WOODSTOCK, NOVEMBER 21, 1900.

A PULP MILL.

The citizens of Woodstock ought to take a lively interest in the establishment of a pulp mill in this town. A new mill is to be erected in this province within a short time and Woodstock stands about one chance in three of getting it. The representative of an English syndicate has been in Woodstock within three weeks and he says that Woodstock is a sight for a Pulp Mill the superior of which he has not yet seen in the province. Chatham is competing with us for the new mill. Chatham already has two mills and is offering a bonus of $15,000 for a third. The other place in competition with us is a town on the North Shore. Woodstock is going Chatham slightly better in offering ten per cent. of the cost of the mill, the bonus not to exceed $50,000.00. The representative of the syndicate says that while at some other mills $10,000.00 has had to be expended in a plant to purify the water, such an expenditure would be unnecessary here where the water is perfectly pure. He says that the space between Bull's Island and the Woodstock shore would be an ideal place in which to hold lumber.

The Pulp Mill at Millinockett Me., perhaps the largest in the world, employs four hundred or five hundred hands. Woodstock might not aspire to a mill of such enormous proportions but the amount paid out by any in operation here would be comparatively large. It is bad for us that our spruce is being floated past us on the river and being sawn into boards that sell at sixteen dollars a thousand when it might be held here and manufactured into pulp at thirty-five dollars a ton.

If our business men and professional men would take an active interest in this thing they would help it along. If they would only talk about it they would do some good. "More thing are wrought by talk than this would know of." Some people said our Board of Trade did nothing but talk but they have accomplished a great deal, and the St. John Board of Trade that for several years was regarded by some as a mere talk shop has succeeded in doing wonders for St. John's trade and commerce. Let us talk Pulp Mill by all means.

Gave His Address.

The following from an English paper will be enjoyed by speakers who have found themselves called upon to address audiences already wearied by excessively long speeches:

A certain man was invited to speak at a local gathering, and, being nobody in particular, was placed last on the list of speakers. Moreover, the chairman introduced several speakers whose names were not on the list, and the audience was tired out when he said, introducing the final speaker,

"Mr. Bones will now give us his address," "My address," said Mr. Bones, rising, "is 551 Park Villas, S. W., and I wish you all good night."

Feeding in Winter.

A fat animal contains the material within its body for creating warmth, the fat serving as fuel, the animal itself being a storage receptacle. If the food allowed is of a kind and quantity that will supply all the warmth necessary in cold weather, there will be loss of weight; but should the food be insufficient, there will be drawn enough from the stored fat to supply that which may be lacking in the food. It is really a double loss to allow an animal to utilize the fat of its body for supplying animal heat, as the farmer must regain every pound lost before he will secure an increase; hence, no animal that has reached a certain weight should be allowed to fall off a single pound. Feed for heavier weight, and hold on to all that has been gained. The same rule applies to milk production, as the cows require more food in severely cold weather than in warmer seasons, a portion of the food going to the increase of warmth. Clean, warm, and dry quarters will lessen the demand for food, as shelter protects against winds and storms.—Philadelphia Record.

Bruised his Intellect.

"Your husband is not looking well to-night Mrs. Rhymer."
"He isn't, and I'm surprised at it."
"No? Has he been overworking himself?"
"It isn't that so much; it's his originality. Why, that man is struck by so many original ideas that his mind must be one mass of bruises."

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—It is understood here that Lord Kitchener will depopulate the small towns and concentrate their populations in the large towns, otherwise following out a reconcentrado policy.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Dr. Leyds and Delegates Wolmarens, Fischer and Wessels reached Paris today. This evening they held a conference at the Hotel Scribe, where ex President Kruger will stop. They leave in the morning for Marseilles. Mr. Kruger, they say, will land at 10 o'clock in the morning and will arrive at Paris next Friday.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 17.—The final arrangements have been made for Mr. Kruger's reception here. The ceremony at the landing place has been reduced to a few words welcome, speeches being reserved for the banquet which will be given in honor of the ex-president of the Transvaal. Even if the president is not there in any case the Boer officials will be present.

Pretoria, Nov. 18.—The Boers are active. It is alleged that Commandant Locis Botha has established a government at Roosendale, north of Middleburg and that with the £150,000 which he has available, he is paying the fighting burghers a crown a day.

Commandant Abel Erasmus is said to be at Oliphant's river with 2,000 men, 1,000 wagons and 12,000 cattle.

From Heidelberg it is reported that the Boers are compelling the burghers who had surrendered to take up arms again under pain of death.

KINGSTON, Nov. 19.—Lieut. Col. Hudon, "C" Battery, cables from South Africa that his force will sail for home direct, December 1. The battalion expected to have returned via London, England.

A wonderful Woman.

"Mrs. Bingley is a wonderful woman."
"In what way?"
"When she takes second prize at a card party she can appear so tickled with what she gets that she always makes the winner of the first prize jealous and dissatisfied."

Wanted the Whole Establishment Next Time.

Mother—Was your aunt glad to see you, and Tommy, and Frankie and Fred?
Johnny—Yes, mamma.

Mother—Did she invite you to call again?
Johnny—Yes, and she told us to bring you and papa, and Susie, and the dog next time.

To Starve is a Fallacy.—The dictum to stop eating because you have indigestion has long since been exploded. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets introduced a new era in the treatment of stomach troubles. It has proved that one may eat his fill of anything and everything he relishes, and one tablet taken after the meal will aid the stomach in doing its work. 60 in a box, 35 cents.—24

Wintering Bees.

The problem of wintering is one of vital importance. To leave a colony on the summer stand, exposed to the sudden changes and bleak storms of winter, is not conducive to success in the beginning. The careful, successful bee keeper would as soon think of wintering his cow in this manner as his bees, which under proper care would yield under the investment equally as much profit.

There are two means of successful wintering: First, packed on the summer stand; second, in a well ventilated cellar. The first is by far the most laborious, yet it has some advantages. Cellar wintering is the least expensive. It is only necessary to keep them in darkness and as quiet as possible, carrying them out on two or three bright warm days for a fly during the entire winter. The temperature required is about that which will keep potatoes successfully. They remain in a semi-dormant state and consume but little.—Contributor American Agriculturist.

Why he Couldn't Find it

"What makes you so late?" asked his mother.

"The teacher kept me in because I couldn't find Moscow on the map of Europe," replied Jonnie.

Mother—And no wonder you couldn't find Moscow. It was burned down in 1812. It's an outrage to treat a child that way.

An Accomplice Before the Crime.

"Are you the best man at Billy Brown's wedding?"

"No; I attended as guilty bystander."

"What do you mean?"

"I introduced Brown to the girl last summer."—Chicago Record.
