MODERN FABLES, - BY GEORGE ADE.

The Subordinate Who Saw a Great Light—The Unfortunate Has-Been and the Single-Handed Fight.

Once there was an Employee who was getting the Nub End of the Deal. He kicked on the long Hours and the small Salary and helped organize a Clerks' Protective Association. He was for the Toiler as against the Main Squeeze.

In order to keep him simmered down the Owners gave him an interest. After that he began to perspire when he looked at the Pay-Roll, and it did seem to him that a lot of big lazy Lummixes were standing around the Shop doing the Soldier Act. He learned to snap his Fingers every time the Office Boy giggled. As for the faithful old Book-keeper who wanted an increase to $9 and a week's Vacation in the Summer, the best he got was a little Talk about Contentment being a Jewel.

The Associate Partner played Simon Legree, all except the make-up. The saddest moment of the Day for him was when the whole Bunch knocked off at 6 o'clock in the Evening. It seemed a Shame to call ten Hours a Full Day. As for the Saturday Half-Holiday Movement that was little better than Highway Robbery. Those who formerly slaved alongside of him in the Galleys had to address him as Mister, and he had them numbered the same as Convicts.

One Day an Underling ventured to remind the Slave-Driver that once he had been the friend of the Salaried Minion. "Right you are," said the Boss. "But when I plugged for the lowly Wage-Earner I never had been in the Directors' Office to see that beautiful tableau entitled 'Virtue Copping out the Annual Dividend.' I don't know that I can make the Situation clear to you, so I will merely remark that all those who get on our side of the Fence are enabled to catch a new Angle on this Salary Question."

MORAL: For Educational Purposes, every Employee should be taken into the Firm.

THE UNFORTUNATE HAS-BEEN.

In an open-faced Car sat a glib Person and a decrepit Old Gentleman with a haggard and sorrowful Frontispiece.

The two dropped into a Conversation and soon began opening up their Private Affairs, according to the Western Fashion. The glib Party told how much he was drawing and how he invested it and all about several gigantic Schemes that he had under his Cuff. The Antique with the pall-bearing Face did not enthuse.

"Young Man, you will learn that Life is a series of wasted Opportunities and vain Regrets," he said. "When you are all in and a new Generation comes along and gives you a good swift Bump and you light on your back over by the Fence, then you can lie there and look up at the Sky and count the Good Things that got past you."

With that the broken-hearted Patriarch sprang a lonely Bundle of Hard-Luck Tales. He pointed out a Corner Lot now valued at a Half Million that had been offered to him for $350. Once he had been given a Chance to trade a second-hand Buggy for a half-interest in a Patent that netted a couple of Thousand each Day. The Stock in the Street Railway Company he closed out at 7. Afterwards it went to 293.

I used to own the Ground where the First National stands," he said, with Tears in his Eyes. "Like a blithering Pin-Head, I traded it for a Team of Mules. If I hadn't been all kinds of a Ninny, I could have got in on the Ground Floor of the Standard Oil. And now I'm getting too old and weak to kick myself."

At the next Corner the ancient Wreck alighted and tottered on his Way. "Is it not a Sad Case?" said the Young Man to the Conductor. "How bitter must be his Reflections when he counts up what he might have nailed, if he had been Foxy."

"Yes, I feel sorry for him," said the Humane Conductor, who was drawing $8 per Week. "All he can show is a measly little Two Millions. What breaks his Heart is that he doesn't own both sides of the Street and the Green Cars that run in between."

MORAL: The Kicker is the Man who gets Part of it.

THE SINGLE-HANDED FIGHT.

A Traveller landed in a Blue-law Town one Sunday Morning and found it as dead as a Mackerel. There were only two Horses hitched at the Square and in every Window the Curtains were down.

"Why and wherefore this funeral Hush?" he inquired of the Hotel Clerk.

"The Sunday-Closers have been at work," replied the Clerk. "You can't get a Nip today for Love or Money."

"I can't, can't I?" demanded the Traveler, indignantly.

"Do the Enemies of Personal Liberty think that they can deprive me of my just Rights? Not on your Dreamy Eyes! Watch me."

He cut for an Alley and began trying every Back Door. He would rap three times on a

Bluff and say "It's me," but there was nothing doing.

However, he was not to be thwarted. In the absence of the Blind Pig and the Speak Easy, he fell back on the Prescription Gag. Inquiring his way, he walked 8 Blocks to a Physician's Residence and caught the Doc just as he was starting to Church. He gave Doc the K. P. Grip and begged him to save a Life. He said he had Cramps and nothing but a large Slug of the Scandinavian Joy-Producing would relieve his Agony. Doc wrote "Spirits Frumenti—taken as directed," and said it would come to One Dollar.

Then the Sufferer went out to find a Drug Clerk. After a long Search he found Mr. Higginson of the People's Pharmacy, down at Main Street Bridge, pushing a Baby Carriage. At first the Druggist balked on opening up, but the Traveler said he was a Dying Man and handed over a good ten-cent Cigar.

At 2 p. m. he went back to the Hotel wearing in his Pistol Pocket a Flask of Squirrel Whiskey, the color of Kerosene. He was flushed and happy, for he had made a Monkey of the Law. He invited two other Drummers up to 62. They pulled down the Curtains and tapped the Poison, and nobody could talk for 5 Minutes.

Two Months later the same Traveler struck the Town one Sunday and found a Baseball Team giving a Parade.

"Everything is wide open since the April Election," said the Clerk. "I can get you whatever you want."

"All Right," was the Reply. "Send up a pitcher of Ice-Water."

MORAL: Thirst follows the Prohibition Clause.

NATURE SMILING WHILE THOUSANDS SUFFER.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Great Spring Health Giver Makes Sick People Well.

When spring comes with its gentle showers, its balmy air, its bright sunshine and bursting buds, it too often brings to our homes scenes of suffering and physical decay.

The seeds of disease which were imperceptibly germinating during the winter months, have developed and planted in the system dangers that now demand our instant care and attention. Neglect and procrastination only deepen existing perils and lead to death.

Before the advent of spring, you must have noted symptoms, perhaps of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, kidney disease, liver complaint, functional irregularities or nervous disorders.

If you have experienced pains in the joints, muscles or limbs, lacerating pains in face or head, stomach derangements, bile, dislike of food, pains in back and loins, swelling of hands or feet, frequent urinating, with highly colored urine, loss of energy, torpid liver, vomiting or impure blood—any of these are warnings of disease.

Take warning sufferers! Delay not another day; hesitation and decision on your part may forever seal your fate. If you have already made efforts to banish your troubles by the use of other medicines and the treatment of physicians, and these have failed, we counsel you to put your full trust in that never-failing disease banisher, Paine's Celery Compound. Its use for a week or two will convince you that you have truly commenced a new existence; it will assuredly give you the health you need for the enjoyment of true life. Mr. A. Daignault, St. Hyacinthe, Que., writes as follows:

"I desire to say, that had it not been for Paine's Celery Compound I would not be living today. Five years ago I was taken sick, and suffered from dyspepsia and catarrh. For three years I was unable to work, and would lose consciousness several times a day. I was tired of life, and could realize that death was my only deliverer from suffering. At that time one of my friends urged me to use Paine's Celery Compound, as all other medicines had failed. After the use of six bottles I am as well as ever before in my life, and can do a full day's work. My friends say my cure is a miracle, as I was surely condemned to die. I thank you for your wonderful life-giving medicine."

No branch of the poultry business pays better than the raising of turkeys. This is true whether they are raised for market purposes or for the fancy. As fowls for the farm they are a benefit as well as a profit. Turkeys must and will forage, and they cannot be raised profitably without good range. The turkey is undoubtedly the farmer's best friend. They have been created with a roving instinct, which causes them to constantly travel from one field to another. In doing this they rid the place of worms, grasshoppers and other insects that are detrimental to crops and a nuisance to the farmer.
