UNION CORNER.

Bro. E. LeRoy, Dakin has been pastor over the Richmond Baptist church since the first of June. During the last six or seven weeks he has been holding special services, assisted, part of the time, by Rev. A. H. Hayward the result of which 31 have been baptized and received into the church, and there are several to be baptized next Sunday Sept. 8th.

Miss Lizzie Ebbett has returned to her home in Boston, Mass., after two weeks visit at her aunt's, Mrs. A. Carpenter.

Mrs. J. L. Henderson is able to be around again, after a tedious illness of heart trouble.

Mrs. Carne, and old lady of nearly 80 years, who was thought to be lying at the point of death for several weeks, is getting quite well again.

RICHMOND CORNER.

Now that the small pox scare is over we breathe more freely.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, Boston, are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Arnold's mother, Mrs. Ellis, at the Beardsley farm.

Dr. Jamieson and family spent a week with his mother at the old homestead.

Miss Mary McIntyre, Houlton, is visiting friends in Richmond.

Harry Bull, of Northampton, spent Sunday with his cousin, Woodbury McIntyre.

Several of our farmers went to Houlton this week to attend the State Fair. They were much pleased with the show of stock.

Miss Irene Campbell who had the Watson Settlement school and Miss Nora McIntyre the Oakville school are both at home on account of small pox in both districts. They expect to take their schools about the first of October.

Mrs. Robert McIntyre and daughter, Belle, of Boston, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Matheson is visiting Miss Antonette Hall.

The Baptists of South Richmond and Union Corner are having a revival some eighteen were baptized on Sunday.

Miss Gertie Stevenson, Bull's Creek, is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Perry, Plymouth.

BRISTOL.

William W. Wiggins, the oldest resident in this part of the County, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. Jedediah Giberson, on Friday, at the advanced age of 95 years. The deceased was born in Queens Co., but moved Bird-Shot For Tiger.

No use to hunt tigers with bird-shot. It doesn't hurt the tiger any and it's awfully risky for you.

Consumption is a tiger among diseases. It is stealthy—but once started it rapidly eats up the flesh and destroys the life. No use to go hunting it with ordinary food and medicine. That's only bird-shot. It still advances. Good heavy charges of Scott's Emulsion will stop the advance. The disease feels that.

Scott's Emulsion makes the body strong to resist. It soothes and toughens the lungs and sustains the strength until the disease wears itself out.

HENRY MORGAN & CO., MONTREAL

to this County when quite a young man. His wife was a Miss Burpee, also of Queens Co., and died about 8 years ago. Two daughters and three sons survive him. The funeral services were held in the Primitive Baptist Church, Bristol, the Rev. D. E. Brooks officiating, and were well attended. S. K. Farley had charge of the arrangements.

CENTREVILLE.

We are sorry to learn we are to lose one of our popular young ladies Sadie H. Toms now Mrs. W. A. Duffield who is going to make her home in the far west. May she enjoy many happy years in the wish of her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Duffield left on Monday for the Pan American exposition. They will visit Niagara Fall and several other places enroute to their future home, Florence, Moutana.

LOST HIS BUSINESS!

Ill-health "puts the shutters up" in many an honest man's business, and there are thousands of cases on record where the only seeming power on earth to take them down again is South American Nerveine.

"I was completely prostrated with Nervous Debility. I had to give up business—doctors only helped me temporarily. I was the most discouraged man alive when I started taking South American Nerveine, but the splendid cures I had read gave me hope, and I had not taken half a bottle before I found relief. I took twelve bottles, but am cured."—E. Errett, Merrickville. a Sold by Garden Bros.

THE KING'S HEALTH

Rumor Mongers Still Spreading all Kinds of Silly Stories.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The tribune's London correspondent says: There have been disturbing rumors regarding the King's health for some weeks, but it has not been possible to separate the wheat from the chaff. The most trustworthy account which I have received from those in touch with the court leaves little ground for doubt that the King has been nervous about the condition of his throat, being suspicious that his sister's fate might be in store for him. Specialists have examined his throat while he has been in Hamburg, and they have confirmed the previous diagnosis that there is no existence of cancer. There is however, some disease of the throat which requires constant watching and treatment. My informants state that the King has been warned against mental excitement and that his medical advisers objected strongly to his going to his sister's death-bed on the ground that the emotion and intensity of grief would be dangerous.

Gorton's Minstrels.

Welby and Pearl, with Gorton's Minstrels, will appear at Opera House Sept. 12th. One of the brightest and most popular acts in minstrelsy today is Welby and Pearl's "Three Ages in Black," wherein is set forth, with side-splitting ludicrousness, the varying phases of a darkey romance. In this line of work the veteran entertainers, Welby and Pearl, stand unrivaled. Imitators they have a plenty, but none who approach within miles of their delightful drollery and artistic nonsense. This merry act sends audiences into ecstasies of laughter. These talented comedians have been before the public for many years, and bring to their work that finish and completeness which long experience alone grants to the painstaking entertainer.

Among the notable engagements with Gorton's Minstrels this season are the Elliott Brothers, the "Fashion Plate Dancers," producing, without doubt, the most graceful and finished dancing act before the public. They are accomplished vocalists, and their act is most magnificently costumed, which produces an effect which meets with the highest approval from their audiences.

An Angry Philosopher.—On one occasion, at the London Athenaeum Club, Mr. Herbert Spencer, who used to be an enthusiastic billiard player, found his master in a very young man, who beat him thoroughly. When his defeat was no longer to be disguised the philosopher leaned on his cue and delivered the following speech to his fortunate antagonist:—"A certain proficiency in this game is possibly a desirable accomplishment, but the extraordinary ability, sir, you have just displayed can only be the fruit of a mis-spent youth."

Conscientiousness of Wu-Ting-Fang.

At a recent dinner Wu-Ting-Fang, the Chinese Minister, was called upon to respond to a toast to "the Ladies." According to the Chicago Record-Herald, he responded as follows:

"When I see so many finely built women confronting me, and I am called upon to be the 'gallant' of the moment, what can I say but that I wish for that moment only I were not a Chinaman? I should like to be an American as I stand here, so that each one of you would appear as beautiful to me as you actually must be when seen through your countrymen's eyes. Alas! the slight difference in the formation of my orbs cannot do justice to the impression you make upon me, individually and jointly and severally. But there are some well-nourished figures and forms among you that really appear to be as fine as the best that my own fertile country has produced. And your intelligence and souls, I am told, which are hidden under your intricate fashionable apparel, are more beautiful than your forms. May you all feel the depth and sincerity of my admiration, and may your youthful looks and honorable years always walk hand in hand."

A Winning Precept.

"What, in your judgement, Colonel" asked the ambitious beginner, "would be a good motto for a young politician? How would 'I would rather be right than—' and so forth, do?" "That will and does, exceedingly well for publication," replied the Successful Veteran, but for private consumption, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em, will always prove a great deal more lucrative."
