THE CONVENTIONS.

On Thursday, of this week, at half past two in the afternoon, there will be two political conventions in Woodstock. The friends of the Provincial Government will meet in the town hall and the opponents will meet in the Opera House.

It is expected that arrangements will be made to have the vacancy in the legislature filled without a contest. It will be known on Thursday evening whether or not a candidate will be elected by acclamation.

Queen Victoria's Funeral.

With grand yet mournful display of naval pomp and power, the body of Queen Victoria was borne on Friday afternoon from its resting place at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, to Plymouth, through the heart of the British navy. The body lay on board the royal yacht, Alberta, Friday night, and on Saturday morning was taken to London. In that city all business ceased, even the drinking houses closed their doors during the day. The newspapers suspended publication, and life in London, like the rest of the empire, turned from its customary channels and was focussed on the three miles of streets through which the solemn procession passed to Windsor Castle.

The crowds of eager mourners that lined the streets, surged and swayed in helpless strength. At night the hospitals of London cared for 1300 people who had been injured in the crush.

The remains of the dead Queen were borne to the Albert Chapel, at Windsor, where a memorial service was held. At the hour when that service was in progress, similar services were being conducted in every city, town and hamlet in the British Empire, and the chants for the dead Queen were echoed around the world. At that service kings were assembled, and the sons of kings, but from her place above, the Queen looked with no more joy on any, than on the representative of the American Republic, dressed in simple black, who stood in the place of the people whom he represented, to do her honor.

The Queen was laid to rest on Monday in Frogmore Mausoleum at Windsor, beside the late Prince Consort.

LONDON, Feb. 4th.—The King has sent the following message to all the British colonies and dependencies:

"To all my people beyond the seas—The countless messages of loyal sympathy that I have received from every part of my dominions over seas testify to the universal grief in which the whole Empire now mourns the loss of my beloved mother.

In the welfare and prosperity of her subjects throughout Great Britain the Queen ever evinced a heartfelt interest. She saw with thankfulness the steady progress which, under the wide extension of self-government, they had made during her reign. She warmly appreciated their unflinching loyalty to her throne and person, and was proud to think of those who had so nobly fought and died for the Empire's cause in South Africa.

I have already declared that it will be my constant endeavor to follow the great example which has been bequeathed to me. In these endeavors I shall have confident trust in the devotion and sympathy of the people and of their several representative assemblies throughout my vast colonial dominions. With such loyal support I will, with the blessing of God, solemnly work for the promotion of the common welfare and security of our great Empire, over which I have now been called to reign. (Signed),

EDWARD."

LONDON, Feb. 5.—King Edward has gazetted the following to his subjects throughout the empire:

"To my people: Now that the last scene has closed in the noble and ever-glorious life of my beloved mother, the Queen, I am anxious to endeavor to convey to whole empire the extent of the deep gratitude I feel for the heart-stirring and affectionate tributes which have everywhere been borne to her memory."

And Alluding to the "common sorrow," the King concludes by again pledging himself "to walk in the foot-steps of the late Queen in the fulfilment of my great responsibilities."

The King-Emperor has sent a special message to the people of India and a greeting to the ruling chiefs of the native states.

On Saturday at eleven o'clock a very impressive memorial service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Neales in St. Luke's church. The church was crowded to the door.

Electors of Carleton County.

In November last I issued my card to the electors and, in consequence of a report at that time that the seat was not vacant, I discontinued its publication. Since then I have been asked if I intended to enter the contest. At the same time I have been informed, what I already know, that a contest is an expensive luxury.

After due consideration I entered the field with the intention, if necessary, to give the majority of ratepayers the privilege of choosing a representative, and I have not changed my mind in that regard.

After the interest I have taken in legislation for the benefit of the people and the great need there is for further work and reform, I think it would be much better to advocate measures for the benefit of the people, rather than have no particular object in view except to follow and support party, whether Liberal or Conservative.

At the hustings and public meetings I will more fully explain my views on the questions that most interest the electors.

Respectfully,

GEORGE W. WHITE.

THE NEW CENTURY BENEFACTOR.

Paine's Celery Compound

THE CHOSEN MEDICINE OF OUR BEST PEOPLE.

Its Great Curing Virtues Have Been Long and Fully Tested.

IT HAS NEVER DISAPPOINTED
THE SICK.

Paine's Celery Compound Being a
Great Physician's Prescription
Is Recommended by the Ablest Doctors.

Its Use Quickly Restores the Weak, Rundown and Ailing to Perfect Health.

The relative merit and efficiency of Paine's Celery Compound in comparison with all liquid medicines and pills for making sick people well, is clearly shown in the intelligent character and standing of the people who are using it at the present time to cure nervous debility, sleeplessness, headaches, dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney and liver troubles.

Paine's Celery Compound to-day is the choice of physicians, clergymen, professional men, generally, banks, members of parliament, business men and our best people. When ill health, sickness and suffering come to the old or young, the wise and intelligent use Paine's Celery Compound and banish their troubles. Its reliability and efficacy have made it a prized home medicine.

With an established and unassailable reputation for "making sick people well," Paine's Celery Compound is offered to the weak and broken-down in health as the only medicine that can positively restore health, vigor and true life. Do not be induced by substitutes to take the something called just as good; insist upon getting Paine's Celery Compound, the kind that cures.

Unalloyed Bliss.—"Aren't you going to wear that necktie I gave you on Christmas?" Inquired Mr. Meekton's wife. "Of course I am, Henrietta. I was saving it up. I'm going to wear that red necktie and my Nile-green smoking-jacket, and my purple-and-yellow socks, and smoke one of those birthday cigars you gave me, all at once."—Washington Star.

A Cruel Cut.—The Saucy Soubrette (in the "Continuos")—"When do you go on?" The Irish Comedian—"Right after the trained donkeys." The Saucy Soubrette—"Heavens! It's a wonder the stage-manager doesn't try and break the monotony more than he does."—Brooklyn Life.

Fathers and mothers need never bother themselves over the question as to whether their children should become missionaries, until they are fully convinced that God wants their children for that work. God may want such parents now to bother over some other kind of resignation and consecration.—Christian Standard.

The State of Maine.

The New York evening Post makes the following pertinent remarks on the State of Maine. There are others. New Brunswick may be one of the others.

Maine illustrates very clearly the tendency to extravagance in government which is seen so generally throughout the country. While the population increased during the past decade only from 661,086 to 694,465 or but about 5 per cent., the cost of the State Government has nearly doubled during the last eight years, rising from $1,169,052 in 1882 to $2,123,048 in 1900. Taxation has not been increased proportionally, and the disbursements for the last two years exceeded the receipts by $155,844. One trouble has been the lack of intelligent supervision by somebody interested in making a good financial showing for the commonwealth. The result is that each department is constantly asking and getting more and more money out of the public treasury, a sample example being the development of a crop bulletin into a State magazine of general agriculture which is circulated free. A proposition for a State Auditor has been earnestly urged, and was submitted to the voters as a Constitutional amendment last fall, in the belief that it would save the salary of the new official many times over every year; but the cry of economy, which is always raised when such a change is proposed, proved effective to defeat the movement. There is general agreement that something ought to be done by the Legislature which recently met at Augusta, but nobody as yet outlines a definite policy of reform.

MILLIONS OF WOMEN IN THE WORLD ACKNOWLEDGE THE GREAT ADVANTAGES AND SUPERIORITY OF DIAMOND DYE.

For twenty-five years Diamond Dye have been acknowledged as the standards of excellence for domestic dyeing in every part of the world.

Jealous competitors have labored hard to foist their crude preparations on the public, and in their work of deception have imitated as closely as they dared, the style of package used by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes.

The manufacturers of adulterated dyes have deceived many people in the past. However one trial of the common dyestuffs was enough for those who bought them. The deceptions sent home dyers back to the ever reliable Diamond Dyes, so easy to use and always successful.

The new century comes in with Diamonds Dyes leading the whole world, and the demand increases every day. While many crude dyes have died with the old century, there is still need to exercise care in buying, as some merchants have still a stock of common dyes which they wish to dispose of. Home dyers who wish to save money, avoid failure, loss of goods and bitter disappointments, should insist upon getting the warranted Diamond Dyes when they ask for them.

The Carnival.

The carnival in the roller rink last Wednesday night was one of the best held in that building, and if the popular manager "keeps the pace" up, the rink will be a good paying investment this year. When THE DISPATCH reporter entered the rink on the Carnival night, the first thing that took his attention was the abundance of decoration provided for the occasion by the management; they were profuse, as the manager intended they should be.

The costumers next took the reporter's eye and while stopping to gaze at them, he was struck forcibly by the amalgamation. There were costumers in red, white and blue; in fancy and variegated costumes; and all others imaginable.

The brothers from Otnabag were there, dressed for the Queen's funeral; John Bull was very prominent, especially in front. Judge Forensic of up country was in town, accompanied by his wife, and they took in the sights. The Judge soon got introduced into society while away from the protecting mannerisms of his lady, and the last we saw of the learned man he was in company with a King street "jeweler" who was going to introduce him to Mayor Van Wyck.

The next that took over attention was the rustic gentleman "with a little bunch of whiskers on his chin." The bunch was there, so were the whiskers, but the size was too large for these columns. Fancy and comical costumes were numerous, and among the latter we noticed Mr. Johnsing of Coontown, who with Mrs. Johnsing and baby, were visiting the city. Needless to say, they took a prize. "Peck" Troy, as a "Game Warden in Close Season" took up the spectators' attention and captured the original prize, for which he received $3.00. The "Little Country Maid," of whom we have heard so much in song, was present, and captured nothing. Even the judges failed to succumb to her magic influence. There were also a lot of clowns (!) who put themselves in every body's way and kept people falling over them all evening. The specials are too long to mention separately so we will now close with a list of the prize winners.

Best fancy dress, lady, Miss Maudie Collins.

IMAGINE THE HEIGHTS

An artist would reach who employed a dummy model in his work. Dummy patterns serve as the model in ready-made manufacturing. The Tailor, like the artist, goes by living models.

Each customer is a model here, and each model is provided with an organ for registering complaints when they are in order. Pause and look over our splendid stock of imported and domestic Woollens, before you get your paws on any other.

3 LBS. CANDY FOR 25 CTS.

NOBLE & TRAFTON, 63 Main Street.

Best fancy dress, gent, W. O. Payson.
Best original dress, lady, Miss Ethel Darrah.
Best original dress, gent, Thos. Troy, jr.
Combination costume, Mrs. Geo. Lee and Guy Hanson.
Comical, Shepherd Darrah and Marvin Smith.

The judges who took the responsibility of awarding prizes were Mrs. Thos. W. Murphy and Miss Maggie Caldwell of this town, Fred White, of St. Stephen, and T. A. Doherty of Toronto.

Unmasking and prize awarding took place at 9 o'clock, after which the floor was crowded with skaters. The attendance throughout the carnival was large and the receipts no doubt come up to the manager's standard.

Nurse's Good Words.—"I am a professional nurse," writes Mrs. Eisner, Halifax, N.S. "I was a great sufferer from rheumatism—almost constant association with best physicians I had every chance of a cure if it were in their power—but they failed. South American Rheumatic Cure was recommended—to-day my six years of pain seem as a dream. Two bottles cured me.—106 Sold by Garden Bros.

What he was Thinking About.

Soon after Singleton's first baby was born Mrs. Singleton went upstairs one evening and entered the room where her darling lay asleep. There she found her husband standing by the side of the crib and gazing earnestly at the child. As she stood still for a moment touched by the sight, the tears filled her eyes and she thought:—
Oh, how dearly Charles loves that boy!
Her arms stole softly around her neck, as she rubbed her cheek caressingly against his shoulder. Singleton started slightly at the touch.
Darling, he said, dreamily voicing his thoughts, it is incomprehensible to me how they can get up such a crib as that for half a guinea.
