Some Big Land Owners.

The late Lord Leonfield was one of the twenty-eight noblemen who, according to the Modern Doomsday Book, possessed over 100,000 acres in the United Kingdom. His possessions amounted to 66,000 acres in England and some 45,000 in Ireland, and his rent roll was returned at £88,000 a year. The Duke of Sutherland is a long way the first in point of acreage, owning no less than 1,358,000, but the Duke of Buccleuch, who is second in acreage, is first in point of rental, which, owing to his town property and minerals, must still be worth the £217,000 per annum of the last return. Scotland would seem to be the land of the great landlord, rather less than one-sixth of that country being held by the six great noblemen, the Dukes of Sutherland, Buccleuch, Richmond, Fife, and Atholl, and the Marquis of Breadalbane. The largest land owner in England proper is the Duke of Northumberland, who possesses 186,000 acres, mainly, of course, in the county from which he takes his title, and he is the only one of these eight-and-twenty great lords who has not an acre either in Scotland or Ireland. The largest landlord in Ireland is the Marquis Conyngham, who owns 156,000 acres; in Wales, "The Prince in Wales," Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, whose acres amount to 145,000, is the only possessor of more than 100,000 acres who is not a peer.

Neuralgia.

Have you Neuralgia? Have you failed to get relief? Do not despair; Nerviline will cure you. Five times greater medicinal power than any other remedy in the world—more penetrating, more soothing. Pain cannot exist if Nerviline is used. Cures Toothache in one minute, breaks up a cold in one night. Its action in pain internal and pain external borders on the marvellous. Thousands have testified to this; neglect no longer; use Nerviline. Druggists everywhere sell it.

What Forty Poles make.

A good story is told about a certain professor whose business it was to lecture to a number of students on surveying. During one of the lectures, the professor said that in his opinion the pole was of little or no value. To the astonishment of those present a Polish gentleman arose and, after accusing the professor of insulting his country-men, demanded an apology.

The professor thereupon explained that the pole to which he referred was merely a term of measurement. The Polish gentleman, seeing his mistake, asked the professor to forgive his apparent rudeness. To this the professor smartly replied:

"You could not be rude, sir, even if you tried, for it takes 40 poles to make one rood!"

Diseases of Children

Measles, Scarlet Fever and the many exhausting diseases of childhood, frequently leave the little sufferers in a weakened and debilitated condition of health from which it is difficult to rescue them except by the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This preparation is admirably suited to the requirements of children, and has such an invigorating and restorative influence on the system as to make weak, puny children healthy, plump and active.

A Case Lincoln Would Not Take.

All clients knew that, with "Old Abe" as their lawyer, they would win their case—if it was fair; if not, that it was a waste of time to take it to him. After listening some time one day to a would be client's statement, with his eyes on the ceiling, he swung suddenly round in his chair and exclaimed:

"Well you have a pretty good case in technical law, but a pretty bad one in equity and justice. You'll have to get some other fellow to win this case for you. I couldn't do it. All the time, while standing talking to that jury, I'd be thinking, 'Lincoln, you're a liar,' and I believe I should forget myself and say it out loud."—Success.

Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Murdock Sutherland, Postmaster of Red Bank, Northumberland Co., N. B., writes:—"We think Bentley's is the best family Liniment we have ever used. The first time I had occasion to use it I was suffering from Neuralgia of the face. A few applications completely cured me. We find it the best thing we ever tried for Sore Throat, etc."

Mr. Beecher's Wit.

On one occasion, as Mr. Beecher was in the midst of an impassioned speech, some one attempted to interrupt him by suddenly crowing like a cock. It was done to perfection; a number of people laughed in spite of themselves, and Mr. Beecher's friends felt that in a moment the whole effect of the meeting, and of Mr. Beecher's thrilling appeals, might collapse. The orator, however, was equal to the occasion. He stopped, listened till the crowing ceased, and then with a look of surprise, pulled out his watch. Morning already! he said, my watch is only at ten. But there can be no mistake about it. The instincts of the lower animals are infallible. There was a roar of laughter. The lower animal in the gallery collapsed, and Mr. Beecher was able to resume as if nothing had occurred.—Young People's Paper.

Doing the Glazier's Kindness.

A Travelling tinker out of work bemoaned his hard luck to a sympathetic glazier.

"I'll soon put that right for you," said the glazier. "Just come up to that big hotel over

In Distress With Eczema

Mrs. R. Stoddard, Delhi, Norfolk County Ont., writes as follows:—"I was troubled with Eczema or Salt Rheum for over twelve years, and during that time doctored with four different physicians, but found that they could only give temporary relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised, decided to try it and before I had used half a box found great relief and change. Altogether I have used three boxes and am now completely cured. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and can say it is the best I ever used, and in my estimation worth its weight in gold."

The keen misery which many endure from the tortures of skin disease is most appalling, and so much the worse because it is unnecessary. Dr. Chase's Ointment stands alone as the one unfailing remedy for salt rheum, eczema, scald head and every form of itching skin disease. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

there in half an hour's time, and you'll find work."

Accordingly the tinker made his appearance at the appointed time, and found himself in great request, as all the goodwife's pots and pans had mysteriously sprung leaks.

Needless to say the glazier had silyly operated on them to provide a job for his acquaintance.

Having finished his work the tinker trudged off, full of gratitude, and soon arrived at a wayside school-house.

A happy thought striking him, he determined to repay the glazier's kindness, and, arming himself with stones, he speedily smashed every window in the house.

Returning he intimated to his friend the service he had rendered him, but was amazed to see the man of glass become convulsed with rage.

"Great Scot, man!" shouted the latter, "you've ruined me! I repair the windows of that school by yearly contract!"

The Topper's Dinner.

Instead of going to their work one Monday a number of workmen entered a public house determined to spend the day there.

About noon a woman looked in and said, addressing one of the party:

"I supposed you are not coming home to dinner today, so I have brought you your share."

So saying, she placed a dish and plate carefully tied up, in front of the topper and went away.

"Looks well after you, your wife does," said a mate. "Suppose we taste and see what it's like?"

"Aye, let us have a taste," said the husband as he untied the bundle.

But the plates were empty, and there was a note with them which ran as follows: "I hope you will enjoy your dinner. It is the same as myself and the children are having at home."—London Answers.

Worthy to be Written in Letters of Gold.

Tete a Gouche, N. B.—You do not praise Catarrhoxone highly enough; it is worthy to be written in letters of gold. One small bottle has done more for me than all the doctor's medicine I have taken in the last three years. I was a sufferer from Bronchitic Asthma, but by using Catarrhoxone I have been entirely cured. Months have passed since, and being entirely well, I feel my cure has been a perfect one. A. J. Kemp.

Catarrhoxone alone is the only cure for Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis and Lung Troubles. An absolute cure guaranteed with every complete outfit. Large size, $1.00; small size, 25c.; at druggists or by mail. A trial sent for 10c. by N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Canada, or Hartford, Conn., U. S.

A certain Benedict was in the habit of troubling his father-in-law with complaints about his wife's behavior.

"Really, this is too bad," cried the irascible old gentleman one day, on hearing of some of his daughter's delinquencies. "If I hear any more complaints I will disinherit her." There were no more.

KIDNEY DISEASE FOR TEN YEARS.

A Glen Miller Man's Terrible Trial.

He Found a Cure at Last in Dean's Kidney Pills.

Mr. P. M. Burk, who is a well-known resident of Glen Miller, Hastings Co., Ont., was afflicted with kidney trouble for ten years.

So pleased is he at having found in Dean's Kidney Pills a cure for his ailments, which he had begun to think were incurable, that he wrote the following statement of his case so that others similarly afflicted may profit by his experience: "I have been afflicted with kidney trouble for about ten years and have tried several remedies but never received any real benefit until I started taking Dean's Kidney Pills. My back used to constantly ache and my urine was high colored and milky looking at times. Since I have finished the third box of Dean's Kidney Pills I am happy to state that I am not bothered with backache at all and my urine is clear as crystal. I feel confident that these pills are the best kidney specific in the country."

Willing Horses.

One of the judges at the horse show in New York last fall made a shrewd criticism which has broader application than he gave it.

Four high-bred carriage horses we on view.

"I see no difference between them," said an unskilled looker-on. "They seem to me to be equals in blood, beauty and training."

"No," said the judge. "This horse," touching one of them, "is incomparably the finest. He is of a better breed than the others, his temper is good, and he is stronger than any of them. But I would not buy him. He will be short-lived. The others will outlive him by years."

"Why? What is wrong?"

"He is too willing a horse. Look He pulls for both himself and his mate. He shoulders the whole weight, and the other simply trots alongside. There are many such horses. They use up their vitality before middle age."

It occurred to one of the bystanders that there were also many such men and women.

In almost every family there is some unselfish energetic draft-horse who draws the load of the others. It may be the old father, plodding at his desk the year around, while his wife and daughters are idling in Europe; or it may be the lean, fast-aging farmer's wife who keeps house and cooks and irons and sews while the girls are busy in their clubs or entertaining their friends. Often it is a homely old spinster aunt or sister.

As a rule, nobody notices these willing drudges until they drop suddenly in the harness, worn out by pulling the load which belonged to those who were dear to them—son, wife or brother.

It, as is usually the case, they have made those about them idle, incompetent and selfish, have they done well? Are they, in fact, good and faithful servants?

Smokers' Record.

It is recorded of the late Mr. Edwin Booth, the famous American tragedian, that he would often smoke twenty-five cigars per diem. Even during the performances of the plays in which he took such a distinguished part he enjoyed the fragrant weed, for his dresser would await his exits at the "wings," with a cigar duly lighted, and the actor would puff away happily until the stage business required his presence once more.

The record of Mr. Booth is, however, easily eclipsed by that of one of his countrymen residing in an Illinois city, who has, on occasions, consumed forty cigars between breakfast and bedtime. Strange to say, the health of this devotee of the weed has not been affected by his extraordinary feats.

Cigarette-smokers accustomed to smoke half-a-dozen cigarettes daily will doubtless hear with amazement of the record of one of the best known figures in the printing world of London, who claims that it is no uncommon thing for him to enjoy sixty to seventy of these delicate "smokes" in the course of a day. This gentleman informed the writer that he had pursued this extraordinary practice since boyhood, and computes that no fewer than 250,000 cigarettes have been smoked by him since that period.

Some years ago a Californian miner wagered that he would smoke six cigars, six cigarettes, and six pipefuls of strong tobacco within sixty minutes. This extraordinary wager was duly accomplished, but at its conclusion the rash fellow was seized with an attack of heart failure, from which he never recovered.

An old soldier who passed away in the north of England not so very long ago, at the age of ninety-two, attributed his longevity to his persistent smoking tendencies. For seventy years, he claimed, he had never consumed less than sixteen ounces of tobacco per week, and indeed, on some occasions, he had actually smoked twice that quantity weekly.
