London and Paris: A Contrast.

The contrast presented by Paris and London are rather amusingly put by Felix Pejat, in the "Matin," of the former city. He says: "Paris does most things with the right hand or at the sight side; London follows the left."

"Parisian coachmen keep to the right, those of London to the left."

"Paris grows by absorption, London by expansion."

"Paris is built of stone, London of brick."

"Paris has high houses and narrow streets, London's buildings are low and its streets wide."

"The windows of Paris open like door, those of London a la guillotine."

"Paris is collectivistic, it dwells in houses which are really caravansaries; London is individualistic, each family having its own house."

"Paris has its portier London its night-key."

"Paris gets up early from its bed, which is against the wall; London arises late from its bed, which is in the center of the room."

"Paris dines, London eats."

"London, said Voltaire, has one hundred religions and but one sauce; Paris has one hundred sauces and no religion at all."

"Paris is gay, London sad."

"London has too few soldiers, Paris too many. The soldier in Paris wears a blue tunic and red pantaloons, while the London man-of-war is clad in a red coat and blue trousers."

"In Paris priests perform the marriage rites; in London they marry themselves."

"In Paris the married women are free; in London when a woman marries she ceases to be."

"Paris has more suicides, London more homicides."

"Paris works, London traffics."

"In Paris the street crowds fight by kicks, in London by blows of the fist."

The proletariat of Paris refers to the pawnshop as 'My aunt,' while in London they say 'My uncle.'

You Can Make This Test

You can find out if the kidneys are clogged, deranged and diseased. Have you backache or a weak, lame back? Do you have pain or difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate? Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for 24 hours? If you have any of these symptoms not a moment should be lost in obtaining Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the world's greatest kidney cure. One pill a dose, 25c a box.

He Deserved a Pass.

An excellent story is told of a certain prominent railway director who is equally renowned for his ability to make or take a joke. An employee, whose home is in the country, applied to him for a pass to visit his family.

"You are the employ of the company?" inquired the gentleman alluded to.

"Yes."

"You receive your pay regularly?"

"Well, now, suppose you was working for a farmer, instead of the company, would you expect your employer to take out his horse every Saturday night and carry you home?"

This seemed a poser, but it wasn't.

"No," said the man, promptly, "I would not expect that; but if the farmer had his horse out and was going my way, I would call him a very mean fellow if he would not let me ride."

The employe came out three minutes after with a pass good for twelve months.

How a Sprain Does Hurt!

But it isn't the pain alone that is dreaded, just think of the loss of time and wages. Sprains without number have been cured by rubbing Polson's Nerviline well into the pores of the skin surrounding the joint. No matter whether it is a sprained wrist, ankle, knee or back, just try Nerviline on it, and see how quickly it will cure. There is only one liniment that can be depended upon to cure sprains, strains and swellings, and that is Polson's Nerviline. Large bottle 25 cents.

Then the M. P. Passed On.

A good story is just now going round about a certain well-known politician. For a long time he has been in the habit of buying an evening paper in Westminster on his way to the House, and usually from the same newspaper boy. One evening, however, by some chance he had not with him the necessary penny for his accustomed purchase, and intimated as much to the youthful news vendor.

"Never mind," replied the other, "you can pay me for it to-morrow."

"But, my boy," said the M. P., solemnly, "perhaps I may not be alive to-morrow."

"Well," answered the boy, simply, "if that is so, it will be no great loss, after all."

The legislator looked at him, gasped, and passed on in silence.

BENTLEY'S is the best Liniment.

Husbands—Don't Let Your Wives See This.

"Maria," he said, as he entered the house, speaking before his wife had time to say a word, "this house is in an awful condition."

"Why, Henry—" she began.

"Don't try to excuse yourself," he interrupted. "Look at this room! I was going to bring a friend home with me, but I refrained for fear that the house would be just in the condition that I find it in."

"If you had sent word, Henry."

People Who Have Used It

Say that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine affords wonderfully prompt relief for coughs and colds. Everybody has confidence in Dr. Chase, in his great recipe book and famous family remedies. They have learned by experience that it says to insist on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine instead of accepting the various unscientific "mix-ups" which some druggists offer as "just as good."

Dr. Chase's Syrup

"Sent word, Maria! Why should I have to send word? Why should anyone who claims to be a housekeeper have to be notified so that she can scurry about and make things look respectable? And that gown, Maria! Its outrageous to be dressed in that fashion at this time of day."

"I could have changed it—"

"Oh, of course. You could have done lots of things, but you didn't. You should be ready to entertain your husbands' friends at any time. I suppose the dinner is cold, too."

"It's not so good as it was. You're late, you know."

"Of course; and if I had brought my friend with me he'd have had to sit down to a cold dinner or one that was burned to a cinder, and we should have both felt humiliated and should have had to apologize. It isn't right, Maria! It isn't right at all."

"Really, Henry, I am sorry that you are so much annoyed."

"Well, I wish you would try to do a little better. It's very annoying, very annoying."

And when he had settled himself in his armchair after dinner he chuckled to himself and muttered:—

"George! but I should have got a roasting for being late if I hadn't started in first. It's a great scheme."

INDIGESTION.

Successful Use of Olive Oil for that Disagreeable Malady.

One has only to consider how olive oil is used in the warm parts of Europe where the olive is cultivated and how ghee is used in India in order to satisfy oneself that oily matter may be taken with facility in hot countries as well as in cold. You hear nothing about indigestion in these lands; you find that a bad olive harvest or scant supply of ghee is a great national calamity. A Hindoo servant of a friend who kept up his Indian habits of eating in London has told me that in his own case nothing would make up for a deficiency of ghee or butter, and that his experience in this matter was the common experience of his countrymen at home or away from home. Indeed, it may be taken for granted that oil may be used in large quantities throughout the year in hot, olive growing countries of the south of Europe, not only without making the people bilious or out of order in any way, but with unmistakable benefit.

Dr. Cohnheim at the international medical congress detailed his experience with large doses of olive oil in cases of severe gastric distress. In his first case the young man had suffered from an injury in the gastric region, and it seemed probable that an ulcer had resulted. The pain on eating was so great as to make him avoid food. A wine-glass of olive oil taken before meals gave complete relief. The same remedy was tried in other cases in which stomach discomfort was a prominent symptom. Even in cases of gastric cancer relief was afforded to many symptoms. In cases of pylorus stenosis most satisfactory results were secured as far as the alleviation of symptoms was concerned. Cohnheim has treated 12 cases of gastric catarrh by this method with uniformly good results whenever the patients bore the oil well. Patients who had lost so much in weight as to appear almost cachectic began immediately to gain in weight and within a couple of months had gained from 15 to 30 pounds.

Professor Mathieu of Paris said that in certain part of the country, both of Germany and France, olive oil is used as a family remedy for all stomach pains and has a high reputation. In his practice at the Hospital Audral Dr. Mathieu has often used this remedy and knows how efficient it is where less simple remedies have failed. He recommends it with confidence, despite the fact that it is a popular hygienic rather than a drug medicine.—Dr. M. L. Holbrook in Health Magazine.

Diseases of Children

Measles, Scarlet Fever and the many exhausting diseases of childhood, frequently leave the little sufferers in a weakened and debilitated condition of health from which it is difficult to rescue them except by the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This preparation is admirably suited to the requirements of children, and has such an invigorating and restorative influence on the system as to make weak, puny children healthy, plump and active.

A Duke's Escape.

The custom of deceiving people on the first of April and then calling them April fools was once more general than it is now, and on one occasion it was turned to good account. Francis, Duke of Lorraine, and his wife were imprisoned at Nantes. On the first of April they planned to make their escape. Disguised as peasants—he with a hood on his shoulders and she with a basket of rubbish on her back—they passed through the gates of the city. As they did so a woman recognized them, and, running to the guard, told the sentry who they were. "April fool!" cried the soldier, and all the guards laughed and shouted: "April fool, mother!" The story was told the Governor as a joke, and he laughed, too. Soon, however, it was discovered that the woman told the truth, but by that time the fugitives were well on their way. The first of April saved them.—London Chronicle.

Her First Lesson.

She was glancing over the new cook book. "Here is a splendid receipt, Arthur," she said, moving over towards his chair. "Who is the author?" he asked, thinking all the time that she was reading a novel. "Charlotte Russe. That is the name about the recipe."—Chicago News.

A Catarrh Specialist

Mr. James Spence, Clachan, Ont., says:—"I have been a sufferer from catarrh for 15 years, which became chronic. I have spent a lot of money and consulted several doctors, among others a specialist in London. I have tried everything I could hear of or see advertised without doing me any good. But, thanks to Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, I am completely cured after using three boxes of it. I recommend it to anyone suffering from catarrh."

"Please don't drag my name in print in connection with this absurd affair," cried the indignant citizen to the reporter "but, if you do, be sure to spell it with a final 'e.'"

A POSSIBLE EXPLANATION.—"I wonder why the Struts didn't invite us to their daughter's wedding?"

In Distress With Eczema

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Delhi, Norfolk County Ont., writes as follows:—"I was troubled with Eczema or Salt Rheum for over twelve years, and during that time doctored with four different physicians, but found that they could only give temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether I have used three boxes and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and can say it is the best I ever used, and in my estimation worth its weight in gold."

The keen misery which many endure from the tortures of skin disease is most appalling, and so much the worse because it is unnecessary. Dr. Chase's Ointment stands alone as the one unfailing remedy for salt rheum, eczema, scald head and every form of itching skin disease. 60 cents a box, at all dealers', or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
