Fear Will Harm And Courage Help You
When Disease Comes.

Illness is most like a cowardly cur which gives chase if you flee from it, but goes on about its business, that of seeking the fearful ones, if you pass on unnoticed, but courageous. The reasons for the ability of brave men to go unharmed through pest hospitals, as did Napoleon and as physicians do every day, are not only psychological, but physiological.

The quality of mere courage seems to have a sort of pickling and hardening effect upon the tissues of the body, like the plunging in brine, steeling them against infection, while fear, by "unstringing" the nerves, weakens the whole resisting power of the body, inviting the very evil feared most.

The scientific health journals have been discussing this potent fact in hygienic laws to a great extent and urging its recognition by the masses.

"Fear weakens the heart's action," says Health in an article on this subject, "induces congestion, invites indigestion, produces poison through decomposing foods and is thus the mother of autopoisoning, which either directly causes or greatly aids in the production of quite 90 per cent. of all our diseases."

In recognizing this law, however, it is just as well to carry in a small pocket of one's memory the old adage, "Discretion is the better part of valor," and to avoid running needless dangers. But it is a well known fact that smallpox and like contagions will attack first those who are trembling for fear of it, often leaving unscathed the brave ones who are in the thickest of it nursing, tending and even burying the plague stricken.

With an armor welded of equal quantities of precaution and courage one stands a good chance of immunity from the attacking hordes of disease microbes.—New York Herald.

Good Health for Capital

Maintaining good health is to the majority of people the most vital question in the world and nature affords no more efficient strengthener for the system and restorative for the nerves than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Naturally, gradually, and certainly it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, creates new, healthy nerve cells and puts into the system the snap, energy and vitality that defies disease.

What Lights?

Some time ago an unquestionably suspicious fire occurred in a ready-made clothes store that was carried on in a certain locality of New York. The fire was immediately reported to the office of the company with which the building and its contents were insured, and an inspector was dispatched to make the necessary investigations.

The senior partner of the clothing firm was first waited upon and questioned, and he, Mr. Abrahams by name, informed the insurance official that it was his opinion that the fire was due to the electric light. He considered in fact, that in some way the glow-lamp wires had fused. Mr. Abrahams's partner, who happened to be a Mr. Moses, was separately interviewed on the subject, and he also attributed the disaster to electricity, but incautiously particularized sparks from the arc lights as the direct cause of the mischief.

Whilst returning to the office the inspector happened to encounter Patrick Murphy, who held the position of porter to the confiscated establishment, and thought he might now get an inkling of the true state of things. "Now, look here, Pat," said he, "what is really your own view of this awkward fire at Abrahams's shop? Your two governors seem to look at it in different ways: Mr. Abrahams says it was the glow-lights and Mr. Moses says it was the arc-lights. What do you think about it?"

"Faith," replied the son of Erin, reflective, "I'm inclined to fancy it must have been the Israelites!"

Completely Fagged Out.

The world is full of sickly, despondent, tired, enervated people, all hoping to be well some day. The surest way to health is along the way of taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone is a great appetizer and enables one to eat plenty of wholesome food without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia. This results in the rapid formation of an abundance of red, vitalizing blood, which will restore the nerves, increase flesh and vigor, and nourish and feed every organ of the body. Ferrozone is an ideal restorative and invigorant. It is a tonic of unequalled merit that anyone can use with benefit. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50, at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Sold by Garden Bros.

Unjustly Punished.

A friend of mine returning to camp after a day's shooting, says a writer in Navy and Army, suddenly came in sight of a big she bear with two cubs following in single file proceeding along a ridge, the forms of the three being sharply silhouetted against the sky. It was a very long shot, but he determined to try it, so drew a bead on the old she bear and fired. The result was curious. The procession stopped, the she bear scratched herself hastily, then turned around and, regarding the club immediately behind with grave disapproval, boxed its ears soundly and then went thudding on along the ridge, evidently under the impression that her frolicsome offspring had been up to some unusually objectionable tricks.

Burning, Itching, Stinging Piles

If people could only realize the virtue of Dr. Chase's Ointment they would not suffer long with piles.

Mr. W. H. Whitehair, a well-known and respected citizen, of Cobourg, Ont., states:—"Having used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, I can testify to its great value. The suffering which I endured from the burning, itching, stinging sensation of piles was something awful, and I can say that there is nothing in this world to equal Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for this dreadful disease. I tried a great many remedies and never got more than slight relief from any of them. But while Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief it went further and made a thorough cure. I cannot say too much in recommendation of this great remedy."

This is the only preparation which is positively guaranteed to cure any form of piles. Ask your neighbors about it. 60c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Way of the World.

We met the people going one way with their arms loaded with beautiful flowers.

"Whither do you drift?" we asked.

"We go," they exclaimed, to "adorn the graves of our dead heroes."

Later on we met them with their arms full of bricks.

"And now where?" we asked again.

"To throw these at our living heroes," they again explained, with pitying smiles at our dumbness.

A Right to Judge

Persons who have used Dr. Chase's Ointment have the best right to judge of its merits and there is no preparation on the market to day which is backed by such a mass of unsolicited testimony. It cures eczema, salt rheum and piles so promptly and thoroughly that people feel it a pleasure to recommend it to other sufferers. See testimonials in the newspapers.

Synonyms.

It happened in a Western school. The class engaged in word exercises.

"If I say resembles I mean like," said the pretty, young teacher. "Now, William Johnson, construct a sentence in which the word resemble is properly used."

William Johnson was a burly, full-blooded negro, and accordingly the teacher's astonishment was beyond expression when this devoted pupil, after a moment's thought, vouchsafed the following:

"I resemble my teacher very much!"

Realism That is not Real.

Emile Zola, who died in Paris on September 29th, did two things which will perpetuate his memory. He, more than any other one man, brought about the official review of the trial of Captain Dreyfus and his subsequent pardon; and he wrote a series of powerful novels. His object in writing them was to exhibit the conditions of society as they appeared to him, so that men, seeing how terrible those conditions were, might seek to better them.

His literary method has been classified as that of "realism," by which is meant the description of things as they are, not as they ought to be, nor as we hope they may be.

Zola undoubtedly did describe with accuracy the things which he saw; but he did not see anything higher than his head. There is more upon the landscape than one can observe from a cellar window, and when one has described life on its materialistic side only he has left out the vital element. The realism that does not take in the ideal is not realism, because it omits more than half of the picture.

The great novels that are read and read again are those which disclose men and women as looking up and not down, which recognize a spiritual aspiration and show it operating in human life. "David Copperfield" is such an one; "The Newcomes" is another, and "The Heart of Midlothian" still another. In these books one meets men who are loyal to their wives, who love their children, and who are kindly affectioned towards all mankind. Zola's method is notorious for depicting the opposite of these qualities. An impression of the state of society gathered from the Frenchman's novels is as untrue as the notion concerning the health of a community obtained by visiting a hospital.

Moreover, it is always a question if realism, even when it is most real, accomplishes its pretended object. The detailed account of a suicide is usually followed by other suicides. The study of crime begets crime, and the horrors which are spread before the public in the yellow journals harden the moral sense of the readers.

Went Him One Better.

A well known Glasgow divine related the following anecdote, showing that the ready wit of a countryman was more than a match for him:

He was going to the country for his holidays and was in a railway train when a young man entered. In a short time the two commenced a conversation, in the course of which the clergyman asked the youth what he worked at.

"I am a coupler, sir," was the reply.

"A coupler! So am I," replied the clergyman with a laugh.

The youth looked at him for a minute or so, then burst into a fit of laughter and said: "Oh, I see ye'r a meenister. Ye marry folks. But I gang farther than ye dae. I baith couple and uncouple."

The clergyman laughed heartily and acknowledged that the young had the better of the sally.

All soreness, pain, congestion and inflammation are at once dispelled, and by means of the healing powers of Catarrhzone the vitiated tissues are quickly restored. Where Catarrhzone is used colds last only ten minutes, coughs half an hour, and Catarrh, Consumption, Asthma and Bronchitis flee as from fire. A trial will convince anyone of the startling merits of Catarrhzone. Costs $1.00, small size 25c. At Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE CONSTIPATION.

The Science of Stoking.

According to Consul-General Mason at Berlin, the trailing clouds of black smoke from mill and factory that hang over so many American cities, darkening the atmosphere and befouling the buildings, could be eliminated if the scientific methods of constructing chimneys and stoking furnaces that prevail in Germany were adopted here. "It is not every strapping laborer who can shovel coal who is permitted to stoke a boiler furnace in Germany," says Mr. Mason. The stoker in that country must learn the theory and practice of economical scientific firing, whereby the coal is so distributed over the grate surface as to secure the most perfect combustion. The use of fuel briquettes for domestic purposes in Berlin also tends largely to the prevention of smoke.

Twitching of The Nerves

Mrs. Drinkwater, 5 Water Street, Galt, Ont., states:—"My great trouble has been with my nerves. I was very nervous, had twitching of the nerves and could not get to sleep at night. I seemed quite worn out and believing that I needed some medicine began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can truthfully say that this preparation has proven surprisingly beneficial to me. It has strengthened and steadied my nerves, made me rest and sleep well, and in fact built up the system generally."

In Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is found the ideal tonic for blood and nerves, and through these two mediums every organ in the human system is benefited. The languid, depressing feelings disappear when this great restorative is used, and with renewed energy and vigor disease is overcome, the organs of the body perform their various duties and new flesh and tissue are added 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
