A Man's Way of Bathing a Baby.
In learning to properly bathe a baby it is always well to start with a small one, and gradually increase the size until thoroughly proficient.
Have the water in the tub at a temperature of about 212 degrees. This will preclude all possibility of the sudden chill so dangerous to childhood, besides insuring absolute cleanliness. Before going further I cannot impress too strongly in the minds of young mothers one thing: Never, under any circumstances, use cheap soap.
Cheap soaps tend to shrink babies. Many an otherwise happy woman is pining away with a bunch of shrunken children about her that could have been brought to full size by the expenditure of a few extra pence.
Don't economize in this way. If you do you'll regret it.
Have all the articles to be used in the bath placed near the tub so that they can be reached without rising.
A bottle of ammonia.
A pony currycomb.
One sheet of finest sandpaper.
A file.
Also have handy a bottle of naphtha or benzine to remove any stain that will not readily yield to the ordinary methods.
Place the child to be washed face downwards on the knees and remove, first his stockings, then his shoes, then his trousers, and finally his coat and vest, leaving these until the last, as they help to protect his little lungs. Toss the child into the tub and allow him to remain there about an hour.
This is the first step.
Now soap him thoroughly and, taking the file in the left hand and the sandpaper in the right, rub him briskly, beginning at the neck and working down towards the feet, finishing with the currycomb.
Dry with an old square of carpet.

It Strikes the Heart
Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Too Great a Risk.
"I'm going to give up the business," said a life insurance agent with a sigh, whom the Detroit "Free Press" encountered. I don't care whether they meant it for a joke or not. It's a hard life, and people have no business try to be funny at my expense.
"I have always prided myself upon my ability to land a man when once I succeed in getting his attention. But I had a new experience the other day. I was working hard to convince a party that it was his duty to take out some of our insurance upon his life for the protection of his family, and I saw that I had him wavering, when I had to pause for breath, and he broke in with:
"By the way, how much do you carry on your life?"
"While I, taken unaware by the abruptness of the question, was stammering a reply, he escaped. The incident set me to thinking. I had induced hundreds of men to insure their lives for the benefit of their families, and yet I had never thought far enough to carry any insurance upon my own life. It didn't look consistent, now that I had come to consider the question, and I resolved to remedy it at once. To think is to act with me, and I sat down and filled out an application at once for a good round sum.
"I got the application back today marked, 'Refused—occupation too dangerous.' The next paper they get from me will be my resignation!"

Kissing and Non-Kissing Families.
The New York "Sun" says that kissing among relatives goes by families, and it is quite true that certain house-holds are known to all their friends as "great kissers." The members, men, women and children, kiss each other the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night, and on any other occasion that they consider sufficiently emotional.
Still one may go too far the other way. A woman who came of a kissing family married a man who came of non-kissing stock. At one time her husband went to the railway station to meet a son who had been absent from home for two years, and on his return the wife said:
"What did you do when you first saw Jack? Did you kiss him?"
"N-no," faltered the husband and father, "of course I didn't kiss him."
"I'll tell you what he said to me," volunteered the son. "He said: 'Well, Jack, was your train on time?'"

A Nice Bill of Expenses.
Counting the cost is never pleasant unless one can find abstract joy in figures. Our new experiences are full of big totals.
For instance, the Philippine bill already includes several hundred millions of dollars, and, according to the official figures since the first troops were sent to Manila, the following: killed or died from wounds, officers, 30, enlisted men, 1000; died of disease, officers,

Nervous Headache, Brain Fag, Dyspepsia.
The Sufferings of a Business Man Overcome by Worry and Exhausting Brain Work—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cures.
Sick, nervous headache and nervous dyspepsia or indigestion are usually found together, and have a common cause in an exhausted condition of the nerves. Modern headache powders are simply narcotics that deaden the afflicted nerves. They are harmful and frequently dangerous. The only way to effect a thorough cure is to restore the nerves by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
Mr. Joseph Geroux, 22 Metcalf street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—
"I was nervous, had headache and brain fag. I was restless at night and could not sleep. My appetite was poor, and I suffered from nervous dyspepsia. Little business cares worried and irritated me. After having used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for about two months, I can frankly say that I feel like a new man. My appetite is good, I rest and sleep well, and this treatment has strengthened me wonderfully. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is certainly the best medicine I ever used, and I say so because I want to give full credit where it is due."
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box; 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Just how long pensions may continue is illustrated by the fact that there are still four widows of Revolutionary soldiers on the roll. According to the same continuance and considering that the average of life is increasing, this government may be paying pensions on account of the Spanish War as late as 2018. It will not be for any lack of applications, which already number over 44,000, of which nearly 4000 have been granted. And the Revolutionary wards are not the only ones with long lives, for within the past year two widows of the War of 1812 and 325 widows of the Mexican War were added to the list, which already calls for $145,000,000.
But an era of prosperity is not the time for pessimism, and it is always possible to find comfort in comparison. For instance, Great Britain's official loan account for war in less than the past three years already exceeds the enormous sum of £153,317,000, or more than $750,000,000. In that, at least, John Bull does beat Uncle Sam.—Saturday Evening Post.

"You don't mean to say you've left old Krusty's employ?"
"Yes, he made a certain remark in my hearing that made it simply impossible for me to remain there any longer."
"Really? What did he say?"
"He said, 'Get your pay, and get out of here.'"
—Waverley Magazine.

Said the melancholy man: "Do you ever look back on your life and reflect on the opportunities you have missed?" "No, sir," answered the hustler. "It would be just my luck to miss some more while I was brooding over what can't be helped."
—Waverley Magazine.

"And did you find the Chinese a brave nation?" we asked of the returned soldier. "Indeed," he replied, casting a sidelong glance at the wagonful of loot which was being unloaded, "they were foemen worthy of our steel."
—Baltimore "American."

I could scarcely get up out of a chair and it gave me great pain to move about. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled with it since."

The Daily Attire.
(Ladies' Magazine for July.)
That a husband of long stand cares a great deal about the daily attire of his wife found an illustration that is both striking and funny in a lawsuit some years ago. The aggrieved husband, writing to the father of his wife, says: "You would bless yourself if you were to see the figure Henrietta makes of herself in the morning, generally till between two and three o'clock. It consists of an old plaid dressing gown, extremely dirty and with several holes burnt in it. In this disgusting costume she came to breakfast one morning when my brother Robert was with me. She does not often wear the gowns you had the kindness to give her, her favourite dress being an old red gown not remarkably clean which is my aversion." This with other annoyances, combined to make him feel it impossible to live with her.
There are some fashions so sensible and indicative of refinement and right feeling that no one can help approving of them. Such a fashion is that one now popular of mending dresses especially dainty and becoming for home wear. To find the mistress of the house arrayed in one of these pretty gowns (it is by no means essential that they be expensive), stands for a good deal more than the single fact that she is in the fashion it presupposes a well ordered house, cleanliness, which means health and happiness and a laudable desire to be admired by her husband and children.
The effect upon manners alone is worth far more than the cost of the dress. Every mother who reads this knows what sincere pleasure lights up the face of her child when she is in the best attire.
"Mamma," said a little boy between two and three years old, as they were starting out for a walk, "put on your other bonnet, the booful one."
He sat down on the doorstep, while she stood debating in her mind whether any principle of good discipline would be infringed by so doing. She came to the wise conclusion that there would not, and was rewarded by the loving child, who put his little hand into hers and said "oo dear mamma," and trudged contentedly along by her side wherever she led.

Some Scotch Examination Papers.
London "Chronicle."
A correspondent proposes the following questions for the next matriculation examination at the Scotch universities: First—Geography—Draw a map of the United States, marking London, Glasgow and Birmingham. Second—Rule of Three—If a man does a piece of work in four days, how much quicker will an American do it at half the salary? Third—Political Economy—The Yankee millionaires over here state they "feel as if this were their own country." The German Emperor, when last visiting us, declared he felt "perfectly at home." Account for this. Fourth—History—Write a note on the invasions of Great Britain and the rebellion and subsequent subjugation of the Angles. Give dates of the accessions of Yerkes I, Sloan, Morgan the Contractor, and the other conquerors; also of the beatification of St. Carnegie. Say what you know of any of these. Fifth—Trade Problem—You are an English manufacturer. An extensive order is received for locomotives for a trans-African railway. Which would you do—demand an entire alteration of the railway to fit the six locomotives you have in stock, or recommend an American revival? Sixth—Travel—You are an American millionaire traveling for recreation. Which would you take back with you as souvenir—London or Paris? State your reasons for preferring one of these trinkets.

Beet Sugar Experiments at the Industrial.
Prof. Shuttleworth, who has charge of the experimental beet sugar plots that are being grown under the direction of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, will make an interesting exhibit at the Toronto Industrial. At this exhibition there will be shown a model beet sugar plot, together with all the necessary implements used in the cultivation of the sugar beet. A third of the lot was planted early in May, and at the exhibition season the beets in this portion will be shown in full growth. Another third was planted last week, and the beets will be shown at the exhibition standing in rows, giving the distance which every beet should occupy. The remaining third, which will be planted in a few days, will be shown at the exhibition with the beets standing thickly together in rows, and a demonstration will be made as to how the beets should be thinned out to show the best returns in saccharine matter. Some of the beets grown on the regular plots will also be tested at the exhibition to show their sugar contents. It is anticipated that hundreds of farmers will attend these demonstrations.

Rheumatic-warped Limbs, Pain and Suffering.
Not a Trace of Rheumatism Left After Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.
If you are a sufferer from rheumatism it is possible that you have tried many remedies without reaping much benefit. Judging from the number of cures that have been reported, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills must be about the best medicine obtainable for rheumatism. It cures thoroughly, by ridding the blood of uric acid poisons, the cause of rheumatism and severe body pains.
Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes: "I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left, and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness, which formerly attacked me frequently."
Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a larger sale by far than any similar remedy. They cure when others disappoint. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.
