest beds of the world. A peculiarity of the German is its shortness: besides that it consists frequently in part of a large down pillow or upper mattress, which spreads over the person and usually answers the purpose of all other bed clothing combined. In the tropics the men sleep in hammocks or upon mats or grass. The East Indian enrolls his light portable charpoy or mattress, which, in the early morning, is again rolled together and carried away by him. The Japanese lie upon matting, with a stiff, uncomfortable neck rest. The Chinese use low bedsteads, often elaborately carved, and supporting only mats or coverlets. The ancient Greeks and Romans had their beds supported on frames, but not flat like ours. The Egyptians had a couch of peculiar shape, more like an old fashioned easy chair, with hollow back and seat.

How to Be Strong and Happy in the Autumn Season.

Happy indeed are the men and women who, during the summer months, have taken advantage of the disease-banishing and life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. Dangerous ailments and wasting diseases have been overcome and banished, and they enter the autumn months full of life and vigor, with long and happy years before them.

If you are unfortunately numbered with those who are tired, worn out, nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic, neuralgic, or your life made miserable by kidney disease, liver trouble or blood diseases, and have met with sad failures in the past under medical treatment and the use of wrong medicines, we would impress upon you the wisdom of trying Paine's Celery Compound, a medicine that cannot fail or disappoint you. It is the only remedy in the world that has the full and hearty approval of educated men and women—a remedy that has received the complete indorsement of the best physicians.

TEST THE KIDNEYS

And if they are diseased use the world's greatest kidney cure

Dr. A. W. Kidney-Liver Pills
CHASE'S

It's a simple matter to test the kidneys. You need not consult a doctor. By asking yourself three questions you can determine whether or not your kidneys are deranged.

First: "Have you backache, or weak, lame back?"

Second: "Do you have difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate?"

Third: "Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours?"

In its earlier stages kidney disease is readily cured by a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, a preparation which has made Dr. Chase famous throughout the world for his wonderful cures of diseases of the kidneys.

If you have kidney disease you can take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with perfect confidence that what has proved an absolute cure in so many thousands of cases will not fail you.

So long as the cells of the kidneys are not completely wasted away, as in the last stages of Bright's disease, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will give them new vigor and strength and make them strong, healthy and active. One pill a dose, 25¢ a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

STRENGTH

If you want to get strength and purity you will find our stock of Drugs the best in the vicinity. Our Drugs are bought with the greatest care, and we take pains that none but Pure Drugs reach our shelves.
