

FELL THROUGH THE BRIDGE.

Fearful Disaster as the Train Approaches Grand Falls.

A frightful accident occurred at Grand Falls at noon on Thursday last. As the down train from Edmundston was crossing the railway bridge, a short distance above the town, the second span of the structure from the west side gave way and the whole train, consisting of the engine and nine cars, with the exception of the saloon and smoker, went into the river, 60 feet below. The engine, with the engineer and fireman, plunged down with the fall of the bridge and one by one the cars dropped upon the locomotive, until six of them formed a mass of broken wreckage in the St. John. The saloon and smoking cars went down on top of the pile of broken freight cars, but had a comparatively short distance to descend and one end of the wreck remained upon the bridge. The engineer and fireman, who went to the bottom of the river, extricated themselves and came to the surface. They secured pieces of wreckage, clinging to them tenaciously and were rescued as the current was sweeping them into the falls. Though some of the cars fell but a short distance, yet results were very serious, as four men were severely injured and two of them dangerously. James McKenna, travelling C. P. R. passenger agent, a native of the city of Quebec, had his arm broken and is so badly injured internally that his case is critical. Hiram J. Smith, of St. John, was badly bruised. J. O'Neill, an Englishman, was severely cut and bruised, but will recover. Dr. Clarence Kirkpatrick, of Woodstock, was badly shaken up and cut.

Word was at once sent to Woodstock, and a wrecking train proceeded to the scene of the disaster. Drs. Hand and Kierstead went up on the special train.

On Friday afternoon the doctors returned. Dr. Kirkpatrick also came down. He was seen by a DISPATCH representative at his home on Saturday morning. He was considerably bruised and shaken up, but thankful to have come out of the catastrophe alive. He said:—"I was in the first class car, and looking ahead the first thing I noticed was a car loaded with lumber in front swaying. I thought it was going off the track, and started for the rear of the car. The first thing I knew we were all thrown in a heap at the lower end of the car and mixed up amongst the seats. As soon as I came to my wits, and found out I was not much hurt, I looked up and there was the smoker and baggage car right above us, and as I thought about to fall. I put my hands over my face expecting we would be immediately crushed to death. Then a train hand shouted out, that the car would not fall on us. I then set to work to help out a young lady, Miss Kierstead, I think she said her name was, who was returning to her home in Machias, Me. She had been attending the convent at Van Buren. She was very little hurt. I started then to assist the other passengers who were more seriously hurt than I. Mr. McKenna was forced right through the door his head in the water excepting his mouth and nose. It was a most wonderful escape, and if the baggage car had been ahead of the passenger, the result would have been worse. Also, the heavily laden lumber cars filling the river, aided in our preservation.

Mr. Henderson of the Dominion Express Office was on the train. He passed through on his way to St. John on Friday.

The latest reports are that McKenna and Smith are doing as well as can be expected. Immediately on receiving news of the accident Superintendent Newcomb left Woodstock with a special for the scene of the wreck. He took with him Drs. Hand and Kierstead to care for the wounded.

Mr. Timmerman also left St. John at once taking with him some friends of the men who were reported injured.

Nurses were sent from St. John and reclining chairs telegraphed for. Everything was done that could be done to make the sufferers comfortable.

The tramp who went through the accident, with the proverbial enterprise of his profession, put his arm in a sling and struck for Perth. He told his sad story. He was a carpenter on his way to Houlton and had injured his arm and lost all his tools in the wreck. He was in a fair way to get rich when some heartless man came along and gave his game away. Mr. Tramp smiled, took his arm out of the sling and struck for fresh fields and pastures new.

The Green Sickness.

Girls who lack sufficient nerve force to develop into healthy womanhood become pale, weak, nervous and irritable. They have chlorosis or "green sickness" and can only be cured when the nerves are restored and revitalized and the blood made rich by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great restorative in pill form. It makes pale, weak women and girls healthy, rosy and plump. Note increase in weight while taking it.

His New Life.—"Madame," said the tramp "I was once a member of the Legislature. And are you sure," she asked, inclined to believe him, "that your reformation is complete?"—Philadelphia North American.

A PAINFUL SCALD.

Mrs. T. Wannamaker, Frankford, Ont., says: "I scalded my hand very badly, then took cold in it. It swelled and was very painful, but half a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil cured it completely."

MURDERER BJORKMAN DEAD!

Decomposed Body Found in a Pasture by His Wife.

Interest in the Bjorkman murder case, which occurred in Westmanland Plantation last October, when Albert Bjorkman shot and killed a fellow workman named Gustaf Johnson, and then mysteriously disappeared, was awakened Monday of this week by the report of the finding of Bjorkman's body in the border of the woods on his own farm by his wife.

Those who read of the case at the time will remember that after the shooting of Johnson Bjorkman mysteriously disappeared and although a sheriff's posse of 100 men kept up a systematic search for nearly two weeks, not a trace of him could be found.

Monday morning Mrs. Bjorkman was milking some cows in the pasture not far distant from the house when a very disagreeable odor, seeming to come from the border of the woods near by, was borne to her by the light breeze.

She at first did not give any particular attention to it, but later, after finishing the milking, prompted by curiosity, no doubt, she started to investigate the matter. Imagine her consternation, when on clearing away the leaves, she discovered the body of a man. She at once notified her neighbors, one of whom came to Caribou and gave notice to the proper authorities. Tuesday, Sheriff L. H. Gary and Coroner C. V. King visited the spot, but deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Notwithstanding the fact that the face was decomposed to such an extent as to render identification impossible, the clothing was in nearly perfect condition and that with some articles found on the person, were clearly identification as having belonged to Bjorkman.

The theory of suicide was substantiated by the finding of a revolver a few inches from one hand, and a bullet hole in the skull.

How the body could have escaped observation by some of the large number of men who composed the searching party cannot be explained unless that they deemed it advisable to give the woods a wide berth.

The officers of Westmanland plantation took the matter in charge and the body was buried Wednesday.—Aroostook Republican.

Maine Lumber News.

SEBOOMOOK Me., June 16th.

At a meeting held at the Seboomook House Friday the 15th inst and composed of J. M. McNulty, Orono C. W. Mullin president of the Great Northern Pulp Co., R. and S. Sutherland, South Branch drive, Temple Wiggins clerk for Dudley and McLeod, V. O. Robinson book keeper for the G. N. P. Co., and V. P. Jackson for the North Branch drive; it was decided to abandon the N. and S. Branch drives at Seboomook dam. Messrs. Robinson and Jackson were instructed to settle and pay their respective crews as fast as they arrive at Seboomook and expect to finish by Wednesday the 20th inst. Everything in the way of supplies and boats etc., will be left at Seboomook and in the event of a big rain an effort will be made to get the logs to Chessuncook lake. The will have to lay there until another season should they even reach there this fall as the West Branch drive is due to start from there not later than the 20th inst. The N. and S. Branch drive will leave about seven millions at and below Seboomook of which 2,000,000 ft. will belong to McNulty 1,000,000 ft. to R. Sutherland and son 500,000 ft. to Smith and Glynn 1,000,000 ft. to Dudley and McLeod 250,000 ft. to the Great Northern.

Owing to the extreme hot weather and scarcity of rain the water is very low in all the streams on Penobscot. There has been only two rains since the beginning of driving and they did not materially check the streams from falling and now as the dams are all exhausted further progress is impossible without heavy rains.

Kidney Disease and Backache

Mr. Patrick J. McLaughlin, Beauharnois, Que., states: "I was troubled with kidney disease and dyspepsia for 20 years and have been that bad I could not sleep at nights and suffered terrible agony. I tried all sorts of medicines but got no relief until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They made a new man of me and the old troubles seem to be driven out of my system." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Breach of Trust.

A bank teller in Toronto has just been sentenced to seven years' penitentiary for misuse of the bank's funds in his keeping. He acknowledged having used the money of the bank for his own purposes during a series of years, and pleaded guilty to having "taken" thus some $2,000, which he could not replace; but he denied stealing a package of $10,000 in bills, which was traced to his custody, but which he could not account for. This man's case may prove a warning to other custodians of money. Whether he first became "hard up," through speculating and borrowed at usurious rates in the hope that some favourable turn would come to his troubles, or whether he was unfortunate in having, as he said, domestic calls which his salary was insufficient to meet, the result of his misuse of the money of others was disaster and dishonor. Would that men in positions of trust would learn that nothing justifies the use of trust funds for personal purposes.—Monetary Times.

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES.

Geo W. Upham Has Left the City and His Mill is Closed Down.

Citizens generally regret to learn that Geo W Upham, the well known lumberman and mill owner, is in financial difficulties. He left here last week for the United States and it is said, does not intend to return. A Chipman Hartley, barrister of Woodstock, visited the city on Saturday and took possession of the mill property for the people's Bank of Halifax, to which concern Mr Upham is indebted for financial assistance. The employees were all paid off and the mill has been temporarily shut down. There are many conflicting stories afloat in regard to Mr Upham's affairs, and it is difficult at this stage, to tell just how matters stand. It is well known that the Peoples Bank of Halifax have been carrying him along, ever since he engaged in business here and are of course his largest creditors. The bank authorities now have possession of the mill and about three million feet of logs, which they will probably manufacture during the season. It is said that Mr Upham lately had some trouble with Malcolm MacKay, deal merchant of St John and was threatened by the latter with a suit for damages for breach of contract. Mr MacKay, it appears, contracted with Mr Upham last fall for his season's cut of deal, and the Peoples Bank of Halifax refused to sanction the arrangement. Deals advanced in prices during the winter and this spring the bank, so it is said, made a new contract with George McKen of St. John at a more favorable figure. This arrangement, of course, did not please Mr MacKay, and he talked of bringing an action for damages. This circumstance may have had to do with Mr Upham's departure from the city. [The Fredericton Herald of the 18th contained the above item of news. People in Woodstock will be sorry, indeed, to hear of Mr. Upham's difficulties, and will hope that some arrangements may be reached by which he will be able to continue lumbering in this province.]
