A Defect of Reformers.

The newspaper despatch from Topeka, Kansas, about Mrs. Charles M. Sheldon's hired girl has been very popular, and acres of comment have appeared about it. The story is that the hired girl, who was new, had read in one of Mr. Sheldon's the-world-made-over stories that it was a good plan for the servants of a household to take their meals with the rest of the family, so she expressed to Mrs. Sheldon her willingness to follow that course, but Mrs. Sheldon dissented, and the girl left. This is thought to be a joke on Mr. Sheldon, but, remarks New York "Life," really it makes him appear in a good light as a reformer who respects the right of others, and does not try to compel even his immediate family to share his social experiments. That is the way it is in the family of Tolstoi. He lives the ideal life, and goes barefoot, and cobbles shoes for recreation, but his wife and most of his children respect conventional customs, and live a life modified, but not stunted by his ideals.

A great and common defect about ordinary reformers is that they are not content to let their light so shine, but insist that every one whom they can control shall emulate their good works. Says the Women's Christian Temperance Union to the army, "We think it's wicked to drink beer, and you shan't have any." Says Mrs. Carrie Nation to Apollo Belvidere, "It is an outrage that you have no trousers on. Let me smash you!" Mr. Sheldon's way is better. He goes in for precept, and, maybe, example, but not for constraint. If the Women's Christian Temperance Union followed his example it might still distribute tracts to the army, but it would not legislate away the canteen, and Mrs. Nation, acting Sheldon-wise, would be content to say to Apollo Belvidere, "Wear trousers, like me."

Dog and Telephone.

"One morning, not long ago," writes a Canadian lady, "my sister went to see a friend who lived a mile or so from the rectory, taking with her our brown cocker spaniel. When she left she quite forgot the dog, and as soon as our friends discovered him they did all they could to make him leave, but with no avail. Some hours passed, and he was still there, so they telephoned to let us know of his whereabouts. 'Bring him to the telephone,' said my sister.

"One of the boys held him, while another put the trumpet to the dog's ear. Then my sister whistled, and called, 'Come home at once, Paddy.'

"Immediately he wriggled out of the boy's arms, rushed at the door, barking to get out, and shortly afterwards arrived panting at the rectory. This is what might be called a modern dog story."

Too Great a Risk

It is dangerous to neglect a simple case of itching piles as the trouble is likely to become chronic and develop into fatal incurable fistula or cancer of the rectum. A single application of Dr. Chase's Ointment will quickly relieve the itching and burning sensation, and a few boxes will cure any case of piles. This standard ointment has probably relieved more suffering than any preparation you can mention.

Red Hair.

If women with red hair would only study how to use it becomingly they would be proud of the distinction of having it, instead of dissatisfied with their fate. There seems to be a general impression among women with red hair that almost any shade of blue can be worn by them, because as a usual thing, they have fair and delicate complexions. But as a matter of fact, blue is the one color above all others that they ought to avoid. The contrast is too violent, and the combination is not harmonious. The shades most suitable to be worn with red hair are bright, sunny browns, and all autumn-leaf tints. After these may be selected pale or dark green—but never a bright green—pale yellow, and black un-mixed with any other color. Solid colors are always more becoming to red-haired people than mixed: the mixed colors nearly always give a more or less dowdy appearance. In fact, red hair is usually so brilliant and decided, that it must be met on its own ground, and no vague undecided sort of things should be worn with it.

Tender Corns.

Soft corns, corns of all kinds removed without pain or sore spots by Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor. Thousands testify that it is certain, painless, and prompt. The Scottish "Drummer."

I was talking to a Russian—a cosmopolitan in his direct knowledge of all the lands and peoples on the face of the globe—about the yellow question and race competition. He said if the English business houses only employ Scotch travellers at low fixed salaries and high percentages on orders obtained they hold the markets. He had often watched Scotch agents at work in China. They were not good linguists, but they always knew enough to make themselves understood, and to be able to understand rebuffs

Nervous Depression and Bodily Weakness.

Another Woman Who Has Found Health, Strength and Vigor in the Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

To women especially Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is proving to be a very great blessing. So many women are weakened and debilitated by overwork, worries or diseases peculiar to their sex, and need the assistance of just such a restorative as this great food cure.

Mrs. M. A. McCrea, Tory Hill, Ont., writes:—"My system was all run down when I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was weak and very nervous and felt so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about the house. It seemed impossible for me to get rest or sleep at night, and I felt that I was gradually growing weaker and more nervous and irritable. Since beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel altogether different. It has gradually strengthened my nerves and built up my system wonderfully. I sleep well now, and am being thoroughly restored to health and strength. I believe it is the best medicine to be had for the nerves."

and turn a deaf ear to them. Jews could do nothing where Scots did well. They had more patience than Americans, and were just as shrewd. An American got tired or restless and then went off. A Scot stood his ground and succeeded. This Russian thought the Scotch the most brainy race he knew. There was no race that could live on so little. Their not being the slaves of their stomachs gave them the advantage of the English and of the Americans, who must have "square" meals, as at their own hotels and boarding-houses. — Paris Correspondence London Truth.

A PRINCELY TEAM.

Towering Proboscideans and Double-Humped Camels in Silk and Silver Harness.

Caesar made many triumphal entries into Rome, and taxed to the utmost the ingenuity of the gentlemen who got up his ladder entrances to provide new ideas for him. He entered with kings hitched with golden chains to his chariots, drawing him through the Via This or That to his palace, and was sometimes borne by chariots of glorious Roma; but never even in his triumphal entries did he or could he have been drawn by great teams of ponderous proboscideans and huge double-humped camels, as are many of the golden chariots seen in The Great Pan-American Shows marvelous street parade, and not one, but many teams of elephants and camels drawing golden chariots, while caparisoned beyond comparison in silk and silver-mounted harness, and bearing in the chariots the exalted rulers of the arenic world—the world's champions and the big shows stars.

The Pan-American Shows will positively exhibit at Woodstock on Monday, July 22nd.

Natural Disadvantages.

"Taking into consideration the things Sharp has had to contend against, I think his success as a lawyer has been remarkable."

"Why what did he ever have to contend against?"

"Everything. He came of a wealthy family. He didn't have to work his way through college. He never studied by the light of a pine torch, never had to drive a dray, never walked six miles to school and wasn't compelled to borrow his books. He had every possible facility, and yet he has done well from the very start."—Chicago Tribune.

NINE BOILS.

FOUR RUNNING SORES.

The T. Milburn Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Some time ago my blood got out of order and nine large boils appeared on my neck, besides numerous small ones on my shoulders and arms. Four running sores appeared on my foot and leg and I was in a terrible state. A friend advised Burdock Blood Bitters, so I procured three bottles. After finishing the first bottle the boils started to disappear and the sores to heal up. After taking the third bottle there was not a boil or sore to be seen. Besides this, the headaches from which I suffered left me and I improved so much that I am now strong and robust again.

Hog and Dairy Products.

The last issue of the Monetary Times says: The provision market is in a very strong position just now. Stocks are running light and packers do not care to sell ahead, as they look for still higher prices a little later on.

A good demand exists for all lines of smoked meats and lard; indeed, with regard to the latter article, it is almost impossible to keep the demand supplied at all; it goes out just as fast as it comes in. Many houses, we find, are carrying orders to be filled at open prices.

Of butter, the receipts during the past few days have been fairly liberal, but prices have been well maintained. There has been considerable export enquiry, but not very many actual sales reported, as prices would seem, especially in dairy butter, to be a little above the present ideas of importers. We note with satisfaction, from latest advices to hand, that the quality of Canadian butter now being received in the Old Country has been improving, and that it is now giving general satisfaction. Some of the fancy brands, it is stated, were selling at 100s. to 102s., or a little more in some cases, in London. We understand that the creameries are selling their output as soon as they make it, at full prices. The make still continues large.

Cheese, during the past week, has been somewhat on the quiet side. At a number of the boards it was impossible to sell at former prices, and factory-men did not care to accept less. We are still of the opinion, stated in last issue, that lower prices are likely to prevail. All exporters claim that present prices in cheese are dangerous, and they are now only taking enough to fill orders.

On eggs the hot weather of the past week is having its effect. The losses "off" and from bad eggs are now very heavy, and the quality even of the "good" is not satisfactory. Although the prices on this market have been firmer during the last week or ten days, yet many of the large dealers think they cannot be maintained for very long.

A Tariff War.

Once more Sir John Macdonald's trade policy, between Canada and the United States, reciprocity in free imports, or reciprocity in tariffs, finds voice. This time it is the voice of Mr. John Charlton. We must remember, however, that Sir John himself never carried out this policy, but contented himself with a tariff which was far from being a replica of that of the United States. Mr. Charlton speaks with some authority, but his authority is not equal to that of his prototype. The Globe proposes a substitute in the free importation of American raw material, and mentions in this connection leaf tobacco, forgetting that the Canadian tobacco growers clamor for protection as well as the tobacco manufacturers, and that they forced the government to put a duty on foreign tobacco leaf. Another journal has recklessly proposed a 50 per cent. tariff; which the Globe remarks, "would leave the consumer entirely at the mercy of the Canadian manufacturer." To increase the dose of protection, as a remedy for all international maladies, has a simple look; but a 50 per cent. tariff is a dose that would often prove fatal to the enforced buyer of the protected goods. All foreign countries have a right to complain of the tariff system of the United States, which enables American manufacturers to send goods abroad without regard to the cost of production. Selling goods in foreign countries below cost is commercial war, which in whatever form would certainly justify reprisals. If we should be forced into a game of cross-purposes between our tariff and that of the United States, we can raise our rates to any desired height, without increasing the present degree of protection, by simply adding a counterwriting excise tax in less figures than those of the custom's tariff. But even then we should find ourselves face-to-face with the ubiquitous smuggler.—The Monetary Times.

The Bookseller's Rare Chance.

There was an amusing incident in connection with the late Duke of Edinburgh's Australian tour. He accepted an invitation to visit a wealthy squatter, on whose estate excellent shooting was to be had. The squatter was a self-made man, entirely unencumbered with book learning and absolutely innocent of reading tastes. In making preparations for the Duke's visit, it was suddenly discovered that the library had been completely overlooked. There was no time to be lost, and so the squatter sat down and dispatched the following telegram to the leading Melbourne bookseller: "Send me one ton of books. Immediate delivery." The bookseller was staggered at the receipt of such a wholesale and unconventional order, but as the signature of the sender would be honored by any Melbourne bank on a check for six figures, he kept his staff working on the job until the small hours of the morning, and the ton of miscellaneous literature was happily shelved before the arrival of the Duke.—[London Chronicle.

Dreadful Kidney Pains. Could Not Rest or Sleep.

A C. P. R. Conductor's Sufferings—He is Now Well and Gives Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Credit for the Cure.

Mr. W. E. Berryman, Conductor on the C.P.R., St. Stephen, N.B., writes:—"I have been railroading for 23 years, and for ten years suffered from a severe case of Kidney Disease and Backache, a trouble common to railroad men. It used me all up to walk, and after walking up hill I would have to lie down to get relief, my back was so bad. I could not sleep more than half the night and then didn't seem to get any rest. I had used all sorts of medicines and was pretty badly discouraged when I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. After using two boxes of this treatment I found it was helping me and five boxes have made a complete cure. I now rest and sleep well, my back is strong and the old trouble has entirely disappeared. Many people to whom I have recommended these pills have been cured. Anyone wishing further particulars write me." The sale of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills far exceeds that of any similar remedy. One trial is enough to convince anyone that this is the greatest family medicine that money will buy. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
