NEWS FROM THE COUNTY.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS

KESWICK. The weather has been quite stormy for the past week and the roads are in a bad condition for riding.

UNION CORNER. Marie Porter the little girl who we reported as having pneumonia has a different form of the disease now, it seems to be nervous trouble.

GREENVILLE. Thinking the former correspondent has gone to the place or else forgotten I will therefore have the privilege to tell the readers of THE DISPATCH that Greenville still exists.

MEDUCTIC. Recently the late Jessie Dow of Northampton, was buried at the Dow Cemetery. Services were held in the Dow Church and at the grave by Mr. W. J. Carson.

EAST WILMOT. The correspondent of this place must have gone to the war or some other place of exile as nothing has been heard from him for some time.

WOODFORD. Woodford Merrithew has returned home from lumber woods on the Aroostook. George Lovegrove has gone to Fredericton to work in the tannery. Wedding bells are ringing and the boys are looking up instruments of noise.

EVERETT. The road is just beginning to be good but another storm is brewing. Mrs. Robert Clyde is the guest of Mrs. Leon Everett.

The shell-work monument made by Mrs. Hartley herself is a work of artistic taste and skill, and reflects great credit on the maker.

JACKSONVILLE. We are having a real old-fashioned winter. No lack of snow and pleasant sunshine follow each other in pleasing succession.

THREE BROOKS. The house occupied by George Green and family was burned to the ground Thursday morning.

EVERETT. The road is just beginning to be good but another storm is brewing. Mrs. Robert Clyde is the guest of Mrs. Leon Everett.
