WOODSTOCK, N. B., MARCH 23, 1900.

KEEPING THE TOWN CLEAN.

Of many societies there is no end, and whoever would start a new one in Woodstock would be foolhardy. We do not urge, then, a town improvement society, but we urge that every member of the community act as if he belonged to such an order. As spring approaches it is a good time to consider what steps we shall take to tidy up during the summer months.

In some towns there may be an overdoing of the tidying-up process. There are towns not so far distant where one meets with the warning, "Keep off the Grass," on all sides. One feels as if one were hardly worthy to walk the streets of such a well kept place, and one sees the little children who find these outrageous placards staring at them in the face.

But, as a town we can be tidy without being altogether too old-maidish.

If all householders would agree to keep their premises clean, to tidy up during the spring and summer, a marked improvement in the general appearance of the town would be apparent. Last year the town took more pains than usual in keeping the business streets in fair shape, and we may look for a still further advance in this direction, by a closer observance of the Koran's direction "cleanliness is next to godliness."

This is the day of the tourist. He has come in small installments to Woodstock so far, but he will certainly find us out, in time, and his dollars are not to be despised. Let us, then, try to impress him favorably, by having a neatly kept, up-to-date, as well as a prosperous town.

MAUD S. DEAD.

The World Famous Queen of the Turf. a Victim of Heart Disease.

(N. Y. Herald.)

The world's famous mare and former queen of the light harness turf, Maud S., record 2.08 3-4, fell dead in her stall at Shultshurst, the stock farm of John H. Shults, at Port Chester, about ten o'clock Saturday morning. For a few days before her death she had not taken her food regularly, although she appeared to be quite as well as usual. She died of heart disease, which bore out the diagnosis of a veterinarian who was called in to see her last Wednesday and pronounced that organ affected.

Maud S.'s farewell appearance in public was made last month, at the Fasig-Tipton sale at Madison Square Garden, during the disposal of the horses belonging to the estate of the late Robert Bonner, she being the only one of that famous collection to be reserved. Mr. Bonner purchased the noted mare from Wm. H. Vanderbilt, paying, $40,000 for her.

Those horsemen who went "down the line" in 1885 will never forget the exciting scenes on July 30 at Cleveland when the noble mare, without a skip or a break, as steady as a clock, with the exception of one little waver near the gate, flashed under the wire in 2.08 3-4, making a world's record, the fame of which travelled to every corner of the world where horses are known.

Many of the top notch cracks have tried to beat that record to high wheel sulkies. They can get away below it hooked to the light bike sulkies, but the high wheels hold them back. The record stood until October 20, 1891, when it was lowered by one-half a second by Mr. Bonner's mare Sunol, at Stockton, Cal., over a kite shaped track, who pulled a high wheel in 2.08 1-4, which still stands the record to that hitch.

Maud S. was foaled in 1874, on A. J. Alexander's Woodburn farm, near Spring Station, Ky.

She was by Harold, out of Miss Russell (dam of Nipwood, 2.18 4-4), by Pilot, Jr., grand-dam Sally Russell, by Boston. She was sold as a two-year-old for a small sum to a Mrs. Burgher of Cincinnati, and she parted with her to Capt. Geo. H. Stone, of the same city, who named her after his daughter. As a four-year-old Mr. Vanderbilt purchased her for $20,000, after she had shown an exhibition mile of 2.17 3-4, at Lexington, Ky. She was crowned queen of the turf in 1880, with the record of 2.10 3-4, which she lowered to 2.10 1-4 in 1881.

Then she was given a rest until 1884, but in August 1 of the latter year Jay Eye See, at Narragansett Park, Providence, R. I. made a mark of 2.10, which dethroned Maud S. It was for a brief period only, however, that she was compelled to take second place, as on the following day at Cleveland, she lowered the record to 2.09 3-4. The same month she became the property of Mr. Bonner.

Frequently her owner gave her exhibition miles in public, and he speeded her on his private track at Tarrytown, N. Y. He also drove her on the road in the years of her greatness and was the envy of his many fellow roadsters. The greatest care was taken of the mare by Mr. Bonner, and, though he owned Sunol, who trotted in less time, he possessed for Maud S. the greatest of affection.

After her appearance at Madison Square Garden, in February, she was taken to Mr. Shults' Port Chester farm, for the purpose of breeding her to Axworthy, and it was hoped that she would have a foal before she died, to perpetuate her name. Mr. Shults was grieved beyond measure because of the death of the great mare. He had two veterinarians on hand to examine her when she was ready to be bred, and was hopeful of obtaining a colt out of her, although the chances were against it.

One of the Bonner brothers was out of the city yesterday when Mr. Shults sent to inform them of the mare's death, and therefore it is not known what dispositions will be made of her remains. It is more than likely that her name and fame will be perpetuated by a monument.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Is Utterly Harmless if Dodd's Kidney Pills are Used.

They are Made to Cure This and All Other Kidney Diseases—M. B. Connick, of North Carlton, Cured When Doctors Said He Must Die.

NORTH CARLTON, P. E. I., March 26.—The horrible barbarities committed by Turkish soldiery among the Armenian Christians were as a summer breeze to a tornado, when compared with the sufferings caused among our own Canadian people by that dread curse of the century, Bright's Disease. Fortunately we are much better off, in one way, than were the Armenians, for we have a protector in Dodd's Kidney Pills, against which Bright's Disease is utterly harmless.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have not failed in a single instance, to cure any case of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gravel, Urinary Diseases, Diseases of Women, Blood Impurities, and all other Kidney Complaints. They simply cannot fail to cure any of these diseases. It is just as natural, easy, and certain that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, etc., as it is that a heavy rain will put out a small fire. They must cure, just as the rain must put the fire out.

Everybody in this place knows that these claims have been conclusively proved by the case of Mr. M. B. Connick, a well-known blacksmith of North Carlton.

Mr. Connick was afflicted with Bright's Disease for fifteen years. For six years he could not do his own work, couldn't dress himself, couldn't stoop. Five different doctors tried to cure him. They all failed. One of the best doctors in Canada told him he could not be cured.

But he was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. He did so. One box set his cure under way. Ten boxes sent him back to work, health, hearty, strong, vigorous, happy.

THE BLOT ON HIS PAST.

An Indelible Stain Which Made the Strong Man Falter.

"Is there anything in your past," the beautiful girl asked, "that you have kept from me? Oh, Arthur, think before it is too late! Surely you cannot wish to make us both unhappy, as we should be if I were to learn after we are married that you had not told me all—that there was something you had kept back. Arthur!" she exclaimed, drawing away from him, "there is—there is something you have kept from me! You are pale, and you dare not look me in the eyes!"

The young man stood looking at the floor and nervously clasping and unclasping his hands. At last he hoarsely replied:

"Yes, Adelaide, it is true. I have not told you all. Ah, forgive me! It was not my fault. Before Heaven I swear it! I had hoped that you had never need to know. Do not ask me to explain. It is too terrible. You will learn to love some other. I can go away somewhere and drag out my days in shame and sorrow."

Then, womanlike, she put her arms around his neck, looked up into his strong manly face and said in low, sweet tones:

"Arthur, let me help to bear your burden. Have I not promised to share all your joys and sorrows? Do not leave me in doubt. Perhaps I can forgive you and thus save both our lives from being wrecked."

With an effort he pulled himself together and replied:

"My mother used to dress me as 'Little Lord Fauntleroy', and once she had my picture taken in that costume."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Spanish Beggars are Proud.

A beggar in Madrid had from time immemorial occupied a certain step at the entrance to a certain church. To this church there came every day a well to do gentleman who was accustomed to deposit a 10 centavo piece in the waiting beggar's hat. But it

Don't Chide the Children.

Don't scold the little ones if the bed is wet in the morning. It isn't the child's fault. It is suffering from a weakness of the kidneys and bladder, and weak kidneys need strengthening—that's all. You can't afford to risk delay. Neglect may entail a lifetime of suffering and misery.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

strengthen the kidneys and bladder, then all trouble is at an end.

Mrs. E. Kidner, a London, Ont., mother, living at 499 Grey St., says:

"My little daughter, six years old, had had weak kidneys since birth. Last February I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Brown's drug store. Since taking them she has had no more kidney trouble of any kind. I gladly make this statement because of the benefit my child has received from this medicine."

happened that the gentleman fell ill and for two weeks was confined to his bed. When he resumed his attendance at daily worship, he put his coin in the beggar's hat and was going on into the church. The beggar seized his coat-tail. "Pardon me, señor, caballero," he said, "but have you not a little account to settle with me?"

"What?" asked the gentleman. "An account with you? What do you mean?"

"Why, yes," said the beggar. "You are accustomed, are you not, to give me 10 centavos as you come in?"

"Well, have I not just given you the coin?"

"Ah, but you give me 10 centavos every day. You have not been here for 14 days. Therefore you owe me 140 centavos."

"Get out!" answered the gentleman. "This is alms, not a salary, and I owe you no alms when I am absent."

The beggar drew himself up loftily and flung back the 10 centavo piece to the gentleman. "Well, then," he exclaimed, "if you have no more honor than that, you can go and get another beggar! I shall have no more to do with you!"—Youth's Companion.

Artillery.

"What is the use of hussars?" was Blucher's angry retort to Duke Eugene Wurttemberg at the beginning of the campaign of 1813. "They are no use against Bonaparte. We must have plenty of guns to do this business."

Napoleon's tactical successes were nearly all due to the concentration of large masses of artillery against the enemy's line, and when the allies followed his example and Napoleon saw their numbers of massed batteries deployed at the battle of Leipzig he observed to his staff, "At last they have learned something."

Artillery fire has enormously increased in power since the Napoleonic wars, and the concentration of great masses of guns has become an accepted axiom. The Germans owed their success in 1870 to the recognition of this fact, and we have it on the authority of Count von Moltke himself that "the battle of Sedan was won by the artillery before ever the infantry advanced."—Fortnightly Review.

Hull, P. Q.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peach time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, 'Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?'
