

THE CHINESE TROUBLE.

The whole of the city of Peking is reported to be now under the control of the allies, one-half of the northern or Tartar city being placed under the Japanese. All the Chinese National Government officials had apparently left before the arrival of the allies, as nothing is said of any of them being captured at the time of the occupation, and the reports all concur in describing the Imperial family and the Emperor as having left for Sian-Fu, the old capital of the earlier Chinese dynasty. The situation created by the event of the past fortnight is peculiar. There is no central authority accessible, and, although all the Viceroy's exercise very large powers of administration, and Li-Hung-Chang has been delegated by Imperial edict to treat with the representatives of the powers, there is no responsible, tangible, confirming power immediately available for recognition. Until the operations now in progress at different points of the empire have developed a little more fully the future course of events cannot be estimated, but the general tendency of the the situation so strikingly resembles that in Egypt, in 1882, after the bombardment of Alexandria and occupation of Cairo, that it may be confidently predicted that the restoration of order in China by the allies will occupy quite as long a period as the same process under the British has taken in Egypt. The difference in the two cases is that in Egypt the ruling Sovereign voluntarily placed himself under the protection of the foreigners while the Chinese Emperor and court have put themselves for the time being beyond their reach.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Japanese have been landing marines for three days not only without provocation, but against the protests of the consuls, says a cablegram to the Journal and Advertiser from Amoy under date of Aug. 26. Accidental destruction the Japanese temple by fire was the alleged excuse for their act, but the Amoy officials have proved their ability to preserve perfect order. The officials and scores of merchants have visited the American consulate pleading with him to intercede for the withdrawal of the marines, otherwise, they declare, it will be impossible to preserve order. The landing of the marines by the Japanese breaks the agreement of the powers with the viceroys.

ROME, Aug. 27.—A despatch received here from Taku under date of Sunday, Aug. 27, confirms previous reports that a convoy was being formed at Peking to conduct under a strong escort the allies wounded, the woman and the children to Tien Tsin.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Gen. Yamaguchi, commander of the Japanese troops in China, informed the Japanese war office Saturday, says a despatch from Tokio, that the Chinese had not abandoned hope of retaking Peking, and that nine thousand men with fifteen guns were advancing toward Peking from Shan Tung, probably intending to cut the allies' communications.

Victims of Hay Fever.

The great hay fever emigration began last week. There are thousands of hay fever victims in Canada, and about August 15th their annual attacks come on, when they depart straightway, if they can afford it, to exempt territories.

Hay fever is an interesting disease. It is also incurable. The patient knows the exact date—usually in August—when it will come upon him. It lasts until the frost has destroyed all the green growths and there is no more pollen floating in the air, which is supposed to be the cause of the disease. A patient looks as if he had a most extraordinary cold in the head. His eyes are red, swollen, and watery; he sneezes every few minutes, is short of breath, and breathes in quick pants through his open mouth. His head feels as if distended to two or three times its natural size. There is apparently no cure for him, and his only relief is a change of climate. He goes to the seashore, to the mountains, or on a voyage. One change will suit one patient, another will suit a second, and there is no one climatic condition that can be guaranteed to suit all. But as soon as the hay feverite gets into a region that is good for him, every symptom departs, and he feels quite well and hearty. Let him, though, leave that region, and in a moment he is sneezing and wheezing and weeping as hard as ever. The voice of a hay feverite has a nasal quality, as if it came through a fine tooth comb.

Hay fever has been studied by hundreds of physicians, particularly by those who have had the disease themselves, but, after a circuitous course of investigation, they have all come around to the same view—that the treatment is most unsatisfactory, and resolves itself into a change of climate.

The disease is known to be 100 years old, and has had a hundred names—summer fever, ragwood fever, snow fever, hay asthma, rye asthma, pollen asthma, rose cold, peach cold, harvest cold, pollen poisoning, July cold, etc. Animals are also subject to it. To ignorant persons, a cow, a goat, or a horse sneezing and puffing with the disease would seem to be incurably ill. It is called "hay fever" because physicians thought at one time that only hay pollen caused it. But there are now 80 kinds of pollen which have all been known to bring hay fever on. In India the blossoms of the mango and neme do this. Dr. Blackley, of Manchester, England, being a hay feverite, experimented on himself with various agencies to ascertain the origin of hay fever. He tested the effects of the pollen of 74 kinds of flowers and grasses, and found that nearly all of them would make him ill—musk, ipecac, roses, and burning sealing wax, golden rod, common dust from the roads—the list of causes could be prolonged indefinitely.

30 AGAINST 300.

How the Canadians Captured Those Guns.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Bennet Burleigh writes to the Daily Telegraph from Pretoria:—

"When it was settled that General Baden-Powell was to come into Pretoria to meet Lord Roberts, General Hutton set out towards the north-west with 300 mounted infantry to secure the safety of the Rustenburg road. A party of 25 or 30 Canadians scouting to Hutton's right fell across a small commando of Boers, probably about 250 strong. Putting a bold face on the matter, the Canadians attacked, and as the enemy retreated they followed up, and found hidden away in the bush two guns, one a nine-pounder muzzle-loader and the other a captured mountain gun. They brought them both in to General Hutton, and subsequently to Pretoria. The other incident was an attack by a body of the enemy upon Rustenburg. Colonel Hanbury Tracy defended the little town, and when hard pressed, and shot and shell were flying thick, a body of 400 Australian Bushmen, who had made a forced march from Rhodesia, opportunely arrived and fell upon the Boer rear, defeating them with considerable slaughter."

Was Buried Alive.

Erin, Ont., Aug. 23.—This morning about 8 o'clock Henry Judgson, of Belfountain, was instantly killed. He was engaged in stripping earth from the surface of the rock in Richardson's quarry at Credit Forks, when about five feet of earth caved in and buried him all but his head and shoulders. A large stone, which struck him about the spine is supposed to have been the immediate cause of death. Mr. Judgson was about 55 years old, and leaves a widow but no family.

When their daughters are infants mothers are anxious to keep matches out of their reach; to put matches within their reach is their greatest anxiety when their daughters are older.

Doctor—Your wife is very ill, and I have my doubts as to her recovery.

Husband—Oh, she'll pull through all right. Her dressmaker sent home a new gown yesterday, and she hasn't tried it on.

The old friend—I hear you are engaged, Fanny. Can it be possible that you are going to marry that young Fiddleback?

The heiress—Oh, no. He asked me, as a favour, to become engaged to him for a few weeks to keep up his credit.

A humorous policeman was asked the other day in the thick of the crowd by a harassed pedestrian to tell him the nearest way to Charing Cross Hospital.

"Call for 'Three cheers for Kruger.'" responded the genial guardian of the peace, "and you'll be there in no time."
