Lots of Talipots in Old New York.
Some one told Jake Clute last night that there was a talipot in town, says the New York Sun. Jake is an old-timer on Park Row with reminiscence of the Keenan-Morrissey fight, Jack Heenan, the cholera plague in New York, and things like that. So when some one told Jake that there was a talipot in town Jake said he knew it two weeks before.

"Why," he said, "in my days there were hundreds of 'em running around the Fourth ward. My dear boy, I saw 'em five feet long,
with tails as long as the pole of a Brooklyn trolley. Yes, sir, I remember one of 'em getting into my cellar and eatin' two big turkeys that I hung up there for Thanksgiving. After that he killed my pet dog and ate him too. You might not believe it, but I remember a—what do you call it—oh, yes, a talipot, that was owned by a friend of mine,
over in the Ninth ward, that was Greenwich village in those days. Well, one of them
'ere things, it was owned by a fellow we called Old Gimp cause he were lame. That 'ere thing climbed up on Gimp's house and raised such a rumpus up there that none of the neighbors were able to sleep for five days.
Finally the men of old Columbian hook and tadder company—Jim Gregory was foreman in those days—well, sir, the boys climbed on Gimp's roof, an chased that—what's his name—that 'ere talipot for four solid hours
before they got him quiet and tamed him down. He just raised Cain around the ward for a week. Finally, the neighbors petitioned the health authorities and—well, Gimp got rid of him, somehow."

"What kind of a thing is it, Jake?" inquired Bill Morrison. "I never heered of a talipot before."
"Well," answered Jake, "it's a sort of—well, it's very quick on its feet and sometimes it don't move so quick, but when it moves there's likely to be trouble. I remember one night, I think it was about the first of June along in the forties, I was—"

"Wait a minute," interrupted Charley Mehan: "a talipot is a great fan palm tree that grows in the East Indies. They don't eat turkeys nor dogs either."
"You be blowed," exclaimed Clute. "You're always poking your gab into the conversation of gentlemen; no one asked you for your opinion. Good night, gents; I'm not accustomed to insults of this kind."

Then Clute went to Brooklyn, where he lives now a-nights.

A Good Stomach
Is essential to health and happiness, but don't blame the stomach for biliousness. It is the liver that is deranged, and causes poisoning bile to remain in the blood causing indigestion, headache and irregular action of the bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the liver, kidneys and bowels and by their direct action on these organs effect prompt and lasting cures of biliousness, dyspepsia, headache and all kidney ailments. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

Close Figuring in an Egg Deal.
She was the wife of an official of a St.
Paul street corporation. Her one pet hobby was economy. Though her husband made an excellent salary, she was rigid in her rules pertaining to the buying of the necessities for the household. She would haunt bargain counters and market stalls for hours in order to get the reduction of a few cents on the article desired.

The corporation official, with much laughter, used to tease his better half about what he called her "stinginess." So one day, feeling hurt at his ridicule, she resolved to take him to market with her and demonstrate beyond a doubt that she was a most economical buyer. He consented, stipulating that he was not to be asked to carry the basket.

Arriving at the market, she made several purchases, and then at one stall inquired the price of eggs.

"What!" she exclaimed, "16 cents a dozen?
No, indeed, that is too high."

She dragged her reluctant husband after her from one stand to another, still inquiring
the price of eggs and always receiving the same answer, until near the upper end of the market. Here she found a dealer who offered to sell her eggs in any quantity for 15 cents. To her husband she said joyously:
"There, I told you so. Why, those others were robbers."

Turning to the salesman, she ordered half a dozen eggs, gravely handed him the 8 cents
asked in payment and went home, prattling away about the worth of economy in marketing and the alleged willingness of dealers to gouge the unsuspecting customer. And to this day she does not know that her husband and his friends laughed over it at the club.—Baltimore Sun.

Subsequent Reflection.
"Oh, what a beautiful water lily!"
No sooner had the maiden uttered these words than Archie Sixcap resolutely waded out after it.
He sank in mud up to his waist at once.
But he didn't get the lily.
It was still yards away from, and in still deeper mud.
"Fools rush in," he muttered, savagely to himself, as he turned and began slopping his way back to shore, "where angels have too
darned much sense to tread!"

A Gloomy Future

Made Bright, and Health and Vigour Restored by the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Headache, backache, sleeplessness, despondency, and irregularities are the result of an exhausted condition of the body and nervous system.
No treatment was ever so efficacious in restoring health, strength, vigour, and vitality as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder.
Mrs. J. M. Bradley, 100 Jane street, Ottawa, states:—"For several years I have been gradually running down in health. I became nervous and weak, and worried greatly over my future."
"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and the wonderful results it has accomplished in others, I obtained a box and began using it as directed. I began to improve immediately, and am now restored to full health and vigour."
"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an excellent remedy, and I can recommend it to all who are weak, nervous, or run down in health."

Held Up His Leg.
The following good story is told of a Glasgow magistrate: In Scottish courts of law witnesses repeat the oath with the right hand raised. On one occasion, however, the magistrate found a difficulty.
"Hold up your right arm," he commanded.
"I canna dae't," said the witness.
"Why not?"
"Got shot in the arm."
"Then you hold up your left."
"I canna dae't that, ayther; got shot in the other ane tae."
"Then hold up your leg!" responded the irate magistrate. "No man can be sworn in this court without holding up something."

Averted a Tragedy.
Daniel O'Connell, the famous Irish agitator, had a contempt for physical danger. On a certain occasion a meeting had been convened, and a large crowd assembled in a room on the first floor of a building in a small city in Ireland.

O'Connell was about to address the people when a gentleman, pale with fear, made his way to the platform and hoarsely whispered.
"Liberator, the floor is giving way! The beams that shore it up are cracking, and we shall fall through in a few minutes!"
"Keep silent," said O'Connell. Then, raising his voice he addressed the assembly:

"I find that the room is too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must leave it and hold the meeting outside the building."

At this a few rose and went out, but the majority retained their seats. Then O'Connell said:

"I will tell you the truth. You are Irish men, therefore brave men. The floor is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door, we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be saved. Let the 12 men nearest the door go out quietly, then the next 12, and so on till all have gone. I shall be the last to leave."

His instructions were obeyed to the letter, and he waited, patient and calm, till all had gone out in safety. Then he walked quietly across the sundering, cracking floor, reaching the door just as the shattered beams gave way. And thus, by the force of his strong will, a terrible accident was averted.—Exchange.

A SARNIA LADY

Tells How Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Cured Her Nervous Troubles and Strengthened Her Weak System.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are an inestimable boon to anyone suffering from any disease or derangement of the heart or nerves or whose blood is thin and watery.
Mrs. E. Horning, of 115 George Street, Sarnia, Ont., is one of those whose experience with this remedy is well worth considering.
It is as follows:—"I am pleased to recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to anyone suffering from nerve trouble, no matter how severe or of how long standing."
"For years my nerves have been in a terribly weak condition, but Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at Geary's Pharmacy, have strengthened them greatly and invigorated my system, leaving me no excuse for not making known their virtues."
"I cannot refrain from recommending these pills to all sufferers as a splendid cure for nervousness and weakness."

An ex-justice of the peace tells the following story: During the time he was in office a young man was brought up before him on the charge of gambling. The evidence was conclusive, and the judge imposed a fine, which was paid on the spot. When the court adjourned the defendant remained behind and asked the judge for a few moments' conversation. "The case is over," he began, "and the fine has been paid, and it's settled as far as that goes, but I want to tell you how it happened. You see, the cop told us if we didn't stop he'd run us in. Well, we were playing a jackpot. I had an ace, three queens and a king before the draw. I discarded the ace and king and drew another queen. There were good hands out against me, and they tried to bluff me out, and I stayed with them. Now, what I want to know is what you would have done in a case like that?"

"Stayed with them, if the gallows had been in sight," cried the excited judge. "Why in the name of common sense was not that evidence brought out at the trial?"—Salt Lake Tribune.

She Knew Him.
(Chicago Tribune.)
"But I don't know you, madam," the bank cashier said to the woman who had presented a check.

But this woman, instead of saying haughtily, "I do not wish your acquaintance, sir," merely replied, with an engaging smile:

"O, yes you do, I think. I'm the red-headed old virago next door to you, whose 'scoundrelly little boys' are always reaching through the fence and picking your flowers. When you started down town this morning your wife said, 'Now, Henry, if you want a dinner fit to eat this evening, you'll have to leave me a little money. I can't run this house on the city water and 10 cents a day—'"
"Here's your money, madam," said the cashier, pushing it toward her and coughing loudly.

Liked Scotch.
Before Lord Russel was elected to the bench, he went to help the liberals in a certain campaign. He began his speech of set purpose with some very badly pronounced Scotch. After the confusion caused by his apparent blunder had subsided, Sir Charles Russell (as he then was), said: Gentlemen, I do not speak Scotch, but I vote Scotch. Tremendous applause followed, whereupon Sir Charles proceeded, and I sometimes drink Scotch. With this his hold on the audience was secured.

Why He Wished Back the Past.
"So drink brought you to this," said the ministerial old gentlemen; "do you ever look back with regret upon the days of your youth and—"
"Oh, don't!" sobbed the poor old sot; "many's a time I wish I could live dem over."
"Ah, poor man, there's hope for you yet."
"No, dey ain't. I'll never have de capacity I had dem days."—Philadelphia Record.

What is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?
In appearance Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is an oval, chocolate coated pill. In this condensed form it contains all of nature's most strengthening and invigorating tonics and restoratives and for this reason it is unapproached as a blood builder and nerve restorative. It cures all diseases caused by thin blood and exhausted nerves and makes pale, weak nervous men, women and children strong and healthy. 50 cents a box.

Don't Blame 'Em.
"Yes," says a rural local, "we could stand Hiram Redding's daughter signing her name Mae Redding, and the new school teacher writing her name Emmah instead of plain Emma, but when old Bill Fish got to scrawling himself as Byll Fish, we just run him out of town."—Chicago News.

Ruskin was once asked to aid in defraying some expenses incurred by a congregation who had built a new chapel. In answer to the request he wrote:

"Sir: I am scornfully amused at your appeal to me, of all the people in the world the precisely least likely to give you a farthing. My first word to all men and boys who care care to hear me is, 'Don't get into debt. Starve and go to heaven—but don't borrow. Try first begging. I don't mind if it is really needful, stealing. But don't buy things you can't pay for!' And of all men and boys who care to pay for the most detestable nonsense to me. Can't you preach and pray behind the hedges—or in a sand-pit—or a coal-hole—first?"
