A Beauty Case.

Judge Theard of New Orleans has just decided a famous "beauty case," awarding Miss Mamie Connolly, a noted Southern beauty, one dollar damages instead of the ten thousand dollars demanded. The case grew out of a pamphlet on the Louisiana metropolis which the St. Charles Hotel issued. The front page contained a poem on a creole belle, and a photograph of the city was asked to furnish a photograph that would fittingly illustrate the poem. The poem and picture were subsequently used by the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and other Southern roads, and several millions of them were circulated throughout the country. Miss Connolly found herself famous, but it proved also very disagreeable, for she was recognized wherever she went, and her life was made miserable by the attention called to her. The result was a suit for damages and a verdict for only one dollar, the court taking the view that the defendants had no intention of injuring Miss Connolly, had no knowledge that they were publishing her picture, were very respectful in what they said of her, and withdrew the pictures as soon as she complained.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Familiar, Yet Unknown.

Some of the commonest facts of our everyday existence totally escape our observation. Here are some questions about things you've seen every day and all your life. If you are a wonder you may possibly answer one or two of the queries off-hand. Otherwise not:

- What are the exact words on a Canadian two-cent stamp?
- In what direction is the face turned on a cent? On a quarter? On a ten cent piece?
- How many toes has a cat on each fore foot? On each hind foot?
- Which way does the crescent moon turn—to the right or to the left?
- What color are your employer's eyes? The eyes of the man at the next desk?
- Write down, off-hand, the figures on the

To the Weary Dyspeptic, We Ask This Question:

Why don't you remove that weight at the pit of the Stomach?

Why don't you regulate that variable appetite, and condition the digestive organs so that it will not be necessary to starve the stomach to avoid distress after eating?

The first step is to regulate the bowels. For this purpose face of your watch. The odds are that you will make at least two mistakes in doing this.

Your watch has some words written or printed on its face. You have seen these words a thousand times. Write them out correctly. Also, what is the number in the case of your watch?

How many teeth have you? How many buttons has the vest or shirt waist you are wearing?

How many stairs are there in the first flight at your house?

How many steps lead from the street to the front door?

What is the name, signed in fac simile, on any one, two, five or ten dollar bill you ever saw? You've read dozens of those names. Can you remember one?

When Collis P. Huntington, the late president of Southern Pacific Railway, was married for the second time, Henry Ward Beecher performed the marriage ceremony. Huntington's first wife had been dead less than one year, and he desired the second marriage to be kept secret until his return from Europe. He gave Mr. Beecher a marriage fee of $1,500. When Huntington returned, some months later, he went through a public ceremony, and Beecher again officiated. He gave Beecher another fee of $1,500. The great preacher had his humor aroused by this second fee. Turning to Huntington, he said: "Collis, I do wish you were a Mormon."

Wretched Hot Weather Sufferers.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

SHOULD BE USED IN JULY AND AUGUST.

The extraordinary variable spring and early summer weather of the past year has been the cause of a vast amount of sickness in every part of our country. Strong men and women have been victims; the weak, run down and sickly have suffered intensely, and many families now mourn the loss of near and dear ones.

The nervous, weak, rundown and debilitated should now devote their best energies and attention to health-building, so as to enable them to withstand the enervating effects of the approaching hot weather.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound will soon bring a return of true physical strength; the nerves will be fed and braced; the blood will be made purer and richer; digestion will be corrected, and sweet, refreshing sleep will take the place of insomnia and irritability.

Paine's Celery Compound is doing a marvelous work for the sick and suffering at this time. It is the only preparation that possesses value and virtue for recruiting the strength and spent energies of weakly and sick people in summer time. The trial of one bottle will give you happy results.

The Protection of the Fool.

Since the huge swindle in Paris whereby millions of francs were obtained by sharpers who pretended to be contesting a will, several philosophical writers in various literary papers have been arguing how good-natured people and fools are to be better protected from knaves, and one writer at least has raised the rather knotty point as to whether there is, or has not been, too much law-making intended to protect the gullible from their own folly. The gold brick, three-card monte, the nimble pea, the bogus cheque, "green goods," hay forks, seed wheat, in fact all these old-fashioned swindles, are so well known to the newspaper reader and writer that contempt rather than pity is felt for the "sucker" who bites at such bait; but it must be remembered that for one person who knows all about these things there are dozens who either have heard of them too seldom, or pay but little attention to them when they are described in the papers. Then when it is discovered that the small percentage thoroughly conversant with the old-fashioned swindles are among the first to bite at new bait we are obliged to conclude that it is a law of erring humanity almost without exception that we must be gulled now and then. The bait that is prepared for those who cannot be gold-bricked in the old-fashioned way is, of course, of a finer and more attractive class than that which is dangled before the nose of Reuben when he comes to town. Show advertisements of men with enormous muscles are published to attract those of shrunken form and enfeebled physique, and at a cost of a few dollars apiece thousands send for a book which proposes to make every dwarf an athlete. Fat people are taught how to become lean, and the lean ones induced to send five dollars to learn how to become fat. The majority of people would like to become mesmerists, hypnotists, readers of the future, popular and successful, and they send their dollars to fakirs to be taught what ninety-nine in a hundred cannot learn. If all advertisements were to be believed no person need be sick, unhappy, poor or unpopular, and as a matter of fact if people would follow the advice of their family physician or be guided by their spiritual adviser or observe the rules of sanitation or exercise, with which every person should be familiar, much trouble would be avoided, although the time never was and never will be when the period so little short of paradise pictured by advertisers will arrive. I feel very much like falling in with the views of the writer who has said that too much pains are taken by makers of laws to protect us from our own folly. In a country like Canada where education is so universal, and where law is so expensive, it is a very serious question whether, if people were made to rely on their wits rather than on the statutes, the swindler would not have a harder time of it than he has at present.

"Don't spit on the sidewalks!" is the new command of the New York Board of Health. Three years ago the board began its anti-spitting crusade by forbidding expectoration upon ferry-boats trolley and elevated cars, and in car stations; and now the sidewalk is to be protected. The justification of these measures is the statement that twenty years ago almost six deaths in every hundred in New York City were caused by tuberculosis, whereas last year the deaths from this cause numbered only about two and a half in the hundred.

The Sea Serpent (indignantly)—What are all these empty bottles doing on the beach? The Lobster—Oh! you needn't kick. If bottles were never emptied you would cease to exist.

"Were any one," writes Herbert Spencer, in his recent volume, "Facts and Comments," "to call me dishonest or untruthful, he should touch me to the quick. Were he to say that I am unpatriotic he would leave me unmoved."

Uncle: "How old are you, Jimmy?" Jimmy: "I'm thirteen at home, fourteen at school, and eleven in the train."

ALFONDLY 0149.

Alfondly is a very handsome bay stallion, standing 16 hands high and weighing 1150 pounds. He was bred by L. H. Smith, of Arcanum, Ohio, in 1882. Alfondly has the kindest of dispositions, and in addition to his speed, he has characteristics which render him a particularly valuable "all-round" horse. No one could wish a more nearly perfect driving horse than Alfondly. His gait is the poetry of motion, and he is faster than any other horse for scores of miles around. He is also a great campaigner, and, as an illustration of his powers in this direction, we may cite a few instances from his work as a three-year-old. In his first race, on May 28, before fairly in condition, he came out second in 2:20. Out of the next eight races in which he took part, he won seven, six in straight heats, and in the other took the first heat, and was then drawn on account of an accident. On August 2, at Middletown, Indiana, he went up against a field of twelve competing horses. There he distanced, or caused to be drawn, five of the number, and won the race in straight heats, as usual. His crowning glory was his performance at Richmond, Indiana, on September 12, 1895, where he again carried all before him, lowering his record to the remarkable figure of 2:12. All these races took place over ordinary half-mile tracks. He has trained a half-mile track in 2:07, which comes very near being as fast as any horse in the world ever paced such a track. In a six-year-old form he started ten times winning five firsts and never behind the money but once, and that was for not getting a heat in five, but he was second to Ada P. who got her mark of 2:04 in that race. Alfondly's sire was Petoskey, by George Wilkes, the world's most famous sire, with 23 in the 2:30 list. Alfondly is a double cross Blue Bull with 64 in the list. He will stand at the owner's stable, Centreville, from Friday noon to Wednesday noon, and will be at Woodstock at Gallagher Bros. stable every Thursday. Terms:—to warrant $15, $2.00 to be paid at time or first service. For further information write or telephone the owner.
