Silas Larrabee on Christian Scientists.
(New York Times.)

"They seem to be three kinds of Christian Scientists, vary one alike. They's them that actually believes in Christian Science; they's them that makes believe they believe in it, and they's them that gits their livin' out of it.

"Tain't no wonder lots of people believe in it. They ain't nothin' so foolish that it won't take root in human critters' minds if you call it religion. If I remember right, they's risin' of 2,000 different kinds of religion in the United States of Ameriky, and pooty nigh all of 'em doin' well in spots.

"You go to a shaker meetin' and see 'em shakin', and you say, "What a lot of pesky fools to worship God that way!" Sposin' the Shaker comes to your meetin'. He'll be fast asleep before he's been in the church twenty minutes, things is so awful teejus there, accordin' to his notions. "Ain't no git up and git to that religion," he'll say when he gits back to headquarters.

"So 'tis all the way through. You're one kind of Methodist and I'm another. Barick Marston is one kind of Baptist and his wife is another. Joe Kane's a Presbyterian, but Joe's son is preachin' in a Catholic church down Augusty way. Pooty nigh every family in Ogunquit is split up on the religious question, and they ain't all accommodated yit. Along comes something new—I don't care what it is—and sure's as dogs is dogs somebody in Ogunquit will up and say, "That's the thing I've been waitin' for; it fills the vacuum in my soul."

"You wouldn't think that when it comes to religion folks would feel that way, but they do. They like to make holy shows of themselves. A while ago they was consider'ble said about a religion they called Theosophy. Pooty nigh as good as bein' second cousin to the Czar of Rooshy to call yourself a Theosophist. "I'm afeard our religion is a little too deep for you," they'd say to the folks that criticised 'em.

"We've had a boom in Mahomidanism, too. They's been quite a raft of converts in Ameriky in the last couple of years. Sairy Hatch went on to New York last winter and got converted. When she came back and told old man Hatch that she was a Mahomidan, he jumped clean across the room.

"You've turned your back on the religion of your fathers, Sairy," says he. "They never was a Hatch in the Mahomidan Church since Adam was a boy."

"Sairy was tickled to death. The more the old man cussed her the better she liked it.

"What's the use in bein' a skyrocket," says she, "if you don't make folks' eyes dance when you bust!"

"That's pretty good philosophy. But it don't apply to make-believe Christian Scientists. When a man gives out that he is a Christian Scientist, he takes a position that runs agin' certain principles that, in my judgment, has got to be upheld for the good of the community and the folks that makes it up. He says that he is all through with doctors and medicine; that no matter what disease invades his home, he'll depend on his religion to pull the sufferin' patient through.

"If Zeke Buzzell should tell you something like this, you wouldn't pay much attention to him. What idgits thinks about Christian Science ain't no 'count.

"But s'pose a man that you've got a lot of confidence in—a man that's noted for his intelligence and good judgement—h'ists the Christian Science flag over his cupolo, ain't that going to stagger you for a minute? It's goin' to do more than stagger some folks. "If Christian Science is good enough for him," they'll say, "it's good enough for me." They don't know that the feller the're follerin' ain't nothin' but a make-believer and that he'll drop Christian Science like a hot pertater fust time he comes to a real test of its fundamental principles.

"I've a good deal more respect for the folks that's into Christian Science for what they can make out of it than I have for them make-believers who don't git no more out of it than Sairy Hatch gits out of her Mohamidanism.

"I don't think that all the folks that makes a business of Christian Science is scoundrels, but I do think that if I hadn't more than two things to choose between I'd go into the gold-brick business rather'n into the Christian Science business.

"Feller with a gold brick came to see me about six months ago, and I had a pooty comfortable talk with him after I'd showed him they wan't no use tryin' his game on Silas Larrabee.

"You seem to be a pooty intelligent young man," says I. "Why don't you get into something respectable? You ought to be ashamed of yourself sticking to a business like this."

"I might do wus," says he.

"How so?" says I.

"Well," says he, "I've got a brother in the Christian Science business, and I reckon I'm considerable more respectable than he is. I rob a man of his money; I don't kill his wife and children. Gold brickin' is pooty low down, but we gold brickers look like a Band of Hope alongside them Christian Scientists."

For the masses not the classes, BEN-TLEY'S Liniment is the family medicine chest. Price 10 and 25c.

A Frank Advertiser.

A gentleman who has a christian spirit and a horse for sale advertises as follows in a Minnesota paper:

We have a good family driving horse for sale, providing you carry insurance.

He is not over particular as to feed. In fact, he prefers our neighbor's haystacks and corners to our own.

We feed him whenever we can catch him, which is seldom.

He is partly gentle. The other parts are not, and you must govern yourself accordingly.

We will throw in the derrick and telegraph pole combination which we used to hitch him up with.

If you are fond of driving we would advise you to engage a cowboy that owns a fast horse to do your driving, and be sure to get on top of the barn before he begins to drive the horse.

For price and coroner's address, apply to the owner.

It is evident that the pernicious doctrines of David Harum have not taken root everywhere. Furthermore, there will be no excuse for damage suit if this advertisement ever succeeds in disposing of the goods. In view of the present day greed for gain, all this is highly encouraging.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE 25c.
Is used direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Relieves the throat, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Croup and Hay Fever. Blow from All Dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase, Medicine Co., Toronto and Buff.

For Nervous Headache.

The most excellent and never-failing cure for nervous headache, says an advocate of physical culture, "is the simple act of walking backward. Just try it some time if you have any doubt about it. I have yet to meet the person who didn't acknowledge its efficacy after a trial. Nobody has yet discovered or formulated a reason why such a process should bring certain relief. Physicians say that it is probably because the reflex action of the body brings about the reflex action of the brain, and thus drives away the pain that when produced by nervousness, is the result of too much going forward. As soon as you begin to walk backward, however, there comes a sense of everything being reversed, and this is followed by relief. The relief is always certain and speedy. Ten minutes is the longest I have ever found necessary."

Bicyclists and all athletes depend on BENTLEY'S Liniment to keep their joints limber and muscles in trim.

Hints for Campers.

Don't forget soap to wash the dishes. Don't pack the dishes away in cases. Leave them in the air and sunlight. Don't forget the matches with which to light the fire. Better have a waterproof matchbox. Don't forget to add salt to the water when you want to boil anything. Don't forget, if you want to fry anything, that the pan and fat should be smoking hot before you put in the article. Don't forget fish will not keep unless it is cleaned.

DISEASES ARE CURED BY
DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

MRS. I. STEEVES, Edgett's Landing, N.B., writes on Jan. 18, 1901: "In the fall of 1899 I was troubled with a severe pain in the back. I could scarcely get up out of a chair and it gave me great pain to move about. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled with it since."

You can keep butter by packing it in a can, tying a piece of rope to the handle and letting it down in a spring. If there is no spring near the camp, bury it in the sand under water.

You can use condensed milk by thinning it with water, if you are unable to procure fresh.

You can toast your fish and not your face by no ching a stick at one end. Put the handle of your pan in the slit and lash the two together with cord.

Public Institutions have found Pain Killer very useful. There is nothing equal to it in all cases of bowel troubles. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.

Information Desired.

The rural post-office is the bureau of general information, no less so in Georgia than in Vermont, and the Atlanta 'Constitution' reports a conversation precipitated by an old darkey, who approached the village postmaster and said:

"Any letters for me?"

"No."

"Any postal cards?"

"No."

"Is my paper come?"

"No."

"Got any almanacs?"

"No."

"Well, does you know anybody what wants to buy a live alligator?"

Condolence.

To MR. AND MRS. ALLEN McLELLAN:—

We the members of Oakville Sabbath school do desire to express our sincere sympathy with you in the loss of your beloved daughter, Helena. We assure you that we feel deeply the severe loss you have been called upon to bear, we pray that our Heavenly Father may comfort you in your hour of trouble. May the same God who sends both joy and sorrow guide you in the pathway of life and do not forget that he has prepared a bright and beautiful home beyond the grave and we trust that we may all meet her in that heavenly mansion that God has prepared for all that love him. We shall miss her in our school but not so deeply as you will in the home circle. The vacant place will never be forgotten but may we look to him who doeth all things well and be able to say not our will but thine be done. May God bless you and the rest of the family in your hour of sorrow.
Signed on behalf of Oakville Union Sabbath school.

Mrs. Hastings, in "The Christian," says: "We can please God without money; we can please him without an education; we can please him without a reputation or position; but we cannot please him without faith. So faith is more important than money or worldly influence, talent or high position."
