The Question of Curing Cheese.

The matter of properly curing cheese, which is one receiving extra interest just now, owing to the proposed action of the Dominion Government in erecting a station for that purpose at Brockville, is one of great importance to the future of the whole industry in this country. Professor Ruddick, speaking at a dairymen's meeting recently, said that he believed that by curing cheese in a properly regulated temperature its value per pound would be increased by from half a cent to a cent, and there would also be a saving in shrinkage. In this country, as a general rule, curing rooms have too high a temperature in the summer months, and the result is a loss, during the season, of fully $2,000,000. The quality of cheese has to be good from the very start, or all the improved storage and shipping facilities in the world will not improve it. In the curing room to be erected by the Government, four weeks will be devoted to the process instead of two, and the output is sure to bring a higher price. If Canadian are to increase their exports in this line of produce, or even if they are to keep their present hold on British markets, some great improvements will need to be made in the methods of curing and preserving.—Monetary Times.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrozone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength! That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrozone gives hope, vigor, vim, endurance. Use Ferrozone and get strong. Sold by Garden Bros.

Browning's Care for Health.

He never passed a day without taking one or more long walks; indeed his panacea for most ills was exercise, and the exercise he chiefly advocated was walking. He wrote: "I get as nearly angry as it is in me to become with people I love when they trifle with their health,—that is, with their life,—like children playing with jewels over a bridge-side, jewels which, once in the water, how can we, the poor lookers-on, hope to recover? You don't know how absolutely well I am after my walking, not on the mountains merely, but on the beloved Lido. Go there, if only to stand and be blown about by the sea-wind."—The Late Mrs. Arthur Bronson in the Century Magazine.

Small Package Trade.

In former years city people bought flour by the barrel, crackers by the half barrel, sugar by the large package, a whole ham, and other things in proportion. These things now come in small packages—bags or boxes. This is the modern spirit of trade. The consumer no longer keeps a large supply of food on hand, but expects the grocer and the butcher to do it for him. The fruit grower must follow in this line, and cut down the size of his package or have some one to do it for him. The barrel as a retail package is disappearing in the city and large town; in fact apples are about the only product now offered in this way. Very few apples are now sold to the consumer in this large package. It is emptied by the dealer and either measured out or repacked. Of course restaurant and hotel-keepers buy barrels, but the family trade is in the smaller packages. The growers must soon decide whether they will try to obtain the price paid for packing in small lots, or turn this share of profit over to the dealer.—Rural New Yorker.

A Food for Brain and Muscle

Whether it is brain fog, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind or bodily weakness and general debility, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will restore your old time energy, strength and health. Through the blood and nervous system, it reaches every part of the body and overcomes weakness, irregularities and disease.

Many years ago Mr. Henniker Heaton, the pioneer of Universal Penny Postage, happened to be in a village post-office in Lincolnshire when a poorly-clad woman entered and asked how much it would cost to send a letter to her son in Australia. "Sixpence," was the reply; and the old woman, with a sorrowful shake of the head, departed. Mr. Heaton quickly followed her with a sixpenny stamp, which the old lady, with many protestations of gratitude, affixed to a letter which she held in her hand. Three months later Mr. Heaton was again in the same office, and the postmaster asked him if he remembered the old lady whose letter he had stamped. He replied that he did. "Well," said the official, "in reply to that letter the poor old soul has just received a five-pound note from her son, besides which the lad wants his mother to go out to him and has offered to pay her passage." "That incident," said Mr. Henniker Heaton, "led me to keep pegging away at the post office for reductions in the postal tariff, with a result which has been very gratifying."

Rheumatic-warped Limbs,
Pain and Suffering.

Not a Trace of Rheumatism Left
After Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

If you are a sufferer from rheumatism it is possible that you have tried many remedies without reaping much benefit. Judging from the number of cures that have been reported, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills must be about the best medicine obtainable for rheumatism. It cures thoroughly, by ridding the blood of uric acid poisons, the cause of rheumatism and severe body pains.

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes: "I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left, and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness, which formerly attacked me frequently."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a larger sale by far than any similar remedy. They cure when others disappoint. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A Smart Salesman.

Jeweler (to new boy)—Did you sell anything while I was out, Johnny?
"Yes, sir. I sold six plain gold rings."
Good, my boy," said the jeweler, highly pleased. "We'll make a first-class salesman of you one of these days. You got the regular price, of course?"
"Oh, yes, sir. The price was marked on the inside, 18c., and the gentleman took all that was left, sir."—N. Y. "Life"

Spotting the Saxons.

There is a story on record of three Irishmen rushing away from a race meeting at Punchestown to catch a train back to Dublin. At the moment a train from a long distance pulled up at the station, and three men scrambled in. In the carriage was seated one other passenger. As soon as they had regained their breath one said:—

"Pat, have you got th' tickets?"
"What tickets? I've got me loife: I thought I'd have lost that gettin' in th' thrain. Have you got 'em, Moike?"

"Oi, begorrah, I haven't."
"Oh, we're all done for, thin," said the third. "They'll charge us roight from the other side of Oireland."

The old gentleman looked over his newspaper and said:—
"You are quite safe, gentlemen; wait till we get to the next station."

They all three looked at each other.
"Bedad, he's a director; we're done for now, intirely."

But as soon as the train pulled up the little gentleman jumped out and soon came back with three first-class tickets. Handing them to the astonished strangers he said:—

"Whist, I'll tell ye how I did it. I went along the thrain: 'Tickets, please! tickets, please!' I called, and these belong to three Saxon tourists in another carriage."

On Magnetic Healing

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most truly remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure thorough and permanent.

Young Rascals.

A ragged street urchin entered a baker's shop and requested the proprietor to supply him with a halfpenny roll. The baker did so, whereupon the boy said:—

"My brother's outside, an' if 'e know I got this 'e'll take it awy. Will ye hide it for me, guv'nor, down 'ere?" pointing to the back of his neck.

The good-natured baker came from behind his counter, and as the boy stooped in front of him pushed the roll down as requested.

"Thank ye, guv'nor, that'll do," said the urchin, and away he went. A moment after, urchin number two ran breathlessly into the shop.

"As my little brother been in an' bought a roll?"

"Yes," said the shopkeeper; "just this moment."

"Did 'e ask you to put it down the back of 'is neck?"

"Yes," said the baker.

"Then I'm blest if he ain't got your watch!"
"So he has, the young scoundrel!" exclaimed the baker in a rage, and finding his watch gone rushed out of the shop after urchin number one.

The moment he had gone urchin number two rifled the till.

Musical Sounds and Noise.

It is a curious fact that musical sounds fly farther and are heard at a greater distance than those which are more loud and noisy. If we go on the outside of a town during a fair, at the distance of a mile we hear the musical instruments, but the din of the multitude, which is so overpowering in the place can scarcely be heard, the noise dying on the spot. To those who are conversant with the power of musical instruments the following observations will be understood. The violins made at Cremona about the year 1600 are superior in tone to any of the later date, age seeming to dispossess them of their noisy qualities and leaving nothing but the pure tone. If a modern violin is played by the side of one of those instruments, it will appear much the louder of the two, but on receding a hundred paces when compared with the Cremona it will scarcely be heard.

Cheap Marrying.—There has just come into operation in New York State a new law which reduces the cost of marriage to twenty-five cents, the fee required by a notary public for the execution of a certificate. Henceforth a man and woman may legally become husband and wife by signing a contract to that effect, in the presence of two witnesses, before a notary public, who must file his certificate in the county clerk's office within six months. Certain enterprising lawyers are already advertising the advantages of the new system, which, as one of them puts it, brings marriage "within the reach of all."

She: "There's Mrs. Smith, and her uncle was only buried yesterday."
He: "There is only one death in her family that would keep that woman at home."
She: "Whose?"
He: "Her own."

Two elders were discussing their new minister. "Mon, Sudy," said one of them, "it's an awfu' peety the noo minister speaks through his nose."
"Yes, mon," replied the other, "it's an awfu' peety, and it's no like as if he was pinched for room through his mouth."

Suffocating
With Croup

Croup is the terror of every mother and the cause of frequent deaths among small children. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine brings prompt relief to the loud, ringing cough, makes breathing easy and prevents suffocation. It is mothers' favorite remedy for coughs, colics, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough and asthma.

Mrs. F. W. Bond, 20 Macdonald street, Barrie, Ont., says:—"Having tried your medicine, my faith is very high in its powers of curing cough and croup. My little girl has been subject to the croup for a long time, and I found nothing to cure it until I gave Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I cannot speak too highly of it."
