FLORENCEVILLE.

On Saturday evening a public meeting in honour of C. T. Hendry was held in the Temperance Hall. The hall was crowded. John V. Kearney was appointed chairman. At the end of an excellent programme an address and a "souvenir" (twenty dollars in gold) were presented to Mr. Hendry by D. W. Hamilton. The address fully explains itself.

An address to C. T. Hendry, Esquire, on the occasion of his resignation of a twenty-one and a half year consecutive Principalship of Florenceville Superior school.

We, the parents, ratepayers and citizens of Florenceville School District No. 4, together with the former pupils, feel, that on the completion of such a term of successful school management, juvenile instruction, manly precept and example, it is our privilege and pleasure to recognize in a public manner and to express our appreciation of your work and worth. We feel that the success which has been attained by many of those whose early training was entrusted to your care, is largely due to your present and example, and the careful, diligent, highly, competent course of mental and moral discipline received at your hands.

Some of your pupils are to be found in the most respected and responsible walks of life. Of the liberal profession, teachers largely predominate. Theology, law and medicine each has members whose early mental training came under your care.

In reviewing the past twenty odd years of your Principalship of our school, we as parents and pupils of maturer age, believe that all those who having enjoyed the privilege of attending our Primary and Superior departments have not profited thereby, the fault is chiefly due to themselves.

On parents largely depends the success of their children in the various walks of life. As a preparation for such struggle for livelihood, nothing in the early years of childhood can replace the habits of obedience to parents. No greater boon can parents render their children than to insist on a strict observance of the truth, respect for the rights of others, cleanliness, and a due respect for their seniors.

We are not unmindful of the many responsibilities of a teacher who conscientiously endeavors to do his duty to the best of his ability by those intrusted to his care and instruction, is certainly worthy of the greatest praise.

We recall the many social intercourses with you and your family, and the many pleasant days of such relations. Two-thirds of your family have been born in this community, hence your joys have been in common with other parents of this district.

We are not unmindful of the fact, that recently you have been called to pass through the greatest of earthly afflictions—the death of a loving wife—an affectionate, considerate and careful mother to your children; a woman highly esteemed, respected by all. And now as you have thought best to sever your connection with our school, and engage in other occupations, we sincerely hope that in this the autumn of your life, you may enjoy that degree of health, prosperity, comfort and contentment which can come to those, only, whose lives have been spent in industry, prudence, temperance, respect for themselves and the rights of others, together with a love of nature and all that is beautiful, not forgetting the love and obedience due The Great Author of our existence.

Now, in conclusion, we ask you to receive this tangible token of our respect and esteem—a "souvenir" if you please; small though it be accepted, it, not for its intrinsic value, rather as a reminder of your stay among us. Receive it in the spirit in which it is given—Respect.

Signed by the following donors:

What Is It?

That makes a man appear as tailor made at the first glance? He can be told a block away—his clothes fit him perfectly—there is the right cut to his coat—and trousers. The collar and lapels fine and smooth. There isn't too much looseness here and too much tightness there—everything is neatly done. Buttons, button holes, seams—all are firm and true.

Is your tailor perfectly satisfactory? If so, stick to him. If not, try us.

Prices are as low as possible for high class tailoring.
