VICTORIA BEATS CARLETON

In the Dairy Industry, by Providing for the dry Season.

Just at present, with the meadows covered with ice, the outlook for the hay crop this year is very poor, and the pastures give every promise of being a failure.

Last year Carleton County showed a decrease of 5,000 pounds in her butter output compared with the previous year, and this happened in spite of the fact that the milk of more cows was being sent to the creamery. The cause was the failure in pasture and the fact that many farmers had provided no food to supplement their pasture in the dry season.

Mr. Tilley, Dairy Superintendent, advocates the early sowing of peas and oats, say, an eighth of an acre for ten cows, in a fortnight another sowing of the same amount and a repetition of these sowings at periods of two weeks until the middle of July. This will carry the dairy stock along until the corn is fit to feed, and will enable the milk fat to be kept up until the first of December. He says the cows should be kept up during the day and turned out at night to avoid the flies. The planting of peas and oats in this manner involves no lavish waste of land, for under the old system it took two acres of land to keep a cow in poor condition while under the new system one acre will keep her in good condition throughout the season. The oat crop is an excellent thing to restore poor land, having a place second only to clover for this purpose.

In Victoria County on the other hand there was a large increase in the butter output, due to the fact that the farmers listened to the advice given them and provided a food to supplement the pasture. Mr. Tilley says that the Danes in Victoria County are largely adopting the newest and best theories of agricultural and putting them into practice, and that they are reaping great profit thereby. More than any other farmers in the province they hold Institute meetings and buy and read agricultural literature.

A certain number of farmers in Carleton County are adopting modern methods, but the number is still far too small.

After the Fire.

Ernest R. Holyoke, whose grocery store was destroyed by fire last week, stepped across the street and bought out Townsend & Co., and at once took possession. He did not lose a day's business. A. B. Connell, K. C. has taken the office on Queen Street lately occupied by A. D. Holyoke as an insurance office. Mr. Holyoke has gone back to his old office in the Opera House block. Dr. Kirkpatrick is getting his rooms over Mr. Winslow's office fitted up as rapidly as possible.

Dr. Kirkpatrick, on the morning of the fire, telegraphed for duplicates of everything in his office that had been destroyed, and in two days they had arrived, and he is now in a position, in his new office over Mr. Winslow's office, to do anything in the line of his profession, he could have done the day before the fire.

Burns Concert.

The Burns concert given in the opera house last Friday evening by the ladies of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, was a success both from the financial and from the artistic point of view. An opening address was made by Mr. Stephen B. Appleby, in which he spoke of the moral philosophy of Burns' life and work, and his attitude toward the orthodox Presbyterianism of his own day.

Vocal solos by Mrs. Adney, Mrs. Wetmore, Mrs. Rankin and Harry Dunbar and piano solos by Miss Phelan and Miss Porter were among the pleasing features of the evening. A duet by Miss L. McLean and Harry Dunbar had a warm reception. Mr. John Watt gave a reading from Burns with a good Scotch accent. Roy Watt also gave a reading from Burns. Mrs. Frank Bull, who has just returned to Woodstock after an absence of 12 years in California, made her appearance on the stage and brought down the house with some ringing Scotch airs on the piano. The tableaux, in charge of Mrs. Chas. McLean, were well put on.

The net proceeds of the concert, about $100.00, are for the organ fund of the church.

A Flourishing School.

It is good to know that the Woodstock Business College is prospering. Its attendance is daily increasing, and upwards of fifty young people are at present attending the day and evening sessions. We are glad to see the young people of Woodstock and vicinity taking advantage of this opportunity to secure a practical education, and believe they will make all the better men and women for having done so. The school has just issued a neat circular, for general distribution, which is a very creditable journal.

THE INSTITUTE MEETING AT CENTREVILLE.

One Very Uncomplimentary Opinion.

Mr. EDITOR.—According to announcement a Farmers' Institute meeting was held in Sherwood's Opera House, on the 16th. inst. addressed by Messrs. Clark and Thomas Hetherington, the former taking the place of Professor Grisdale, who was absent on account of sickness. So far as a respectable audience composed of the elite of the village and surrounding country, the meeting was a success, as the house was completely filled from platform to the door, standing room being at a premium. If we should say no more, those who were absent might reasonably suppose the Gov't had done a wise act in providing speakers who could entertain and instruct the farmers and others, on the important subject of agriculture. The substitute of Professor Grisdale was supposed to fill the latter's place, and instruct the audience on the subject of "Beef production," but it is a lamentable fact, he could not, even if he knew, inform the audience as to the merits of any breed, which would give the best results to the farmer for care and feed expended to produce the desired result. He was followed by Mr. Hetherington, who was booked to inform the audience "How to be successful on the ordinary farm." And as the man said, who crossed the ocean, "everything came up to his expectation." So Mr. Hetherington's oration came up to the expectation of every person who was acquainted with that gentleman. The most of that gentleman's time was taken up in telling anecdotes, and informing the audience as to his family relations and occupations followed by his children. At all meetings called for the purpose of education in any branch, our village invariably gives the speakers a respectful hearing, and expect the Gov't especially, to furnish speakers who have the ability to interest an audience. We have heard many expressions of disappointment from the audience, in the Gov't not sending a more educated and intelligent delegation to instruct the farmers as to the best means of success in their several callings. On the platform we noticed W. J. Owens, president of the society, H. T. Scholey, H. H. McCain, G. W. White, and the speakers. Music was furnished by the orchestra, Miss Sherwood, Mr. and Miss Lee, Mrs. J. E. Alexander and Harley C. White.

G. W. WHITE.

[According to this letter the meeting at Centreville must have been in striking contrast to those held elsewhere. From reports from other places where these gentlemen spoke their addresses were listened to with appreciation and attention they called forth intelligent discussion and many men said they profited by them.]

ALLEGED BURGLAR CAUGHT.

Believed to be the Culprit of the Brown's Flat Cottages.

Edward Brown, son of William Brown, of Brown's Flats, was arrested last week on a warrant issued by Magistrate Seely, of Greenwich, and is charged with a most serious offence, that of breaking and entering the house of Charles Gorham at Brown's Flats in November last.

At the time the Gorham house was broken into five other residences were ransacked and much damage done, among which was the residence of Harold Climo and that of Alex. M. Rowan on the Island, from which a quantity of ammunition was stolen. The cottage owned by Rev. G. N. Ballentine, of Mendotta, Ill., was broken into, glass was broken and furniture destroyed. Rev. G. W. Macdonald's residence shared the same fate. Chests were smashed open, dishes broken and the house generally gutted. The cottages owned by F. H. Hale, M. P.; Mrs. G. F. Hill, of Lowell, Mass., and Rev. W. B. Wiggins, of Woodstock, were entered and damage done.

These houses were all entered on a Sunday and the burglaries were discovered by Chas. Gorham, who returned to his residence that day after being away, and found his home ransacked. Mr. Gorham has been working on the case ever since and at a meeting held some time ago of the Reformed Baptists executive held at Woodstock it was decided to take steps in the matter and to take proceedings against the person or persons who might be found out who had broken into the houses.

The prisoner is about 18 years of age and it is said some of the stolen property was found in his possession and some also offered for sale by him. It is also believed that a number of other boys have been mixed up in the affair.

H. H. McDonald, on behalf of the Reformed Baptist Alliance, obtained the services of W. W. Baird, to represent the prosecution.

McLeod-Stewart Wedding.

A Brockton, Mass., paper contains the following wedding notice, which will be perused with interest by many of our readers. The bride is a daughter of Donald Stewart of Grafton; The home of Mr. and Mrs. Eben W. Mills, 145 Copeland street, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the evening of the 15th when Clyde McLeod, who is a relative and has lived with the family from his boyhood, was united in marriage to Miss May J. Stewart. Mr. McLeod is a son of Mrs. James McLeod, who resides here. The bride is a native of Woodstock, N. B., her home until recently. Friends were present from Boston, Bridgewater and Malden.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of about 50 friends, who were relatives and near friends. The knot was tied by Rev. William O. Ayer of the Warren Avenue Baptist church at 8.30. The attendants were Miss Nellie Stewart, sister of the bride, and Daniel McKenzie, a close friend of the groom. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Flora Stodder. The bride was attired in a gown of white swiss muslin, trimmed with white applique and white satin ribbons. She wore a tulle veil, which was caught in the hair by a spray of white pinks and ferns. She carried white pinks. The bridesmaid was dressed in blue cashmere with a white satin yoke bodice, lace and satin ribbon trimmings. She carried a spray of carnations. The ring form of ceremony was used. The contracting parties stood under an arch of evergreens and cut flowers arranged in the parlors of the house.

Following the ceremony there was an informal reception, and a collation was served. The following young women served: Misses Ethel King, Mamie Pearson, Alice Turner and Louise Turner. Wedding cake was passed. The ushers were Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Jones. Mr. McLeod is employed at the C. A. Eaton No. 1 factory. They will reside on Winthrop street at the corner of Warren avenue, where they are already settled.

The list of presents was as follows:—crocheted slippers and shawl, Mr and Mrs Jacob Welch; table linen, Mrs H L Hoxie; carving set, Daniel McKenzie; jardiniere, Miss Flora Stodder and John Bartlett; fern and jardiniere, Mr and Mrs William H King; cut glass water set, Mr and Mrs Charles Minor and Mr and Mrs M J Jarvis; silver cake basket, Mr and Mrs W E Seshog; table linen, Mr and Mrs Charles C Jones; fancy vase, Mr and Mrs J A Davis; silver berry spoon, Edwin H Churchill; silver dessert spoons, Mr and Mrs John Gravel; silver dessert spoons, Miss Louise Kidder; set of silver knives and forks, Mrs Eben W Mills; tablespoons, Mr and Mrs H W Deau; fruit knives, Mrs James McLeod; cold meat fork, Mr and Mrs James F Fuller; silver meat fork, Miss Etta Spinney; celery fork, L D Sprague; silver berry spoon, Mr and Mrs Frank Pearson and family; sugar shell, F J Latham; cracker jar, Addie B Clark and J W Dalton; silver cake basket, Mr and Mrs W H Kingsbury; pillow slips, Mr and Mrs Orrin W Corbett of West Bridgewater; check for $50, Eben W Mills; cheese dish, John Goram and family; vase, Mrs. Edward Washburn; fancy vase, Mr and Mrs Albert Shave; towels, Mr and Mrs S E Washburn; silver berry spoon and glass dish, Mr and Mrs C Cleaves; sofa pillow, Hattie Carr; table cover, Anna F Leonard; clock, Samuel Rose; parlor lamp, Mr and Mrs Wm Sylvester; picture, Mr and Mrs Wm King and Miss Ethel King.

Fire in Centreville.

On Monday of last week a fire broke out in Centreville, in the building occupied down stairs by Mrs. W. D. Balloch as a store, and up stairs by Everett Harold as a Customs office. The fire reached the next building, occupied by Ludlow Clark as a shoe shop and post office. Both buildings were destroyed. Mr. Harold lost all his books and papers. Mrs. Balloch lost a quantity of household furniture stored in the building. The contents of both stories of the post office were saved. Mr. Clark had $500 insurance in the Keystone and Mrs. Balloch $700 in the Liverpool, London and Globe.

Mr. Clark now occupies Shepherd Burt's building as a post office.
