Mainly About People.

BY THE LAD IN THE FRONT OFFICE.

BABIES.

Babies are one of the incidents of marriage. There are fewer marriages every year.

They have great larks sometimes with young couples by ignoring the notice "Boy Wanted," and coming as girls.

Another joke they are fond of is hunting in couples.

They are not much to look at, and a man has been known to knock another man down for telling him he was once one of them.

They cry a lot at first because they want to ask who they are, and can't.

Fathers would generally throw them away, but the mothers will not have it. A mother's love is the most wonderful thing in the world.

An ugly feature of babies is that they are apt to grow up into small boys.

SMALL BOYS.

Small boys are looked upon by the devil with some pride as one of his most successful inventions.

After careful consideration one is forced to the conclusion that they have not a single good quality.

They are never thoroughly happy unless they are killing either their little sister's favorite doll or their little sister. They are only truthful when drawing attention to the physical peculiarities of their father's visitors.

They will not be affectionate unless their hands and mouth are jammy after tea and you have a new suit on. And they are so noisy that married men who own one of them can sleep in the parrot house at the zoo.

And when once the small boy is here he stays. You may try what you will to get rid of him. Perch him for the first time in his life on a bicycle, and allow him to ride down the steep hill without a brake, and it will be the good old lady crossing the road who dies.

Send him to the river with a little boat to sail, and it will be the little boat that gets drowned. Place a box of matches in his way, and it will be the handsome Persian rug that becomes ashes. The parents will always be baffled.

That is the average small boy. Even religious people have been known to have one.

There is another sort who is always quite good. He is much worse, and fortunately, dies young!

WOMEN.

Women were put here to make the world look pretty, though the fashion papers have never guessed this.

They are fond of dressing, except at dances and dinner parties. A great traveller once met a lady friend, whom he had not seen for many years, at a dance. "Why, how you have altered," said the lady. "I declare I should not have known you from Adam." "Nor I you," retorted the man "from Eve." Another hobby is talking. They are quite as garrulous when sober as men are when in their cups, and their conversation is often just as well worth hearing.

As a rule they have more heart than head. This is apt to render them thoughtless. A woman will walk to the end of a street, then turn sharply round without looking to see whether there is any one immediately behind her, and, as a consequence, gouge your eye out with the end of her sunshade. Sometimes she will beg your pardon, but I have known one just flip the eye off the ferrule into the gutter and sail serenely on without saying a word.

They used to be called the gentle sex. But one day a man saw some of them entering Timothy Eaton's as the door opened on the first day of a clearance sale.

It has been remarked that they look nice at prayer, so they keep the churches going. At the same time, their versatility is really wonderful. They can be splendidly dishonest, and unconsciously so, and lady company directors are only a matter of time.

They think man a fine fellow when they are engaged to him. But the sad thing about engagements is that they often lead to marriage. Still, in spite of all, women are quite one of the nicest sexes, and if only they will keep silly instead of trying to be men I cannot help thinking there is a future for them. Their patience is certainly wonderful. The poor things have no pockets.

MEN.

Men are what women marry. They drink, and smoke, and swear, and have ever so many pockets, but won't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they might. They are more logical than women, and also more zoological. Both men and women have sprung from monkeys, but the women certainly have sprung further than the men.

Your Opportunity to Get Well

You are offered Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as the most perfect restorative, blood creator and system builder that was ever prepared. The name of the discoverer, Dr. A. W. Chase, is enough to guarantee this, and besides you have the testimony of scores and hundreds of cured ones in every part of Canada and the United States. You can use it knowing that it is bound to do you good.

Starting at Races.

There can be few conditions more exasperating than the average experience of a crowd at watching races start. The horses are sent up the stretch. They turn and come down like the wind. There is no greater mistake

RICH BLOOD Strong Nerves

When the blood gets thin and watery, as it usually does at this time of year, the nerves are first to suffer; they are starved and exhausted. Headache, dizzy spells, indigestion, weak action of the heart, languid, depressing feelings, weakness and functional derangements of the bodily organs are the result.

You can feel Dr. Chase's Nerve Food doing you good day by day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new, rich blood. You can prove that it builds up your nervous tissues and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

Mr. J. McFaul, carpenter, 315 Manning Avenue, Toronto, states:—"I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for acute indigestion, nervousness and inability to sleep, and now, after a thorough test, I am pleased to say that my nervous system has been built up, and I rest and sleep well. I can speak very highly of this preparation, knowing it to possess curative properties which I have failed to find in other remedies." 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

than this. To come properly under the wire with such speed is a practical impossibility and none know it better than the drivers themselves. The advantage to be hoped for does not appear.

As a result of this burst the gong sounds and in the effort at stopping they go a good eighth down.

They come back and repeat the performance and keep on repeating it till long after patience ceases to be a virtue. There is another point. Everyone understands the rule regarding the pole horse and the manner in which that horse shall take position. We know three or four drivers who persistently turn and come down without one moment considering the pole position, frequently thereby getting the whole field in advance of the intended leader. No starter can let them go under those conditions.

There is a great deal of nonsense in all this. Recently we were in the stand at one of the big race meets and the horses had scored ten times despite repeated warnings. They all came far too fast and two drivers, who declared their inability to hold their horses, came repeatedly in advance of the pole-horse. After the eleventh attempt the starter called them to the stand and fined the refractory pair five dollars each. It may have been all right, but the fact that that field got away beautifully at the very next attempt looked to us like a giveaway.

We feel certain that the public would appreciate a more frequent application of this power vested in a starter and it is more than likely that a vastly less amount of time would be required in getting away. Of course, we quite understand that plenty of horses require this scoring as a stimulant while, on the other hand, plenty of horses become practically uncontrollable. We hope to see the nonsense stopped. It requires no new legislation.—The Maritime Farmer.

A Magisterial Punster.

At a recent police-court sitting a man was fined forty shillings and costs for assaulting a policeman. Considering himself a much-injured man, on reaching the door he began abusing the magistrate in very officer language. The magistrate sent an officer after him, and the delinquent found himself once more in the dock, and fined again for contempt of Court.

"My man, if you had been more chaste and refined in your language," said the magistrate, "you would not have been chased and re-fined."

Fear of the Future

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne St., Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in back and legs, was gradually losing flesh and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine more reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

A Light Sentence?

A gentleman now living in New York tells the following story of a negro in Tennessee whose son had been convicted of killing a fellow workman. A few days after the trial the father was asked what disposition had been made of the case.

"Oh," he answered, "dey done send Johnson to jail for a monf."

"That's a light sentence for killing a man, don't you think?"

"Yes," answered the darty, "but at de end of de monf dey done goin' to hang 'im."

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS CURE CONSTIPATION.

Stable Disinfection.

The disinfection of stables after a period of constant use should be a part of routine practice. Dairy stables in particular should be disinfected twice a year, and oftener if the conditions demand it. It is not possible to give many stables that thorough disinfection that is possible in houses, because their construction will not admit of it, but it is possible to do very much and at little expense. The ideal method of disinfection is by means of gas, as that would have the power to penetrate everything. The effectiveness of this method depends upon securing a large volume of gas and maintaining it for some time. Unless the stable can be made tight, a gas will be of little use. For all practical purposes, the gas produced by burning sulphur over a pot of coals is the best, if used in connection with steam. The dry sulphur fumes have little germ-killing powder but when combined with the steam in the air they form a compound that is deadly. The boiling of water and burning of sulphur should go together. Formaldehyde gas is not so efficient for stable disinfection, as many would have us believe.

A very practical means of disinfection, that may be used under almost every stable condition, is by whitewashing. This is not expensive for material, and is very easily applied by means of an unexpensive fruit spray pump. The lime should be thoroughly slaked and strained through cloth, and made just thin enough to work well through the nozzle. One man can apply two coats of whitewash with a pump, and reach all parts of sides and ceiling of a room in about one-fourth the time required with the brush. Whitewash will kill or hold the germs with which it comes in contact. It has the effect, too, of making the barn lighter and cleaner. After the first spraying, one application will usually be sufficient if given regularly. As the business of supplying milk to cities and creameries is of large proportions, and depends upon cleanliness, this precaution of disinfection should be regularly followed.—[Country Gentleman.

Color Is One of The Most Important Points in Well Made Butter.

Too many buttermakers lose sight of the fact that "color" is one of the most important and effective points in good butter. The sweetest and richest butter is but half prepared for the critical eyes of consumers, if the color be faulty or objectionable.

Wells, Richardson & Co's Improved Butter Color gives the natural golden tint to butter in the autumn and winter seasons. It is the favorite color in the Government Creameries, and is used exclusively by the largest makers of butter for export and home consumption. Well, Richardson & Co's Improved Butter Color never fades from the butter; it does not turn a bricky shade such as other colors produce; it is pure and harmless; its keeping qualities are perfect; it is the strongest, therefore the cheapest to use. Ask your druggist or dealer for it; take no other make.

Knew Human Nature.

He had called at a house in the suburbs on business, and as he rose to go he said:—

"I believe you were in the lake district last summer?"

"Yes."

"Go fishing?"

"Yes."

"Catch anything?"

"One little perch."

"Ha, ha, ha! That's what I expected. Well, good-night."

When the caller had gone the wife said, indignantly:—

"Richard, how can you sit there and tell stories in that bold way? You know we caught over twenty fish weighing 5lb. apiece; and that big jack weighed 11lb."

"My dear wife," returned the husband, soothingly, "you don't know human nature. That man is now willing to take my word for £500. If I had told him of those fish he would have gone away believing me to be the biggest fibber in the kingdom."

20 Years of Itching Piles

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured, and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

Not to be Outdone.

Housekeeper: "Have you any Mocha coffee, sir?"

Small Dealer: "Yes, mum."

"Genuine Mocha?"

"Just imported, mum."

"Import it yourself?"

"Oh, yes, mum. I send my orders direct to the—the Sultan, mum."

"Hump! How much have you on hand?"

"Bout sixty pounds, mum."

"You have, eh, sixty pounds? I read in the paper this very morning that not over fifty pounds of genuine Mocha reach this country annually."

"Yes, mum, that's true. I had ten pounds over from last year."

What are Piles

Piles, or hemorrhoids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors, which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. As a rule every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed, and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increases at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description.

There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment, as a cure for piles. It has been tried in the crucible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It has a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and wherever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin it affords almost instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw ulcerous skin.

Ask your friends and neighbors about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is recognized by a surprisingly large number of people as the only actual cure for piles. It will not fail you. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or by mail post-paid on receipt of price, by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
