Stop the Blight
It is a sad thing to see fine fruit trees spoiled by the blight.
You can always tell them from the rest. They never do well afterwards but stay small and rickly.
It is worse to see a blight strike children. Good health is the natural right of children.
But some of them don't get their rights. While the rest grow big and strong one stays small and weak.
Scott's Emulsion can stop that blight. There is no reason why such a child should stay small. Scott's Emulsion is a medicine with lots of strength in it—the kind of strength that makes things grow.
Scott's Emulsion makes children grow, makes them eat, makes them sleep, makes them play. Give the weak child a chance. Scott's Emulsion will make it catch up with the rest.
This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

missed by everybody. The Comedy Company extends a hearty thanks to Mr. Carruthers for the interest he took in the play they had on Christmas Eve. A large crowd was at the station to bid him good bye.
The Comedy Company didn't have a very big turnout to their concert they had on Christmas Eve. It being so wet and the roads so bad it was impossible for a very large crowd to attend. Those who were there liked the play very much. All the parts were well taken. The slack wire walking pleased everybody as did the Indian club swinging. The company intend having another play in the spring and we hope they will have a better night than that on Chris-mas Eve.

(Saturday Evening Post, Philadelphia.) Before Mr. Carnegie turned over his great steel business to the trust he had frequently to consult with the New York corporation lawyer, Mr. James B. Dill. One evening Mr. Carnegie, in Pittsburg, called up Mr.
Dill at his club in New York, on the long-distance telephone.

‘I want your opinion on an important question,’ said Mr. Carnegie. ‘Can you come over tonight and see me at breakfast in the morning.’ It was nearly nine o'clock, and Pittsburg and New York are 430 miles apart.
‘The last train for Pittsburg has just left Jersey City,’ answered Mr. Dill.
‘Then come over on the morning train,’ Mr. Carnegie suggested.
‘I can't well do that,’ said Mr. Dill, ‘because I have an appointment tomorrow night with Mr. X—— here.’ Mr. Carnegie answered at once:—‘Get a special train to night.’ Half an hour later, Mr. Dill, in his special train, was on his way to Pittsburg. Eleven hours later he said, ‘Good morning’ to Mr.
Carnegie.
Mr. Dill, said the steel maker, ‘I wouldn't have asked you to travel nearly a thousand miles for nothing.’
Then he asked the corporation lawyer a question, on the answer to which hung the disposition of millions of property. Mr. Dill gave his opinion in a single word.
‘Thank you, that's all,’ said Mr. Carnegie.
‘I hope you will keep your engagement in New York tonight. Good-by.’ Mr. Dill was with Mr. Carnegie less than five minutes. The special train reached New York that night without mishap, and a few days later Mr. Dill received for his one-word opinion a cheque for $5,000.
