

To the Weary Dyspeptic,
We Ask This Question:

Why don't you remove that weight at the pit of the Stomach?

Why don't you regulate that variable appetite, and condition the digestive organs so that it will not be necessary to starve the stomach to avoid distress after eating?

The first step is to regulate the bowels.

A Theological Opinion.

The Rev. James Livingstone is a minister at Windsor, Ont. That he is a man of standing in his church is evidenced by the fact that he holds an important position in the council of his church. According to the newspapers, Mr. Livingstone has been saying things. He thinks Windsor is a bad town.
Amongst other evil practices, the people smuggle and dance. The armory is a curse in their midst. The holding of a ball to raise money for a memorial fountain intended to commemorate the young men who died in South Africa, is a cruel and wicked proceeding. Mr. Livingstone, it seems, in dealing with these features of life in Windsor, expressed a conviction that "in view of the disaster in Martinique, the Almighty is beginning to hand out His judgments to the nations of the earth, and he feared that Windsor might not escape an earthquake or something of that sort."

It is possible that the reverend gentleman has been misreported. It would be the charitable thing to believe he had been. For to attach such a significance as the report of his remarks would lead one to suppose he attached to the trifling catastrophe in the West Indies, and to attribute to the Almighty the inconceivable bloodthirstiness and fury that would cause him to overwhelm with fire thousands of His children, good and bad, the just and the unjust, in indiscriminate and reckless slaughter, as an execution of moral punishment, is to preach that the Creator is less worthy of love, confidence and veneration than His creatures, not even the worst of whom would be guilty of such hideous cruelty. Such a conception of God as Mr. Livingstone would appear, from the reports of his remarks, to hold, will not do in this enlightened day. It is on a footing with the old tribal notion of the Deity as a jealous, revengeful and terrible spirit. It belongs with the rubbish and ignorance of a dark past in which supernatural meaning was attached to every manifestation of natural forces. The world has happily outgrown such ideas either of the Creator or of the universe He has created. Humanity is stunned by a cataclysm of the magnitude and horror of the St. Pierre disaster; but humanity revolts at the explanation that it was planned and executed as a deliberate and righteous decree from the throne of eternal Justice. Nature is governed by law, and every phenomenon in the natural world from the zephyr that fans a summer cornfield to the tornado that sweeps all things in its path to destruction, comes within the realm of law. We may not always be able to explain the why and wherefore of these things, but that is because our knowledge is insufficient; if we knew all the facts and could co-ordinate them, every manifestation of force in the world about us would be susceptible of explanation on natural grounds. Earthquakes and volcanic eruptions appear to be merely incidents in the evolution of a planet from its original nebula to a habitable and finally to a dead world. The people of Martinique and of St. Vincent were unfortunate in being upon a spot of earth where these evolutionary forces, destructive in this instance, were felt. Supposing Mr.

Livingstone had been living in either of those places. Would his chances of escape have been a bit better because he is a righteous man, a minister and the president of a conference, than those of the most hardened sinner? The only man in St. Pierre when the mountain blew up who escaped with his life was a condemned murderer. Or, supposing Mr. Livingstone had lost near and dear ones in that tempest of ashes and flame, as many persons in France and throughout the rest of Martinique have done. In that case, would he have been so ready to regard the catastrophe as a retributive measure of Deity?—Toronto Saturday Night.

Paine's Celery Compound Positively and Permanently Cures.

It Puts The System in Perfect Condition to Cope With All Hot Weather Dangers.

During the month of June people should closely attend to their conditions of health.
Small streams make mighty, rushing rivers; the little ills of life when neglected, frequently bring on maladies that end in death.
The so-called trifles of today—weak and deathly feelings, nervous twitching, debility, sleeplessness, and heavy, dull pain in the head—may in a few days result in dread disease, paralysis, awful paresis or insanity.
This is the time when Paine's Celery Compound should be used by old and young who feel they are not up to the standard of full health, strength and activity. The hot enervating weather of summer will soon overtake the weak, languid, nervous and brokendown.
The results will be appalling and fatal to thousands, if the system be not fortified by that best of medicines—Paine's Celery Compound. No other medicine in the world like it for making pure, rich blood, and for bestowing that robust health that can successfully cope with the dangers that have to be encountered in midsummer.

The Blue Laws.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut were so called because they were printed on bluetinged paper.

These were some of them:
"No one shall be a freeman or have a vote, unless he is converted and a member of one of the Churches allowed in the Dominion."
"No dissenter from the essential worship of this Dominion shall be allowed to give a vote for electing magistrates or any officer."
"No food or lodging shall be offered to a heretic."

"No one shall cross the river on the Sabbath, but an authorized clergyman."

"No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep houses, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day."

"No one shall kiss his or her children on the Sabbath or feasting days."

"The Sabbath day shall begin at sunset Saturday."

"Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace above one shilling a yard, shall be presented by the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the estate £300."

"Whoever brings cards or dice into the Dominion shall be fined £5."

"No one shall eat mince pies, dance, play cards, or play any instrument of music except the drum, trumpet or jewsharp."

"No man shall court a maid in person or by letter, without obtaining the consent of her parents; £5 penalty for the first offence, £10 for the second, and for the third, imprisonment during the pleasure of the court."

Also Important.

The Rev. Peter Cartwright, the famous pioneer Methodist circuit-rider, while travelling to an appointment one day, saw two young men of his acquaintance sitting idly on the bank of a small stream, fishing. It was a fine spring day, and the scent of freshly plowed fields was in the air.

"Boys," he said, "I am sorry to see you breaking the fourth commandment."

"Why, Uncle Peter," they said, with a laugh at his expense, "this isn't Sunday."

"I know it," he retorted, "but you are breaking the fourth commandment. You forget that one part of it says, 'Six days shalt thou labor.'"

The Pope and His Age.

According to John Wannamaker, who has just returned from Europe, during which trip he was received in person by Pope Leo XIII., that venerable prelate intends to live for many years yet.

"While I was standing near him," says Mr. Wannamaker, "a woman of high position in society approached him, and asked respectfully after his health. His Holiness replying that he was very well, considering his years.

"And how many may they be?" inquired the woman.

"Ninety-two," came the answer, with a smile that bespoke no little pride.

"Is it possible!" exclaimed the other, and then she added, "May you live, Sir, to be a hundred."

"What, Madame," returned the Pope, "would you limit me to that?"

HAMILTON'S PILLS ARE GOOD PILLS.

For Harmony's Sake.

"Here are a few letters I wish you would post for me, dear," said Mrs. De Style to her husband, who was preparing to go out.

As Mr. De Style took them he glanced at the stamps and asked:—

"My dear, why did you put sixpenny stamps on these letters? Penny ones would have carried them."

"I know it," replied his wife, "but how would a mauve stamp look on envelopes of that lovely shade? This new stationery is of an exquisite colour, and I couldn't spoil its effect with stamps that did not harmonize.
These sixpenny stamps are the nearest match I can get."

"Smoking Church Services" are the latest innovation in London, and promise to attract workmen who have hitherto been outside the pale of religious influence. Archdeacon Wilberforce of Westminster started the movement in April by inviting the men who were fitting up the Abbey for the coronation to attend service in the cloisters during their lunch hour, and giving each man an ounce of tobacco. Many accepted the invitation and joined heartily in the services.

ALFONDLY 0149.

Alfondly is a very handsome bay stallion, standing 16 hands high and weighing 1150 pounds. He was bred by L. H. Smith, of Arcanum, Ohio, in 1892. Alfondly has the kindest of dispositions, and in addition to his speed, he has characteristics which render him a particularly valuable "all-round" horse. No one could wish a more nearly perfect driving horse than Alfondly. His gait is the poetry of motion, and he is faster than any other horse for scores of miles around. He is also a great campaigner, and, as an illustration of his powers in this direction, we may cite a few instances from his work as a three-year-old. In his first race, on May 28, before fairly in condition, he came out second in 2:20. Out of the next eight races in which he took part, he won seven, six in straight heats, and in the other took the first heat, and was then drawn on account of an accident. On August 2, at Middletown, Indiana, he went up against a field of twelve competing horses. There he distanced, or caused to be drawn, five of the number, and won the race in straight heats, as usual. His crowning glory was his performance at Richmond, Indiana, on September 12, 1895, where he again carried all before him, lowering his record to the remarkable figure of 2:12. All these races took place over ordinary half-mile tracks. He has trailed a half-mile track in 2:07, which comes very near being as fast as any horse in the world ever paced such a track. In a six-year-old form he started ten times winning five firsts and never behind the money but once, and that was for not getting a heat in five, but he was second to Ada P. who got her mark of 2:09 1/4 in that race. Alfondly's sire was Potoskey, by George Wilkes, the world's most famous sire, with 23 in the 2:30 list. Alfondly is a double cross Blue Bull with 64 in the list. He will stand at the owner's stable, Centreville, from Friday noon to Wednesday noon, and will be at Woodstock at Gallagher Bros. stable every Thursday. Terms—to warrant $15. $2.00 to be paid at time or first service. For further information write or telephone the owner.
