Kitchener's Unbending.

Most stories represent Lord Kitchener in a somewhat stern light. Here is one which shows that even the modern "man of blood and iron" can unbend. During the last Sudan campaign Kitchener was accompanied by a telegraphist, to whom he took the nearest approach to a fancy his stern nature would allow. After Khartoum the telegraphist heard that his mother was ill and in want at home. He applied for his discharge, to which he was entitled. Kitchener sent for him, and demanded to know why he wished to leave. The man explained. "Don't you think you could help your mother without going home?" asked Kitchener. "I'd rather go home, sir," replied the operator. "Oh, very well," said Kitchener, closing the interview abruptly. "You know your own business best. That'll do."

The day came for the telegraphist to leave, and he went to bid his chief good-by. "Ah," said Kitchener, "you're a fool to go, I would have given you a good post had you stayed. I'm very busy—good-by." The man saluted and was retiring, when Kitchener called out. "Here, just take this note to the paymaster for me." The note was delivered, and the bearer was walking away when he whom irreverent subalterns call "Shovelpenney" called him back. "I'm to give you this by the General's orders," said he. "This" was equivalent in Egyptian money to a £10 note. It was characteristic of Kitchener that he would not lift a finger to urge the man to stay, and that he did not want to be thanked. —Tit-Bits.

The Three Tailors.

The three Trenton tailors toiled together, turning trousers, trimming tunics, talking tirelessly. Tall Ted Tupper told trite, trifling things that tickled the two tiny tailors, till Trueman Trippet teasingly took the talker to task.

"Tut, tut, Ted! Tell truer tales than that."
"Tell tales thyself Trueman. Tell thy Timbuctoo tiger tales."
"Twaddle! twaddle!" tittered the third tailor, Tom Torrey.

Trueman's touchy temper threatened trouble.
Tom, thy thoughtless tongue tempts trouble."

Tactfully Ted Tupper then turned the talk to taffeta trimmings, thankful thus to terminate the tiff. Two teamsters, tramping thither to take tea, turned the talk thoroughly. They told tales, they tied Ted's terrier to the tea table, teaching tricks till the tailors turned tired tittering.

Thus thoughtlessly the teamsters tormented the tiny terrier till Tessa Trueman teasingly terminated the tricks. The tailors then teased Tessa till terrier threatened to take teeth to them. The tailors then took their tea, the teamsters tranquilly testing, too. Tessa tied the table telling town topics. The terrier, tiny tired thing, timidly tweedled the tailors to toss tit-bits. Thus the trouble terminated.

The Danger of Piles

Piles are usually caused by constipation, lack of exercise or sitting on wet seats or cold stones. They frequently develop into tumors, fistulae or rupture of the intestines. Dr. Chase's Ointment has never failed to cure piles and put an ending to the wretched itching and uneasiness. It is truly a wonder to all who have used it and is guaranteed to cure every case of itching, bleeding or protruding piles.

Early Rising.

"Pat," said a manager to one of his workmen, "you must be an early riser. I always find you at work the first ching in the morning."

"Indade, and I am, sor. It's a family trait, I'm thinking."

"Then your father was an early riser, too?"
"My father, is it? He rises that early that if he went to bed a little later he'd meet himself getting up in the mornin'." —Tit-Bits.

Where Doctors do agree!—Physicians no longer consider it catering to "quackery" in recommending in practice so meritorious a remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Nervousness as South American Nervine. They realize that it is a step in advance in medical science and a sure and permanent cure for diseases of the stomach. It will cure you.—Go

The Colonel's Apology.

A curate up North, having preached a very clever sermon on the Sunday, called upon a certain colonel on the Monday especially to ask his opinion.

"How did I like the sermon?" said the colonel. "Very much, indeed. It's one of my favorites."

"One of your favorites?" stammered the curate, slightly puzzled. "I do not understand."

Asthma Gasps

Too many asthma sufferers give up their search for cure, believing that their particular case is beyond the control of scientific treatment.

It is only necessary to point all such to a new hope in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, the one great remedy which has proven its efficiency not only as a prompt relief, but also as a thorough cure for asthma.

Mrs. George Redden, Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, I did so, and it cured me."

It is impossible to imagine a better treatment for asthma than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It soothes the excited nerves, clears the bronchial tubes, gives prompt relief to the frightful spasms, and, when used regularly, thoroughly and permanently cures asthma. 25 cents, all dealers', or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The colonel regarded him with a twinkle at the back of his eyes. "Of course, I won't say a word," he said, "but I knew very well that you stole it, and also where you stole it from."

"Sir," said the curate, and he spoke from out the whirlwind of his righteous indignation. "I am not in the habit, sir, of stealing my sermons. I fear you are laboring under a mistake, and—er—forgetting yourself, sir. I must ask you to apologize."

The colonel was silent a moment. Then he said: "It may be that I have made a mistake. Wait a moment. I will make sure."

Going to his bookcase, he took down a massive tome of sermons—a rare and almost forgotten work. He turned to a certain page, and an apologetic, humble look came upon his face as he glanced up at the curate. "I beg your pardon," he said. "I apologize. You did not steal it after all, for I find it is still here. My mistake, sir; my mistake." —[Modern Society.]

Wanted—a case of headache that Kumfort Headache Powders will not cure in ten minutes. Prices 10 cents.

At a drawing-class the master one evening was expressing his disgust at so few commercial men being able to sketch anything on paper, and, picking up a bottle, he said:—"If you were to ask a hundred commercial men to draw that bottle, you would find 75 per cent. of them would be unable to do so."
"Aye, sor," replied one of his pupils, "but just ax them to draw the cork!"

One Short Puff Clears the Head.—Does your headache? Have you pains over your eyes? Is the breath offensive? These are certain symptoms of Catarrh. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder will cure most stubborn cases in a marvellously short time. If you've had Catarrh a week it's a sure cure. If it's of fifty years' standing it's just as effective. 50 cents.—57 Sold by Garden Bros.

At a certain fashionable bazaar a short while ago a gentleman asked for a cup of coffee and inquired the price. The lady who served it, and who was the daughter of an earl, took a sip out of the cup and said, "A guinea, if you please."

He then put down the guinea and said, "Thank you, but would you mind giving me a clean cup?"

The T. Milburn Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—I wish to let you know of the benefit I have derived by using your Pills.

I am a widow with a family to support, and have to work hard, which is very trying on my nerves.

At night I was unable to sleep for hours after going to bed, and it seemed as if every nerve in my body was on the go.

I had a smothering, choking sensation, and had to spring out of bed to catch my breath.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done me so much good that I can recommend them highly to any person afflicted with heart and nerve troubles like I was.

Yours, with gratitude,
MRS. WM. HARPER.

A Clever Commercial.

All is fair in love, war and commercial travelling. For some time past a smart young commercial had been making untiring efforts to "get his foot in" with a certain provincial tradesman whose orders were extensive and frequent. Time after time he called, but without success.

At last one day as he entered the shop he found a big loutish chap engaged in a heated altercation with the proprietor. The commercial stood back and waited for the trouble to blow over, but instead it rapidly increased. At last, when the lout was threatening the shopkeeper with a "punch on his head," the commercial interfered, and adroitly brought the stream of personalities to bear upon himself.

Then there was a row and a scuffle; the lout was landed in the gutter, and the commercial returned and, in the glow of victory, asked for and obtained a good order. Business relations have been maintained to this day, but it is doubtful if this would be the case if the tradesman knew that the plucky contest, which ended in the "chucking out" of his persecutor, was a "put up" job, and merely a business ruse on the part of the traveller.

Colds that Hang On

Pneumonia is the result of neglected chest colds, colds that hang on and inflame and irritate the bronchial tubes and lungs. To promptly and thoroughly cure chest-colds, tightness in the chest and all colds in the throat and bronchial tubes Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proved itself the most effectual remedy extant. Its sale is simply enormous. 25 cents a bottle. Family-size 60 cents.

Careful Over the Will.

A North-country miner, aged seventy-three, visited a lawyer to make his will. The old man's property consisted of two small cottages, which had cost him £150. The lawyer asked him how he wished to dispose of it.

"Ma auld woman is to hev it all so lang as she's ma widow, after that bairns to hev all," replied the client.

"What age is your wife?" asked the lawyer.

"Seventy-two," was the reply.

"How long have you been married?"

"Over fifty years."

The lawyer suggested that under the circumstances he should let his wife have the little property during her life, whether she remained a widow or not.

"Aa winnot. Aa winnot," exclaimed the old man; "Aa'll hev ma ain wey."

"But surely you don't expect an old woman over seventy would ever dream of marrying again?"

The miner looked the lawyer full in the face and answered very solemnly:—

"Well, sonny, thor's na knowing what young chaps like yersel' will dae for siller."

Wrong Word.

Recently a commercial traveller said to a second knight of the road:—

"I'll wager anything you like that you cannot spell three simple words that I shall give you within thirty seconds."

"I'll take that on. Now, then, what are they?" said the other.

"Well, here goes," said the first man, as he pulled out his watch. "London."

"L-o-n-d-o-n."

"Watching."

"W-a-t-c-h-i-n-g."

"Wrong," said the first man.

"What?" exclaimed the dupe, in surprised tones. "I've spelled the words you gave me correctly. I'm certain I'm not—"

"Time's up!" the other said, triumphantly. "Why didn't you spell the third word—w-r-o-n-g?"

A Sick Stomach

is always relieved, and its unpleasant consequences averted by taking thirty drops of Polson's Nervine in a little sweetened water. It instantly relieves the nausea and by its soothing and stimulating powers, calms the stomach and enables it to complete the process of digestion. Nervine has been proved more than a million times the best remedy for stomach and bowel troubles. Nervine will cure you. 25c.

Wifely Solicitude.—"Well," said an Evanston lady to her husband, who had occasion to go in to Chicago the other night; "hadn't you better leave your watch and diamond stud at home? I'd never get over it if you was knocked down and robbed in the street with so many valuable things on you."—Chicago Times-Herald.

As a Food
For the Skin

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious, because they clog up the pores of the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for, besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable, it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking an application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the smarting and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Then for burns, scalds and every sort of chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin, Dr. Chase's Ointment affords a safe and certain cure. It has come to be indispensable in scores of thousands of homes; 60 cents a box, at all dealers', or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
