KIPLING'S NEW STORIES

The First Sustained Work that He has Done Since His Long Illness.

Rudyard Kipling's first piece of sustained work since his illness last year turns out to be a series of humorous animal stories which are said to show all the freshness and zest of a man who has had long rest. Kipling loves to write an animal story better than anything else, and when his physicians allowed him to return to work he insinctively turned to this series which he had had in mind for years. There are nine stories, and each one is supposed to tell the origin of the most conspicuous part of the animal potrayed. Thus, in "The Elephan,'s Child" he tells a most droll story of how the elephant happened to get a trunk, and in "The Sing-Song of Old Man Kangaroo" he gives the history of how the Kangaroo got his long legs, for, Mr. Kipling says there was a time when elephants had no trunk, and kangaroos' legs were not as long as they are now. The stories, it is said, shows Mr. Kipling at his very best. They are expressively funny and have that rare quality of appealing to old as well as young. The author has sent the entire series to The Ladies' Home Journal, and that magazine will begin their publication in its next issue.

The War.

All of yesterday was occupied in fighting. The Boers maintained a stubborn rear guard action along a running front of twelve miles on very difficult ground. The British were advancing in three columns, Gen. Tucker to the southward, occupied Petrusberg unopposed. Gen. Kelly-Kenny, after following the river bank, moved in the direction of Abraham's Kraal.

At Dreifontein, about eight miles south of Abraham's Kraal, the Boers were found posted in considerable strength on the ridges connecting several kopjes, where they had mounted guns. The action began at 8 o'clock in the morning with an artillery duel. Gen. French's cavalry and Gen. Porter's brigade supported our guns. The Boer artillery was accurately handled, and the British cavalry

Gen. Broadwood, with dogged perseverance, moved altogether six miles southward, trying to find a means to get round, but the Boers followed behind rising ground, and even attempted to outflank him. Meanwhile the sixth division of infantry, advancing on the Boer left, slowly forced the enemy to retire. Had the infantry been able to move faster the Boers would have been enveloped. The last shot was fired at 7.30 p. m This morning not a Boer was to be seen. The prisoners belonged to President Kruger's own commando.

DRIEFONTEIN, Orange Free state, March 11, 6.35 a. m-Broadwood's cavalry brigade, advancing on Bloemfontein, unexpectedly found the Boers in a strong position in Driefontein kopjes yesterday. Gen. Kelly-Kenny's division arriving severe fighting ensued. The Boers resisted stubbornly, but were driven from their centre position, leaving a number of dead and forty prisoners.

The British forces is moved forward today. During the fighting in which five regiments took part, with artillery, the Boers, though forced from their centre position clung tenaciously to the other kopjes, shelling the British freely with three guns and two Vickers Maxims

The British cavalry began to turn the Boers position but night fell before the movement was completed. The Boers retired during the night. A large number of Australians were engaged yesterday. The First Australian Horse Brigade, with the Scots Greys, advanced within 800 yards of the Boers under heavy fire. The News South Wales Mounted Infantry joined in the pursuit of the Boers northward.

London, March 11 .- The war office has received the following advices from Lord 11, 9.45 a. m.:

"The following telegram has been addressed by me to their honors, state presidents of the Orange Free State and the South African Republic.

" 'Another instance having occured of gross abuse of the white flag and of the signal of holding up hands in token of surrender, it is my duty to inform you that, if such abuse occurs again. I shall most reluctantly be compelled to order my troops to disregard the white flag entirely.

" 'The insurance occurred on a kopje east of Driefontein farm yesterday evening, and was witnessed by several of my own staff officers, as well as by myself, and resulted in the wounding of several of my officers and

" 'A large quantity of explosive bullets of three different kinds was found in Comman 1and Cronje's laager, and (this has been the case) after every engagement with your honors' troops. Such breaches of the recognized usages of war and of the Geneva convention are a disgrace to any civilized power. A copy of this telegram has been sent to my government, with the request that it may be communicated to all neutral powers."
