WOODSTOCK, N. B., FEB. 14, 1900.

The Greatest of War Correspondents.

Friday Evening Post: One day more thirty years ago, when the German and French armies were drawn up for battle and the nearer troops were popping away, a man strolled between the firing lines stood there gazing through his field glass calmly as though he were sitting in an arm chair. When Paris was in the hands of the Germans he was there, mingling with the excitement. One day, hearing firing, he stepped forward. Suddenly he found himself inside a most extraordinary triangle of fire. The officer noticed the young man, and commanded him to pick up a musket of a man who had just been killed. He replied that he was a foreigner and a neutral and would not do it. The officer offered him the alternative of taking the gun or being shot. The young man laughed. But the firing party was told off, and when he was standing up against a church wall, and they were proceeding to end his life when a force from another barricade rushed upon them. He was condemned to be shot by a new captors, and again he laughed and escaped. A couple of years later he was in the midst of the fever and famine of the winter of 1847, and after that he was in the Carlist war in Spain, first with one army and then with another. In a few months he was in the Crimea, and in the battles of that war he was a conspicuous observer. Then, attached to the Russian army, he crossed the Danube, loved the campaign, saw the fighting at Shipka Pass and was at Plevna. He realized that Russians could not hold their position, and his next thought was the telegraph office. The nearest was one hundred and eighty miles away, at Bucharest. One bite of black bread he ate in twenty-four hours. He rode out here after horse. This ride ended the greatest newspaper special known in the history of journalism. The great White of Russia afterwards sent for him and said: "I have had reported to me the excitement which you showed with our forces on the night before Plevna by succoring wounded men under heavy fire. As the head of the staff, I desire to testify how Russia honors your conduct, offering you the Order of the St. Stanislaus 'with the crossed swords'—a decoration never conferred except for personal bravery." In all parts of the world where there was war or promise of war this placid, cheerful, and gifted young man was general. He went with the British force to Delalabad, and under a close and heavy fire he saved a wounded soldier's life, and his official despatches gave him special mention for his services. In Zululand he was first to see the certain result of the battle of Ulundi, and although it was dark he started through the trackless forest and made his way through one hundred and twenty miles of that unmarked wilderness to a telegraph wire at Laneman's Drift, and from there he wired to the world the result of the battle days ahead of the official intelligence, his despatches being read in both Houses of Parliament amidst enthusiastic acclamation. This was Archibald Forbes, the war correspondent.

WON HIS CASE.

Doctors Said he Must Die, But He Rallied Under South American Kidney Cure, and Diabetes was Absolutely Cured.

A prominent legal light in a Canadian town treated and dieted for years what the doctors diagnosed an incurable case of diabetes. He became so bad that he had to quit his practice, other complications coming in, and his sufferings were most intense. Almost as a last resort he tried South American Kidney Cure, and, to his great surprise, immediately began to improve. It is over a year ago. He continued taking this greatest of kidney specifics, and to-day he is a well man. Sold by Garden Bros.

Very Definite.

By the way, wrote one woman to another, "Mrs. Blank asked me to be sure and tell you that her sister in London at some meeting or other last summer was made something or other very great by the arts and sciences or something of that sort, you know, and after a paper was read that she had prepared on something very foreign and learned, another still higher and still more wonderful degree was conferred upon her. Wasn't it splendid? Now don't laugh at my horrid way of forgetting the point of it. I had it very straight and very right at the time Mrs. Blank told me, and I know it perfectly splendid and represented the highest honors, even if I can't now recall who Draged Whom Round the Walls of the Tower."—New York Sun.

CHILDREN WILL GO SLEIGHING. They return covered with snow. Half a teaspoonful of Pain-Killer in hot water will prevent ill effects. Avoid substitutes, there's but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.

Childless Officers.
 The curious lack of heirs among the generals concerned in the present Anglo-Boer is a matter worthy of note. General Symons and General Wauchope were childless. Lord Roberts also has now no son, and General Buller, like Lord Wolseley, but one child—a daughter. Lord Kitchener is unmarried.

Deception Practiced by Greedy and Profit-loving Merchants.

They Try to Foist Imitation Dyes on Their Customers When Diamond Dyes Are Asked For.

One of the Ladies Who Could Not be Deceived.

Wise women are never deceived by the untrue and deceptive statements of greedy and profit-loving merchants and dealers. When a storekeeper tells you that some other make of package dye is JUST AS GOOD as the "DIAMOND," he is surely trying to mislead and deceive you. Successful home dyeing depends upon the use of Diamond Dyes; the use of common dyes means spoiled materials every time.

Read the following letter sent to the proprietors of Diamond Dyes by Mrs. A. E. Parker, of Charence, N. S.:

"Please find money enclosed for Fast Black Diamond Dyes for Cotton. I can't get it here, but I am offered something JUST AS GOOD. The JUST AS GOOD may do for some people, but I want the 'Diamond Dyes' as they are the best made.

 Hull, P. Q.

I am a farmer located near Stony Brook, one of the most malarious districts in this State, and was bothered with malaria for years, at times so I could not work, and was always very constipated as well. For years I had malaria so bad in the spring, when engaged in plowing, that I could do nothing but shake. I must have taken about a barrel of quinine pills besides dozens of other remedies, but never obtained any permanent benefit. Last fall, in peak time, I had a most serious attack of chills and then commenced to take Ripans Tabules, upon a friend's advice, and the first box made me all right and I have never been without them since. I take one Tabule each morning and night and sometimes when I feel more than usually exhausted I take three in a day. They have kept my stomach sweet, my bowels regular and I have not had the least touch of malaria nor splitting headache since I commenced using them. I know also that I sleep better and wake up more refreshed than formerly. I don't know how many complaints Ripans Tabules will help, but I do know they will cure any one in the condition I was and I would not be without them at any price. I honestly consider them the cheapest-priced medicine in the world, as they are also the most beneficial and the most convenient to take. I am twenty-seven years of age and have worked hard all my life, the same as most farmers, both early and late and in all kinds of weather, and I have never enjoyed such good health as I have since last fall; in fact, my neighbors have all remarked my improved condition and have said, "Say, John, what are you doing to look so healthy?"

Warranted—A case of bad health that E.P.A.T.G. will not benefit. They banish pain and grogery. One gives relief. Note the word E.P.A.T.G. on the package and never be substituted. E.P.A.T.G. is for 5 cents or twelve packets for 45 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one testimonial will be mailed to any address for 1 cent, forwarded to the Paines Chemical Co., 25 Saratoga St., New York.
