White Lies.

Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews in a lecture on "Veracity," at the University of Chicago, said it is sometimes a good and proper thing to tell a lie, provided the intention one has in mind be good. Dr. Andrews illustrates his doctrine by saying that it is no lie to tell a sick man, near to death, that he will recover. Admiral Nelson told no lies, declares Dr. Andrews, when he put the spyglass to his blind eye and said he could not see the enemy's ships.

Probably there has not been a human being, saint or sinner, that never told a lie by word or deed. George Washington has a reputation for immaculate veracity, but Washington was too sane and sensible a man to have been so absurdly truthful as the legend portrays him. When Washington crossed the Delaware and fell upon the British he told a lie, inasmuch that he deceived the enemy regarding his whereabouts. Doubtless he told many such lies. A man cannot be a general of an army and President of the United States without directly or indirectly telling falsehoods. Call the offence strategy, call it diplomacy, call it courtesy, but it cannot be reconciled to the commandment.

Absolute truth-telling—one may say it with all deference to the deacon—would be brutal and barbarous. The little lies make life worth living, and are the oil which reduces the friction of social intercourse. It would not do to be always at home to bores. One must not shirk the delicate, mannerly fibs that women love to hear. If one is in trade he may not always tell the exact truth about his goods, although commercial lies are not so white or harmless as others that society permits. We have the authority of no less a personage than His Majesty Edward VII., that to shield the good name of a woman a man may lie like a gentleman, and there are many who esteem a dictum from Sandringham or Windsor as of authority at least equal to that of a commandment from Sinai.

The deacon, like its Author, is absolute while men dwell in the relative. We are obliged to be practical. Society, therefore, without jurisdiction in the promises, has amended the Divine law and permitted harmless lies. The law of the world forbids lies containing elements of malice, cowardice, or dishonor. Men lie and are willing to take the consequences hereafter that they may avoid disaster in the present. They gamble on the lachrymal propensity and the obliterative effect of the tears of the recording angel of whom Mr. Laurence Sterne—himself a clergyman—has told us. The man who never tells a little lie may be a saint, but he is very lonely. He never will succeed in business, politics, or society. Most likely he will die a bachelor.

The Omar of "The Weed."

A few good friends, a seat beside the fire, A well-filled pouch at hand and pipe of brier, And in the heart a love of all mankind, And age is not catastrophe so dire.

The weed, turned ashes, quickly is forgot; But joyously it yields its fragrant lot; Also man lives and dies and turns to dust, But all in rollicking good cheer. Why not?

This, then, our cue—to sweetly emulate Tobacco and its democratic state; To give of comfort whereso'er we may And love all men and leave the rest to fate. —Kirke La Shelle in "Harper's."

Go to Bed at 10.

One of the foremost surgeons, who is a medical adviser to the throne, was called in to prescribe for a lady friend of mine who is very active in fashionable life. She was suffering from nervous breakdown, and he found her generally out of order in brain, eyes, heart and digestive organs. I am going to tell you freely what he said, though it cost her $50 to hear him:

"I cannot cure you," says he, "but you can easily cure yourself. All you have to do is to go to bed at 10 o'clock every night, no matter what company you are entertaining or what temptation you have to go out and stay out late. I do it, and have for years refused to allow any business or pleasure to interfere with my habit. If you don't do it, your friends will say: 'Mrs.—was a clever woman. How well she used to entertain us! But she is dead and gone.' If you do it, they will have no chance to declare you dead and gone for many a year to come. There, that's my prescription. You will not follow it, I know, but it is all I have to offer or suggest."—Julian Ralph in Collier's Weekly.

BABY IN THE HOME.

A Joy and Treasure When Good Natured and Healthy.

All children in every home in the country need at some time or other a medicine such as Baby's Own Tablets, and this famous remedy has cured many a serious illness and saved many a little life. Mothers insist upon having it because it contains no opiate or harmful drugs. It is purely vegetable, sweet and pleasant to take and prompt in its effect. For simple fevers, colic, constipation, disordered stomach, diarrhoea, irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth and indigestion, Baby's Own Tablets are a certain cure. In fact in almost any disorder common to children these tablets should be given at once and relief may be promptly looked for.

Never give the babies so-called soothing medicine which simply put them into an unnatural sleep. These tablets are small, sweet pleasant to take and prompt in acting. Dissolved in water, they will be taken readily by the smallest infant.

Mrs. John McEwan, Bathurst Village, N. B., writes: "My baby was almost constantly troubled with colic before I gave him Baby's Own Tablets, but since giving them to him he has not since suffered. Every mother should keep these tablets always at hand."

They cost 25 cents a box. You can find them at your druggist's or, if you do not, forward the money direct to us and we will send the tablets prepaid. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Dept. T, Brockville, Ont.

A Distressing Case.

"Vat's de madder, Izzy?"
"I am in great troubles. Ve soldt a man a set of teeth mit a gold plate at four tollars down and two a week. Und he hasn't made de second payment."
"Vy ton't you take de teeth away from him?"
"Ve can't. He's got lockjaw."—New York "Life."

A Food for Brain and Muscle

Whether it is brain fag, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind or bodily weakness and general debility, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will restore your old time energy, strength and health. Through the blood and nervous system, it reaches every part of the body and overcomes weakness, irregularities and disease.

Among the questions sent out by a school examiner was the following example in arithmetic:—

"If one horse can run a mile in 1min. 50sec., and another a mile in 2min., how far would the first horse be ahead in a match race of two miles?"

A scholar returned the question with this attached: "I will have nothing to do with horse-racing."

Baptist Fish.

"Down in the south," remarked a man at one of the clubs, "there exists more of a religious atmosphere than there is here in the north. So most of the stories they tell have a sectarian flavor to them. One that I heard while in Charleston was entirely new to me, and it appeared to be so in the circle of gentlemen where I heard it. It ran this way: A dignified old gentleman stood on one of the city wharfs watching an old darky who was fishing. No word passed between them until the darky landed a good sized fish. This was unhooked, and there was a look of disgust on the face of the fisherman as he, throw the fish back into the water.

"Why did you throw that fish back into the water instead of keeping him uncle?" queried the onlooker.

"He no good, massa."
"What kind of a fish was it?"
"We calls 'em Baptist fish, sah."
"And why Baptist fish, uncle?"
"Ah couldn't say fo' sure, massa, but Ah specks it's becase dey spiles soon as you gets 'em outen de water!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"MUSCLES IN KNOTS"

Joints all stiffened and swollen—dagger-like pains, sufferings that no man can describe—this is the experience of thousands of Rheumatism's victims.

Do you know that there isn't a case, no matter how acute or how long standing, that South American Rheumatic Cure will not relieve almost in a trice and work a permanent cure. Its action on a system so disordered is marvellous. It works quickly, quietly, effectually and harmlessly, and leaves no bad after effects. It does not cure all diseases, but it does cure rheumatism.

Hints For The Cook.

Try adding a few slices of orange to a cream of tomato soup just before serving it. If cabbage or cauliflower is past its freshness, a tiny pinch of soda or a piece of loaf sugar will revive it.

To remove a hot pudding or cake from a mould or tin, invert and cover the bottom and sides with a cloth wet in cold water. The contents will slip out easily in a minute or two. To remove a cold or frozen dish from a mould use a cloth wrung with hot water.

To cool a hot dish in a hurry, place it in a vessel full of cold salt water.

A little vinegar put into a frying pan and heated over the fire removes the odor of fish or onions from the utensil.

A novel and dainty way of cooking little new onions is to boil them and serve them on toast, similar to asparagus.

Character in Medicine

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time and remains today the only actual cure for Piles and Itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase—America's Greatest Physician.

A Sunday-school superintendent, who happened to be a draper, and who was teaching a class of very little tots, asked, when he had finished explaining the lesson: "Now, has anyone a question to ask?"

A very small girl raised her hand.
"What is it, Martha?" asked the superintendent.

"Why, Mr. Brooks, how much are those little red parasols in your window?"

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nervine into the spot. Pain can't resist Nervine which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

A little boy was advised by his father to use illustrations in his converse whenever they should occur to him. "For," continued the parent, "there is no more forcible way of conveying or impressing your meaning." Shortly after the boy was being lectured on generosity. "It's better to give than to receive, Johnny—far better."
"Illustrate it, papa. I think I shall understand it better."

Never Say Die.

You may be weak, miserable, nervous, sleepless, your digestion may be poor, and you despair. Never say die, until you have used Ferrozone, the most wonderful blood maker, nerve strengthener and brain invigorator. It tones up the whole system. You can eat anything and digest it if you can use Ferrozone. You sleep well. You make blood quickly, strength increases daily, in a short time your well. Try Ferrozone, which you can obtain at Garden Bros drug store.

Old Gentleman: "My friend, what do you do with your wages every week—put part of them in the savings bank?"
"Bus-Driver: "No, sir, after paying the grocer, butcher, and the rent, I pack what's left away in barrels; I don't believe in savings banks."

"Canadian Home Journal" Bought by Mr. Hugh C. Maclean.

That the tendency to amalgamation nowadays has been extended to journalistic circles, as well as commercial, is shown by the recent purchase of The Canadian Home Journal by Mr. Hugh C. MacLean, publisher of The Ladies Magazine, Toronto. The Journal, which was established many years ago, will be discontinued as a distinct publication, and will be merged into The Ladies Magazine, which has already won a place for itself as the popular home paper for Canadian women.
