Hard Heels.

People who have always worn shoes think of the foot as a tender and delicate extremity. The idea of a man scratching matches on his bare heels seems as startling to us as the stories of the negro soldiers of Dahomey charging barefoot over thorn hedges in their regular infantry drill. Yet if we did not wear shoes nature would provide for the former substitutes, hard heels

An old prospector in Navada was telling stories of the Washoe Indians, who live in Carson valley and the Sierra Navada mountains. Wearing neither shoes ror moccasins, they travel on foot over the rough and stony ground, now fishing in the cold Sierra lakes, now gathering berries and seeds in the valleys, until the upper surface of their feet become like the out side of an old rubber ball, all chapped and crackled. Jerry Racraft, the prospector, was trying to give an idea of how tough the bottom of their feet were.

"One day I was over in Genoa, at Pete Meyer's blacksmith shop, getting my pony shod. Pete had heated his bar of iron red hot, and then cut off a chunk from the end. You know how the pieces fly when they clip off the ends that way? Maybe you have stepped on them when you were a boy. Well, one of these pieces jumped about ten feet, and sunk in the dust on the floor.

There were some Washoes camped in the rocks upon the hillside, and about the time Pete clipped off that chunk of hot iron a Washoe buck came down and stood in the door, watching him hammer out the shoe. He didn't say anything, but by and by he got interested and walked in a way. Well, sir, he planked his heel down square on that haps, if it isn't true. While going through chunk of hot iron in the dust, and never twitched a muscle. There he stood, as calm as you please, looking through his hair at "Pretty soon smoke began to rise up from his foot, and after a while he caught a whiff of it. He swung his head around slow, and began to sniff, 'mff, mff, mff,' but he couldn't make out what it was. It smelled as much like a horse's hoof when you put a hot shoe on it as anything.

Pete again there came a pained look in his face, surprised like, and the next minute he was jumping all over the shop, kicking out like a mule and grunting: 'Wuh, huh, umph! The season of the year is near at hand like that, at every kick, while Pete and I tor, eagerly. were laughing to bust ourselves.'

"Well, sir, that iron was burned in so far he didn't get it out until about the third papered this Spring and how much kick, and then he sent it clean across the shop, and bang against the wall. That Indian had a hole in his heel big enough to put his thumb in, and I don't guess he ever line of Wall Paper ever shown in exactly understood how it got there, either. Woodstock. This stock was selected No, he didn't pay no shoemaker four bits to get a new half sole. Just limped up the canon to a pine tree, filled the hole with pitch, and walked back flat-footed same as

How Old People May Be Healthy and Happy.

Paine's Celery Compound Will Surely Banish Their Ailments and Troubles.

It Preserves Health and Prolongs Life.

The most successful and popular physicians of our times are those who can banish the ailments and distresses of men and women in Three fourths of all the aches and pains that make old age miserable arise from re-tarded circulation. The slow blood is choked with accumulations of waste matters that produce rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. Sluggish circulation speedily produces digestive disturbances, and unlookedcomplications arise that in the malority of cases prove fatal to old people.

Paine's Celery Compound is a precious boon to those advanced in years. Soon after its use is commenced there is noticed an increase in the blood supply, which is pure, and alive in its coursing through the body. The brain becomes clear, digestion is easy and natural, the heart does its work with regularity, nerve force is acquired and flesh is built up. If old people desire health and strength to meet the enervating and trying weather of midsummer, they should build up at once by propose to fight a bully, he withdrew. the of use Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. John Holdsworth Claremont Street, Toronto,

"I was taken sick last summer, and was in bed for five weeks or more, and my physician New York Sun. was attending me all the time. My case was pronounced weakness of the heart and old

When the World Bu'sts Through.

(Casually suggested by an earthquake.)

Where's a boy a-goin',
An' what's he goin' to do,
An' how's he goin' to do it,
When the world bu'sts through?
Ma, she says "she can't tell

What we're comin' to!" An' pop says "he's jist skeered Clean, plum through!"

S'pose we be a-playin'
Out in the street,
An' the ground 'ud split up Bout forty feet!

Ma says "she ist knows We 'ud tumble in!" An' pop says "he bets you Nen we wouldn't grin!"

S'pose we'd ist be 'tendin' Like we had a show Down in the stable Where we mustn't go?
Ma says "The earthquake
Might make it fall."
An' pop says, "More'n like Swaller barn an' all!"

Landy, ef we both wuz
Runnin' 'way from school
Out in the shady woods,

Where it's all so cool? Ma says, "A big tree Might squash our head." An' pop says "Chop 'em out— Both killed dead!"

But where's a boy a-goin', An' what's he goin' to do, An' how's he goin' to do it, Ef the world bu'sts through? Ma, she says "she can't tell What we're comin' to!"
An' pop says "he's jist skeered
Clean, plum through!"

An Obliging Hero.

A woman who visited one of the hospitals in the South last summer has been telling a story since she came back to Washington which is good, if true, and just as good, perthe hospital in question, so she narrates the incident, a busy-looking, duty-loving woman bustled up to one of the wounded soldiers who lay gazing at the ceiling above his cot.

"Can't I do something for you, my poor fellow?" said the woman, imploringly.

The "poor fellow" looked up languidly. The only things he really wanted just at that time were his discharge and a box of cigars. When he saw the strained and anxious look on the good woman's face, however, he felt "Just as he was settling down to watch sorry for her, and, with perfect sang froid,

"Why, yes; you can wash my face if you want to."

"I'd be only too glad to," gasped the visi-

"All right," said the cavalier, gallantly, "go ahead. It's been washed twenty-one times already today, but I don't mind going through it again if it'll make you any happier."-Washington Post.

Weary of Experimenting

With salves, suppositories and ointments and dreading a surgical operation, scores and hundreds have turned to Dr. A. W Chase's Ointment and found in it an absolute cure for piles. The first application brings relief from the terrible itching, and it is very seldom that more than one box is required to effect a permanent cure.

The "Pluuger's" Bluff.

Francis T. Walton, known on many racetracks as "Plunger" Walton, who is now going through bankruptcy proceedings in which he places $200 in assets against $160,-000 in debts incurred during the last five years, gave an exhibition of bluffing in the Hoffman House one evening during the '96 presidential campaign which was entirely successful. Walton was talking with some Saratoga friends in the hotel corridor, and near him stood a theatrical-looking Brooklyn lawyer advocating free silver. Walton said in a sharp, penetrating voice that these free silver men were all cranks or worse. The Brooklyn lawyer turned on Walton promptly and asked him what license he had to condemn people in that fashion. Walton answered him sharply, ane one word led to another until Walton said:

"Well, what are you going to do about it, anyway?" "I am going to punch your head," said the lawyer, now very much excited.

"My friend, do you know who I am?" asked Walton, in a provoking manner. "No, sir, and it doesn't matter."

"You have heard of John L. Sullivan," "Yes, and I have seen him. You are not the man." Walton didn't indicate that his first bluff had been called, but he continued:

"Perhaps you have also heard of Muldoon, who trained him and nearly broke his back? No? Well, then, you see him now. I am Muldoon, and when you get ready to punch my head, just come right along."

The Brooklyn lawyer stammered a bit, hesitated, and then saying that he did not

"If he had known Muldoon by sight," said Walton, "I would have introduced myself as the man who trained Muldoon."-

COOK'S ANODYNE LINIMENT.

Mrs. James Constable, Seaforth, Ont., writes:—"Ever since I can remember I have suffered from weak action of the heart. For some time past it grew constantly worse. I frequently had sharp pains under my heart that I was fearful if I drew a long breath it would cause death. Ingoing up-stairs I had to stop to rest and regain breath. When my children made a noise while playing I would be so overcome with nervousness and weakness that I could not do anything and had to sit down to regain composure. My limbs were unnaturally co'd and I was subject to nervous headaches and dizziness. My memory became uncertain and sleep deserted me.

"I have been taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and as a result am very much better. I have improved in health and strength rapidly. The blessing of sleep is restored to me. My heart is much stronger, and the oppressive sensation has vanished. I can now go up-stairs without stopping and with the greatest of ease, and I no longer suffer from dizziness or headache. It seems to me the circulation of my blood has become normal, thereby removing the coldness from my limbs. I can truly say that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done me a world of good."
