Army Flogging.

Soon after General Gatacre was appointed an ensign in the Seventy-seventh foot he turned out with the company to which he was attached to witness the flogging of a soldier. The man, who had been convicted of a serious offense and was later to be drummed out of the corps, took his punishment badly, screaming a great deal. Ensign Gatacre shut his eyes and turned white in the face, as though he would faint. When the punishment was over, he remarked to his color sergeant, "If I see much more of this, I'll sell out."

The "noncom" responded, "You'll get used to it in time, sir."

"Used to it? I'm sure I never shall! responded the ensign. Flogging in the army was soon abolished, however, and the future general remained in the service.

A Good Cure.

THE GRODER DYSPEPSIA CO.'S L.T.D. ST. JOHN, N. B.

GENTLEMEN,—For over one year I suffered with what the four doctors I consulted in N. H., called dyspepsia. For hours at a time every day I suffered the most excruciating pains. The cramps would double me up so that I would have to groan. I would vomit up everything I ate for days at a time. I was terribly wasted and so weak that I could scarcely raise a teacup to my mouth. Nothing I could get would do me any permanent good. Finally a friend persuaded me to try Groder's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup. I took four bottles and am now able to do a good day's work. It is six weeks since I finished the last bottle. I eat anything I ever was fond of and suffer no inconvenience. I send you this voluntary testimonial, hoping that you may use it and that some one who reads it may be benefitted by the use of Groder's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup as I have been.

Yours truly,

The Donkey Donk.

A wee little lady who lives in a suburb saw and heard a donkey for the first time the other day while out for a walk with her aunt. She talked about it continually after getting home. It was "such a boofu' donkey" and "such a good donkey" and so on through her small store of adjectives. When her father came home at night, he heard the story over again, with a renewal of the adjectives.

"And so you liked the dodkey, darling, did you?" he asked taking the tiny lass on his knee.

"Oh, yes, papa; I liked him—that is, I liked him pretty well, but I didn't like to hear him donk."

A Blessing to the Homes of Canada.

No invention of the century now coming to a close has done so much for the homes of Canada as the Diamond Dyes. These reliable and never-fading dyes have saved more money for our Canadian families than all other combined agencies.

Diamond Dyes, with their magical re-creating powers, give to faded and dingy looking dresses, shirts, waists, blouses, shawls, capes, jackets, coats, vests, pants, and all fabrics, light or heavy, a second life—a condition of richness and beauty, in the majority of cases far ahead of the original colors and shades. It simply means that a new dress, coat, jacket or other article of wearing apparel is obtained at a cost of from ten to twenty cents. This work is now successfully carried on in tens of thousands of happy and prosperous homes in our Dominion.

If you have not yet tested the re-creating and economizing powers of Diamond Dyes in your home, you are losing money every month. To achieve the victories that come to others in money-saving, you should try what Diamond Dyes can do on your faded and cast-off clothing.

As there are imitation package dyes sold in some stores for the sake of extra profit, avoid these colors, as they are ruinous to any material; see that you get the Diamond Dyes that make old things look as good as new.

A Lesson in Punctuation.

A high school girl said to her father the other night:

"Daddy, I've got a sentence here I'd like to have you punctuate. You know something about punctuation, don't you?"

"A little," said her cautious parent as he took the slip of paper she handed him.

This is what he read:

"A five dollar bill flew around the corner."

He studies it carefully.

"Well," he finally said, "I'd simply put a period after it, like this."

"I wouldn't," said the high school girl. "I'd make a dash after it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"It's the devil for any one to tell me a secret, for it is sure to come out unprint."—HAZLITT.

The sporting editor has many theories. One of them is that hard work is good for a man; another is that economy is a creditable thing. Of course these theories are like many men's religious beliefs, they are things for some one else to live up to. However, once in a long time the S. E. takes a virtuous sprint and lives up to some of his hot-house theories for as much as half a day at a time. During the last big storm he saw some stove wood lying outside the editorial door covered with snow, and he thought it was his duty to bring it in. He opened the door wide enough to let in many square yards of cold air and began vigorously firing the wood in on the office floor. The first stick came in beautifully, the second stick smashed the leg off a mahogany chair such as we have in our office and the third stick struck the door and took off just two dollars and fifty cents worth of hinges to say nothing of a large pane of glass. The religious editor figures up that he had done three quarters of a cent's worth of work, and had smashed three dollars and fifty cents' worth of real estate and personal property. The sporting editor was cheerful, he is always cheerful no matter how much it costs his friends, but he has come to the conclusion that a gentleman of his intellectual attainments should not engage in menial occupations but should seek exercise for his body in some other way than wrestling with large sections of rock-maple trees. A Perfect fit.

A young fellow on the South Side has a negro valet, an old fashioned southern darkey. "Here, Jeff, I want those trousers cleaned and pressed today," he said, pointing to a rather loud striped garment that Jeff had long had his eyes on. "All right, sah," said Jeff, with a sigh.

Next morning Jeff brought the trousers back, with a big grease spot still prominent on one knee. "Can't you get that spot out?" said the owner of the trousers. "No, sah."

"Did you try turpentine?" "Fo' de Lawd, I done saccharated 'em wid turpentine."

"Did you try coal oil?" "Yes, sah; po'ed a quart ob 'ile on 'em."

"Did you try a hot iron?" Puty nigh bu'nt 'em up!"

"Did you try benzine?" "Done tried benzine an kerosene, an all the other zines, an 'tain't tech dat grease spot."

"Well, did you try 'em on?" queried the master, with a twinkle in his eyes. "Yes, sah," replied Jeff, with alacrity, "and dey's a puffed fit, grease spot an all, sah."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

SCIATICA 2 YEARS.

Mr. Fred Platt, 12 Frankish Ave., Toronto, says that he suffered over two years with Sciatica. Three boxes of Milbarn's Rheumatic Pills removed every trace of the pain and made him as limber as a boy.

A good college story is that which won the prize of ten dollars offered by The Chautauquan for the best anecdote. The professor is explaining "Soul Transmigration." Smith, one of the class, does not quite understand it. Blair arose: "Professor, I think I can explain that to Mr. Smith. Suppose that Mr. Smith dies. His soul passes into a canary bird that twitters and sings to the delight of all listeners. The bird's soul passes into a thistle that ornaments a deserted back yard. A passing donkey devours the thistle, and as I stroke the donkey's long silky ears I say: 'Hullo, Smith, old boy. You aren't changed so much after all.'" Mr. Smith has never had any more difficulty with the theory.

Freemasonry is strongly represented among the general officers engaged in the war in South Africa, including Field Marshal Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener, Lord Methuen, Sir Charles Warren, Lieut.-Col. W. D. Worn-Out Men

Bring Headaches, Backaches, Pains, Sleeplessness, Irregularities, Prostration and Paralysis.

Woman's work is never done early morn till late at night man toils on day after day, week after year after year, with no rest, no and not even change of work, the same monotonous round over again.

Little wonder that the nerves, the system run down, and racked by pains and aches. Let that the head aches, the digestive are impaired, and the delicate become irregular. Little wonder, fades, the skin becomes pale and the body thin, weak, and worn.

To correct these ailments and to vitality of the body a restorative and there is no greater restorative than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. A wonder of medical science that gets foundation and builds up gradually until the whole system is revitalized becomes a thing unknown.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is put up and if taken regularly according to will positively and permanently cure serious nervous disorders of men, children. 50c. a box at all dealers, son, Dates & Co., Toronto, Ontario.
