

Lasts a Lifetime.

That is just what they say of Vapo-Cresolene. The vaporizer is practically indestructible, and the Cresolene is certainly not expensive. This way of treating affections of the throat is most economical, and is also most effective. Our little picture illustrates how it's used. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light lamp beneath, and then breathe in the soothing, healing vapor. For whooping-cough and croup it's a perfect specific.

Heavy Damages for Blain.

(Toronto Globe.)

The jury in the Winter Assizes last evening awarded T. J. Blain, barrister, of Brampton, $3,500 damages in his suit against the Canadian Pacific Railway. The hearing was finished about 5 o'clock, and the verdict was reported to the court three hours later.

Blain was a passenger on a special train from Toronto to Brampton on the evening of Oct. 10 last having been in the city to attend the demonstration in honor of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. On three different occasions on the trip home he was assaulted by Richard Anthony of Brampton, who seemed to have a grievance against him. The first took place at the Union Station here, the second shortly after the train passed Toronto Junction and the third near Streetsville. There was bad blood between the two men on account of a domestic trouble. After the first assault Blain drew the attention of the conductor of the train to Anthony's presence, and asked for protection. He repeated the request at Parkdale station, but there was no interference with Anthony on the part of any of the company's officials. Blain claimed unstated damages from the company because of their alleged negligence in failing to extend to him due protection while he was a passenger on one of their trains. He also claimed that he has been afflicted with deafness since he was assaulted, and that this was chiefly due to the blows on the head received from Anthony. He maintained that his doctor had ordered him to give up business for six months and to go away for his health. For this he demanded remuneration. Anthony has since been tried in a criminal court and has been convicted of common assault. He is serving a two months' term in jail and has been bound over in $2,000 to keep the peace towards Blain for one year.

The case has been in progress for a couple of days, before Chief Justice Falconbridge and a jury. Mr. W. R. Riddell, K. C., represented the plaintiff, and Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., the company. Many legal points arose during the trial, and each was thoroughly weighed. At the close of the plaintiff's case yesterday Mr. Johnston asked for a non-suit, on the ground that it had not been shown that the defendants knew of the reasonable probability of an assault upon Blain by Anthony, and also that if Blain had provoked the assault the company was not liable. The judge refused the motion, and gave a number of reasons, which were afterwards repeated during the charge to the jury.

Business Men's Backs.

Too much rush and bustle, work and worry fall to the lot of the average business man. Kidneys can't stand it; they fail to filter the poisons from the blood properly. Urinary trouble, general languor and pain in the back are the natural results. A man can't attend to business properly if his back aches—no use trying.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Take a hint from business men who have used them:

"I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Medical Hall here, for rheumatism and pains in the small of my back, with which I have been afflicted for the past six years. They did me so much good that I heartily recommend them as an excellent medicine for rheumatic troubles and backache." CHARLES C. PILKEY, dealer in agricultural implements, Orillia, Ont.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, gravel, sediment in the urine, too frequent risings at night, rheumatism, and weakness of the kidneys in children and old people. Remember the name, Doan's, and refuse all others. The Doan Kidney Pills Co., Toronto, Ont.

LAXATIVE PILLS work while you sleep without a gripe or pain, curing biliousness, constipation, sick headache and dyspepsia and make you feel better in the morning. Price 25c. at all druggists.

The jurors had been excluded from the court while the argument for and against a non-suit was proceeding.

Mr. Johnston called no evidence for the defence, but some papers and documents had been put in as exhibits on the company's behalf.

Mr. Riddell in his address to the jury said that the plaintiff asked for no stated sum in his original claim. The speaker believed, however, that $10,000 might well be awarded to Blain. Of this $5,000 would probably cover the disability on account of deafness, $3,250 the loss of business, etc., on account of his enforced holiday, and the balance the other inconveniences which the plaintiff had suffered.

Chief Justice Falconbridge began his address to the jury by saying that the law regarding such cases had not been laid down, as one similar in all respects had never been tried in a court in the British dominions. The conductor, in the present instance, his Lordship said, had not seen the assaults on the plaintiff, but the company was liable if the giving of the notice of the probability of such assaults could be proven. Blain claimed that he had twice notified the conductor to that effect. The defendants were liable for any injuries received by one passenger from another when the conductor failed to discharge his duties. The facts were little in dispute, and the question was as to how far the conductor acted reasonably, having regard to the information which he possessed. It would be a very dangerous condition of affairs if the theory of the conductor that his liability arose only when he witnessed these assaults held good. The Chief Justice touched briefly on the question of the amount of damages, if any, to be allowed, and concluded by saying that the case was of the very highest public importance.

Carefully Avoid Substitutes and Imitations.

At the present time the Diamond Dyes are the only package dyes absolutely guaranteed by the manufacturers. The great popularity of the Diamond Dyes has brought forth many imitations and vile deceptions in the shape of home package dyes. These imitations, cheaply produced, are sold by some dealers for the sake of the extra profit they bring, and many are urged to buy them. If you would avoid trouble and disaster, refuse these adulterated dyes when they are offered to you, and insist upon getting the Diamond Dyes.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes will be pleased to send post free to any address their Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Designs. If you are a lover of pretty room ornaments, write to The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain St., Montreal, P. Q.

Americanization of the World.

When all the talk about the Americanization of the world is analyzed we find little more than the natural result of the discovery of the new world four hundred years ago. We are all accustomed to the idea of European leadership of the world. Races possessing great intellectual and physical capacity and energy occupied one of the most desirable parts of the earth's surface, temperate in climate, fertile, broken up into islands and peninsulas, so as to provide an immense sea coast. Art and literature, government and military science found in the European countries an immense development. The idea grew up that Europe was for all higher purposes the world. Even the continent of America was at first regarded only as a means of enriching Europe and furnishing its bold spirits with fields of adventure.

The same races who built up European supremacy now comprise the main population of the United States, of Canada and of the South American countries. They are as masterful here as they were in Europe, and they have the advantage of an immensely greater territory and greater scope for their energies. As a rule, they have established republican instead of monarchical institutions, and even in Canada attachment to monarchy is modified by a strong democratic spirit. Speaking of the continent, and not merely of the United States, America is bound to surpass Europe in population, wealth and power, simply because we have here the same races, with more room to grow, and with freedom from many of the bonds which the custom of ages has fastened upon Europe.

Now American civilization has reached the Pacific coast, and its nearest neighbor to the west represents one of the most ancient civilizations in the world. The dream of the old navigators, that by travelling westward they would find a new route to Asia, is virtually realized by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the transcontinental lines of the United States. China will eventually become modernized, and it is difficult to see how Asiatic Russia can remain despotic in the face of the influence and example of the American nations and of Australia. Those of us who have lived the greater part of our lives in the nineteenth century, and who ponder over its achievements and glories, can have little conception of the wonders that await the twentieth, "the heir of all the ages."

Just of Age.

Some few years ago an old pair had ascended the stairs for their night's rest. They had been there some time when the clock struck twelve; the next minute they were startled by their bedroom door opening, and in walked their son Will.

"Well, Will," exclaimed the fond father, "what is the matter?"

"There is a man in the house," said the hopeful.

The father jumped out of bed, snatched up the poker, and they went downstairs. The house was searched, but no man was found.

"Where's the man?" said the father.

Will straightened himself and, pointing to his breast, said:—

"Father, here he is." It was his twenty-first birthday. He got a thrashing for it, man or no man.

Cheering on His Men.

It is related that once, when a captain in the army was cornered by the enemy, he addresses his men as follows: "My men, fight like demons until your power gives out, then run. I'm a little lame, I'll start now."

—[The Argonaut.]

A Yorkshire farmer was asked to the funeral of a neighbour's third wife, and, as he had attended the funeral of the two others, his own wife was rather surprised when he declined this invitation. On being pressed, he gave his reasons with some hesitation:—

"Well, thee sees, lass, it makes a chap feel a bit awkward like to be allus accepting other folk's civilities when he never has nowt o't soart of his own to ax'em back to."

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

"What's this thing?" asked a man who was inspecting a music emporium.

"That? Oh, that's used on violins. We call it a chin-rest."

"Gimme one!" exclaimed the visitor.

"S'pose it would work on my wife?"

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable. HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY. F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

After being in business at Bristol for five years, I have decided that it will be better for my customers and better for me to sell goods only on the Cash System.

By adopting the new plan I will be able to buy for spot cash and thus secure large cash discounts, the benefit of which my customers will receive in lower prices.

In discussing this business change with merchants who have tried both systems, they inform me that under the new system they are able to sell goods remarkably cheaper than under the old.

I therefore desire to announce that commencing with January 1st, 1902, I will sell goods for pay down only.

Farm Produce will be taken in exchange for goods. Yours truly,

FRED. A. PHILLIPS, Bristol.
