The Scientific Crook.

We seem threatened with a new variety of crook—the scientific. According to very circumstantial reports from Washington, the experts of the Treasury Department have been experimenting with a new chemical compound said to rob steel of its temper, and hence making safe-cracking easy. This compound, called thermite, is reputed to possess marvelous virtues. When mixed with magnesium powder it will destroy the hardness of a metal, enabling a burglar to cut through the best steel as if it were lead. A five-eighths-of-an-inch tempered steel plate was so pierced. The newspaper accounts do not fail to say quaky things of how cracksmen have already put these discoveries to practical use. Owners of strong-boxes are advised not to sleep too well of nights. All this is very interesting if it happens to be true. The profession, it may be observed, has never been slow to make improvements. It was a great day for the grafter fraternity when dynamite came to town. They took up with it at once. Popular fancy endows the knock-out fiend with a large knowledge of chemistry. There is hardly any branch of deviousness that has not participated in the unparalleled advances of the times. And much may be looked for. Sir James Crichton Browne spoke not long ago, in England, on the improvements of the poisoners' art. He pointed out the immense possibilities that lie in culture of deadly bacteria, to say nothing of some of the recent chemical preparations. The real art, he contended, is not simply in defying detection, but in not arousing suspicion. All the famous poisoners of the Middle Ages were, in his view, a clumsy lot. It was the same old story always—arsenic, arsenic, arsenic. The tales of the magical potions of those days were fables. The Borgias would gurgle with delight before the resources of the present day. The picture drawn by the eminent English physician was not so very assuring to them as actively cultivate the luxury of enemies, but it is safe to say that whatever be the possibilities, they will never be realized to any great extent. The fact is that any man on vengeance bound who started in to perfect himself in this line would get so interested in his experiments that he would forget all about his plot. That is one of the beauties of modern science.

The Day of Miracles

is past, but many who are cured of itching, bleeding or protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment look upon their recovery as next thing to miraculous. It is not uncommon for persons who have undergone painful, risky and expensive operations in vain to be finally cured by this wonderful ointment. It is the standard the world over and the only guaranteed cure for piles.

What Education Will do.

A railway company was erecting a line of new poles along highway. One of the men engaged to fill in the dirt and clear up around the poles was an Irishman, new at the business and new to America. He had not got beyond his first pole, says the Philadelphia Times, but stood pondering how to dispose of the dirt which had filled the space now occupied by the pole.

His sense of the fitness of things must have been strong, for he was averse to piling the loose dirt around the base of the pole, as is the custom. A negro wayfarer stopped for a match, and the Irishman asked his advice.

"If I was a doin' dat job, I'd just dig a hole 'bout where you 'ah standin' and shovel the dirt into it. Much 'blige!"

As the negro sauntered away the Irishman scratched his head and murmured:

"Well, it's not to be denied that eddication has been afther-r doin' a gr-r-eat deal for-r th' naygur-r!"

The Critical Time of Life

Is between the years of fifty-seven and sixty-two. Nature's power slows down, vitality becomes less, and the progress of decay sets in. A means of extending old age and renewing decreasing vigor is to take FERROZINE after meals. Ferrozine keeps up the appetite, and in the formation of red, vitalizing blood, imparts clearness to the tiring brain, force, energy and spirits just when they are needed most. To take Ferrozine regularly means adding from ten to twenty years to life. Large boxes 50c., or 6 boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.—Sold by Garden Bros.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS ARE CERTAIN.

A King's Life.

Nothing could better illustrate the peculiarities of the obligations that rest on a king than the pathetic question attributed to King Edward as his mind cleared itself from the mist of chloroform, after his recent operation: "Will my people ever forgive me?" He was so ill as to arouse the gravest fears; he had just been subjected to an operation—one of the most critical of modern surgery. Yet even then the thought uppermost in his mind was that strange thought of duty—of something owing to his people, of culpability on his part for having disappointed them.

But that is not all. The King had known and his physicians had known for a week the nature of the disease from which he was suffering. It was plain to them, and probably to him that operation was inevitable. Even hours are precious in that disease, and in the case of an ordinary person the knife would have followed the diagnosis at once. In the case of the King it was postponed by his own

Intestinal Indigestion

There are forms of indigestion and dyspepsia which can never be reached by ordinary stomach medicines and so-called digestants. The kidneys and liver are involved, and though the stomach may be all right, it is the part of digestion which takes place in the intestines that is imperfect.

All over the country are people who are suffering from just this kind of indigestion. They don't get well, because they don't use the right medicine. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are admirably suited for this very trouble. They act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, remove the cause, and make a permanent cure of intestinal indigestion, backache, and diseases of the filtering and excretory organs.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are vegetable in composition, and remarkably prompt and effective in action. They are kept in thousands of homes as a standard medicine, and have proven by years of trial to be without a rival. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

command, in the vain hope that the ceremonies of the Coronation might still take place.

So powerful was the grip of habit, so heavy the hand of precedent and the custom of deferring to popular expectation, that the King's life was put in jeopardy.

This, after all, was but a more than usually conspicuous example of the burdens which constantly rest upon the shoulders of a king. No man is so little free as he. From the hour of his rising in the morning until the hour when he seeks his bed at night his time is not his own. In the friends he may entertain, in dress, even in his recreations, other wishes than his own must be considered, and there is always the consciousness of being under observation.

Health and Hope

"He who has health has hope; and he who has hope has everything." But hope flees at the approach of kidney disease with the dreadful pains which accompany it. With the flesh gradually failing, the back aching, and the despair which often comes to victims of this ailment, only the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will restore hope, confidence and health. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Too Long.

An old lady of his flock once called upon Dr. Gill with a grievance. The doctor's neckbands were too long for her ideas of ministerial humility, and, after a long harangue on the sin of pride, she intimated that she had brought a pair of scissors with her, and would be pleased if her dear pastor would permit her to cut them down to her notions of propriety.

The doctor not only listened patiently, but handed over the offending white bands to be operated upon. When she had cut them to her satisfaction, and returned the bibs, it was the doctor's turn.

'Now,' said he, 'you must do me a good turn also.'

'Yes, I will, doctor. What can it be?'

'Well, you have something about you which is a deal to long and which causes me no end of trouble, and I should like to see it shorter.'

'Indeed, dear sir, I will not hesitate. What is it? Here are the sissors; use them as you please.'

'Come, then,' said the sturdy divine, 'good sister, put out your tongue.'—Tit-Bits.

Valuable Advice to Mothers.

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of an approaching attack of Grippe, Sore Throat, or sickness of any kind, first thing get out your bottle of NERVILINE. Rub the chest and neck with NERVILINE, and give internal doses of ten drops of NERVILINE in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No liniment or pain reliever equals Polson's NERVILINE, which is a necessity in every household. Large bottles cost only 25c.

"It's wonderful," said the meditative man, "how one small word, insignificant in itself, may induce an endless train of thought, sphaking volumes in fact." "Yes," replied the caustic man. "Take the word 'but,' for instance, when a woman says: 'Of course, it's none of my business, but.'"—Philadelphia Press.

"These teachers," growls the first man, "have no mercy on the young minds entrusted to their care." "What have they done now?" asks the second man. "Why, my boy came home yesterday in a state of collapse because his teacher insisted upon his telling her how many times the Philippine war was ended in 1901."—Baltimore American.

Scotch piety is generally tempered with common sense. A boating party on the Clyde were caught in a storm. "Let us pray," suggested someone. "Ay," said the boatman, "let the little man over there pray, but let all the strong ones take an oar, or we shall be drowned."

The Greek philosopher Zeno believed in predestination. One day he caught his servant robbing him, and he gave him a good hiding. "Was I not destined to rob?" pleaded the servant. "Why, then, do you beat me?" "Certainly," replied Zeno, "you were destined to rob, and you were also destined to be caned."

When the fretful critic, Cumberland, said of a performance of 'The School for Scandal' that he was surprised that it provoked such immoderate laughter, and it did not make him even smile, Sheridan, the wit, orator and playwright, is said to have remarked: 'Cumberland is truly ungrateful, for I saw a tragedy of his played a fortnight before at Covent Garden, and I laughed from beginning to end.'

Was Pale, Weak And Very Nervous

Mrs. Benj. Hatfield, 77 Hillyard St., St. John, N. B., writes:—"For three years I was a sufferer from extreme nervousness and female weakness. I was pale and weak, had no appetite and would sometimes faint two or three times a day. I underwent a very painful operation and for seven weeks was under the doctor's care but he seemed unable to help me.

Despairing of recovery, I took the advice of a friend who told me that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food would build me up and make me strong and well again. I continued this treatment, using in all sixteen boxes, and believe that I am as strong and well as ever in my life. As a result I cannot say too much for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The testimonials I see for it are not half strong enough. 50c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. On every box of the genuine will be found portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase.
