A Green Turtle Farm. From the Royal Magazine, In these go-ahead days we are getting accustomed to municipal enterprise in almost every shape and form, but it is not generally known that among the various enterprises worked by the British government is that of turtle farming, carried on at Ascension Island. The island is specially suited for this purpose, as, despite its close proximity to the equator, the temperature is low and the atmosphere healthy on account of the prevailing southeasterly trade winds. January in each year sees the beginning of the turtle season, which does not, as a rule, last more than three months. All turtles caught at Ascension Island are the property of the Crown, and are only sent to England and other places for disposal as directed by the Admiralty, in whose hands the government of the whole island practically rests. The particular species which favors Ascension with its visits is the "Chelonia viridis," or green turtle. This, as may be supposed, is the turtle from whose green fat and portion of the fins that particular brand of soup is made which is proverbially associated with the banquets of London's civic dignitaries.

It is wholly for its value as an edible commodity that the turtle farms are carried on, as the shell, unlike that of the tortoise, is of no commercial value. To test the statement made about the turtles' habit of returning to the island year after year, one was once thrown overboard near Honolulu, with the date and location for the throwing cut on the back. Three years and two months afterward this turtle "turned up" at Ascension, having traveled over 15,000 miles. More recently still another was thrown overboard in the English Channel, and was caught again at Ascension within six months.

MAGNETIC HEALING.

I feel it my duty to my fellow creatures to inform them of the benefits I received from Magnetic Healing. I have been a sufferer with Bright's disease for eight years, and have been treated by several of our best doctors, who could only give me temporary relief, and they all agreed that I could only live a short time. I have been confined to my bed for several months at a time, and have been subject to severe headaches, so severe that I did not know how I could possibly live through them. My limbs and body were fearfully swollen, and I had severe cramps in my stomach, which lasted from three to five hours, and many of my friends thought that I could not possibly survive them, in fact I had given up all hope of recovery and would have been glad to have been relieved of my sufferings by death. The doctors cautioned me not to get cold, saying the least cold would prove fatal. A friend of mine told me about some wonderful cures that were being made by Mr. E. Moore, of Meductic, Professor of Magnetic Healing, and about the first day of June last past, like a drowning person who grasps a straw, I sent for him. I received his Magnetic treatment and it worked like magic. I felt better at once and on the second day I was able to be up and doing my house-work. About the last of June I contracted a very heavy cold and was soon bedfast with a severe attack of congestion, everybody who knew me felt sure that my time had come. Professor Moore happened to be here at the time and treated me, and I am very happy to say that my recovery was very rapid, and that I am feeling better in every respect than I have felt for ten years. My headaches and cramps are all gone and all symptoms of Bright's disease have disappeared, and I feel like another person altogether. I do not know how to express my feelings in regard to Magnetic healing. I feel that I have been almost taken from the grave, and I can fully recommend Professor Moore's treatment to all who are afflicted. MRS. FRED. LOVEGROVE, Burt's Corner, York County.

The above testimonial, sworn to, was by Mrs. Lovegrove.

Professor Moore, the gentleman referred to in the above testimonial, is a graduate of the School of Magnetic Healing in Missouri. He says that he has practised Magnetic Healing in some of the largest cities in Canada, where he had remarkable success, effecting many cures; that he has treated all kinds of diseases, organic as well as nervous; that he has had excellent success in treating heart trouble, and that he has treated several cases of consumption successfully. He refers the public to Thaddeus Porter, of Porton, whom he cured of a bad case of kidney trouble; to Mrs. Arvad Tompkins of Shogomoc, whom he cured of consumption after she was given up by two doctors; to Mrs. Henry Veness of Fredericton, whom he cured of a tumor and nervous prostration; to C. H. Farnham Perth, whose infant he cured of Pneumonia. Professor Moore's office for the present is at Meductic, where he may be consulted either personally or by letter.

Crawford: "While your wife is away in the country why do you always send her such small sums at a time?" Crabshaw: "If I didn't she might use the money to come home unexpectedly."

by the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches and the pleasures of this life. It is not because we do not believe in scriptural perfection, but because we prefer worldly pleasures. It is not because we are deceived concerning righteousness, but because we are deceived by riches—whether gained or only coveted while we cannot get them.

Wireless Telegraphy. Until confirmed, it will be wise to avoid jubilating over Marconi's alleged reception at St. John's Newfoundland, of aerial messages sent from England. This doubtless, if true, is the marvel of marvels. But of the commercial value of wireless telegraphy, there is ground for serious doubts. So there was, it may be replied, of the value of steam navigation, which was proved impassible by one scientist, and later of cable telegraphy. On the whole, perhaps suspense of judgment is the wiser attitude. How aerial messages are to avoid getting mixed in transit; how they are to be identified; how prevented reaching the wrong station; how their certainty of being read at the right place and right time can be secured are problems, however, which present difficulties that excite scepticism.—Insurance & Finance Chronicle.

PUBLIC OPINION is strong in favor of Pain-Killer. For over sixty years the foremost household remedy for cuts, bruises, sprains, and all bowel complaints. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis' 25c. and 50c.

She Was Boss.—Elsie—"All right. We'll play grand opera, and I'll be the boss." Willie—"No, you can't. It takes a man to be the manager." Elsie—"Oh, you can be the manager, but I'll be what they call the bella-donna."

Ancient Newspapers.

It is quite natural that a fire in a neighbour's house should interest us more than the burning of a whole village in some country of the geography and people of which we know little or nothing. That is why the local paper has such a firm hold on its subscribers. One must take it because one is so immediately interested in the news it gives.

But most people take several publications to meet the varied needs and tastes of an intelligent family. Probably along with their local paper one of the big metropolitan daily or weekly newspapers comes next in consideration. Large metropolitan papers such as the Montreal Witness, Daily edition at $3 and Weekly at $1, for example lay out to supply every interest of a family, the news and editorial being backed up by many interesting features such as stories, cookery, dress-making, fancy work, Boys, Children's Home departments, agricultural, legal, medical, numismatic, chess and many other special departments.

There are wants however which even these big papers do not supply, as illustrated by the experience of the publishers of the "Witness." The Dougalls long ago realized the importance of a young people's paper, suitable for Sunday reading. The "Northern Messenger," at 30 cts per annum, like the "Witness," has been a household word all over Canada as long as anyone can remember. It seems to meet its own sort of need well, as it claims a standing circulation of over fifty thousand copies a week.

But what has interested us of late is a new departure in journalism on the part of the same house. About a year ago they hit, as results have proved, on another need in special journalism. It was the need of a good eclectic which, for a dollar a year, and within the compass of the business man's time for reading, would supply the best articles that appear during a week in the great publications of the world in general. The newest publication is appropriately called "World Wide." It has surprised a great many people to find how much of the most interesting and informing current reading they can get in such small compass and for so small a price. There is probably no other eclectic published that would give the ordinary reader whose time for reading is limited the same satisfaction. We see it stated that since it was started it has grown at the astonishing rate of nearly a thousand new subscribers a month. The price is only seventy five cents to January 1st, 1903, if paid before the end of January. It is sixteen pages and is issued every Friday.

Though of course, we do not agree with everything in them we take a certain pleasure in referring to the publications of the "Witness" Office as we cannot but acknowledge that they deserve the esteem in which they are held throughout the Dominion. The publishers have had their ways and they have held to them through thick and thin. Their publications are perhaps as clean and dignified as is possible to make them.

We are glad to make the above reference because we are enabled by special arrangements to offer the following special clubbing rates to our subscribers.

Table with 2 columns: Publication Name, Price. THE DISPATCH and the DAILY WITNESS $3.00 usual price $4.00. WEEKLY WITNESS 1.50 " " 2.00. WORLD WIDE 1.50 " " 2.00. NORTHERN MESSENGER 1.20 " " 1.30. last three 2.00 " " 2.50.
