Mrs. Denis Hogan, Hazeldean, Ont., writes:—During the year 1901 I was troubled very much with palpitation of the heart, followed by a fluttering sensation and great pain. I would get dizzy, and was very weak and nervous. Being advised to try MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS, I procured three boxes, and since taking them I have not had a bad spell, and feel better than I have for years.

LOUIS E. YOUNG, Woodstock.

Not Adapted to Melons.

An army officer sends the "Youth's Companion" an account of an experience he had when he was on duty along the Rio Grande. He put up one night at a small town in Cameron County at a time when a session of the court had filled the town with strangers. Some of the visitors were sitting on the piazza of the boarding-house after supper, and conversation turned upon the fertility of soils. A stranger from Starr County, which is near Cameron, waited his turn and then said:

"Well, I reckon the most fertile piece of ground in Texas is up on Ed Jones's ranch in old Starr. The first time Ed plants potatoes they grow like young trees. Ed calculates on how there is a sight of vegetable energy going to waste. So he sends off for some tomato plants and grants 'em on to the potato stock, and grows the finest lot of tomatoes above and potatoes below you ever see."

The Starr County man had thrown down the gauntlet, and a Cameron man took it up.

"Well," he said, "that reminds me of Bill Dury's ranch down on the arroyo. Bill is looking his ground over one day, when the idea comes to him that it is just the spot to raise watermelons. So he gets some of the very best seed from the Agricultural Department, and fertilizes all round permiscuous."

"He plants five or six seeds to each mound. When they come up he pulls up all but the healthiest one in each mound. When this one puts out runners he cuts off all but the likeliest. Did any o' your gents ever hear o' watermelons getting a better start than that? The vines kep' growing bigger 'n' bigger. The young stalks was the size o' yer wrist an' kep' growing. But, gentlemen, Bill never got any melons off them vines. The trouble was this; he hadn't figured on the natural fertility of old Cameron County. His fertilizing caused the trouble."

"Them vines got to growing so fast and powerful they kep' a-dragging the young melons over the ground an' wore 'em out, plumb wore 'em to a frazzle. The vines dragged some o' the melons against stumps and cracked 'em, an' one night some o' the likeliest ones was busted by the vines a-climbin' a fence an' dropping the melons, kerplunk, on the other side. Then Bill give up."

The teller of the first story drew his six-shooter from his hip-pocket, walked over to the teller of the second story, handed him the "gun" in token of surrender, and said, "And so do I."

Paine's Celery Compound

Used in Springtime Will Give

That Strength, Vim and Bodily

Activity That All Are

So Eager to Possess.

Pure Blood and Well Nourished
Nerves Are Essentials to True
Health.

Pure blood and well nourished nerves are the great requisites at this season for every man, woman and child. Too many of our people enter the spring season with systems charged with deadly impurities. The blood is foul and stagnant; the liver and kidneys work imperfectly, and very often are diseased. With many, rheumatism, neuralgia and dyspepsia are daily tormentors. Life is not safe when such ailments are permitted to run unchecked.

If you, dear reader, find yourself burdened with any of the forms of disease just referred to, do not fail to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial. It is your only safety—your only true and certain deliverer from perils that end in death. Paine's Celery Compound has cured tens of thousands every springtime; it will do the same blessed work for you. One bottle will cost you less than a visit to consult a physician, and will convince you of its power to cure. Mr. John Y. Gourelly, Halifax, N. S., gratefully writes as follows:

"Overwork, worry and cares during the winter season almost made me a physical wreck. My blood was impure and stagnant, my digestion was bad and I slept little. I became so weak that I felt I was nearing the grave, especially when my doctor could not give me any relief. I was advised to try your Paine's Celery Compound, and I thank Heaven it was brought to my notice. After using five bottles I am quite restored to health and strength and attend to my work with increased interest and attention. Paine's Celery Compound is a true life savor. I recommend it with all my heart."

Extravagant Wives.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette thinks that the devotion of women to clubs is responsible for many divorces. Upon the subject of extravagance she spoke as follows in a recent lecture. "In this day and age men are money mad. Why? Do you know that last year hundreds of millions of dollars were spent for jewelry? Do men wear it? During the year 621 men were put behind the bars for embezzling large sums. Did they want the money just for itself? They wanted it to help their wives and daughters shine. We are responsible for these things. We want too much."

Christianity Meets all Conditions.

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, in N. Y. Outlook: It is one of the most convincing evidences of the truth of Christianity that it evades no fact, denies no experience, ignores no conditions. It plants itself resolutely on the facts of life, and faces all forms of experience with a gaze which does not falter, but pierces to the heart. Christ was born in a manger, the lowliest of cradles; thus at the beginning, the Son of God accepted the humblest condition of human life. He grew up as a child obedient to His parents, and set the seal of sanctity on the home; He had His temptation in the desert, but he was never an anchorite or a yogi; He lived with His fellows, shared their fortunes, took part in their occupations, spoke their language, and so, with divinest insight, struck a fatal blow at the purely human and half-atheistic idea that a part of life is sacred and a part secular; He wept at the grave of Lazarus, and made it clear that grief was as real to Him as to the sisters of the dead; He sweat great drops of blood, He cried out in anguish of spirit in the loneliness and pain of His last hours, He died as other men die. In the lowliest cradle His presence touched all human life with the beauty of a divine sonship; out of the blackness of the grave, where the mystery of life is most appalling and impenetrable, He came victorious and apparelled in heavenly light.

Here at last was a religion which looked sin and sorrow and death in the face, recognized their reality, and yet rose above them; at once the most simple, tender, human, real of all interpretations of life, and at the same time the most glorious, spiritual, and radiantly prophetic of the victory of life over death, of goodness over evil, of God over all the forces of unrighteousness. The message of Christ was a gospel of glad tidings; it proclaimed deliverance from sin, peace in trial, immortality. It was a gospel of joy, but it recognized the sadness of the world; its mighty appeal lay in the fact that it accepted all the conditions which men felt and knew to be real, and rose victoriously above them. Over the manger the angels sang, over the sepulchre the Easter bells sounded their glorious music.

Cured of Forgetfulness.

A maid servant employed in a gentleman's family was at first very forgetful. The fault was especially annoying at mealtimes, when something essential was sure to be lacking from the table. The New York Press tells how the head of the house effected a cure.

One day the family were seated at the table and the bell was rung as usual. The maid hurried to the dining-room.

"Maria," said Mr. Jenkinson, "just run and fetch the big step-ladder down from the attic and bring it here."

Maria, who had been disturbed at her dinner gave a grunt of dissatisfaction, but ran up the three flight of stairs to fetch down the ladder. In about five minutes she returned to the room, panting with her exertion.

"Now," said Mr. Jenkinson, put it up at that end of the room and climb to the top."

Maria did as she was told, although she wondered what it all meant. When she was at the top of the ladder, Mr. Jenkinson quietly observed:

"Maria, you have now got a better view than we have; just look round and tell us if you can see any salt on the table. My wife and I could not find it."

The Nails.

Never clean the nails with a sharp pointed implement. If the brush fails in its office scratch them over a cake of soap and then rub the finger tips in the palm of the hand or on a Turkish washcloth. This is effectual for anything but stains, which require lemon juice. A little polishing powder may be used once or twice a week, and a light rubbing with the chamois polisher every day gives the finishing touch to the manicuring. Too much polishing is to be avoided, also the use of deeply tinted powders, for the artificial appearance thus produced is vulgar and detrimental. If the nails be hard and brittle, rub a little vaseline, cold cream or almond oil on them at night. If they are delicate and tender, wax and alum will strengthen them. Lemon juice also strengthens the nails and will arrest the growth of the scarf-skin upon them.

Raw Egg For a Tonic.

A raw egg is an excellent tonic and is very strengthening. If prepared in the following way, it is really a delicious drink, says the Philadelphia Press. Put the yolk of an egg into a dish with a teaspoonful of white sugar and a teaspoonful of orange or lemon juice and beat lightly together with a fork. Put the whites on a plate and add a pinch of salt; then, with a broad bladed knife, beat it to a stiff froth. Now, as lightly as possible, mix all together in the dish, then as lightly transfer it to a clean tumbler, which it will nearly fill if properly made. It must not stand in a warm place, as it soon becomes liquid and loses its snowy look. Any fruit juice may be used in place of orange or lemon.
