

Business Men's Backs.

Too much rush and bustle, work and worry fall to the lot of the average business man. Kidneys can't stand it; they fail to filter the poisons from the blood properly. Urinary trouble, general languor and pain in the back are the natural results. A man can't attend to business properly if his back aches—no two trying.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Take a hint from business men who have used them: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Medical Hall here, for rheumatism and pains in the small of my back, with which I have been afflicted for the past six years. They did me so much good that I heartily recommend them as an excellent medicine for rheumatic troubles and backache." CHARLES C. PILKEY, dealer in agricultural implements, Orillia, Ont.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, gravel, sediment in the urine, too frequent risings at night, rheumatism, and weakness of the kidneys in children and old people. Remember the name, Doan's, or use all others. The Doan Kidney Pills, Toronto, Ont.

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys

Mr Andrew Duffin, Aultsville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with Bright's disease of the kidneys for five years. I tried a number of doctors and preparations, but got no relief. My son advised the use of Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I got a box, and, to my surprise, I got relief at once, and am now thoroughly cured." One pill a dose, 25cts a box.

The Tammany Chief's Income Tax.

The celebrated, but most unsavory, Mr. Croker, chief of the Tammany conspiracy, New York, was charged a large income tax in England. He protested vigorously against this, hoping to find the British officials as amenable to his style of influence as those in his "private preserve," for such New York is to Mr. Croker. The assessors and collectors declined to give way, and called on Mr. C. to either pay or be "investigated." Now, of all inquisitorial proceedings, the examination of the income tax commissioners in England beats the band. The person who is bent upon concealing the amount of his income is ushered into a private room, there he is introduced to an exceedingly polite commissioner, a barrister skilled in cross-examining. He is first asked to state that his income does not exceed a certain sum. Question after question is put as to his domestic arrangements; his expenditures on these are thoroughly sifted. The self-deluded victim soon discovers that the examiner knows his habits thoroughly and the ways of his household. If he has taken a summer trip, its cost is known. After the ordeal is over, the items elicited are added up, and he is confronted with the fact that, after swearing that his total income last year was, say, only $5,000, his expenditure had been $7,000 or $10,000! The interview ends by his being condemned to pay considerably more income tax than he had protested against, accompanied by a gentle hint that he may be prosecuted for perjury. Mr. Croker was cute enough to "come down," like the famous coon, when the commissioners' gun was pointed at him. He paid his income tax without even a formal protest.—Insurance & Finance Chronicle, Montreal.

Good Old Scotchman.

A Scotchman went to London for a holiday. Walking along one of the streets, he noticed a bald headed chemist standing at his shop door, and inquired if he had any hair restorer. "Yes, sir," said the chemist. "Step inside, please. There's an article I can recommend. Testimonials from great men who have used it. It makes the hair grow in twenty-four hours."
"Aweel," said the Scot, "ye can gie the top o' yer head a rub wi' it, and I'll look back the morn and see if ye're tellin' the truth."
The chemist returned the bottle to the shelf and kicked the errand-boy for laughing.

What was the Matter with the Bread?

One day, when butter was scarce and high, Mrs. Wiggins hit upon an economical plan, which was to spread with her own hands the slices of bread for her lodgers—merely to save trouble.
Mr. Jordan came home late to tea on the first evening of this new plan, and sitting down in the presence of all the other lodgers, received a nice slice from Mrs. Wiggins, who went through the ceremony of buttering it before his eyes.
Mr. Jordan received the bread, and, eyeing it inquisitively, began to turn it from side to side and scrutinize it through his spectacles.
"What's the matter with your bread and butter?" demanded Mrs. Wiggins.
"Nothing, nothing, nothing," said Mr. Jordan, still turning the piece over and persisting in his scrutiny.
"I'm positive, Mr. Jordan, that you see something."
"No, no, no," said Mr. Jordan.
"Now," said Mrs. Wiggins, her face becoming flushed with excitement, "I want my lodgers to tell me plainly when their food doesn't suit them. Mr. Jordan, what is it?"
The old gentleman laid down his slice upon his plate and, raising the spectacles to his forehead, replied with great deliberation as follows: "Mrs. Wiggins, there is nothing the matter with the bread, I assure you; but, Mrs. Wiggins—and here he glanced mischievously down the long vista of attentive faces—"I have lived in this world eight-and-fifty years, and I find myself this evening such a simpleton that I can't tell on which side my bread is buttered!"

Won Without Trying.

A travelling circus recently paid a visit to a Lancashire town, and, as an attraction, offered a prize to the man who could, as the natives term it, "pull th' ugliest mug." The rules laid down were that each person should have three tries. Consequently competition ran high, some of the contortions being horrible to behold. After all had done their level best to win the prize the clown who acted as a judge for the competitors coolly confronted a man sitting among the audience who was noted for his ugliness, and said: "Tha's wou th' prize, owd mon."
"Me!" said the astonished individual; "wha, aw worn't tryin' for't."
"Tha's noa need to try; tha's won it wi'out"—[Tit-Bits.

The Danger of Piles

Piles are usually caused by constipation, lack of exercise or sitting on wet seats or cold stones. They frequently develop into tumors, fistulae or rupture of the intestines. Dr Chase's Ointment has never failed to cure piles and put an ending to the wretched itching and uneasiness. It is truly a wonder to all who have used it and is guaranteed to cure every case of itching, bleeding or protruding piles.
General "Polly" Carew has the reputation of being one of the few men who shaved every day while in South Africa. Even on a forced march or in the midst of a fight he was always smart. But he is as little a carpet soldier as his Commander-in-Chief, and the rank and file of the Guards worship him. Strange to say, before he started for South Africa his doctors told him he was very delicate and advised him to give up hard work altogether. He did not take their advice, and after a hard campaign he is in the best of health. Although what we call middle-aged he is accounted the handsomest man in the army, and his smile is seraphic.

At the sessions in New York a clerk was fined $25 for spitting in a street car. The judge said: "The custom of expectorating in public conveyances, both on the surface and elevated railroads and in public buildings, has become altogether too prevalent, and must be stopped. This expectoration is the cause of spreading disease, and sometimes death follows the disease contracted in this manner. The ordinance is a wise and salutary one and should be rigidly enforced." In this city we have the "ordinance," but it is a dead letter, as conductors pay no heed to it. Ex.
