tury in the sense of being the bloodiest were. Leipsic in 1813 (90,000 men lost); Borodino we had two heavy thaws and the bare in 1812 (loss, 74,000), and Belle Alliance in 1815 (loss, 61,000). In the battle of Waterloo the loss of the allies is stated-in an upto-date history of England-as 22,976 killed and wounded, while the French lost over 30,000, besides many prisoners. There were many big battles in the Crimean war-probably quite as big and bloody as any that have yet occurred in South Africa-and, according | Wilson, Truro; D H Kittridge, Granby, Que; to historical authority already referred to, the losses of the allies amounted in all to no less than 250,000 men, while those of the Russians have been placed as high as 750,000. The allies loss at Alma was 619 killed and 2,860 wounded; the Russian loss was reported to be about 8.000. At the fall of Sebastopol 18 000 Russians were killed and wounded and 22,000 made prisoners. The numbers engage1 at the Wilderness (the largest battle in the American Civil War) were 141,000 Federals and 52,000 Confederates; each side had one-seventh of its strength put hors de combat, whereas at Grant's battle each lost a full fourth. The battle of Koniggratx (or Sadowa) in the Austro-Prussian war of 1866 was, next to Waterloo, the most decisive and important battle of the century; it was also one of the bloodiest. The Prussians lost in dead, wounded, and missing 359 officers and 8,794 men, and the Austrians 1,147 officers and 30,244 the total force engaged on each side was--for the Prussians, one wenty-third; for the Austrians, oneseventh; for both together, one-seventh. At Leipsic, the proportion of losses was one fifth; Borodino, one tnird; Belle Alliance, onethird. There were very heavy losses in the Franco Prussian war of 1870.71, particular. ly at Rezonville and Gravelotte, the French loss in three days being 15,000 in killed

Women As Judges, As Color Critics They Say Diamond Dyes Are the Best in the World.

As a rule women are by far the best judges of colors. Their vast experience in the innumerable shades and tints brought out by European professional dyers in dress fabrics, ribbons, silks, trimmings and gloves, give them a knowledge and advantage in colors that few men possess

As color critics and judges, the women of all civilized lands have long ago made Diamond Dyes the popular home favorites for the coloring of all faded and dingy looking garments and fabrics of wool, silk or cotton. Everywhere, intelligent and economical women, after thorough tests and trials, have found Diamond Dyes to give the richest, fullest and most lasting colors-colors that for brilliancy and durability surpass the best efforts of professional dyers.

To secure ease, comfort and perfect success in home dyeing, the Diamond Dyes should be used at all times.

Working on the great reputation of Diamond Dyes, some unscrupulous people are putting up imitation dyes in packets. Such dyes are a source of danger to the dyer and the materials to be colored. See that each packet of dye purchased has the name "Diamond."
