

A Dressmaker's Duties

Are Such as to Cause Backache

A Toronto Dressmaker has Found a Positive Cure and Gladly Tells About It.

Those who follow the arduous occupation of dress-making or sewing have troubles of their own.

Running sewing machines all day long, bending over work that requires the greatest of care, these are the things that have made many a woman exclaim, "every time I take a stitch with my needle it seems as though I am piercing my own back."

But those who suffer from backache, headache, pain in the side or any derangement of the kidneys will be glad to know that there is a remedy that never fails even in the worst cases.

It is Doan's Kidney Pills. Mrs. P. Covel, the well-known dressmaker, 224 Bathurst St., Toronto, Ont., gave the following statement of her experience with it:

"For some time I suffered a good deal from weak back, a tired feeling, and pains and aches in various parts of my body. Since I have used Doan's Kidney Pills the pains have left me, my back has got stronger and the kidney troubles have been corrected."

"I that tired, dull, drowsy feeling that used to come on me has now gone, and I am happy to say I have not felt so well in years as at present."

Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, mist before the eyes, loss of memory, rheumatism, gravel and urinary troubles of young or old. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

PLAIN LANGUAGE FROM TRUTHFUL JAMES.

Which I wish to remark—
And my language is plain—
That for ways that are dark
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinese is peculiar,
Which the same I would rise to explain.

Ah Sin was his name;
And I shall not deny
In regard to the same
What that name might imply,
But his smile it was pensive and childlike,
As I frequent remarked to Bill Nye.

It was August the third,
And quite soft were the skies;
Which it might be inferred
That Ah Sin was likewise;
Yet he played it that day upon William
And me in a way I despise.

Which we had a small game,
And Ah Sin took a hand;
It was euche. The same
He did not understand;
But he smiled as he sat by the table,
With a smile that was childlike and bland.

Yet the cards they were stocked
In a way that I grieve,
And my feelings were shocked
At the state of Nye's sleeve;
Which was stuffed full of aces and bowers,
And the same with intent to deceive.

But the hands that were played
By that heathen Chinese,
And the points that he made
Were quite frightful to see—
Till at last he put down a right bower,
Which the same Nye had dealt unto me.

Then I looked up at Nye,
And he gazed upon me;
And he rose with a sigh,
And said: "Can this be?
We are ruined by Chinese cheap labor,"—
And he went for that heathen Chinese.

In the scene that ensued
I did not take a hand,
But the floor it was strewn
Like the leaves on the strand
With the cards Ah Sin had been hiding,
In the game he did not understand.

In his sleeves, which were long,
He had twenty-four Jacks—
Which was coming it strong,
Yet I state the facts;
And we found on his nails, which were taper,
What is frequent in tapers, that's wax.

Which is why I remark,
And my language is plain,
That for ways that are dark
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinese is "peculiar,"
Which the same I am free to maintain.

BRET HARTE.

Heavy Burdens of the Chaperon.

These are the days when the woman who takes up the thankless task of chaperonage is obliged, in vulgar, but expressive language to hustle, and all the thanks she gets she earns.

In the good old times, when the summer girl's chief mission in life was to pose on the beach under an umbrella built for two, and show a clean pair of Louis Quinze heels in a Casino ballroom, any dear old drowsy grand-mama or near-sighted auntie who tatted and watched for lurking drafts, served admirably well as a chaperon. She snuggled into corners, never spoke unless spoken to, and yet she kept her charges in good order and was an honor to her profession.

Grandmama and auntie really wouldn't last one day at the work that in these present summer seasons falls to the lot of a chaperon whose conscience is in the right place. An all around, capable duenna has no sinecure when she undertakes to prettily police and protect the summer girl of 1900.

In the first place she must dress uncommonly well, she must know how to make tea, to play golf, to be friendly to dogs, to understand horse talk, keep a level head, pink cheeks and a good appetite, no matter how big and green the waves look. She must be perfectly willing to walk miles on golf links, whisk uncomplainingly to the box seat of a coach, eat welsh rabbit at midnight without a protest, keep the extra young men of her protegee amused while a particularly favored admirer is being put through his flirtation paces, and pedal the automatic piano playing machine when necessary, says the New York Commercial-Tribune.

Of course, it stands to reason that a chaperon who fills to perfection all these requirements is something of a rare bird, yet she remains the summer girl's ideal, while, as a matter of fact, chaperonage in this present year of grace threatens to be practised by specialists only.

There is, for instance, the golf matron, who knows how to sit on a shady clubhouse balcony, brew tea and mind a dog and young man at the same time that she effectually keeps her eye on her charge by means of a powerful field glass.

Then there is the yachting duenna and the coaching and automobile chaperon, each one quite perfect in her own way, and at a coast resort these seasons one chaperon added to her laurels, and, possibly to the onerous duties of her sisters professionals, by plunging in and rescuing from the greedy waves the pretty girl who was under her care.

A Strong Man.

The world's strongest man just at present seems to be a Frenchman who calls himself Paris. If the stories told about him are true he would be strong enough in a competition to make Old Man Sampson faintly remark: "I guess you'll have to excuse me until my hair gets a little longer."

As a candidate for vice-president M. Paris might easily be counted on to carry both Rhode Island and Delaware.

One of his simple feats is to lug around a rowboat on his shoulder with a crew of 11 men in it. He raises the boat and the men climb in one at a time. When they are all seated the voyage commences, M. Paris balancing the entire marine outfit on his shoulder and back.

Of course their can't be any great amount of pleasure derived from a boat ride of this description. Of necessity it is a dry affair. And yet it beautifully illustrates the extraordinary degree to which the masculine muscles can be cultivated. And, although the voyage is a dry one, it still serves to illustrate what an extraordinary load a man can occasionally succeed in staggering around under.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Do you Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning; months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve forces, and building up the system.

Replies While You Wait.

An eccentric "fat man" who was on exhibition became so tired of answering questions that he had the following replies printed and pasted on board at his side:

I weigh 345 pounds.
I am fat.
I know I am fat.
I am growing fatter every day.
I am growing larger every day.
I cannot tell you how much larger I am going to get.

I expect to grow until I either die or collapse.

Yes, I have a good appetite.
No, I do not eat all the time.
Yes, I am going to stop eating.
No, I was not always as large as I am now.
I do not remember when I was as thin as you.

Yes, my father was a large man.
Yes, my mother was a large woman.
I cannot tell you how long it will take you to get as fat as I am.

I do not know if you will ever be as fat as I am.

I like to be told that I am fat.
I like to be stared at.
I like to have people stop in the street and laugh at me.

I like people who give me advice about reducing my weight.

Yes, I have tried dieting.

It did not do me any good.

If there is any other question you can think of that I've not answered, don't be bashful. Just ask it and I'll try and answer it. Are you going? Well, good by.—Tit-Bits.

Without a Doctor's Examination.

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pains or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like bricks dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

An Envious Mouse.

A mouse saw a swallow skimming along a river and circling in the summer air.

"Oh! how much better to be a beautiful bird like that than a mean little mouse," it sighed. "If I tried hard perhaps I could be a bird," added the foolish mouse.

It tried very hard, indeed, jumping about and stretching its legs until something like wings grew out of them. As soon as it could fly it said to the other mice:

"You cannot expect me to take notice of you any longer; I am a bird now."

"You are a bird, indeed!" the mice answered, "you are only a bat."

Burdock
Blood
Bitters.

CURES
SCROFULA.

Mrs. James Carr, Umfraville, Hastings Co., Ont., says: "My little boy, two and a half years old, was in a terrible condition and suffered a great deal from scrofulous sores. My husband bought a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters for him and gave it to him, and by the time he had finished the second bottle there was not a sore to be seen. On account of this wonderful cure I can honestly recommend B.B.B. to all who suffer from any disease arising from bad blood."

CURES
BOILS.

Mr. Oliver J. Murray, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes as follows: "About six months ago I was troubled with painful boils, for which I could get nothing to cure me. As a last resort I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. One bottle completely rid me of boils, and my health was never better than at present."

When Travelling

Always take with you a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The change of food and water to which those who travel are subject, often produces an attack of diarrhoea, which is as unpleasant and discomforting as it may be dangerous.

A bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in your grip is a guarantee of safety.

On the first indication of Cramps, Colic, Diarrhoea or Dysentery, a few doses will promptly check the further advance of these diseases.

As Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is being widely and shamelessly imitated, your safety lies in seeing that the full name is on every bottle you buy.

An iconoclast is a person who refuses to hold in awe any of the rich people he happens to know.

Cranky people are those who get up unnecessary and uncultured excitement about matters which don't trouble us.
