William C. Whitney as a Mascot. A story is going the rounds about William C. Whitney and one of his negro hostlers. Mr. Whitney had noticed that each time he visited his stable, this man watched every move he made, and upon one pretext or another, managed to keep near to him from the moment he entered the stable till he left it. The financier was greatly puzzled by the conduct of the negro, and one day he called him aside.

"Peter," he said, "why do you follow me around and watch me so closely every time I enter the stable? You must have some good reason for your actions. What is it?"

"Has I gotter 'splain, sah?"

"Certainly."

"I's powerful 'fraid dat it'll spoil de charm, sah."

"Spoil what charm? What do you mean?"

"Well, sah, it's dis yere way. Ev'ry mawnin' I looks up de entries fo' de day's races. Den I names things in de stable fo' de hosses, see? De wheels of de kerriges; de heads, an' de tails, an' de shoulders, an' de flahks of de hosses; de harnesses, whips—ev'rything in de stable's done gotter name of one of de hosses dat'll run in de races today. Fo' instance, when yo' comes in you walks 'round an' 'spec's things, an' yo' touches things. Whatever yo' touch, I plays. Dat air wheel what yo' just shook, ter see if it's sound, is named Gold Heels, an' dis nigger's gwine ter play Gold Heels fo' de limit."

Mr. Whitney laughed heartily. "Are you lucky, Peter?"

"Lucky? Why, Mr. Whitney, dem han's of yourn knows mo' 'bout prophecy dan ole 'Lijah hisself!"—Ex.

A Right to Judge. Persons who have used Dr. Chase's Ointment have the best right to judge of its merits and there is no preparation on the market to day which is backed by such a mass of unsolicited testimony. It cures eczema, salt rheum and piles so promptly and thoroughly that people feel it a pleasure to recommend it to other sufferers. See testimonials in the newspapers.

Frohman's Estimate of Shakespeare. When Maude Adams was shifted from "The Little Minister" to "Romeo and Juliet," a few years ago, some people thought the transfer rather abrupt, and a trifle daring. Miss Adams felt a little trepidation herself. Not so Charles Frohman, her manager. To him Shakespeare was simply a play-writer like Clyde Fitch, with the advantage that he did not harass the box-office for royalties.

When he went to rehearsal one day, he found signs of nervousness pervading the company. "What's the matter?" he asked, in his explosive way. It was Shakespeare, the players replied. Pretty serious affair, you know—great name, great play, traditions of the stage, memories of mighty shades in the minds of the critics, rhythm of blank verse to be observed, and all that. "Nonsense!" exclaimed Frohman; "who's Shakespears? He was just a man. He won't hurt you. I don't see any Shakespeare. Just imagine you're looking at a soldier home from the Cuban war, making love to a giggling school-girl on a balcony. That's all I see, and that's the way I want it played. Dismiss all idea of costume. Be modern."

A Sower of Beauty. A gentleman relates an experience while travelling on a southern railway. The landscape showed only a dreary waste of sameness and color. He chanced to observe a sweet-faced lady fellow-passenger unobtrusively reaching out of the car window beside her and shaking something she had in her hand. It was discovered to be a small salt or pepper castor, which she frequently refilled with some coarse powders or fine grained seed. Several months afterward, travelling over the same road, his attention was called by exclamations of fellow travellers, and lo, the dull landscape was aglow with the bloom of scarlet poppies. Far and wide the wind had wafted the fragile seed sown by the lady and this was the result. He had in the meantime learned that she was a daughter of former Senator Joseph E. Brown, and believes that beauty makes life brighter. And so, as she goes about the world, she sows beauty.

A Good School. One of the most cheering of current statements is that of a man who leaves Sing Sing prison after eleven years' confinement, to the effect that "a man there gets a good chance to reform if he wants to." The superintendent, the warden and the principal keeper stand ready to meet him half-way, and the Volunteers' Prisoners' League will take care of him when he comes out, and stick to him as long as there is a possibility of helping him. Instead of "a yearly output of two hundred to three hundred rascals ripe for lawlessness and crime," this ex-convict thinks that at least half the men Sing Sing now sends out are "anxious and able to be useful in the world." That is truly the ideal prison which confines men in order to free them from worse places.

Twitching of The Nerves

Mrs. Drinkwater, 5 Water Street, Galt, Ont., states:—"My great trouble has been with my nerves. I was very nervous, had twitching of the nerves and could not get to sleep at night. I seemed quite worn out and believing that I needed some medicine began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can truthfully say that this preparation has proven surprisingly beneficial to me. It has strengthened and steadied my nerves, made me rest and sleep well, and in fact built up the system generally."

In Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is found the ideal tonic for blood and nerves, and through these two mediums every organ in the human system is benefited. The languid, depressing feelings disappear when this great restorative is used, and with renewed energy and vigor disease is overcome, the organs of the body perform their various duties and new flesh and tissue are added. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Advice to Suffragists. In the matter of suffrage for women or coeducation for boys and girls, nothing but experiment freely made and judged upon by which the people will abide. Gov. Long made a wise remark at the Unitarian Festival, in Boston, when he said, "I sometimes tell our women suffrage friends that, if they would not go to the legislature for ten years, if they would drop the subject entirely, and let it lie fallow, and ten years from now start it as a new thing, it would strike everybody as so simply plain and right that any person, whether man or woman, who bore a part of the burdens of the government, should have a voice in it, they would carry their case without an argument." As a believer in this movement, he held that, taken out of the field of controversy, it would justify itself to the minds of the people. Whether so or not, that which the people believe in they will enforce, and that which they do not believe in cannot be forced upon them.—The Christian Register, Boston.

The "Living Church" quotes this extract from a Connecticut woman's diary, dated 1790: "We had roast pork for dinner, and Dr. S., who carved, held up a rib on his fork and said, 'Here ladies, is what Mother Eve was made of.' 'Yes,' said Sister Patty, 'and it's from very much the same kind of critter.'"

Good Health for Capital. Maintaining good health is to the majority of people the most vital question in the world and nature affords no more efficient strengthener for the system and restorative for the nerves than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Naturally, gradually, and certainly it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, creates new, healthy nerve cells and puts into the system the snap, energy and vitality that defies disease. Which Have the Hardest Lot? Girls sometimes wish that they were men, but the troubles of this world are about equally divided. A girl has to pin her hat on her head, but a man often has to chase his into the middle of a muddy street. A girl can put on all the colors of the rainbow and look like a bird of paradise. A man must wear plain colors and look very ordinary. A girl can put on a two-guinea hat and it is called taste. A man may wear a half-guinea one, but it will be called extravagance. A girl can be ill all the year round and she gets the sympathy of all who know her, but a man similarly placed is told he is lazy. A girl can break an engagement and be free at once, but a man can be sued for breach of promise and beggared.

The "Mandolin Quartet." A Northern woman who has a winter home in one of the Southern States, tells many amusing stories of her experiences with the negroes of that region. Not long ago she wished to give a little entertainment to some New England guests, and bethought her of a mandolin quartet of which one of her servants had talked to her on many occasions. She therefore commissioned the maid to ask the quartet to come to the house and play for her guests. The next evening three coal-black men bearing banjos appeared at her piazza, and one of them announced himself solemnly as "de leader ob de mand'lin quartet." "But where is the fourth musician?" asked the lady. "We's all dere is," said the leader with pride. "We's de mand'lin quartet." "But aren't those banjos you have in your hands?" feebly inquired the lady. "Yas'm," said the man, patiently, "yas'm. Dere's three ob us, an' we play de banjo, but we's de mand'lin quartet."

Press Notice for September Designer. The advance styles for autumn are presented most attractively in THE DESIGNER for September. Of great practical value is an article on "School Array" for the boys and girls, and in the millinery pages are given full directions for making a stylist toque suitable for the season. Especially interesting among the literary features is the initial appearance of "What Women are Doing," under the editorship of the feminine readers of THE DESIGNER. "Indian Lace Work," by Jane W. Guthrie, "Simple Treatment of Manas," by Mary Kilsyth, and "The Little Lady's Toilet," by Dr. Sarah A. French-Battery, are contributions of great merit, all handsomely illustrated. The fiction of this number consists of "The Effacement of Susan Ross," by Celia E. Shute; "The Little Dark Room," by Harriet Caryl Cox, and the continuation of "The Apology of Ayliffe," by Ellen Olney Kirk. "Crocheted Table Mats," by Kate P. Daniel, furnishes suggestions for the employment of idle hours. The regular departments of "Notes of New Books," "Selections for the Recitationist," "Toilet Table Chat," "Etiquette Hints," "Points on Dressmaking," "In Motherland," and "The Kitchen Kingdom" are practical, valuable and timely.

A Burden to Self and Others. "Take care of your health; you have no right to neglect it and thus become a burden to yourself and perhaps to others." There is no medicine so generally used, and none so successful. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

An Export Duty. Last week the Ontario Government passed an order in Council placing hemlock logs in the same category as pine logs after April 30 next, the end of the license year; that is, they must not be exported. Of late years a considerable trade in hemlock logs has sprung up, owing to the increasing value of this class of timber. The prohibition is in line with the policy of the Government of confining the manufacture of the products of the forests of Ontario within the confines of the Province. The order in Council was passed on the recommendation of the Commissioner of Crown Lands. Earlier in his administration of his department Mr. Davis placed pulpwood on the list of articles whose export is prohibited, and he thus is acting in conformity with the policy which he has previously followed.

Burning, Itching, Stinging Piles

If people could only realize the virtue of Dr. Chase's Ointment they would not suffer long with piles. Mr. W. H. Whitehair, a well-known and respected citizen, of Cobourg, Ont., states:—"Having used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, I can testify to its great value. The suffering which I endured from the burning, itching, stinging sensation of piles was something awful, and I can say that there is nothing in this world to equal Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for this dreadful disease. I tried a great many remedies and never got more than slight relief from any of them. But while Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief I went further and made a thorough cure. I cannot say too much in recommendation of this great remedy." This is the only preparation which is positively guaranteed to cure any form of piles. Ask your neighbors about it. 60c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
