

A SPIRITED SESSION.

or seven years. The action of the committee was sanctioned by the board.

The Mayor—In answer to Coun. Graham I have no recollection of sanctioning it.

Coun. Lindsay—Did that gentleman give the impression that the present finance committee made an arrangement to give 10% for collection?

The Mayor—Yes.

Coun. Lindsay—You can tell him in as strong language as you want to use that it is not so.

The Mayor—I can tell him you will use the other language.

Coun. Lindsay—I think you ought to tell us who this party is, who asked that question.

The Mayor—You are not to dictate to me what I shall do. I shall draw the attention of this council to anything I think necessary in the interests of the town without asking the advice or permission of Coun. Lindsay.

Coun. Lindsay—The present finance committee have made no such arrangements.

The Mayor—I did not say it did.

Coun. Lindsay—I am sorry I said anything to raise your dander a little bit, but I heard that myself.

Coun. Jones—What are you giving. We would like to know.

Ex-Coun. James Watts said that the previous year when he was chairman of the finance committee some two or three hundred names were hunted out and after a consultation with Mr. Holyoke he agreed to take 10 per cent. on all collections. He was to get that only on the sums collected.

The Mayor—Can any other man but the town treasurer issue an execution or legal process for taxes.

Mr. Watts—If you, a lawyer, cannot answer that question, you had better ask it of some other lawyer. I cannot say.

The Mayor—Has the council power to give that man the power to collect.

Mr. Watts—I think so.

The Mayor—I am of entirely a different opinion.

Mr. Watts—I think the council has power to give these sums into the hands of any justice. That is only my private opinion.

The Mayor—I have no recollection of having sanctioned this, but if Coun. Graham or any other councillor say I did so, I will not dispute it. Only one man in town has the right to issue an execution, and he is the town treasurer.

Mr. Watts—Whatever blame attaches to this action, attaches to the whole council of last year, and to the head, the mayor.

Coun. Gallagher—The treasurer signed the execution for Mr. Holyoke.

The question of James E. Drysdale's bill $3.00 a year for thirteen years came up.

Mr. Drysdale being present was heard. He said that when he was appointed thirteen years ago, nothing was said of salary, but the act under which he was appointed said that the town should set the salary. It had been stated to him, that some people said the town council would be liable to damages to Mr. Holyoke if he was paid.

Coun. Dibblee—It has been said you would be liable.

Mr. Drysdale—I don't see how the matter would be affected by my receiving or not receiving pay. I can prove in connection with that building that it was built all right, and if the iron had been tested perhaps, it would not have fallen. At 10 o'clock the night before it fell, every rod was broken in that building. If Mr. Holyoke had been awake to his own interests from 10 that night to 7 the next morning, he could have sent down and got some railroad iron and would have saved his building.

The Mayor—Have you not gone far enough in finding fault with Mr. Holyoke. I think you are getting outside your privilege.

Mr. Drysdale—I had a perfect right to pass that building. I gave Mr. Holyoke a certificate for it. We never had such a winter for snow for forty years, and a demonstration of that was the falling in of Mr. Belyea's barn, near by.

Coun. Dibblee—Did you ever make any report.

Mr. Drysdale—No.

Coun. Dibblee—Have all the buildings erected while you were inspector, complied with the law.

Mr. Drysdale—I do not know but I warned builders from time to time.

Coun. Jones—When you were appointed did you expect pay for it?

Mr. Drysdale—The law provides for that.

Coun. Jones—I thought when you took that office, you expected to get the same remuneration as the councillors.

Coun. Graham—There was nothing at all mentioned about salary.

Coun. Dibblee—I was in the council at the time and I supposed Mr. Drysdale would stand in his bill every year.

The Mayor—Of course the bill cannot be collected later than six years back, but if Mr. Drysdale is fairly entitled to his pay, I know this council will not seek to repudiate any liability 13 years ago.

On motion of Coun. Gallagher seconded by Coun. Graham the bill was ordered paid.

"Now" said Coun. Dibblee, "as we have a new inspector what about his salary?"

Coun. Lindsay—I move that his salary be $3.00 a year paid yearly.

Coun. Dibblee—We should understand what his duties are.

Coun. Lindsay raised the question of a fire limit for the town, and his motion not being put, regarding the inspector's salary, the whole matter of the inspector's salary his duties and a fire limit was referred to the fire committee.

Coun. Lindsay said that the finance committee had made an arrangement with J. N. W. Winslow by which he was to collect the taxes for 5 per cent. He is to go over the whole list, and collect the whole amount as nearly as possible, and not only take the easy ones to collect.

Coun. Carr would like something more stringent.

By this time, the councillors had about exhausted themselves and therefore adjourned.

A TWO DAYS EXHIBITION.

The Agricultural Society Decides in Favor of a Show.

A special meeting of the C. C. Agricultural Society was held in the Record office on Saturday afternoon, the Pres. Rankin Brown, in the chair. Among those present were:—Rebt. Brown, C. H. L. Perkins, Jas. Watts, C. L. Smith, Stephen Peabody, Joseph Speer, Charles Bull, Henry Smith, H. E. Gallagher, G. A. Bull. A motion had been made at a previous meeting by H. B. Smith, seconded by C. R. Carman, that the association hold a two days exhibition next fall. Its consideration and decision was deferred to the meeting of Saturday.

H. E. Gallagher favored holding a exhibition. He would like to see it an annual affair.

Henry Smith thought we ought to have a good two days show, giving small prizes, and get money enough to pay all bills.

Chas. Bull, Jos. Speer and Stephen Peabody favored having a show.

C. L. Smith was in favor of a show, as it certainly made it easier to get the subscription list filled. The only difficulty would be that a show this fall could not be expected to be equal to that of last year, and it was his idea to make each show better than the preceding.

Robert Brown favored a show, but thought they must be careful about financing. There was nothing to look for, but what the society had. Last year it was thought we would have had some surplus, but instead of that we had to furnish money to pay liabilities. The question was where were the finances to come from.

C. H. L. Perkins and G. A. Bull favored the show.

The president would like to see one, but did not wish the society to run deeper in debt. He would like to see the business of the society run as carefully as the private business of any one of the members.

The motion was carried by a vote of seven to five, all the members then agreeing to do all they can to make the affair a success. It will be held toward the latter part of September.

Mayor Murphy, secretary of the association, Charles Smith and H. E. Gallagher, were appointed by the chair, a committee to look after the buildings and lot belonging to the society and to sell what lumber is not required for use.

BAD WITH WORMS.

Some time ago my little boy was very bad with worms. I procured a bottle of Dr. Low's Worm Syrup and am thankful to say it cured him quickly and completely.

The Florenceville Station.

On Monday the examination of the three young men, Hanford Cullin, Moody Cullin and Mercha Tibbetts, was continued. The prisoners' examination is given on another page.

Mrs. Ellen Cullins, mother of the prisoners, said her boys were at Tom Withers playing dominoes the night the station was broken into. They came home about nine. Hanford and Moody were not in bed when I retired.

James Brooks said two weeks ago last Saturday the station was broken into. I saw Moody Cullin that night, about two miles from his home. His brother David was with him. It was between nine and ten o'clock, they were going to the river road which would lead them to the railway station. I asked Moody which way they were going at that time of night and they said it was none of my business.

David Cullin's (re-called)—It is true we did meet Mr. Brooks, the night he says we did. We went home in about a quarter of an hour. The distance is two miles. Don't think it was nine when he met us, it might have been 9.30 when we got home. Did not meet any one else on the road. We went in the house together.

Celia Withers—First she heard of candy being stolen was when Hanford Cullin's told her. He was at our house and said for us to wait and he would bring us some candy. He went away for about a quarter of an hour, and brought us some candy. Heard afterward that he went down to Cullins' workshop and got it. It would not have taken him a quarter of an hour to have gone to his own home and returned. Hanford was at our house two weeks ago Saturday night. He was there when I came home about dusk, and left about half past eleven o'clock.

The case was adjourned till next Monday. Tibbetts was allowed out on bail.

DID YOUR TAILOR

Ever Give You a Misfit?

DID YOU ever put your money down, take your new suit home, try it on, find it a botch? Then what? If a swearing man exercise your privilege a little—if not, lose your temper, feel ugly all day Sunday, and figure out a good blowing up for your tailor on Monday.

You go down on Monday, jump on the tailor all you want to and he simply smiles. He argues and tries to make you think that your suit fits like your skin. You've broken your date, if you had one, spoiled your temper, and you're out the price of a suit.
