VOL. 8. NO. 6.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., JULY 10, 1901.

PRICE TWO CENTS

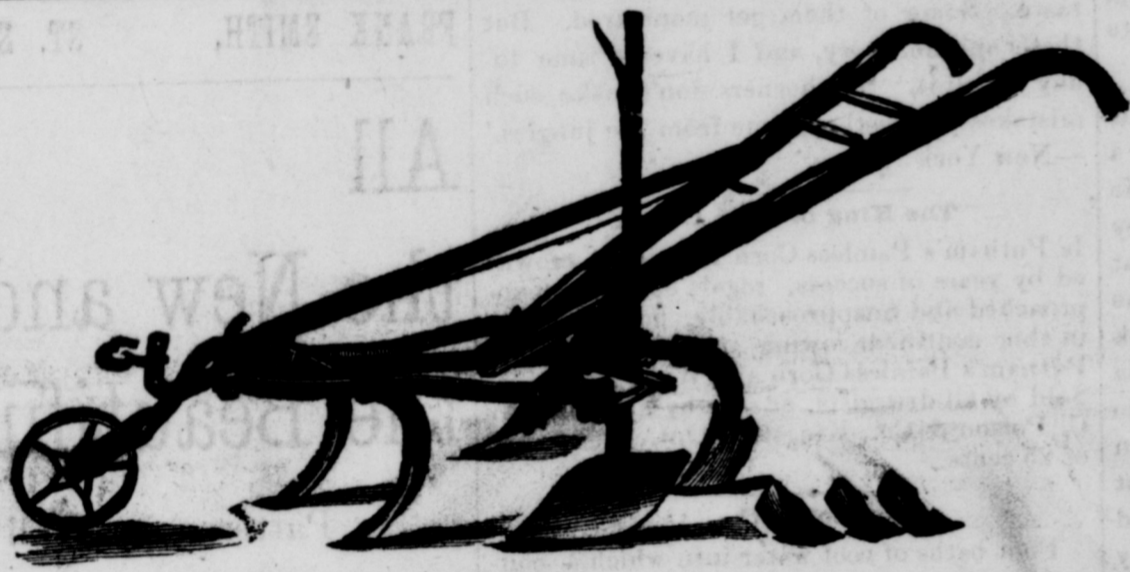

In Blue

BLUE SERGE season now in full blast. We have many different kinds of this popular hot weather cloth to show you when you come in—all good ones—Blue Serge must be good. There is just a suspicion of the military about the cut of Coats this season, only seen however in tailoring clothes, a forerunner of tall styles, which will be more pronounced. Coats are cut either single or double breasted, with a slight fullness at hips. Striped Worsted Trousers instead of Serge if you prefer. Will send you samples and measuring blanks if you write.

A Big Day in Hartland.

Hartland was so full of people on Thursday July 4th that one could hardly see the town. The occasion was the formal opening of the Hartland Bridge.

Among the guests present at the event were Hon. Premier Tweedie, Hon. C. H. LaBillois Chief Commissioner of public works, Hon. H. A. McKeown, H. H. McCain M. P. P. J. K. Flemming M. P. P., Stephen B. Appleby M. P. P. Thomas Lawson M. P. P. and press representatives. The village was decorated with bunting and the Hartland band furnished music. On the arrival of the express a long procession was formed and the members of the government were driven about the village, across the bridge and down to Victoria Corner and back. In the procession the members of the government some of the members of the Legislature President McCormack of the Bridge Company and other members of the Company, Sheriff Hayward and Mr. Stevens of the Advertiser occupied a large buckboard just behind the band. The Companion Court of Forrester of Hartland had a carriage, artistically decorated, filled with young ladies, and some members of the W. C. T. U. followed them in a decorated carriage. The whole procession was led by a large party of young girls, gaily dressed, riding on wheels. S. S. Miller, mounted on a big horse, acted as marshal and director of ceremonies.

On the return of the procession the members of the Government were presented with an address by Thane M. Jones, Barrister, on behalf of the people of Hartland. Addresses were made by the members of the Government and other guests. The whole thing passed off pleasantly; political questions were studiously avoided, and the greatest good feeling was preserved. Later in the afternoon the committee of the Celebration entertained their guests at a supper at the Baptist tea meeting that was in progress.

Death of the Rev. Thomas Todd.

In the death of the Rev. Thomas Todd on Friday morning there passed away one of the best known ministers of the Baptist denomination in New Brunswick. Mr. Todd's death was very sudden, on Thursday afternoon he was about town, apparently in good health and certainly in good spirits, greeting his friends in his usual cheerful manner. That night he was taken ill with peritonitis and on Friday morning he passed away.

Mr. Todd was born in Ireland and at an early age he came to New Brunswick for a time he engaged in mercantile pursuits, having been a clerk in a St. John bank for some years. Later in life he attended the Baptist Seminary at Fredericton from which institution he graduated with a good record. After this he entered the ministry of the Baptist denomination. About 43 years ago he married Miss Chaffiner, daughter of Col. Chaffiner, of Nova Scotia. He leaves a widow, one son the Rev. F. S. Todd, of Brunswick, Me., and two grandsons one of whom is Dr. Todd, of Brunswick, Me., who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral, which took place on Sunday afternoon was largely attended. The service was performed by the Rev. W. S. Martin assisted by the Rev. J. A. Cahill. The pall bearers were, Stephen B. Appleby, the Rev. H. D. Marr, the Rev. J. W. Clark and the Rev. B. Colpitts.

Death of Mrs. Van Wart.

The news of the death of Mrs. Nettie Ethelinda, wife of Lemuel Van Wart, was a shock to the people of Woodstock. Mrs. Van Wart had been ill about a month. An operation was performed on Monday July 1st, from which it was expected she would recover, but on Wednesday morning about three o'clock she expired. She was the youngest daughter of the late Alanson Payson. She leaves a husband two sisters, Mrs. (Dr.) Camber and Mrs. J. T. Collins and three brothers, Samuel Payson, of Hallowell, Me., George Payson, of Boston and H. N. Payson, of Woodstock. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Clark assisted by the Rev. H. D. Marr. The pall bearers were Dr. Sprague, W. Fisher, Arthur Bailey and R. E. Holyoke.

This is Not a Hint.

Subscribers who are in arrears on their subscriptions are requested not to crowd into the office in such large quantities. The floor of this building is not strong and five or six hundred people rushing onto it at once might break it down. However, subscribers who have an intense yearning to pay will be kindly received at the front door and the business manager will not scowl at them if they happen to be more than a year behind.

Red Rose is a pure Indo-Ceylon Tea. Its flavour is delicious.

Rev. H. D. Marr's Farwell.

One of the largest congregations that the Methodist church of this town was ever called on to accommodate, greeted Rev. H. D. Marr, Sunday evening when he entered the pulpit of that church for the last time as its pastor.

The text which Mr. Marr chose for the occasion, was: 11 Cor.; 13 chap: 14 ver.: "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all."

The speaker said "This is a friendly, pastoral, loving, grateful benediction." He referred to the true union of heart as being mystical, spiritual and divine. "There is an inward sigh, a spiritual vision. Light is a faculty of the soul, and communion is a wondrous mystery of the heart." He referred to the Trinity in the text and said we were surrounded by the mystery of Trinity on all sides. "Nature had its trinity as well as theology. We cannot fail to see the mystery of life, co-operation and development." He dealt with the divisions of the text—The Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ—The Love of God—The communion of the Holy Spirit. He said he would like to change the pronoun in the text and make it read "be with us all." For, said he, we want a common blessing; we want a common atmosphere. The minister had no right to stand apart as if dropping or conferring something on the people. He had been conscious of having received the benediction of the congregation, and when he had been most conscious of the support and co-operation of the people, he had been most helpful as a pastor and friend.

"Into some of your lives the pastor has come in such a way and such a time that we somehow feel you will not forget us when the weeks and months shall roll out into long years. But there is another man I would have you think of before me. He is my successor. Be loyal to him. He has years and experience and a matured judgment, but he needs your co-operation. He needs to feel your marshalled strength about him."

These parting days come to us all and while they mean sadness and sorrow now, in the great day when God shall show us what all these changes mean, we shall see and know that it is our father's hand which led us all the way. May grace, mercy and peace abide with us in all our labor, pain, disappointments and joy, and lead us into the cloudless morn of the never ending day."

On Monday evening the members of the Methodist congregation, and a number of clergymen of the town, assembled in the basement of the Methodist church to say farewell to Mr. Marr, and to present him with a slight token of their esteem. Following is the copy of the address:—

Rev. H. D. MARR, B. A.

DEAR BROTHER,—The link of friendship which has bound us together as pastor and people for the past three years is about to be severed by your removal to another field of labour. At once upon your entry on the work of your pastorate here that link of friendship and regard was formed, and since then a continuous expansion and strengthening has been going on, until now we find it has become so strong as to cause us to sincerely regret your departure from among us. Your ability in the pulpit and on the platform prove you to be possessed of a strong mind, originality of thought and a manner of delivery which causes it to be a real pleasure and profit to listen to you, and this pleasure is enhanced by the fact that your utterances carry with them the conviction that they are the audible expressions of your honest convictions, and, what is of more importance, all your religious utterances have been marked by a deep spirituality which must have seriously impressed your hearers.

We have ever found you courteous and kind, carefully attentive to the sick and considerate of the poor, and so far as your health would permit, attentive to the wants of your people.

While we assure you of our feelings of deepest regret at your departure we desire you to feel that we will follow you with our best wishes and prayers for the continued temporal and spiritual success of yourself and family. We ask you to receive this gift as a slight token of our sincere friendship, and tendering to Mrs. Marr the same kindly expressions and wishes as to yourself, we sign this address, strongly emphasizing its expressions, but sincerely regretting the cause which has prompted it.

This address was signed by over two hundred members of the congregation and was accompanied by a purse containing $217.15.

The young men of the congregation also presented Mr. Marr with an address, accompanied by a handsome leather travelling case, and a gent's companion.

Medical Science Advances.

It is not more than half a century ago that physicians considered a surgical operation with its risk, expense and pain as the only cure for piles. Today it is only the out of date doctors that think of such treatment. It is cruel and extravagant to operate for a disease which is far more certainly cured by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment. You may be skeptical, but for proof you are referred to tens of thousands of cases that have been cured by this famous preparation.

Fortune Smiles on Them.

We have received personal and unquestionable information from the east that "A Wise Woman" is making the strongest kind of a hit and has been doing an enormous business. Since the day it was started the management have been digging out and adding to it without fear or favor, until now it stands without an equal in its line.

The Strike.

The strikers still hold out, but it would take a member of the Secret Service to get at any number of facts regarding the affair. Here is the best we can do for the facts as they are at this juncture.

At the call to strike every track man went out and not one has gone back. A comparatively small number of new men are patrolling the track but they are not competent men.

On Wednesday last two working trains hauling ballast on the Edmunston branch struck and came home because they could not do the trackman's work and they could not continue their ballasting operations until some track was changed for them.

Last Wednesday the Houlton branch was patrolled by a crew from Canterbury, for the first time since the Strike commenced. On their way home, when near Debec, they were assailed by a shower of stones from the bushes. One of the crew is said to be badly injured and a farmer, who was getting a ride home on the car received a blow on the head.

On this division of the road the sections are eight miles long. In the summer a foreman and three men are employed on each section and in the winter a foreman and one man. The wages of a foreman are $1.60 a day, of the next man $1.20 and of the other men $1.15 per day. The men are asking that a foreman on this division receive $2.00 a day and all other trackmen $1.50.

On the B. and A. the sections are only six miles long and they employ a foreman and three men the year round except for one month, when one man is laid off. The B. and A. foremen receive $1.75 per day and the other trackmen $1.35. Under the old New Brunswick Railway System Mr. Cram had six mile sections and paid no man less than $1.25 a day. The I. C. R. has sections of 4 to 6 miles in length, none more than 6 miles, and they employ more men to a section than the C. P. R. pays. From these facts the strikers argue that the C. P. R. is paying less money for a certain quantity of work than other roads are.

It has been said in some papers that public sympathy is with the Company. As far as Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska Counties are concerned it must be said that the public sympathy is with the strikers and the men in the other branches of the C. P. R. service are warmly attached to the cause of the trackmen.

Carleton County County.

The Carleton County Court opened on Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock. There are three civil cases. James W. Dalling and Alice M. Dalling vs. Robert McElroy for trespass.

C. E. Gallagher vs. Wm. Grant and Wm. Grant jr., for an account.

Maitland G. Hovey vs. James Carr for work and labour.

In all these cases F. B. Carvell appears for the plaintiff and J. C. Hartley for the defendant.

The Queen against Chesley Debbiee of Benton, for indecent assault was not sent before the grand jury, as the Counsel for the Crown was convinced that the boy ought not to be tried.

In the Queen against Alonzo Shaw for stealing money from Patrick Holey, a bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Shaw who was not present. This case was cited at the last Court and the jury disagreed. Stephen B. Appleby, K. C., is counsel for the Crown.

Cronkhite-Patterson.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Patterson, Central Southampton, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday June 25 when their eldest daughter Herta L. was united in marriage to Wooster B. Cronkhite of Southampton. At precisely eleven-thirty a. m. the bridal party stood on the veranda which was prettily decorated with local, foliage and roses. Rev. J. J. Barns using the Free Baptist service tied the nuptial knot in the presence of over one hundred relatives and friends. The bride was becomingly gowned in dove coloured suiting trimmed with white satin and white satin ribbon, and carried a bouquet of white roses. A sumptuous lunch was served after the ceremony. The presents too numerous to mention consisted of choice silver, delicate china, and glassware and table damask and a bed-room suit, and dining room set from the bride's parents. The groom's present to the bride was a silver cake basket. The happy couple left for St. John amidst showers of rice and good wishes. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Cronkhite will reside at Mr. Cronkhite's handsome new residence Southampton.
