Literary Notes.

TAPPAN ADNEY'S BOOK.

The great success achieved by Mr. Tappan Adney's book, "The Klondike Stamped," is very gratifying to his friends as it no doubt is to himself. Life, the celebrated New York paper that notices only the exceptional new books says of it "Anyone who wishes to know about the Klondike, from the first sensation of its gold bearing qualities to the tail end, can make no mistake in getting this book. It is the best one written on the subject."

The Seattle Post Intelligencer, along with an appreciative review, publishes a large portrait of the Author. The New York Herald gives it a notice half a column long and the Chicago Inter Ocean writes two columns and a half about it.

The Beacon, of Boston, says of it:—The voluminous volume entitled The Klondike Stamped, by Tappan Adney, is a fascinating narrative of travel and daring adventure, giving at first hand pertinent information regarding the Klondike region. The narrative is prefaced with an account of the sensational beginning of the stamped. The author of the book was sent to the Klondike as special correspondent of Harper's Weekly. Most of the volume is an account of his experience and observations on the journey and in the new land. Nothing worth seeing or experiencing seems to have escaped him, and he has told his story in a charmingly frank, direct and cheerful manner. Hardships he suffered, almost too numerous and too cruel for endurance, but his story never takes a doleful nor discouraged tone, and, better yet, it is wholly free from egotism. He was one of the intrepid souls who started in the fall '97 instead of waiting till the better season of spring. To insure a successful journey he took pains to find out all he could in his limited time regarding the various routes, the best outfits, et cetera, and these he describes in a bright and thorough manner. His journey is a series of thrilling adventures. He tried several routes and has some sharp comments to make on the authorities who stupidly or deliberately induced parties to go by some of the impassable paths. Well equipped himself, he and his party still had enough to endure, and his account is full of sympathetic descriptions of what his less fortunate fellow travelers suffered. He scores the cruelty to animals which was practised either through ignorance or through selfish carelessness by some of the travelers. The beautiful landscape, the animals, vegetation and inhabitants of the country through which he passed are all noticed in an interesting narrative. The chapter on prospecting for gold, the kinds of gold mining and the tools and work necessary for each, will be especially interesting to those who intend to join the Klondike gold-seekers. The mining towns are portrayed fully, and here the author has been explicit while showing a commendable restraint in his descriptions. The government of the Klondike and the inconvenience to miners arising from the boundary disputes are duly and wisely described. An appendix gives in table form further information for practical use. Maps and beautiful pictures in profusion complete the work.

THE DELINEATOR.

The famous old DELINEATOR, which for 27 years has occupied a unique position in the American magazine world makes a great departure with the January number, just out, by printing a prospectus of what will appear in the twelve issues for 1901. With THE DELINEATOR in the house half a million practical women know that they have the very latest dress news at hand, set forth in such a way that by her own needle each woman can keep up to date positively and inexpensively. The science of house-keeping the care of children in sickness and to health, the art of living and of living well, a life progressive in a home beautiful—all these things THE DELINEATOR is acknowledged to be the best exponent in the world.

McCLURE'S.

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE for January will contain the first installment in the Memoirs of Clara Morris, entitled "Recollections of the Stage and Its People." This chapter describes the famous actress' first appearance before a New York audience and tells vividly of all the trials and triumphs on that crucial occasion. Apart from its sentimental value as the autobiographical work of our greatest actress, the dramatic intensity of the writing gives to the article a literary charm worthy of its high historic interest.

"The Revenge of the Four," which will appear in the same number is a short story by Mr. Josiah Flynt and Mr. Francis Walton, and it is one of remarkable interest. In it the reader will learn something very definite as to the relations between politics and plunder in that underworld of which Mr. Flynt is recognized as the authoritative chronicler. The illustrations are of peculiar appropriateness in this narrative of nefarious doings, for they are drawn from studies of types in the Rogues' Gallery.

Strategy.

"What did you expect to prove by that exceedingly long-winded argument of yours?" asked the friend.

"I didn't expect to prove anything," answered the orator. "All I hoped to do was to confess the other fellow so that he couldn't prove that I didn't prove anything."—Washington Star.

Diseases of Children

Measles, Scarlet Fever and the many exhausting diseases of childhood, frequently leave the little sufferers in a weakened and debilitated condition of health from which it is difficult to rescue them except by the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This preparation is admirably suited to the requirements of children, and has such an invigorating and restorative influence on the system as to make weak, puny children healthy, plump and active.

Blinkins is going to adopt a coat of arms and wants me to suggest a suitable motto for him. Do you think of anything appropriate?"

People Who Have Used It

Say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine affords wonderfully prompt relief for coughs and colds. Everybody has confidence in Dr. Chase, in his great recipe book and famous family remedies. They have learned by experience that it pays to insist on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine instead of accepting the various unscientific "mix-ups" which some druggists offer as "just as good." Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine contains many of the most valuable and most effective remedial agents for throat and lung troubles that science has discovered. It acts so directly and promptly as to be of incalculable worth in all cases of croup, bronchitis and whooping cough. It is so penetrating in its effects as to loosen the tightest chest cough and cure the cold of long standing. 25c a bottle; family size, three times as much. 60c. at all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Time Draws Near the Birth of Christ.

(From Tennyson's "In Memoriam")

Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky, The flying cloud, the frosty light; The year is dying in the night; Ring out wild bells and let him die.

Ring out the old, ring in the new, Ring happy bells across the snow: The year is going, let him go; Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring out the grief that saps the mind, For those that here we see no more; Ring out the feud of rich and poor, Ring in redress to all mankind.

Ring out a slowly dying cause, And ancient forms of party strife; Ring in the nobler modes of life, With sweeter manners, purer laws.

Ring out the want, the care, the sin, The faithless coldness of the times; Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes, But ring the fuller minstrel in.

Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civic slander and the spite; Ring in the line of truth and right, Ring in the common love of good.

Ring out old shapes of foul disease; Ring out the narrowing lust of gold; Ring out the thousand wars of old, Ring in the thousand years of peace.

Ring in the valiant man and free, The larger heart, the kinder hand; Ring out the darkness of the land, Ring in the Christ that is to be.

Mr. F. W. Meyers, King St. E., Berlin, Ont., says: "I suffered for five years with palpitation, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and pain in the heart, but one box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills completely removed all these distressing symptoms. I have not suffered since taking them, and now sleep well and feel strong and vigorous." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure all diseases arising from weak heart, worn out nerve tissues, or watery blood.

LOOK HERE FRIEND!

Do you have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back? Do you feel dull and sleepy? Does your mouth have a bad taste, especially in the morning? Is your appetite poor? Is there a feeling like a heavy load upon the stomach? Sometimes a faint, all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach, which food does not satisfy? Are your eyes sunken? Do your hands and feet become cold and feel clammy? Is there a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly? Are the whites of your eyes tinged with yellow? Is your urine scanty and high colored? Does it deposit a sediment after standing? If you suffer from any of these symptoms,

Character Counts.

"Let a man tell you his story every morning and evening," said a famous Englishman in characterizing the newspaper, "and at the end of a twelvemonth he will have become your master." What if the man is brazen-faced, a chronic liar, one who rejoices in iniquity, and is utterly reckless in principle, who is thus welcomed daily to the home circle? Ought not a newspaper that is indifferent to truth, is self-seeking and has no regard for individual rights or for public morals, to be treated as you would deal with a scoundrel who seeks admission to your room and company? Let an unprincipled journal tell you its daily story, and by an inexorable moral law you will in due time have an "evil spirit" for your master.

In this same connection we are reminded of an interesting lecture by an old journalist and member of Parliament, Mr. R. L. Richardson, of Winnipeg. "Character," said he, "is just as essential for a newspaper as it is for a man who is dependent upon the public for support. It is therefore of as prime importance that an editor should guard the reputation and character of his newspaper as it is that an individual should guard his own reputation and character. If honesty is the best policy for an individual, it is, in an accentuated degree, the best policy for a newspaper. In a peculiar sense a newspaper belonged to the public, being in reality the creation of the public. In the lecturer's mind the best example of the value of preserving character in a newspaper is the history of the Montreal Witness, which the speaker regarded as perhaps the most influential journal in Canada. This, he considered, was due to the sound, consistent, moral policy that had been followed, and the high ideals always held up by the Witness. It has invariably been found advocating sound principles, and it has adhered with such pertinacity to its policy that it has forced the respect of the public, and although an ultra-Protestant paper published in the Catholic Province of Quebec, Mr. Richardson ventured the assertion that it was respected by its religious opponents. Inasmuch as the newspaper is the historian of the day, it is desirable that it should be veracious and a faithful recorder of events."

TERRIBLE CONSEQUENCES.

A cough or cold neglected quickly develops consumption. When the first symptoms sore throat, bronchial or chest troubles are felt, use Harvard Bronchial Syrup, as it always allays inflammation and irritation, strengthens the throat and lungs, and protects from the terrible consequences of consumption. Ask for Harvard Bronchial Syrup and take no other.—For Sale by Garden Bros., Druggists, Main St., Woodstock, N. B.

Putting a Head on It.

"This is a great story," said the new reporter, "but I can't think of a good head for it. It's about a trusted employe, whose accounts were found to be crooked, and when he was accused of it dropping dead."

"That's easy," said the snake editor, helpfully, "head it, 'Died from Exposure.'"—Philadelphia Press.

CONNELL'S PHARMACY.

In Distress With Eczema

Mrs. R. Steadard, Delhi, Norfolk County Ont., writes as follows:—"I was troubled with Eczema or Salt Rheum for over twelve years, and during that time doctored with four different physicians, but found that they could only give temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether I have used three boxes and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and can say it is the best I ever used, and in my estimation worth its weight in gold."

The keen misery which many endure from the tortures of skin diseases is most appalling, and so much the worse because it is unnecessary. Dr. Chase's Ointment stands alone as the one unfailing remedy for salt rheum, eczema, scald head and every form of itching skin disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Toronto.
