

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE
 SACKACHE LAME BACK RHEUMATISM
 DIABETES BRIGHT'S DISEASE
 DIZZINESS AND ALL KIDNEY & URINARY DISEASES
 ARE CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. I. STEEVES, Edgett's Landing, N.B., writes on Jan. 18, 1901: "In the fall of 1899 I was troubled with a severe pain in the back. I could scarcely get up out of a chair and it gave me great pain to move about. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled with it since."

Prosperous Egypt.

Great as is the prosperity of Egypt to-day, it is as nothing compared with the prosperity to which Lord Cromer and Sir William Garstin look forward in the future as the result of the railway and irrigation schemes that are in progress or projected. Some time next year the great dams at Assuan and Assiut will be completed, and the waters of the Nile stored in the immense reservoirs there constructed, will enable vast areas of land to be cropped twice, which now only bear one crop precariously or are barren. One thousand millions of cubic metres of water will be stored; but 3,000 or 4,000 millions could be advantageously used, and the question is now raised whether this should be procured by making another dam higher up near the second or third cataract, or whether one of the great lakes should be turned into a reservoir for both Egypt and the Soudan, so that the latter might benefit as well as the former. After an interesting comparison of the respective advantages and disadvantages of the lakes on the White and Blue Nile, Sir William Garstin expresses his personal preference for Lake Tsana, in Abyssinia, the source of the Blue Nile. It would, of course, be necessary to obtain the consent of the Emperor Menelik before interfering with a portion of his territory, but if he proved obdurate the next best scheme would be to construct a storage reservoir at Lake Albert Nyanza. In either case the swamps of the Upper Nile must be got rid of, so far as they can be, by embanking the Bahr-el-Gebel or one of the other streams through which the water passes and is now largely wasted. Nothing, however, need be decided or done in the immediate present, except that a railway from Khartoum to a seaport on the Red Sea is essential to the development of the Soudan. Sir William Garstin cautions us against too sanguine a view of the prospects of the Soudan. The country wants some years of peace and good government before it will recover from the ravages of war and Mahdism.—Christian World.

How To Get People To Marry.
 From The Philadelphia Record.

How to get people to marry is a more important question than how to get people to church. Whatever may be said by mendacious satirists it is a fact of everyday observation that young men and women do not marry. Within the range of everybody's acquaintance there is an appalling number of single persons. Well-to-do young men with bright business prospects, and whose average income would support an economical wife and family, no longer consider it a matter of course to marry at 21 or at any other age short of 40. For them there are charming bachelor apartments, comfortable clubs, self-adjusting buttons and whatever they may wish to enable them to dispense with the traditional domestic establishment. The object of the most young men is commercial success, which they have been deluded into thinking is less easy to achieve with a wife. The commercial spirit rules and has driven out romance.

In an accidental manner it has been revealed that if young men and women be brought into contact in circumstances which are favorable to loving their natural humanity will find expression and all the commercial barriers will fall away. Aboard the transport Thomas, during its latest voyage from San Francisco, were three hundred young men and 100 young women, all single who have been selected as teachers for the Philippines. There was a long voyage ahead of them; there was ample leisure and no immediate duty other than to find entertainment. In a few days a young man interviewed the captain to learn whether there was a person aboard, or anyone who had authority to perform the marriage ceremony. He was told to wait until they should reach Honolulu. The next day another asked a like question; and the next, another. Lovemaking and the demand for a parson became epidemic. One of the officers of the boat has reported that there were not private nooks and corners enough for the couples who wanted to "spoon." Behind the smokestack and the chicken-coops, in the spaces among the cargo, and wherever two persons might partly screen themselves could be found couples who had much to say to each other and nothing to anybody else.

So contagious was the madness that some of the teachers locked themselves in their staterooms to escape infection. This means not only failed, but became a source of grief. At Honolulu it was found that 60 hearts were beating as 30. The lovers moved in procession to the nearest church, where, as soon as the preacher recovered from the shock, they were married. While the hymeneal operation was in progress those who had locked themselves in their rooms thought it would be safe to go on deck for a view of the place; but by the time the procession returned to the ship the matrimonial microbes had got in their work on those who were aboard and a wild cry went up for the preacher. When the captain announced his purpose to depart at once there was riot among the unmarried lovers who faced the dismal prospect of singleness until they should reach Manila. It is safe to say that every young woman teacher on board the Thomas who was not married at Honolulu has pledged her troth, and that the 200 surplus young men will kneel to the first petticoats they shall see at Manila.

This experience clearly proves that most young men and women need only opportunity—real opportunity—in order to fall in love and marry.

AGONIES OF RHEUMATISM BANISHED BY Paine's Celery Compound

THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT CAN SAVE PAIN-RACKED SUFFERERS.

A Marvellous Cure After Use of Seven Bottles of the Great Compound.

Paine's Celery Compound, has absolute proofs that it has effected complete cures in 97 per cent. of the cases of rheumatism in which it has been used. The worst sufferer is healed, crutches thrown away, and the poor cripple of yesterday becomes the vigorous man or woman of today. Mr. William Morissette, of Roxton Pond, Que., writes thus:

"Having been given up to die some time ago by some of the best doctors in the United States, I came to Canada last autumn terribly ill, and had lost all hope. Suffering agonies from inflammatory rheumatism, I was strongly urged to use Paine's Celery Compound. I gave it a trial as recommended, and the first bottle did me so much good I continued with the medicine until I had used seven bottles, when I found myself perfectly cured; indeed, I never felt better in all my life than at present. I use every possible means to tell others of Paine's Celery Compound, and will always recommend it to those troubled with rheumatism."

An Incident on Active Service.

A Glasgow Volunteer, now in South Africa, in an interesting letter tells how he got a meal while his regiment was on a forced march with little or no rations.

Orders were very strict against foraging, but in spite of all, his empty stomach could not resist the temptations when he saw a fat gobbler standing among the shrubs on the roadside.

Out of the ranks he suddenly darted in pursuit of the turkey. The major cried out, angrily, "Halt! What do you mean? Halt!"

A few hurried steps and the hungry Volunteer laid the turkey low with a blow from his rifle-barrel.

"There, bubbly-jock!" exclaimed, as he picked it up, "I reckon you'll understand that when the major says 'halt' he means halt."

Needless to add, military discipline was somewhat relaxed on this occasion.

Sore Throat and Hoarseness with their attendant dangers may be speedily averted and remedied by the use of Polson's Nerviline. Excellent to gargle with—ten times better than a mustard plaster, and more convenient for the outside. Nerviline penetrates the tissues instantly, soothes the pain, allays inflammation, and cures sore throat and hoarseness simply because that's what it is made for. The large 25 cent bottle of Nerviline is unexcelled as a household liniment. It cures everything.

Fresh Eggs.

An amusing story is told of a falling-out between a grocer and a lady. The lady was one of the fussy and long-winded customers—fortunately not very numerous—who try the patience of shopkeepers, and the grocer, on this particular occasion, was perhaps suffering from an attack of dyspepsia. As everyone knows, grocers in general are models of patience and politeness.

"Are those eggs fresh?" the lady asked, in a provokingly suspicious tone.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the grocer.

"You are quite sure?"

"You can depend upon it, ma'am. I wouldn't say they were fresh if they weren't,"

"There were three bad ones in those I bought the other day."

"You won't find any of these that way."

The lady took time to consider. Then she began again:

"Now, you say you are positive that they are perfectly fresh?"

"That's what I said, ma'am."

"You'll take back the bad ones if I find any, won't you?"

"You must take them just as they come."

"You'll warrant that there are no bad ones among them, won't you?"

"No, ma'am, I won't. I'd warrant them when you came in, but they've grown old since then. You can't expect eggs to last for ever, ma'am, and another thing—"

But the lady waited to hear no more. The door slammed and the bargain was off.

At the Change of Life

This trying period in woman's life usually comes between the ages of forty and fifty years and is marked by irritability, headache, dizziness, irregular monthly, fitful appetite, forebodings of evil, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is above all a woman's medicine because it helps her safely through this trying period. It enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the functions of the feminine organs and tones and invigorates the whole body.

Limewater.

Limewater has so many uses it is hard to classify. It is good to soften water, to sweeten drains, to keep milk vessels wholesome, to make milk itself sit well upon delicate stomachs, to test air for excess of carbonic acid—if there is too much carbonic acid present, the clear limewater instantly crusts over—to take out marks left by grease spots which have been removed by stronger alkalis—in fact, for so many things it should always be kept on hand. Mixed with either sweet or linseed oil to a creamy consistence, it is the very best household remedy for burns and scalds.

It costs practically no more than the trouble of making. Put a lump of quicklime as big as the two fists in a clean earthen pitcher, cover it six inches deep with clean cold water stir with a wooden spoon and let it stand six hours. Pour off the clear liquid without disturbing the lime, but let it run through double cheesecloth. Put in small bottles and cork tight. In using always pour off half an inch from the top of a bottle that has stood.

The Asthmatic's Agony.

Wakeful nights, suffocating sensations, difficult breathing. Who can describe it? This disease, partly nervous, partly congestive, partly the result of microbic irritation, is no longer treated by nauseous stomach destroying drugs, but by Catarrhazone, that destroys the microbe, relieves congestion and relaxes the nervous irritability that renders breathing so difficult. The medication is carried by the air you breathe to the very seat of the disease, and removes at once the cause. The great discovery is known as Catarrhazone. Its influence upon Asthma is simply marvellous. Catarrhazone prevents as well as cures, and is the only remedy made to cure. Your money back if it fails. Two sizes at all dealers, 25c. and $1.00.
