A BOOM AT UPPER WOODSTOCK.

The Upper Woodstock Wood Turning Company Buildings Going Forward.

William Craddock, manager of the Upper Woodstock Wood Turning Company, is rapidly pushing the work on the buildings of that concern at Upper Woodstock. The location of the buildings is just above the railway bridge, between that and the Iron Works property. It is on a bluff, on a level with the railway track. The grading of the ground involved the removal of a large hillock about six feet high.

There are five buildings to be built at once; a turning and manufacturing building 30x100 feet, a saw mill 24x30, an engine room 24x26, a dry kiln 30x50 and a store room and shipping and packing building 30x140. The C. P. R., siding will run along the line of the old siding into the Iron Works. The turning and manufacturing building is now well under way, and is being pushed as rapidly as the lumber can be secured. Mr. Craddock has received 25,000 feet of lumber and will want at least 100,000 feet more to complete the buildings.

The power will be supplied from two 40 horse power engines, one in the saw mill and one in the manufacturing room.

The wood required for manufacturing will be bass, poplar, ash, elm, oak, beech, birch and maple, all of which will be purchased down to five inches in diameter. This will be turned to spindles from 1/2 inch to 1 1/2 inch in diameter. Three turning machines will turn out about 12,000 of these a day. Later on the company will make axe handles, cant hook handles, and baskets.

The industry will require from 45 to 50 men the year round. The baskets will be woven by girls, then shaped by a machine and afterwards nailed by the girls. This part of the work alone will give steady employment to 12 or 15 girls.

There are other lines that Mr. Craddock expects to manufacture, involving the use of machinery of which he is the inventor and patents, but he is not ready to make any announcement regarding these at present.

When well under way the output of the works will be not less than two car loads a week, all of which will go to the English market.

Mr. Craddock expects to have a part of the works in operation by the 14th of December if he can get the supply of wood required. Already several farmers are at work in the woods getting out material and if the hauling is good it will be rushed into the mill at an early date.

Grant-Davis.

The residence of James Davis, White street, St. John, was the scene of a happy event at an early hour Wednesday morning, Nov. 19th, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. Davis' youngest daughter, Kate Gertrude, to Ine Edred Grant, of Woodstock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Raymond, of St. Mary's church, in the presence of the bride's immediate friends and relatives.

Miss Davis will be greatly missed by the young people of St. Mary's church, amongst whom she was an energetic and valued worker. Her talents as an elocutionist rendered her presence an attraction at all literary entertainments and her services were always gladly rendered in behalf of every good cause. Her popularity with her friends and associates was abundantly shown by the many and handsome presents she received as a token of their good will.

The newly wedded pair took the morning train for their future home in Woodstock.

Mrs. Grant will be at home to callers 1st, 2nd and 3rd December.

For The Development of Agriculture.

W. W. Hubbard, C. P. R. Agent for the development of Agriculture in the Maritime Provinces, was in Woodstock on Saturday. Mr. Hubbard said he had not yet completely formulated his plans of work, but he would keep in touch and work in harmony with the Provincial and Dominion Departments of Agriculture in his efforts to develop Agriculture. He thinks a large and profitable business can be done by farmers in New Brunswick in raising stockers to be shipped to the ranches of the west for finishing.

The pork raising industry he believes can be very largely increased with satisfactory profits to the farmers. The development of this business will involve the establishment of a large pork packing factory at St. John.

Since the construction of railways in Cuba and Jamaica and the opening up of easy communication with the interior of those islands a brisk market is found there for our potatoes and Mr. Hubbard hopes to see our exports in this line to materially increase in the near future.

Presentation to a Popular Young Man.

On Monday evening about thirty friends of Archie G. Kirkpatrick gave him a banquet at Troy's restaurant, on the eve of his departure for Truro. His Worship Mayor Belyea presided, with I. E. Sheasgreen in the vice chair. After the menu had been disposed of His Worship read the following address and presented Mr. Kirkpatrick with a handsome walking stick.

To Mr. A. G. KIRKPATRICK.

Our Dear Friend,—With mingled feelings of pleasure and regret we have learned of your intended departure from our midst. We regret that your duties call you away from the scene of almost life long companionships, yet we have pleasure in remembering that your departure is the taking of a step higher in your chosen profession.

May you in the future be as successful as possible, and do not forget the good old times you have witnessed in our town.

We therefore ask you to accept the accompanying token as a slight manifestation of the esteem in which you are held.

Woodstock, N. B., Nov. 24, MCMII.

We are sincerely your friends,

Burke-Hovey.

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening, November 19th, at the residence of Aaron Hovey, of Royalton, when his daughter, Luella Bernice, was given in marriage to Willis R. Burke, of Knoxford, Rev. E. S. Parker, B. A., performing the ceremony. Only a limited number of relatives and friends were invited and who enjoyed a bountiful supper provided by the parents and a most pleasant evening with the happy couple.

The following is a list of presents:—

A bedroom suite, one dozen chairs, fur coat, bride's parents; album, groom; clock, Stanley and Miss Beatrice Burke; linen table cover, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burke and Walter Burke; bed-spread, Miss Hattie Crab; blankets, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cowan; silver butter dish, Wesley Burke; silver pickle dish, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Jones; bedroom lamp, Mrs. J. F. Tracey; glass sett, Mr. David Campbell; vinegar pitcher, Wesley Cowan; fancy plate, Bina Tracey; $5.00 gold piece, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cronkite; $1.00, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Tracey; cruet stand, Miss Alice Cowan; chair, Stanley Burke.

How Ermine Are Captured.

Perfect fur, of the delicate ermine at least, would be marred by the ordinary snare, says Agnes C. Lut, in Leslie's Monthly, so the trapper devises as cunning a death for the ermine as the ermine devises when it darts up through the snow with its spear teeth clutched in the throat of a poor rabbit. Smearing his hunting knife with grease, he lays it across the track. The little ermine comes trotting in dots and dashes and gallops and dives to the knife. That greasy smell of meat it knows, but that frost-silvered bit of steel is something new. The knife is frosted like ice. Ice, the ermine has licked, so he licks the knife. But alas for the resemblance between ice and steel! Ice turns to water under the warm tongue; steel turns to fire that blisters and holds the foolish little stoat by his inquisitive tongue, a hopeless prisoner till the trapper comes. And, lest marauding wolverine or lynx should come first and gobble up priceless ermine, the trapper comes soon. And that is the end for the ermine.

When you are lonesome you realize what poor company you are.

The Maritime Winter Fair.

Professor Jas. W. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, will be one of the speakers at the Convention in connection with the Maritime Winter Fair at Amherst on the 16th, 17th, and 18th of next month. His subject will be "Improvement in Farm practices," and promises a treat to all who are interested in the great advances already made and in prospect in farm methods.

Archibald McNeillage, of Glasgow, one of the best live stock authorities in Scotland, Editor of the Scottish Farm, and Secretary of the Clydesdale Association of Scotland, will deliver addresses on the following subjects:—"Canadian live stock products exported to Great Britain, and suggestions how to improve that trade, dealing with horses, cattle, sheep, and bacon, also dairy products;" "The breeding of heavy horses with particular reference to the co-operative system in use in Great Britain."

Mr. F. W. Hudson, Live Stock Commissioner will speak on "Organized effort," dealing with the work accomplished during the past year, especially in connection with our Agricultural Associations and Farmers' Institutes.

Duncan Anderson of Rugby, Ont., one of the most successful farmers of that province will judge beef cattle and deliver an address on the desirable and undesirable points of a beef bullock, illustrated by an animal in the ring. He will also judge the beef carcass and deliver an address thereon.

Prof. J. H. Grisdale, Agriculturist of the Dominion Experimental Farms will judge the sheep and deliver an address in the ring outlining the desirable and undesirable points of a mutton sheep dealing with both wool and body. He will also judge the sheep carcasses and deliver an address pointing out the requirements of the market in this respect.

J. E. Brethour, the well known Yorkshire breeder will judge the pigs and will deliver an address outlining the requirements of the market for bacon pigs; he will judge the carcasses and point out the desirable and undesirable qualities.

Prof. H. H. Dean, Professor of Dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College will deliver an address dealing with the founding, maintaining and care of a dairy herd; he will also deliver illustrated addresses showing the desirable and undesirable points of a dairy cow.

Mr. F. C. Hare, Chief of the Poultry Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, will discuss the many questions arising in the profitable breeding, management, and marketing of poultry and eggs.

A number of the leading meat dealers and other local gentlemen interested in live stock development will also be upon the program.

The secretary of the association having engagements which require his absence from the Maritime Provinces, the work of the secretary's office has all been transferred from St. John to the president's office at Amherst. All communications regarding the fair and the entries should be addressed to E. B. Elderkin, Amherst, N. S.

The War of 1812

In the January number of THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE there will commence a complete history of The War of 1812 by Dr. James Hannay, author of "History of Acadia," etc. This account, which is the most scholarly and most complete story of the war yet written by a Canadian, will run through twelve issues and be completed in December 1903. Up to the present time there has been no available account of the war written in a popular style and by a Canadian. Lossing's book was the best, and it was biased by United States patriotism. Nevertheless, it is found in almost every Canadian library, and has done much to reduce the pride which Canadians should take in this long and glorious campaign. Dr. Hannay's story is the result of many years of close study, and is thoroughly reliable and trustworthy. Besides it is charmingly written.

Each of the twelve instalments will be illustrated with maps, views of historic places, with pictures of typical uniforms, regimental crests and relics, and with portraits of the leading persons, civil and military, connected with the campaign.

Every person interested in Canadian history, every person who desires to know more of the greatest struggle Canada ever experienced, every lover military romance will desire to read each of these articles.

MISS A. GRACE INGRAHAM, missionary of New York City, who has been spending the summer months at Temple left by C. P. R. Thursday, Nov. 20th to visit friends at North Adams, Mass., Newport, R. I., and Buffalo, N. Y., after which she will take up her missionary work in New York City again.
