

KIDNEY DISEASE FOR TEN YEARS.

A Glen Miller Man's Terrible Trial.

He Found a Cure at Last in Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. P. M. Burk, who is a well-known resident of Glen Miller, Hastings Co., Ont., was afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years.

So pleased is he at having found in Doan's Kidney Pills a cure for his ailments, which he had begun to think were incurable, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted may profit by his experience: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for about ten years and have tried several remedies but never received any real benefit until I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and milky looking at times. Since I have finished the third box of Doan's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am not bothered with backache at all and my urine is clear as crystal. I feel confident that these pills are the best kidney specific in the country."

A NICE LINE OF

Parlor and Cook STOVES.

A Fireside Dialogue.

SCENE.—A small room, a cosy fire, two chairs near together, a footstool. On the footstool two large slippers, fully occupied. Behind the slippers a man. In the man's mouth a cigar. In the other chair a woman, thinking.

TIME.—Night.

Sounds of a damp, cold drizzle upon the window panes.

Otherwise silence.

She speaks: George, we need a new carpet for the dining room.

He—M'h'm.

She—Well, we do!

He—I said we did.

A pause.

She—You ought to have a new frock coat.

He—Yessum.

She—You don't seem very enthusiastic over my suggestions.

He—I'm enthusiastic, dear, but I try not to be foolishly optimistic. As to the frock coat, I think I present a pretty warm appearance in the clothes I have on.

She—Why, they are two years old. Everybody knows you in them.

He—Well, I'm no Pat Crowe. I've no reason to desire a disguise.

A pause. He puffs the cigar with an air of contentment.

She—George, is that a good cigar?

He—Not very. Good enough, though. Three-f'r-a-quarter.

She—How many have you smoked today?

He—Three. And two pipes. Sunday, no pipes and four cigars.

A long silence.

She (explosively, with an air of triumph)—It costs you a hundred dollars a year.

He (startled)—What does?

She—Tobacco does. In twenty years, if you didn't smoke, you'd have two thousand dollars, without counting interest.

He—My, that's so! You're an arithmetical prodigy, my dear. But old Jenkins hasn't smoked for sixty years and he hasn't got thirty cents.

She—I do wish you'd be serious, George. You stopped it altogether for six weeks, and you said you could keep on stopping forever if you wanted to. If you can stop just as well as not, why don't you?

He—It's quite the other way. If I felt that I couldn't stop I'd stop just to prove that I could. It's because I can stop that I don't feel the need of stopping.

She (with delicate sarcasm)—How logical men are, aren't they, dear? So much more so than women!

He—Being logical outside of business hours is a luxury I've managed to dispense with.

She—Well, if you can't be logical, I can, and there's no logic in smoking when you don't need to, and when you need new clothes and can't afford them.

He—No logic, dear, but an awful lot of comfort. Did you ever hear of Byron's famous ode:

Sublime tobacco, that from east to west,
Cheers the tar's labor and the Turkman's rest?

She—Your comparisons are unfortunate, George, dear. The tar is said to have a wife in every port and the Turkman keeps a harem. Besides, I'm sure that Byron is the last poet that anyone could look to for advice on such a subject. You never heard of Longfellow praising tobacco.

He—Well, then, let me tell you what happened during the Santiago campaign. Our soldiers were in the trenches on top of that hill, you know, waiting for Curver to go out, or for Schley to come in, or for Shafter to climb out of his hammock and cheer up, or something. They hadn't a bit of tobacco among them, not even a chew, and they were wet and cold and down on their luck. They believed Spain was going to win.

What do you think happened? On the fourth day a commissary wagon threw off a box of tobacco by mistake, thinking it was a box of that Egan beef. Everybody smoked up. One man was writing his will. When he had smoked for half an hour he tore up his will and wrote a letter to his sweetheart. Matthews was there and he says he never saw such a change in his life. After they got the tobacco if anyone had mentioned the possibility of the Spaniards winning he

To Fill Large Contracts—Good Wages
Easily Earned.

We want a few more workers in this locality, at once, and in order to secure your co-operation without the delay of correspondence, we herewith explain our full plan in this advertisement. The work is simple, and the Machine is easily operated, and with the Guide, requires no teacher. If you wish to join our staff of Workers let us hear from you promptly with the Contract, order form, and remittance, as a guarantee, and we will send machine and outfit to begin work at once.

A Pair in 30 Minutes

OUR METHOD OF DOING BUSINESS

We wish to secure the services of families to do knitting for us in their homes. Our method is the same as adopted in England. We are the introducers of this plan and the largest knitting concern in Canada.

After long experience, we have been able to produce an Automatic Machine by which all kinds of seamless knitting is now done by our Family Machine, thereby enabling anyone of ordinary intelligence to quickly learn to do the work from the instruction Guide. All we require is that you use the machine according to directions. The Machine being made expressly for this purpose, and the operation so simple, it cannot possibly make a mistake in its work. The great demand now is for Bicycle Stockings, Woodmen's Socks, and Motormen's Mittens, and as we are unable to supply the demand, have taken this method of advertising for more help.

The large export trade to the North-west Territories, British Columbia, and the British Colonies, furnishes an unlimited demand for our goods, and, with the combined operation of the many families we are employing, together with the large amount of knitting we are able to turn out, by which we save rents, insurance, interest on capital, etc., enables us to undersell any manufacturers of this class of goods, and we have sale for all the knitting we can have turned out.

The price we pay for finished bicycle stockings is $10.00 per hundred, or at the rate of 10c per pair; woodmen's socks, 5c, and motormen's mittens, 12c a pair. All other work in proportion to size.

The machine can be operated by any one of a family, and at our prices any energetic family should be able to sustain themselves comfortably, and in time be a source of independent comfort.

Our plan is to send out each machine to beginners with a sock or stocking partially knitted, and remaining in the machine ready to be continued, and also enough yarn to knit one pair of sample socks or stockings and a simple and complete instruction Guide, showing how the work is done. When the samples have been finished, and to be done. When you are satisfied, we send a quantity of yarn, which you knit and return likewise when finished. We prepay charges on all work one way, and our workers pay return charges. The work, as we have stated, is simple and rapidly done, the machine having a capacity of ten thousand stitches a minute. We have many persons now in our socks or stockings a day, and where the time of a family is devoted to the work, you can readily see that $15.00 or $20.00 per week can be easily earned.

We furnish our workers all the materials, yarn, etc., free, and everything that is necessary for the work. We are furnishing the machines only for the exclusive use of those desiring to take employment with us, who must, in order to become a member, send us this Contract Order Form, properly signed by them, and at least one good reference, and remittance accordingly, to give us the necessary assurance that the quantities of valuable yarn we may send them to knit will not be wasted or misappropriated. Our interests are mutual, and this confidence must be established if we are to succeed. We guarantee fair dealing and prompt payment for work, so do not ask us to deduct from our terms as we cannot make a distinction with one and not another besides, we are doing an extensive business, and must be governed by business principles.

The manufactured price of the machine is $15, and positively will not be sold to any others than those who will agree to do nothing for us until we have done an amount of work equal to the purchase price, and wish to discontinue, we will take back machine and refund the amount paid for same, after deducting cost of our expense only.

There is a Large Demand by the Trade for this class of work. Our workers can depend upon it year after year, and if you engage with us (whole or spare time) we will keep you supplied with work as long as you do it satisfactorily for us and return it promptly. We entrust our workers with large quantities of valuable yarn, and as we give would have had his head punched. Matthews says if he ever runs a war he will think of tobacco for the soldiers first and rations afterwards.

However, that's not the only tobacco poetry I know. Here's another:

Tobacco is a filthy weed,
And from the devil came the seed;
It soils your pockets, spoils your clothes,
And makes a chimney of your nose.

Also, I know another, a long one, all about the Indian weed, withered quite, green at noon, cut down at night, shows thy decay, all flesh is hay, thus think, then smoke tobacco. I always liked that poem. It's so solemn. It makes you reflect on the shortness of life and on the necessity of getting all your smoking done here.

She—Proceed, do!

He—Thank you, dear. I now come to the evil results of tobacco. Tobacco contains nicotine, a violent poison, so violent that it is said that a drop of it on the end of a dog's tail will kill a man.

She—How could it, you goose?

He—I'm sure I don't know, but I saw in the paper the other day where a league of Frenchmen formed to stamp out the use of tobacco.

She—I didn't think Frenchmen used tobacco.

He—They don't. They smoke cigarettes. Well, this league, as I was saying, performed some experiments. They inoculated three rabbits and a rat with a mild solution of nicotine. Whaddo you think happened?

She—Go on, silly!

He—Well, the moral character of these animals fell off frightfully. It was something fierce. Their Sunday school attendance became irregular and their families were neglected. The paper says that anybody who keeps a rabbit can verify this statement if the rabbit smokes.

She—Sh-h-h! That's the door bell. Why, it's Mr. Matthews. Do come up by the fire, Mr. Matthews, and take that Morris chair. George, give Mr. Matthews a cigar. I do so like to see men contented!—P. M. P. in Syracuse "Post-Standard."

At the Change of Life

This trying period in woman's life usually comes between the ages of forty and fifty and is marked by irritability, headache, dizziness, irregular monthly, fitful appetite, forebodings of evil, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is above all a woman's medicine because it helps her safely through this trying period. It enriches the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the functions of the feminine organs and tones and invigorates the whole body.

The Delirium of Prosperity.

The nation has reached the same stage of development as the young Indian beau when he loves to put on all his beads and feathers and strut before the camp, shouting, "Look! Look! Big man, me." Prosperity during these later years has made us mad. We talk of money. We dream money. We clutch wildly—as a people and as individuals—at show, at position and power. Divorce is a common factor in our daily life; the domestic woman, we think, belongs to a forgotten date back near the flood. The youngest college boy or girl jeers at the Bible and "has doubts" of Christianity. We are Theosophists, Buddhist, Christian Scientists, Agnostics—anything rather than followers of the Nazarene.—Rebecca Harding Davis in the "Independent."

Questions for Women.

Are you weak, nervous, irritable, easily worried and fatigued? Do you dread your daily work and feel like letting your duties go undone? Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will restore your nervous system and send the thrill of new life and energy through the body. It is above all a woman's medicine, as its invigorating influence on the nerves insures regularity in the functions of the bodily organs.

The bridge builder with Stonewall Jackson's army was a rare character, if the following story be true. The Union soldiers, retreating from the valley of Virginia, burned a bridge over the Shenandoah. Jackson, who wanted to pursue, sent for his old bridge builder. "Sir," he said, "you must keep men at work all day and all night, and finish that bridge by tomorrow morning. My engineer shall give you a plan." Old Miles saluted and withdrew. Early the next morning the general sent for Miles again. "Well, sir," said Jackson, "did the engineer give you the plan for the bridge?" "General," said the old man, slowly, "the bridge is done; I don't know whether the picture is or not."
